SUBJECT: TESTIMONY--SENATE INTERNAL SECURITY SUBCOMMITTEE AUGUST 15, 1961 MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A WALKER, U. S. ARMY--WITNESS

Rememo DeLoach to Sullivan, August 16, 1961, captioned TESTIMONY-SENATE INTERNAL SECURITY SUBCOMMITTEE referring Volume I of Executive Session Testimony of Major General Edwin A. Walker, US Army, to Domestic Intelligence Division for review and return to Mr. DeLoach for return to Committee. Original transcript was returned by Liaison Section to Mr. DeLoach. Two photostatic copies were prepared for Bureau's use and are enclosed herewith.

This memorandum contains brief review of captioned testimony by Central Research Section and is for information only. No mention of Director or FBI. In April, 1961, General Walker was relieved of command as head of 24th Infantry Division, Germany, apparently because of publicized procommunist allegations against prominent persons and allegations that he had been indoctrinating personnel of his Division with John Birch Society materials. The "Overseas Weekly," hereinafter referred to as OW, an American commercial publication distributed among service personnel overseas, had apparently been responsible for much of the original publicity concerning the General's alleged charges against others as well as the John Birch charges against the General himself. The testimon of General Walker comprised chiefly (1) certain statements in his own defense, and (2) counteraccusations against OW.

Walker Tells of Joining Birch Society in 1959

By DAVID S. BRODER
Star Staff Writer

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker told Army investigators he joined the Birch Society after a meeting with its founder, Robert Welch, in the Union League Club in Chicago in May, 1959, but never attended another society session.

Gen. Walker described his relations with the controversial right-wing anti-Communist group during an official investigation of the indoctrination program he ran for members of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany.

The investigation led to Gen. Walker's removal from command of the division and an official rebuke.

Full Transcript Released

The Defense Department today released the full 870-page transcript of last spring's investigation.

It showed Gen. Walker took the military equivalent of the Fifth Amendment when questioned about an editorial in his division newspaper urging soldiers to gauge their Congressmen's records by the scorecard of Americans for Constitutional Action, a conservative political education group.

Under interrogation by Lt. Gen. Theodore J. Brown, Gen. Walker said he could not remember writing the editorial, but declared, "I saw it in some form before it was published" in the Commanding General's Notebook of the 24th Division newspaper, The Taro Leaf, last [illegible]

Phone Number Furnished

The editorial urged voters to consult their Congressman's record in the ACA Index and furnished a phone number where the information could be obtained.

Gen. Brown read Gen. Walker an Army regulation declaring that "editorials concerning political campaigns will not appear in authorized Army newspapers."

"Do you consider this editorial is in compliance with the Army regulation?" he asked.

"This was obtained through other than military channels," Gen. Walker replied. "I kept no secret that I used it for what it was worth. I have no further comment."

Three times thereafter Gen. Brown repeated his original question.

At one point, Gen. Walker commented, "I didn't refer to this regulation when the decision was made. . . . I have nothing further to add, sir."

Gen. Brown Persists

"Well, I don't understand," Gen. Brown said. "I asked you a question. You can invoke Article 31 if you don't care to answer it."

Article 31 is the provision of the Uniform Code of Military Justice comparable to the Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination.

Gen. Walker replied, "It is not open and shut to me, even right now. . . . the preponderance of evidence here, reading just the article, is that there is some error in using it this way. This is an article in the Taro Leaf only. It refers to the source."

Gen. Brown said, "Gen. Walker, please, I am not going to put up with quibbling. You have already identified it as an editorial. Let's not start off on another one of these . . ."

At that point, Gen. Walker said, "I stand on Article 31."

"Personal Vow" Made

Throughout his testimony, Gen. Walker denied that his controversial indoctrination program for the 24th Division vi: based on the recommendation of the Birch Society. He said he had been a dedicated anti-Communist himself one before he joined the Birch group in 1959 and has spent between $5,000 and $10,000 of his own money alerting people to the danger from Russia.

I made myself a personal vow in Korea in 1953," Gen. Walker testified, "that I would find out why the war terminated as it did under the circumstances and conditions in which it did."

In pursuing his anti-Communist objectives, Gen. Walker said he has reported people to the FBI and I have asked for FBI opinion on an organization." He did not identify the organization.

Use of Own Funds Explained

Among the other activities Gen. Walker mentioned as part of his anti-Communist effort were participation in local Re-Armament conferences and Freedom Forums. He also sent a "personal emissary" to a Christian Crusade in Tulsa and distributed with his own funds several thousand copies of a pamphlet called "Will There Be a Christmas?"

In Heidelberg, Germany, Gen. Walker said yesterday that release of the investigation report is "very unusual." In a statement reported by the Associated Press, the general also said he would not answer the question of whether he was a member of the Birch Society until he sees a full copy of the report.

The terms he read from excerpts of the report, Gen. Walker said, "bring up many questions." Some of the terms, he said, "could only be evaluated by American civil legal counsel."

Among the terms he cited in his statement, the AP reported, were "charged . . . violated . . . disciplined . . . relieved of command . . . eccentric . . . Communism."

SUBJECT: MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER, USA
INQUIRY BY DIRECTOR

BACKGROUND:

The September 11, 1961, final edition of "The Evening Star," a Washington, D. C., newspaper, carried, page A2, an item entitled, "Walker Tells of Joining Birch Society in 1959." by David S. Broder.

Referring to a purported Defense Department transcript of the official investigation leading to the recent removal of Major General Edwin Walker from command of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany, the item quotes General Walker as having testified "I have reported people to the FBI and I have asked for FBI opinion on an organization."

Referring to the above quote the Director inquired "Is there any record of General Walker's contacts with us?"

INFORMATION IN BUFILES:

Bufiles disclose that by letter to the Director dated January 6, 1960, General Walker enclosed three issues of the 24th Infantry Division newspaper "Taro Leaf," for December 5, 12 and 19, 1959, in which the Director's article, "Communist Illusion and Democratic Reality" was reprinted. In his letter General Walker commented "I thought so much of this article that I had it put in our paper to be read by the officers and men of the 24th Infantry Division." The Director thanked General Walker by letter dated February 3, 1960.

Bufiles failed to disclose any record of contacts with General Walker in which he either reported people to us or asked for our opinion of an organization.

Re: General Edwin A. Walker

Sir:

The recent [illegible] of the above officer compels these critical expressions.

Here is a man of stature (achieved before his fiftieth year) unprofessionally performing his duty - instructing his troops as to the true meaning of Communism - Attempting to instill in them loyalty, patriotism and the traditions of good citizens.

Because his verity conflicted with some of the "pink people" in government - he is relieved of command and consigned to some limbo.

This is a new low in American History - demoting a General for patriotism and, commendably, one who only must have given aid and comfort to Communists - to punish him for his fulfillment of his high place.

To correct a continuing Washington accomplishment, Mr. John J. Public has an inviolable right to the unprejudiced truth in this matter. As long as he is paying the entire bill, he has a distinct right to know the name of the team that is being played. This fact should never be forgotten - anywhere in the District.

And in addition, Mr. Secretary, during the forthcoming investigation the spotlight of enquiry should focus with equal intelligence on the "Pink people" who ordered the General to withdraw all charges in this matter.

Who is [illegible]? Who is [illegible] (still a democratic [illegible]? Tell us, sir - if he's [illegible] - he'll [illegible]

In closing, I write solely for myself, all parties concerned, I sincerely hope [illegible] be televised. Mr. Public has a right to know [illegible] on, and, to confront his own [illegible] pink people" in our midst.

Pages 16421-16447. Senator Thurmond, (D) South Carolina, spoke concerning the anti-anti-Communist campaign against military personnel and the smear campaign against Major General Edwin Walker, former Commander of the 24th Division in Europe. Mr. Thurmond submitted several articles on the Walker matter among which were included translations of articles from the Soviet newspaper, Red Star. Senator Tower, (R) Texas, commended Mr. Thurmond for his remarks. Tower comments on the newspaper "Overseas Weekly" which contained the charges against General Walker. Mr. Tower advised that this newspaper "is the sort of newspaper which ought not to be circulated among American troops." Mr. Tower went on to state "It is very important that the Senate have available to it the program which provided the basis for the charges against General Walker; namely, the citizenship-in-service program, sometimes referred to as the pro-blue program, of the 24th Infantry Division." The program included the following: "Let's first look at the reasons why we are at war with communism in the words of a great, able, and loyal American, J. Edgar Hoover, the Director of our Federal Bureau of Investigation. Many years ago, Mr. Hoover gave us his warning gained through his knowledge of the inner workings of the Communist conspiracy that we were in a life or death struggle with the forces of evil represented by communism."

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages A6820-A6823. Congressman Rivers, (D) South Carolina, followed his remarks to include an article entitled "What Price Glory?—Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker," written by Dan Smoot. A short synopsis on Dan Smoot is set forth at the end of the article. This synopsis refers to his employment with the FBI. Howard D. Smoot was employed with the Bureau as an Agent from March 23, 1942, to June 15, 1951. Shortly before Smoot's resignation, he was demoted, placed on probation and transferred due to several unfounded charges against his SAC. His attitude before and after resignation was extremely antagonistic, and he was not recommended for reinstatement. He is the author of the "Dan Smoot Report" a weekly publication which deals with highly controversial topics. By SAC Letter dated March 24, 1959, it is noted that inquiries as to his former employment in this Bureau should be handled in a most circumspect manner and should be answered by merely giving the dates of his employment and no additional comment should be made.

GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

All sources shown below have furnished reliable information in the past.

A source has advised that General WALKER has been invited and has agreed to address an "indignation" rally to be staged November 18, 1961, at the auditorium of the Hollywood High School, 1521 North Highland Avenue, Hollywood, California, in protest of present national policies, the meeting being arranged by RUHL SAMPLES, self-employed in the promotion of anti-communist symposiums, entitled "Symposium on Freedom", held generally every other Saturday at the Hollywood High School, admission $1.00 and featuring such conservative speakers as DEAN CLARENCE MANION, WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Source stated that it is expected numerous admirers of General WALKER are expected to travel to Los Angeles from nearby Orange County and San Diego to hear him speak.

Source stated that he understands that the group meeting to hear General WALKER the night of November 18, 1961, has sought and obtained police clearance to parade from the Hollywood High School, about ten blocks, to "the Palladium" Ballroom, 6215 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood, at which it is currently expected the President of the United States will address a dinner gathering that same night.

Source further advised that another group, expecting to conduct an anti-nuclear warfare demonstration, has pre-empted the use of a parking lot, across the street from "the Palladium", at 6230 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood. This parking lot has been engaged for the hours of 9 A.M. to 5 P.M., November 18, 1961, by the group which describes itself as [redacted] called me at my home 11-10-61 at 9:00 p. m., from Dallas, Texas. He is the Chairman of a group sponsoring the Anticommunism Seminar in Dallas, Texas, within the next two weeks. They desire to issue an invitation to General Edwin Walker to be their principal speaker. [redacted] stated he had discussed this matter with Paul Harvey, the commentator, and that Harvey had suggested that if there was any question in their mind they might desire to get in touch with the FBI informally to ascertain whether Walker should be considered a proper individual to appear before this forum.

[redacted] stated that anything we told him would be kept in confidence. He advised he was fully aware of General Walker's resignation from military service and of the difficulties the General had been engaged in while a Commanding Officer in Germany. (General Walker was returned from Europe to a command in Hawaii over reports of having his troops engage in studies regarding a John Birch Society.)

I told [redacted] that we could not be of any assistance to him. He was told he might desire to contact the Department of the Army in this regard.

GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

A source which has provided reliable information in the past, has advised that General EDWIN A. WALKER, who recently resigned his Army commission, has been counselled through close associates and friends to make no appearances of a public nature and to make no expressions on current issues until after he has made an expected appearance before the Senate Sub-Committee on Internal Security. Source stated that General WALKER's attorney, a ROBERT MONTGOMERY, known only to source as a lawyer of high reputation, whose practice is on the Eastern Seaboard of the United States, has been contacted by the General's friends with similar advice.

It is expected, according to source, that after appearance before the Senate committee above, the General will accept a present invitation to appear personally at "Project Alert," School of Anti-Communism presented by the Navy League, and sponsored by the Southern California Freedom Forum, Citizen's Freedom Center and Motion Picture Alliance, December 11 to December 15, 1961, at Los Angeles, California.

Source further advised that General WALKER is aligned with the John Birch Society and that this fact will definitely be made public, presumably during the expected appearance of the General before the Senate Sub-Committee on Internal Security and/or the "Project Alert."

Source further advised that, contrary to some newspaper speculation, there is no indication that General WALKER intends to run for office, but to the contrary, he is being counselled by associates and friends to refrain from that course and take up, on a sporadic basis, judiciously selected invitations to speak in different parts of the country.

SUBJECT: FORMER MAJOR GENERAL
EDWIN A. WALKER
APPEARANCE ON "ISSUES AND ANSWERS" TELEVISION PROGRAM
WMAL TV, 3 P. M., 12-3-61

Captioned television program was monitored by SA [redacted] of the Crime Records Division. The show consisted of a series of questions asked of former Major General Edwin A. Walker by newsmen William Sheean and Paul Parker.

Neither the Director nor the FBI was mentioned during the program.

Walker was extremely vague in his statements, referring to "the cause" and "the opposition" without ever identifying them. In answers to questions he was consistently evasive. He referred to "enemies" and, when asked to identify them he replied that "they would identify themselves to the American people." Under pressure, Walker finally identified and attacked Drew Pearson as "untruthful" in his statements about Walker.

OBSERVATION:

Walker was decidedly unimpressive in this appearance; he not only said nothing new, he said considerably less than has been previously reported in the press. He appeared to be sincere but completely out of his element.

RECOMMENDATION:

GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

A source which has furnished reliable information in the past has advised that all tickets have been sold out for the speech by General Walker January 11, 1962, at Los Angeles Sports Arena, capacity approximately 14,000, under sponsorship of Freedom Forum of First Congregational Church, Los Angeles. The topic of Walker's address is "Make Mine Freedom." Source advised that about 50 persons greeted Walker at Los Angeles Airport morning of January 10, 1962, and Walker appeared later in taped interview on George Putnam TV news review January 10, 1962, stating, among other things, that he joined John Birch Society while commanding U. S. troops at Little Rock, Arkansas, in 1959.

Source advised that it is expected many chartered buses will be run from outlying Los Angeles communities to attend Walker's address, these parties including many John Birch Society members.

EDWIN A. WALKER
Former Major General,
U. S. Army
INFORMATION CONCERNING

Edwin A. Walker, resigned Army Major General, addressed a crowd of over 14,000, Los Angeles Sports Arena, January 11, 1962, was interrupted by five long ovations, one coming after he charged the administration with permitting U. S. soldiers to become "an agency of the United Nations." "These sons of ours have been taught to forget their allegiance to our country and become a tool of a world agency that is nothing more than an instrument of Soviet Russia - the United Nations."

Walker also condemned the U. S. remaining in the U. N., for which Walker had roars of approval in a standing ovation. Walker also stated: "That the efforts and sacrifices of these military forces have been so badly undermined by the State Department and their leadership, that this great Nation is in dire peril."

Walker charged collaboration by American forces with the communists under the U. N. in Korea and in the recent action in the U. N. operation in Katanga Province, stating "The only difference is that in Korea, we fought communists and in Katanga we are fighting anti-communists. In Korea we secretly collaborated with the communists. In Katanga, we openly collaborate."

Walker also condemned President Eisenhower for his celebrated "co-existence" with the Russians. Benediction was said by Rabbi Max E. Merritt. It was announced that the ticket receipts at $1.00 each would go to educational program of First Congregational Church of Los Angeles' Freedom Club, sponsors of event.

Above summarizes coverage of meeting by Herald-Examiner, January 12, 1962; similar detailed news reports appear in Los Angeles Times and Hollywood Citizen-News.

EDWIN A. WALKER

A source which has furnished reliable information in the past advised that Walker was paid only a reasonable fee (amount not specified) and his expenses, and source discounted a rumor that Walker was afforded $7500 from evening's receipts.

Walker was given private dinner party January 11, 1962, home of Dr. L. A. Aleson, Director Emeritus of Freedom Club. He breakfasted at Jonathon Club, Los Angeles, January 12, 1962, and spent three hours thereafter with, among others, Paul H. Talbert, Beverly Hills, California, insurance man and John Birch Society National Council member.

Above source continued that a friend of Walker's, unnamed, wants him to run for Governor of Texas; but source discounted likelihood, stating Walker's background and experience ill-fitted him for such a role. Source said Walker was expected to depart Los Angeles January 12, 1962, destination not known to source.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

TEXAS' OVATION

Walker Claims GI's Aiding Commies

A near capacity crowd of 13,-0 heard former Maj. Gen. lyin A. Walker in the Los ngeles Sports Arena last night le gand a revaluation of our la onship to the United Na-ons.

The 53-year old Texan, who it the Army last November ather than submit to what he rmed censorship, stated: My cause is not anti. It is pro merican—first, last and al-ays.

"The day your son enters e military, he is no longer n American citizen. He is an gent of the United Nations. S soldiers are assisting and pporting the communists in a anga as members of the .N. force in the Congo.

Walker spoke on 'Make ime Freedom' under auspices f the Freedom Club of the ir Congregational Church of os Angeles.

Regarding the charge that e attempted to indoctrinate rces in Germany, he said: "I as charged with nothing, I a found guilty of nothing, nd I was punished for noth-ng."

He criticized retired Gen. Omar Bradley, saying that he holds to a doctrine of inevit-ble'sm. He feared a mistake ver Berlin between the United States and the Soviet Union. He said the recognition of East Germany is inevitable. He said the recognition of Red China is inevitable. I disagree with him on every opinion. I do not agree that it is even inevitable that we remain in the United Nations."

STANDING OVATION

At this point there was a standing ovation. Some people in the audience held American flags. Some held aloft placards which read "We Want Walker," "Communism Is Our Enemy," or "Walker for President."

In Walker's one-hour and 15-minute speech there was warning that Mexico is likely to follow Cuba in "Castroism," that national policies since 1933 have fostered the development of the "giant Frankenstein monster" of communism and that through "political intrigue" U.S. and communist troops "are not really opposing forces."

Following Walker's address, questions from the floor were received. It was during this period that he expressed the belief that General Eisenhower could have saved "2,-500,000 refugees from communism" who were "turned back to Stalin" at the end of World War II.

Walker said he believes U.S. troops could have taken the uranium mines of Czechoslovakia. When asked "if we can't have a United Nations along our lines rather than get out of it," his reply was that it would be futile to try because "Russia has got us outvoted."

OPINION SAMPLED

A sampling of public opinion among people in the audience following the meeting produced these remarks:

Edward L. Kas of West Los Angeles commented: "I'm proud that I'm a member of the John Birch Society; and to count myself with General Walker and Paul Talbert (who was on the speaker's platform)."

"I'm not for pulling out of the U.N.," said Marion Styles of Sylmar, "but I would vote for Walker if he runs for President."

David Wilsher of Beverly Hills commented: "General Walker was correct when he said that people called Columbus an extremist. It takes an extremist to do things."

Dr. L. A. Alesen, director emeritus of the Freedom Club, announced the club next month will have Robert Welch, founder of the Birch Society, as its guest speaker. It was also announced that proceeds of last night's meeting would go to the educational program of the Freedom Club. A dollar donation was asked of each person as the price of admission.

SUBJECT: DOUGLAS EDWARDS' NEWS PROGRAM, 4-5-62
CONCERNING CONGRESSIONAL TESTIMONY OF FORMER GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER

BACKGROUND:

By telegram dated 4-5-62, [redacted] Jersey City, New Jersey, advised the Director that in David Schoenbrun's television news program on the evening of 4-5-62, Schoenbrun claimed that he had talked to the Director personally regarding former Major General Edwin A. Walker and that the Director had rebuked Mr. Walker. [redacted] stated in his telegram that Schoenbrun "did not exactly say it that way but anyone listening would interpret his report" as meaning that the Director had issued a rebuke concerning Mr. Walker. [redacted] requested that the Director advise him as to whether he had "really rebuked Mr. Walker" as he was confused by the multiplicity of reports regarding the strength of communism in this country today.

The Director's comment concerning this telegram was, "What is all this about?"

INFORMATION IN BUFILES:

Files reflect that on 3-28-50, one [redacted] New York City, wired the Director to suggest that he meet Senator McCarthy personally and have a "nice quiet talk" with him. He stated unless the Director did this, he [redacted] would feel that the Director was trying to thwart Senator McCarthy's efforts. No background information is in the files concerning this particular individual, but it is possible he is identical with [redacted]

No other information identifiable with [redacted] was noted in the files.

CRIME RESEARCH

MONITOR OF CAPTIONED NEWS PROGRAM:

Douglas Edwards' television news program for CBS, 6:45 p. m., 4-5-62, was monitored by SA [redacted] Crime Research Section, in connection with the regular practice of monitoring pertinent television programs. Edwards appeared first on the program to report the general comments of Walker before the Senate Subcommittee on 4-5-62. He said Walker castigated Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Department official Adam Yarmolinsky as advocating a soft line on communism. He also mentioned that Walker had struck a reporter for the Washington Daily News during a news conference after the hearing.

The program then switched from Edwards in New York to David Schoenbrun in Washington. Schoenbrun concentrated on official Washington comment concerning Walker's testimony. He said an official at the White House deplored Walker's statements and indicated he felt sorry for Walker. Schoenbrun said that Justice Department "spokesmen" indicated they had heard comments of this type in the past and there was nothing new in the general tenor of Walker's statements. Schoenbrun reported in substance that the Director and the Attorney General have deplored extremist remarks of this nature, and that the Attorney General stated Walker's remarks were a conscious effort to divide Americans. Schoenbrun ended his commentary with a statement to the effect that Washington officials believe Walker has hurt himself with his testimony. Schoenbrun was on for approximately three to four minutes and then the program shifted back to Edwards for other news.

Schoenbrun mentioned the Director just once, and he did not attribute any statements to him or make any specific references to material in Mr. Hoover's recent speeches. The "spokesmen" to which he referred were not identified.

CORRESPONDENCE

NOTE: Bufiles contain no identifiable information concerning correspondent. The program he referred to was broadcast on 4-5-62, during which David Schoenbrun reported on comments made in Washington relative to the testimo given that afternoon by General Walker. Schoenbrun made no specific quotation of the Director regarding Walker; however, in referring to this testimony he stated that the Director and the Attorney General have deplored extremist remarks of this nature. Schoenbrun then followed this comment with the statement that the Attorney General had said that Walker's remarks were a conscious effort to divide Americans. The remarks referred to by Schoenbr concerned Walker's attack on Secretary of State Rusk and his assistant Adam Yarmolinsky that they were "soft on communism."

"Where is the training program and the Troop Information Program to implement the training of soldiers to man the UN weapons which could be fired at the United States on UN decision? Why has Mr. McNamara, the Secretary of Defense not issued this program to the Army so the public and every soldier would know the State Department plan? Is it secret or is it censorship of the soldier and the public?

Of course, this TRAITOROUS DISARMAMENT LAW does not specify that the 250,000 Red Chinese troops training in Soviet-controlled Cuba, and/or that the many thousands of Red Chinese soldiers training in Mexico (reported to be over 150,000 and more pouring in monthly) are to be used to occupy Texas "UNDER THE FRAMEWORK OF THE UNITED NATIONS", but the UN sponsored World Association of Parliamentarians for World Government, which met in London, England in 1952 specifically designated that the Southern Half of the United States would "at the proper time" be occupied by Soviet and Red Chinese Troops (SEE MAP OF THE WORLD, Task Force, Jan. /55 and Nov. /60 for details). Now you can understand why Red Chinese troops are being concentrated by the hundreds of thousands in Cuba and Mexico.

Could this be the motivating reason for the Kennedy-Johnson administration breaking their promise to provide air cover for the Patriots of Cuba in their invasion attempt last April? Was this why the Eisenhower administration's State Department permitted Russia to establish a military base in Cuba, ninety miles from our shores, by deposing anti-communist Batista and installing Communist Castro with American taxpayers money and supplies --paid for by our tax money? Is this why the Kennedy-Johnson administration continues to finance the Soviet satellite, Cuba, despite much publicity to the contrary? Last year, the United States gave Communist Castro, through the United Nations, about $450. million. And since we make gifts to nations all over the World, the whole one billion, two hundred million dollars given to Castro by the United Nations alone, came from American taxpayers. The United States State Department permits Cuba to export to the United States almost one billion dollar worth of Cuban products. The diplomatic defeat suffered by the United States in the recent South American conference was no doubt planned that way, because several of Secretary of State Rusk's aides advised the large South American nations to go easy on Castro. The wrist-tapping that was administered to Communist Cuba would be a joke, were it not so tragic. Another straw-man set up by the State Department, in order to hoodwick the American public, that was not even knocked over.

Last September, President Kennedy insisted that passage of H. R. 9118, the Disarmament Act was MUST legislation and allbut 54 Congressmen unfortunately voted for it. Every Congressman who voted for it MUST be voted out of office this fall, and this act of WHOLESALE TREASON MUST be repealed. However, it is unlikely that a Congress that voted for it will reverse itself, and no proper action from Congress can be expected until January 1963. Hence, it is of PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE TO EVERY TEXAN to elect General Walker governor, if TEXANS desire this nation to maintain its present nuclear posture, which is the only thing that stands between the free world and slavery. It is to the best interest of yourself, your family, State and Nation to work for, contribute financial support and VOTE for General Walker for Governor. He is the only candidate in the race capable, willing and anxious to furnish the leadership necessary for the State of Texas to act in its highest sovereign capacity and repudiate, by formal legislative action, the many illegal, unconstitutional, treasonous acts of the agents of the State of Texas -the Executive, the Congress and the Federal Court members.

We know from sad experience that Price Daniel and Will Wilson will not lift so much as a little finger to enforce the law -the Constitution- where agents of the State have usurped and violated the Constitution. On or about December 27, 1961, TEXAS VOTERS FOR ENFORCING THE CONSTITUTION sent a registered, return receipt, letter to Governor Daniel with copies to the Attorney General and to each Texas legislator. Neither Governor Daniel nor Attorney General Wilson had the courtesy or the interest only and only one legislator, Senator Spears of San Antonio, showed enough interest in freedom and safety to reply. The letter is quoted as follows:

"We respectfully request that you add to the agenda for Legislative action at the coming special session of the Texas Legislature for top priority and MUST legislation the following matters:

The VICTORY PURGE

(A complete inter-related picture of the State Department Document No. 7277)

With analysis by
EDWIN A. WALKER*

The publication Freedom from War, #7277, September 1961, is the State Department's planned program for disarming. It provides for:

1. Placing all armed forces under an international organization — the UN.
2. Placing all weapons under an international organization.
3. Building only those weapons necessary for the internal police of the U. S.

General Walker stated: "We are now in a stage of transition. It is a change from the Constitution, which provides for defending ourselves, to one now to let an international organization do it for us. It is a change from constitutional sovereignty, our traditional heritage, and government by, for, and of the people. I swore allegiance to the Constitution of the United States to defend her against all enemies, foreign and domestic. The State for the defense of our country. For many years we have given them the secrets, blueprints, technical knowledge of our greatest weapons. It is clear that any training program stressing the identity and methods of the Communist conspiracy as an enemy is not in consonance with, or in support of, a program to place our Armed Forces and weapons under the UN — the hidden secret program of our government's national policy.

Major General Edwin A. Walker is now Mr. Walker since his resignation from the Army after 30 years of service. He has shown a far-sighted, patriotic, and unassumingly approach to our national policy and military security. As a civilian he is free from any limitations and any obligations to the Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces — the President — and from any muzzling or censorship by the State Department or the Secretary of Defense.*

He has shown the courage, willingness, and ability to place the Cold War picture of Dire Peril in our Armed Forces before the American people with complete indifference to his personal welfare. Through resignation he gave up his 30-year earned retirement pay and benefits which would approach fifteen thousand dollars a year. He was certain that the American people did not concur in — and had not accepted — the State Department's planned program for disarmament and the surrender of our national sovereignty, which is the capacity and responsibility to protect lives, homes, and property under justice, law, and order from enemies, foreign and domestic.

"I ask the question — Who is to de-Americanize the soldier and then UN-ize him? Who is to change his spiritual and moral loyalty from 'Duty, Honor, Country'? Certainly it cannot be done by an army officer under the oath of allegiance to the Constitution. For it to be done, the oath of office must be changed and the American people must be brainwashed to accept UN-ism and UN sovereignty over their lives, homes, and property.

"Where is the training program and the Troop Information Program to implement the training of soldiers to man the UN weapons which could be fired at the United States on UN decision? When do we commence drafting men for UN service? Why has Mr. McNamara, the Secretary of Defense, not issued this program to the Army so that the public and every soldier will know the State Department plan? Is it secret, or is it censorship of the soldier and the public?

"Why has the Troop Information program, whose intent and objectives are to keep the U. S. soldier so well informed, not told him of the plan to place the Army, Navy, and Air Force under the UN and to take his weapons from him and give them to the UN? Is the soldier a second-class citizen, or is he the tool of a police state? Why should he not show this program for disarming him and his country to his foreign friends in Berlin, Korea, Viet Nam, Thailand? I ask you, would this discredit him, his training mission, and you, an American, in the eyes of every nation in which he serves? It would certainly indispose to his foreign friends, our allies, that his days are numbered and his military mission to their land is a pious gesture of fraud, intimidation, and deceit."

The Rusk-Ball-Rostow "no-win" "no-victory" policy of the State Department calls for — and directs — a McNamara-Yarmolinsky-Sylvester purge of our Armed Forces.

The State Department Program to place all armed forces and all weapons under the UN #7277 is a program that plans and establishes the necessary policy, direction, control, and supervision for preparing the Armed Forces, Officers, men and weapons for service under the UN. The United States' implementing agency is the Defense Department, now headed by McNamara.

The Armed Forces of our nation are being mentally and psychologically purged to conform to the "no-win" policy plan of W. W. Rostow, the State Department planner. Military orders, "cutlups", movements, and operations on land, sea, and air are so ordered and directed as to conform to our losing national policy under UN objectives and UN obligations. Contracts for weapons, ships, and aircraft must conform to the requirements, limitations, and preparations for serving the UN only. In the field of competitive purchase, all members of the UN must be considered in the equalization of contracts. Control of nuclear weapons and weapons research and development has been, and will continue to be, kept in the hands of the "no-win" scientists and politicians. This is the continuing purge of the Armed Forces, according to the planned policy of the State Department implemented by the Department of Defense. It includes the highly centralized control of nuclear weapons, which has long minimized and jeopardized the capability, the military stature of the nation, and the nation's security.

The Armed Forces of our nation are being mentally and psychologically purged to conform to the "no-win" policy plan of W. W. Rostow, the [illegible] State Department planner. Military orders, callups, movements, and operations on land, sea, and air are so ordered and directed as to conform to our losing national policy under UN objectives and UN obligations. Contracts for weapons, ships, and aircraft must conform to the requirements, limitations, and preparations for serving the UN only. Defense Secretary McNamara has established centralized planning and supervision of military training and education. Sylvester, the Under-Secretary for Public Relations, has announced that teams have been put out to comb the military services for rightest officers and beliefs. This is a witch hunt for anyone so right and bold as to live by his oath of office. This is the control of political thought and politics in the Armed Forces. This is the purge complete to assure and insure conformance with the State Department's "no-win" policy, to UN control, and to the heavy-handed dictatorial power of McNamara.

The Youth Peace Corps has, to all intents and purposes, superseded our armed forces as the first line of defense. The Armed Forces are being prepared for liquidation. The Rusk-Ball-Rostow "no-win" policy prepared and provided for the Communist takeover and control of Cuba, Laos, and South Viet Nam during this period of transition which is obstructed and extended by public obstinacy and military character. The acceptance of our Armed Forces by the Communist countries is a co-ordinated and combined Washington-Moscow arranged plan which will proceed on mutually agreeable timing, terms and co-operation. The present period of delay as augmented thus far reflects the obstinate mood of the American people and the reactionary diplomatic realignment of nations betrayed. Many governments such as France must be given time to develop their position on the Communist bandwagon since we have assured that they will all be a part of the UN wagon train.

The Communist takeover of South Viet Nam is complete. Our withdrawal will be announced when it fits the scheme and when the public is ready to accept another defeat — a defeat for America but a victory for the Red-controlled UN.

THE MILITARY PURGE

An Analysis by Edwin A. Walker

The Army's approach, directed by Secretary of Defense McNamara, to guerrilla warfare training is a farce — but a good plan to UN-ize our Armed Forces. The mission of the Special Forces is critical and vital in its requirements and responsibilities to support indigenous groups, uprisings, and movements in foreign countries. No Special Force team of twelve soldiers, or an individual soldier, can operate as a U. S. guerrilla since he has to work in seclusion and kill only to defend himself or the security of his mission, while guerrillas are offensive killers and destroyers of key installations.

The Special Force man must know guerrilla work and teach it to indigenous groups, but he himself is no U. S. guerrilla. This is the farce. It led to an increase of 5000 in strength in Special Forces, and now the assignment of 1300 Special Force "nation builders" — a new term for raising the standard of living in foreign countries under the military budget. It led to the recall to duty of General Maxwell D. Taylor to add public confidence and military assent to the Special Forces Guerrilla Nation Building Program. All this pretense was for public consumption in our defense of Laos.

This makes three missions — all contradictory: the original Special Forces mission to support foreign uprisings; the requirement to operate as a guerrilla; and the nation building job. The only thing consistent about the whole program and its great publicity is that it makes our Special Forces more suitable and amenable to UN objectives and UN control. It prepares these Forces for duties under the UN. It gives them undesirable and endangering publicity under their primary Special Forces role, but now with the additional duty of nation building they are prepared to support the Youth Peace Corps.

The remainder of our Armed Forces are being further prepared for duty under the UN by a recent development which centralizes the Troop Information program for training and indoctrination of troops directly under the Secretary of Defense. The procedure is established for the entire program to be controlled through Arthur Sylvester, Under-Secretary for Public Information, working direct with the Captains of our Armed Forces. The Sylvester Captains' Program intentionally eliminates the Generals and Colonels, now excess baggage. Too many of their speeches had to be censored to conform to the "no-win" "no-victory" policy. The Rusk-Rostow-McNamara-Katzenbach-Yarmolinsky-Sylvester cold-war "no-win" "no-victory" witch hunt and purge within the Armed Forces today is a part of their political commissariat program to control the thoughts, beliefs, and objectives of all soldiers, sailors, and airmen under the Troop Information program. The Captains are betrayed by the elimination of their seniors in the chain of command. We now have the UN's UNESCO for the public and "Master of Deceit" McNamara's Troop Information Program for the military. OCT 9 1962

1. Repudiation by the Sovereign State of Texas the treasonous ARMS CONTROL ACT provided for by H. R. 9118, which presumes to give the President the power to do away with all of our Armed Forces; to close down West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy. Since the State Department has already submitted to the United Nations a PLAN to surrender all of our Armed Forces to control of that international body, whose commander of the U. N. military forces is now and always has been a Communist, WE URGE AND PLEAD WITH YOU REPRESENTATIVES OF THE PEOPLE TO ACT NOW AND TO ACT FIRMLY AND PASS A BILL REPUDIATING THESE ILLEGAL, UNLAWFUL AND UNCONSTITUTIONAL ACTS of these agents of the State of Texas and the other States on the grounds that they acted beyond the limits of authority granted to them by the States under our Constitution. This bill must be signed by the Governor of Texas as you know and that will tell the world that the "arms control" act is not law in Texas.

2. REPUDIATION of the purported ratification of the U. N. Charter which THE PLANNERS claim replaced the Constitution of the United States in 1946. Neither the Senate nor the President had authority to change the Constitution of the United States. It can only be changed legally by a vote of 3/4 ths of the States adopting a formal amendment for such a purpose. Hence, the so-called Ratification of the U. N. Charter is null and void BUT ONLY IF THE STATE OF TEXAS ACTS in its highest sovereign capacity and enacts into Texas Law a Bill stating that the UNITED NATIONS CHARTER IS NOT THE LAW IN TEXAS.

Please remember, "THAT THE UNDERSTANDING AND ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW AS ALREADY ESTABLISHED FURNISHES THE KEY TO THE COMPLETE OVERTHROW OF THE COMMUNIST CONSPIRACY TO OVERTHROW OUR FORM OF GOVERNMENT".

The directive power of the governments of these United States comes about through the terms of the contract, the Constitution; under these terms IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE SUPREME COURT, THE PRESIDENT OR THE CONGRESS TO PERFORM ANY SERVICES OR DO ANY ACT THAT THE STATES HAVE NOT PROVIDED FOR, OR GRANTED TO THESE AGENTS. It is the duty of the States to repudiate any and all acts of their agents and make it clear to the law enforcement agents which have been set up under this CONTRACT, that the unlawful acts of the agents, being ultra vires and beyond their power to act, are not binding on the States and not law in that state.

Please study carefully the attached radio-TV address for fuller details and for the urgency of these matters that spell life and/or death to our Constitutional Republic and FREEDOM and/or SLAVERY for us, our children and our grandchildren.

Respectfully yours for enforcing the Constituion, John C. Williams, President"

Price Daniel, Will Wilson and all the Texas Legislators "fiddled" while free America and our Constitution burned, throughout the recent special session of the Texas Legislature. These lobbyist-controlled politicians wasted the taxpayer's money talking about repairing San Jacinto Monument and Loan Sharks, but they did nothing about either. We ask you, fellow Texans, what are these things, compared to our freedom? Governor Daniel ignored completely his oath of office to defend the Constitution of the United States. He should have at least exerted his utmost efforts to furnish the leadership required to inspire the government of Texas to REPUDIATE the treasonous DISARMAMENT ACT. Of course, this was expecting too much of a Texas Governor who was and is apparently in JFK and LBJ's vest pocket for he cowardly and diligently refused or failed to cross swords with the employees of Texas, the Washington officials who are destroying our form of government. Hence, Price Daniel became part and parcel of this secret conspiracy to destroy our Republic.

Price Daniel has been a 'yes' man for Council of Foreign Relations members Ike Eisenhower, Nelson Rockefeller, Richard Nixon, John F. Kennedy, Felix Frankfurter , Adlai Stevenson, Dean Rusk, Earl Warren.

Now Price Daniel has the unmitigating gall to ask Texans to vote for him for a fourth term as Governor of Texas. Price Daniel knowingly or unknowingly has done everything in his power to support the conspirators who vow they will bury us. He has done all in his power to destroy our Constitution by his deliberate failure to enforce it, and his mealymouthed acquiesence in and active support of the treasonous acts for your own funeral and the enslavement of all Texans who want our Constitutional Republic to survive. A vote for Daniel is a vote for slavery. A vote for General Walker is a vote for a free and independent people!

TEXAS VOTERS FOR ENFORCING THE CONSTITUTION wrote Governor Daniel a number of letters concerning the school segregation cases, and sent copies to Attorney General Wilson in each case, and also each Member of the Texas Legislature. These letters were published in the December, 1960 and May, 1961 issues of TASK FORCE; including Governor Daniel's reply to one of our letters. We quote in part our letter to Governor Daniel of October 31, 1960:

> "You have challenged the legality of a statement in our previous letter. This is intended as an answer to your challenge.
> We would have preferred it that you had pointed out our errors in the [illegible] legal statement made by me, but you chose to speak generally. I am answering in such terms as will get down to the exact points.

> Respectfully yours,
> John C. Williams, President"

In our opinion, John Connally deserves no consideration whatsoever from the Texas voters. "Why", you ask. As Secretary of the Navy, John Connally went along with the wholesale treason of the Kennedy-Johnson administration and so far as we know never raised his voice before or after to protest JFK's 'must' legislation when the treasonous H.R. 9118 bill, the Disarmament Act, was submitted to and passed by the [illegible] Congress last September. No wonder John Connally resigned his job as Secretary of the Navy, for the Disarmament Act will soon put an end to his job.

In effect, John Connally was a party to this treasonous act of planned surrender of all our armed forces to our enemies. He helped to do away with his own job by acquiescence. Like all of the Congressmen who voted for this treasonous law of slavery of the American people, he should be removed from the public scene and never again be entrusted with a public office. He has proved that he is not worthy of the confidence of the public because, had he had the interest of the people at heart he would have publicy fought against this wholesale surrender of America's armed might.

to the Russian General perpetual [illegible] command of the United Nations military establishment. (See "Freedom From War", State Department Publication 7277 and H. R. 9118, Public Law 87-297).

Don Yarborough has already stated that he is for the Socialistic programs of the Kennedy-Johnson administration. He is in favor of the outrageous spending programs and unconstitutional trade objectives of the Kennedy-Johnson administration which cannot be achieved without bankrupting the nation, draining off all of our gold reserves, destroying our major industries and throwing millions of citizens out of work. All foreign and domestic aid programs must be stopped and national solvency must be achieved if the economy of the nation and the stability of the dollar is to be mainted.

Congressman John H. Dent (Pa.) said, "The commonmarket is the first step to a new nation to be called EURAMERICA. The drums are already beating for the new country. We will hear more about it just as soon as the new tariff-cutting plan gets underway". JFK's tariff-cutting bill would give the United States State Department full power over all import restrictions and be used to eliminate all tariff protection for American industry and the American working man. This Kennedy Bill is called by Congressman Dent a "face saver" for the trade legislation enacted under Eisenhower, which has already destroyed many domestic enterprises and hundreds of thousands of American's gainful employment. He predicted that the new plan (JFK's Trade Plan) would extend the disaster and pave the road for United States entry into the European Common Market. This whole story was censored and not a word was printed in the controlled press. This is the New World Government scheme to annex the United States to Europe."

It appears that the one-worlders, JFK and his gang of Fabian Socialists, nearly all CFR members, have quietly switched from the United Nations to NATO as their preferred vehicle for creation of a World State. We urge not only every Texan, but every true American to demand that Congress defeat the Kennedy-Johnson Trade Agreement Bill. Even with the shift to NATO and merging the United States with common market nations of Europe, the Kennedy-Johnson National Identity Destroyers seek to finally keep NATO in the United Nations and after the United States sovereignty is destroyed completely and Texas and American Citizens enslaved, the whole Common Market Community will merge with the United Nations-One World Government, so even here "Under the Framework of theU. N." still holds -unfortunately.

Don Yarborough deserves no consideration from Texas Voters because he supports blindly and wholeheartedly the ruinous policies the Kennedy Fabian Socialist Administration is determined to enact to raise the living standard of one billion Foreign people at the expense of the American Citizens. This is unconstitutional and is designed to actually tax Americans out of every vestige of property they own or hope to own. This Fabian policy will make paupers out of American Citizens and destitute wards of the government and the billion foreigners will still be paupers. They are deliberately killing the goose that lays the golden eggs, so that every man will have to look to Washington for his daily bread -that is all but about three per-cent of the 'top-drawer' bureaucrats who expect to own all the wealth of the world and the rest of humanity will naturally be their slaves, and Don Yarborough is [illegible] and taxes for foreign [illegible]. He is in favor of American taxpayers buying that he is against the private ownership of property for this world wide WPA and world wide foreign aid which can only be maintained and continued at the expense of our birthrights and property rights. It means the confiscation, unconstitutionally, of all American citizens personal and property rights for whenever a citizen loses his property rights he also loses his liberties and his freedom of choice -he becomes a slave. Yet, Don Yarborough boasts that he is for the type of so-called leadership displayed by John Kennedy in strong-arming the major steel corporations and forcing them to withdraw their modest price increase of steel so that the steel people would be able to buy new and modern steel making equipment and make it possible for the American Steel Industry to compete with foreign steel producers.

Don Yarborough thinks John Kennedy has made the greatest president the United States has had and is in favor of supporting his socialist policies and police state tactics against business when all steps were pulled and every force available to the all powerful Washington government was going to be used to bludgeon this steel people into submission, including the FBI and the Internal Revenue prese... all naked police state weapons and tactics. Yet, Don Yarborough cheers and vows that if he is elected Governor he will support these police state tactics 100% and cooperate 100% with the tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect policies of these gangster type elected officials now destroying our constitutional Republic with every action they take.

In effect, Don Yarborough has told Texans that if elected they can expect him to use police state methods and tactics to browbeat and run roughshod over Texas business firms and Texas citizens. He does not realize that JFK's use of iron spiked boots on big steel spells the end of his political career and the possible beginning of the greatest depression in the history of the United States. Business can only thrive in a climate of confidence. Millions of men may be thrown out of work and people with venture capitol will go very, very slowly in investing it in American ventures that would give millions of jobs to American citizens, for they could be next on the list to receive the iron boot by "King" Jack. Henry J. Taylor is right when he said recently, "Prosperity does not take place nor expansion occur, in the face of unbridled, vendicative political power".

Apparently Don Yarborough, John Connally, Price Daniel and Will Wilson all seem to be for the Kennedy-Johnson treasonous Disarmament Act which calls for the U. S. A. to surrender all weapons to the Soviet domiated United Nations, whose military Commander is perpetually a Russian General, and the same law of enslavement of the American people calls for the United States to be occupied by foreign troops and, again, "Under the Framework of the United Nations", huge Red Chinese armies are being massed on or near our Texas borders and whose purpose can be none other than to see that the World Court orders against Patriotic American citizens be enforced.

Now "King" Jack informs us that "if the world wants to disarm a great price must be paid". We ask, who is to be the master and who is to be the slave after and if American citizens pay the outrageous price that Kennedy demands? Let's see what we have to do. JFK said we have to give up all national claims and American citizenship and be a world citizen for we would automatically be under World Government, and this of course, repeals the Connally Amendment, destroys the American Constitution, and places American citizens under and at the mercy of foreign communist judges and foreign troops who would enforce the communist World Court edicts against the private property rights of American citizens and against the Bill of Rights of American citizens. Yet Yarborough, Connally, Daniel and Wilson would automatically have to knuckle under to these one world tyrants if any of them are elected Governor of Texas. Don Yarborough boastfully promises to cooperate 100% with "King" John and Vice-"King" Johnson; John Connally is JFK and LBJ's errand boy, specifically sent here so if elected he can and will support this 'rule of tyrants; Price Daniel's brother is Governor of Guam and Price is doubly obligated for he signed into law the treasonous Urban Renewal Law and the communist-designed Mental Health Law; Will Wilson was Kennedy's campaign manager in 1960. ELECT GENERAL WALKER AND REMAIN FREE MEN AND WOMEN.

United States and Texas are being completely encircled by Communist occupation armies. In each case the activities of the enemy from the very beginning, forty years in Mexico, to the present time have been financed by the Washington State Department. This financial support is continuing, unabated, today. The first Western hemisphere Soviet satellite was established in Bolivia, which has received more American tax dollars per capita than any other Country except perhaps, Laos. Cardenas and Castro received direct financial aid from the pro-communist State Department, and when this was not enough, American tax dollars have been funneled in to them through Communist Yugoslavia and/or World Bank, Federal Reserve or United Nations, or Poland.

The Russians are building the largest airports in the Western Hemisphere on Bolivia's huge altiplano, which is a high plane, level, which is three miles high, five hundred miles long and eighty miles wide. When these Soviet airports are equipped and ready for use, Communist Russia will be able to exercise absolute military control over all of Central and South America. The Russians have built missile and submarine bases in Cuba. It should be apparent to everyone that we are approaching a very critical time in our history, when the United States, in order to survive as a free nation, must take over Cuba and must stop the buildup of the Communist Army in Mexico under Cardenas and must stop NOW the Soviet construction of these huge airports in Bolivia.

If Texas and Texans will remain free they had not only better heed General Walker's advice, and I quote, "eminent danger will befall the Nation unless" America mends its warped. Cardenas, former President of Mexico, indentified with the left-wing, is the coming Castro of Mexico. It can well be anticipated the Iron Curtain will close in on the Rio Grande and Mr. Robert Kennedy has indicated that there is no reason to be proud of Texas history".

Soviet bombers and troop carriers, loaded with Mongolian soldiers and bombs could and will be taking off from these Bolivian airports, now under construction and as they fly toward the Rio Grande, with their U. N. occupation forces, Soviet fighters could join them from the air fields already contructed by Cardenas in Mexico. The Red Chinese troops pouring into Mexico and being trained there, at the expense of American taxpayers (thanks to the generosity of the Washington State Department) could pour across the Rio Grande and occupy Texas "under the framework of the United Nations", and the Kennedy-Johnson Disarmament act.

It is plain that every Texan who wishes to survive and remain free must vote for a man for Governor who knows the score, as well as the enemy. The only man in the race for Governor who qualifies to be our Governor, under the circumstances that confront us by our avowed enemies, is General Walker. Any other course leads to both personal and national suicide. General Walker's recent wire to President Kennedy with copy to Governor Daniel, regarding restoration to the State of Texas of absolute control of the Texas militia demonstrates General Walker's know-how and Governor Daniel's reply demonstrates his visable ignorance.

We would remind you that General Walker is a direct descendant of the [illegible] co-author of the Constitution of the United States, Honorable Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, of South Carolina. It is fitting and proper that General Walker, famous and great in his own right, should be in a position as Governor of Texas, to help restore Constitutional Government to Texas and the Nation. His leadership can be most effective as the Chief Executive of the Sovereign State of Texas. General Walker said, "the governorship of the Sovereign State of Texas is a National position, as is the governorship of every other State of the Union. By the Constitution of this State and of the United States, all powers not delegated to the Federal Government -by far, the major portion, about 90% - are retained by the people within their Sovereign States. The Governor is the Executive representative of these powers retained by the people -at the National level".

Fellow Texans, we need a man to do this job. Let us elect THE SAM HOUSTON OF [illegible] GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER, the only qualified man in the race [illegible]

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

There are hundreds of thousands of Red Chinese troops in Cuba and Mexico and tens of thousands more entering Mexico each month, according to reports. What are these troops to be used for? The newspapers say that Castro will will invade and conquer other Latin American nations for Communism, contrary to the Monroe Doctrine. But Mexico's Castro-Ex President Cardenas, the manager for the Kremlin in Mexico has already built ten huge airfields on his private estates throughout eight Mexican Provinces and Soviet planes are flying in material and men every day for the underground Communist army Cardenas is assembling and training. The United Nations has long since published plans to have Russian and Red Chinese soldiers occupy the Southern and Southwestern States which includes Texas. John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson and their vest pocket men, Price Daniel, John Connally and Will Wilson, apparently approve for none of them have warned Texans about the take over of the Churches as planned through Civil Defense and /or the occupation of Texas by foreign troops after these colaborators, dupes and traitors have disarmed this nation and Texas citizens "under the framework of the United Nations", as authorized by HR 9118, the treasonous disarmament act. These Red Chinese troops being massed and trained and equipped in Cuba and Mexico are a real threat to every Texas Citizen and these Washington puppets like John Connally, Price Daniel and Will Wilson, have never so much as staged one TV, radio broadcast or press conference, informing Texans of their dire peril.

Fellow Texans, let us elect General Edwin A. Walker our Governor and thereby fulfill the hopes and prayers of Henry Armitt Brown, spoken at Valley Forge in 1878 at the celebration of the 100th anniversary of that other great victory over tyranny by General George Washington and his brave men who suffered there in order that we could live and prosper in freedom:

"AND HERE IN THIS PLACE OF SACRIFICE
IN THIS VALE OF HUMILIATION
IN THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW OF THAT DEATH OUT OF WHICH
THE LIFE OF AMERICA ROSE REGENERATE AND FREE—
LET US BELIEVE WITH AN ABIDING FAITH THAT TO THEM UNION WILL SEEM AS DEAR AND LIBERTY AS SWEET AND PROGRESS AS GLORIOUS
AS THEY WERE TO OUR FATHERS AND ARE TO YOU & ME
AND THAT THE INSTITUTIONS THAT MADE US HAPPY
PRESERVED BY THE VIRTUE OF OUR CHILDREN SHALL BLESS THE REMOTEST GENERATION OF THE TIME TO COME".

FORMER MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER

Reference is made to the telephonic request of [redacted] of your Division on October 2, 1962, for information in the files of this Bureau concerning the captioned individual. Specifically, [redacted] asked for any material that might be of assistance in reaching a determination as to Walker's mental condition.

This Bureau's files reveal that a limited applicant-type investigation was conducted regarding Walker for the Atomic Energy Commission in January, 1950. Due to Walker's career Army status at that time, the investigation was limited to a review of his officer service record. The record indicated that Walker was born on November 10, 1909, at Center Point, Texas, and entered Army service on July 1, 1927, at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York. At the time the record was examined, Walker was serving as a lieutenant colonel with efficiency ratings of satisfactory through superior.

In addition to the information regarding Walker developed as a result of the afore-mentioned investigation, the files of this Bureau contain numerous references to him of a public-source nature, particularly with regard to his testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee, which testimony was given in April, 1962. Additionally, there are numerous references regarding his testimony in August, 1961, before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Walker's appearances before the Senate Armed Services Committee concerned his removal from command of the 24th Infantry Division, Germany, after allegations, especially by the paper "Overseas Weekly," that he had been using John Birch Society materials to indoctrinate troops under his command and had made procommunist allegations against prominent persons. In counteraccusations against "Overseas Weekly," Walker charged the paper with having a policy tending to demoralize the troops, one aspect of it being overemphasis on sex and sensationalism.

Mr. Herbert J. Miller, Jr.

The "New York Herald Tribune" of April 17, 1961, contained an article with a date line of Frankfurt, Germany, which mentioned in part, "A controversy between a United States general and a privately owned service-men's newspaper turned into a mutual name-calling contest today. At the root of the argument is the controversial John Birch Society." According to the article, Walker said, "We have communists and we have 'The Overseas Weekly.' Neither one is one of God's blessings to the American people and their soldier sons overseas."

The article continued that the "Overseas Weekly" had reported that John Birch publications and material were distributed among 24th Division soldiers under programs set up by Walker. Further, Walker was reported by the paper to have said at a Parent-Teacher Association meeting in Augsburg, Germany, that former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt "are definitely pink" and that 60 per cent of the American press, radio and television industry is communist.

The Washington Capital News Service in a release dated September 29, 1961, mentioned that a lawyer in Augsburg, Germany, representing a German reporter on trial for alleged slander of Walker had asked the court to call two United States Congressmen and the Army Secretary as witnesses. The attorney, Lothar Kolb, representing Siegfried Naujocks, stated he wanted the Secretary of the Army to prove there were no Army rules prohibiting a press officer from issuing statements about the health of officers. Naujocks, according to the release, had testified that he had called Walker "crazy" but refused to elaborate on the grounds he would have to reveal United States military secrets and might later be tried for that. Naujocks reportedly had a copy of a medical report stating that Walker had a brain tumor but Army press officers refused him information on the subject. A Washington Capital News Service release of September 27, 1961, reported that an Army doctor, not further identified but one of three who examined Walker in Munich in November, had testified that Walker's health was good.

A Washington Capital News Service release of January 9, 1962, with a date line of Jackson, Mississippi, indicated that Walker had told a cheering, flag-waving crowd of 3,500 that the United Nations is immoral and its late Secretary General, Dag Hammerskjold, was a "Red Swede" who took instructions from Moscow. He also said, according to the release, "The communists are afraid of you. They distrust you and the power of your state sovereignty and your great unity of purpose. They are aware of your leadership and of you as a great symbol in the cause of freedom everywhere." The release further indicated that Walker said, "The leftist intelligentsia are now aiming at Congress and some Congressmen have succumbed." Walker cited "the careers of Vice President Johnson and Senator J. William Fulbright, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, as examples of what he said was left-wingers progress in converting American politicians."

The "Washington Daily News" in an article dated April 6, 1962, entitled "The General Led From the Right," reported that Walker had struck Tom Kelly in the eye. Mr. Kelly, a reporter for the "Washington Daily News," was covering Walker's testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee. According to the article, Mr. Kelly received the blow from Walker when he was attempting to question Walker following his testimony.

Mr. President —

As a loyal citizen of these United States I protest the alleged "invasion" of the State of Louisiana by Washington's Department of Justice.

I am shocked by the appointment of Mr. Burke Marshall as Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Department's Civil Rights Division. Mr. Marshall's record discloses that he has been closely associated with Communist front organizations and has espoused Communist causes.

Mr. Marshall's appointment is a direct insult to the people of the South, who have been struggling against the Communist conspiracy to destroy our way of life.

Is this the kind of man you want to head your Civil Rights Division? I do not! I am appalled that you would appoint such a man to this sensitive position.

There are Negroes in my city, both intelligent and reasonable, who are quite capable of handling the Civil Rights Division. I urge you to appoint a Negro to this position.

I demand that you withdraw the name of Burke Marshall from consideration by the United States Senate and that you appoint a competent, loyal American to this office.

RE: GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER

On October 3, 1962, an individual who identified himself as [redacted], furnished to Resident Agency Office, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Austin, Texas, a two-page memorandum which reads as follows:

"Information from [redacted] 3 October 1962

"(1) Those who are so quick to condemn or ridicule Gen. WALKER should take time to study facts, recent history regarding strong anti-communists, and the Russian textbook on psychopolitics.

"(2) It is very important that Gen. WALKER not get into the wrong hands

"(3) He knows the 'real story' of what is going on in this country and throughout the world--not the slant which comes out of the liberal news media.

"(5) For those who do not understand why Gen. WALKER's friends and associates are so concerned for his well-being at this time--afraid of possible tampering with his mind or body--they should read BRAINWASHING, the Russian psychopolitical text thoroughly--to include the portion on 'Lobotomy.' The pamphlets are available at the American Freedom Bookstore in Austin or from Truth, Inc., 711 West 7th St., Ft. Worth.

"(6) I am concerned, and have been for several months, regarding the possible 'tampering--chemical or psychological' by double agents. [redacted] drove to Dallas last June to discuss the matter with Gen. WALKER and to give him some material regarding the problem. He was very appreciative, but stated that 'this is just one of those things that you have to put up with if you are going to tell the story of what is going on.'

"(7) I hope that the FBI, with which I have been in contact last night and this morning, will investigate in collaboration with the CIA the suicide death of Gen. WALKER's houseboy in the General's Augsburg, Germany residence shortly before the WALKER incident exploded in Washington. I have alerted the FBI to the fact that some suspicious individuals have flocked to the General's support in Texas and secured close associations in some cases.

"(8) I talked to [redacted] in San Antonio Monday. He is considered to be one of the leading experts in the free-world regarding brainwashing. (1) Those who are so quick to condemn or ridicule Gen. Walker should take time to study facts, recent history regarding strong anti-communists, and the Russian textbook on psychopolitics.

(2) It is very important that Gen. Walker not get into the wrong hands.

(3) He knows the "real story" of what is going on in this country and throughou the world--not the slant which comes out of the liberal news media.

Dear Sir:

I am writting concerning former Army Major General Edwin A. Walker, who is now being held at the U. S. Hospital for Federal Prisoners at Springfield, Missouri, by order of committal from U. S. District Judge Claude Clayton of the northern district of Mississippi.

I understand that he was being held for $100,000.00 bond, but when the U. S. Attorny Russell Millin was told by Clyde Watts, Oklahoma City Attorny for Walker that the money was available for bond, that Attorny Millin replied "the question of bond is immaterial."

Sir, this is a serious thing, and I fear for General Walkers safety. Something is fishy in the whole thing. The agents of the Kremlin would jump at the chance to do an operation like a prefrontal lobotomy on him, to permanently remove him as a source of trouble.

I implore you to look into this case, and provide some means to keep any psychiatrist or neurosurgeon from performing any surgery or administering any medical treatment to General Walker.

Sir, it seems to me that General Walker was relieved of his command for no reason at all, other than that of trying to wake up some people who are asleep to what the Communists are trying to do. Then I wondered why he was involved in this racial strife in Mississippi, but then everyone knows that the N. A. A. C. P. is shot through

The groups will see now if Mr. Meridith can make trouble at the University of Miami, that is their next trouble spot.

Dear Mr. Hoover.

I want to write and tell you what it has meant thru the years, to have a man in such a vital position, that could have full trust of the American people.

No one else will ever be there, that I shall have such complete Confidence in.

Many of our public men, and Statesmen, who are all America could hope for, do not receive the honor, praise, and thankfulness they deserve from the people they serve.

We are appalled at the arrest of Mr Edwin A Walker. We do not believe he led any riot. It is the only way the Communists could stop him from arousing the citizens to the danger the country is in.

Every time Martin Luther King gets arrested - Some one calls and has him released. (We know he is or was a member of N A A C P) We've never heard of his bond being set at $100,000 - and we understand THAT was turned down until he (Walker) signed he would submit to psychiatric treatment or Examination

He Should be released - Can you help us in any way by a suggestion or action of what to do - I fear that with drugs or surgery he will be destroyed. We have read Some of the "Crimes of Khruschev" put out by Office of Public Printing Wash D. C. & we are very concerned for Mr. Walkers' Safety. There was a purpose behind it all besides integration and States Rights. REC- 51

Dear Mr. Hoover,

I am 14 years old and love this great country I live in. Please state what kind of a program it was. and I would appreciate it also if you would clear up any doubt anyone might have about Mr. Walker's patriotism toward this great nation of ours.

I already have my opinion about General Walker's loyalty to the United States, I think he is one of this nations greatest patriots. I also believe his pro-blue program was strickly pro american and pro freedom. The reason I have asked this information from you is because I would like to show your letter to a few of friends of mine who doubt his patriotism. I would also like to show it to a school teacher I have who said that walker was showing his troops Communists films. The reason I wrote you was because you are the most highly respected man in our nation.

Walker Sees Press Fault In Red News

By DONALD EDIGER
AP Staff Writer

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker Saturday accused the press of scaring Americans by drumming in news of communist activity abroad and at the same time ignoring this country's "third party."

Walker said a third party exists in many countries. It sparks leftwing revolutions, and then slips back into obscurity, he said.

"The third party is at work throughout the world but you don't read anything about it in the press," the combat hero added in an interview. He said it was composed of agitators, communists and liberals.

But, the resigned general warned, while suppressing news of internal agitation, the press also plays up news of communist leaders aboard so that headlines with their names, appearing day after day, he said, instill fear in American people.

UN BACKED CUBA REDS

Meanwhile, he said, U.S. policy is being dictated by a minority-led United Nations. He sharply criticized U.N. action in Katanga and charged that the world organization supported the communist takeover in Cuba.

In response to a question on whether he intends to visit the campus of the University of Alabama, where an integration showdown may occur this fall, Walker said, "I am perfectly free to go and come to any place in the United States or the world to project the cause of freedom."

Walker is currently one [illegible] of 27 cities in an anti-communist crusade called "Operation: Midnight Ride" with Dr. Billy Hargis of Tulsa, Okla.

Both Walker and Hargis praised Alabama Gov. George Wallace. The former Army general said Wallace has made "a courageous stand in the interest of all people of all 50 states in maintaining the sovereignty and union of the states. . ."

Wallace has promised to defy any federal court order to integrate public schools in Alabama, and is a fervent advocate of states rights.

Walker renewed his criticism of the Kennedy administration, saying that liberals in the Democratic Pary are "split wide open because they didn't realize that liberalism meant turning seven million Cubans over to Russia."

Kennedy, he said, has lost "tremendous support and his present policy will gain him no votes. . ."

He said Americans will have no more choice between presidential candidates than they did in 1960. He said there was little difference between a Kennedy and a Rockefeller."

Walker said he has gotten a positive response recently to his criticism of U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The ex-general also criticized the press Friday night in a speech at Birmingham, charging that the Kennedy administration is trying to divide the American people while "brainwashing in the press is continuous."

GREETED WITH CHEERS

Gen. Walker, Rev. Hargis Sound Call For Americans 'To Be Heard'

By BOB HESS

[illegible] of America's best known, self-styled enemies of internal Communism said here Saturday night Americans could "turn this country around" in a matter of months if they would only stand up and be heard.

The two, former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker of Dallas, and evangelist Billy James Hargis, of Okla., spoke at City Auditorium and received a standing ovation when they came on stage together and stood at attention on opposite sides of the podium. Both their speeches, which took almost three hours, were interrupted many times by cheers and claps.

Gen. Walker and Hargis began their speeches with praise of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. A telegram from Wallace was read saying in parts, "I deeply appreciate your efforts and sacrifices in this real fight for human rights."

'MEAN BUSINESS'

"I can tell you right now," Walker said, in introducing Hargis, "you can either get out and help push this drive or you can get out in front and get run over. We mean business."

The two spoke here in connection with a five-week cross-country tour called "Operation: Midnight Ride." The speech here was sponsored by Hargis' Tulsa organization, Christian Crusade.

Dr. Henry Lyon, pastor of Highland Avenue Baptist Church, gave an invocation and Don Hallford, engineer and candidate last year for the U.S. Senate, introduced the two speakers.

A crowd of more than 3,000 persons heard Walker and Hargis and many of them came up to greet them after their speeches were through. Neither Hargis or Walker stayed on the stage much of the time the other was speaking.

Hargis called for "ice cream buckets" to be passed for the collection of donations for his Crusade before he introduced Walker. Hargis said the $1 donations at the door were for rental and that the other donations would go half to himself and Walker. Books by both were on sale.

Walker divided most of his time between attacks on the "Kennedy dynasty and dictatorship" and the so-called "liberal press" which, Walker said, would not print the truth.

'UNDER UN POLICIES'

Walker charged both "Berlin and Formosa are lost." He said, "They have gone under to UN policies."

He also charged that the State Department was working to devise "a plan by which they can give up Berlin."

"The State Department wants to give up Berlin," Walker said. "But they can't do it because the German people are too courageous. The German people would embarass the State Department. But the State Department is trying. You can bet on that."

Walker linked the Oxford riots with missiles in Cuba. "People from the press ask me what I would do about Cuba and I tell them I said the sovereignty of Cuba was "not the problem of Cubans but the problems of Americans. That is your problem and Kennedy is trying to destroy your sovereignty."

Walker said, "I challenge the President as the commander in chief of our forces to take one division of the 82nd Airborne division, stationed at Ft. Bragg, and all the supporting units that want to go along and liquidate the scourge on Cuba."

Walker urged "psychological war" against socialism and said that "psychological capability could turn this country around in 10 minutes flat."

'MUST STAND PAT'

"Americans," Walker said, "must stand pat, being what they are for, and being heard. There is no law left. We have got to revise the law. We have got to revise the newspapers. We have got to start all over."

Hargis took a slightly different tack, saying, "This is plainly a fight of faith and atheism. It is a fight against the forces of anti-Christ, not against any party, neither the Republican or the Democratic parties. Nor against any personalities.

"The enemy of Christ is simply Communism."

Walker, however, referred repeatedly to "the Kennedy dynasty and dictatorship" and in one part of his speech he detailed what he called censorship of the military by Presidents from Roosevelt on, and then added, "Eisenhower had Milton, Jack has Bobby and Castro has Raul."

Walker's titles for Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy included, "little stupid brother Bobby, as they call him in Mississippi" and [illegible] cheers from the group.

TWO POINTS LISTED

Hargis listed two main points for his speech: first, what he called the internal threat of communism; and second, a charge that the National Council of Churches, an international Protestant organization, was infiltrated by 100 Communists.

"The real threat of Communism is internal," Hargis said, "because they can never hope to win in a free election and wouldn't dare attack us because their own people are unreliable."

He said, "I agree with Kennedy that we are on the brink—but I think the Kennedys are pushing us over the brink with their socilaism."

He said one of the proposals to do away with the House committee included putting its investigations under the direction of the Justice Department. "Thank God, that didn't happen," Hargis said.

"Two years ago the Supreme Court ruled that the Communist Party an its members in the U.S. had to register as agents of Russia. Two years later, not one member has registered and Kennedy has not begun any prosecutions. He said it would take too much time and be too costly.

"Too much time and be too costly. Yet, the same Kennedy them, "the same think, Khrushchev did."

could spend 24 million integrating the University of Mississippi.

"I say," Hargis told his audience amid Rebel yells, "If Kennedy is not willing to enforce the law of the land then let him resign and let's get us one who will."

James Rustin, manager of the auditorium, said the rental on the auditorium Saturday night was $125 and was paid by Hargis' organization, Christian Crusade.

MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER;
BILLY JAMES HARGIS
SECURITY MATTER - X

The "Nashville Banner", a daily newspaper published at Nashville, Tennessee, carried an article on March 12, 1963, stating that Major General Edwin A. Walker and Evangelist Billy James Hargis were scheduled to deliver "anti-Communist messages" at the War Memorial Auditorium in Nashville on the night of March 13, 1963. The addresses would be at a rally called "Operation Midnight Ride" and were to begin at 7:30 p.m. Admission to the rally was open to the public for a $1.00 donation at the door.

This article stated that Nashville was one of 29 major cities in a nation-wide speaking tour, which was to begin at Miami, Florida, on February 27, 1963, and would end in Los Angeles, California, on April 3, 1963. This article stated that Hargis would speak on the internal threat of Communism while Walker would speak on Communism from the international scene.

Memphis confidential informant T-1 advised that so far as [redacted] knew the tour by Walker and Hargis was not being sponsored by any local groups. Informant stated that if there were any sponsor for the rally it would be the Christian Crusade from Tulsa, Oklahoma, of which Hargis is the founder and director. The informant stated that advertisements were being sent out concerning the speeches to be made by Walker and Hargis and that it was stated on some of the literature that was being distributed that no tape recorders would be allowed in the auditorium. Informant stated that [redacted] knew of no local group in Nashville that was sponsoring it and that the speeches were generally considered to be free lance.

MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A.
WALKER; BILLY JAMES HARGIS

"The Nashville Tennessean", a daily newspaper published at Nashville, Tennessee, on March 14, 1963, quoted General Walker as stating that one division of Airborne Troops from Fort Bragg, North Carolina, could liquidate the scourge of Communism in Cuba. He also was quoted as complaining about the press being "controlled by the Kennedys" and stating that the intent of the National news media "has been to destroy the military in the eyes of the American people." The article stated that Walker attacked "The Nashville Tennessean" several times as being "an example of a managed, fed press." He at one point mentioned Thomas Anderson, Publisher of "Farm and Ranch Magazine", and a member of the audience. He noted that Anderson was a good speaker and had made 76 speeches across the country and stated that the local newspapers would not say anything about it, at least "The Tennessean" would not.

With regard to Cuba, the article stated that Walker discussed the failure of Bay of Pigs invasion and stated that if twenty good aircraft had flown over Cuba they would not have had to use bombs. He stated that the United States might have accidentally won the war because the military wanted to win it. He complained that during the Cuban crisis the United States Chiefs of Staff were downgraded and "Mr. Mc Namara - the Diesel-Builder - became the head of the military." He was also quoted as saying that Mc Namara "won't use your trillion dollar Armed Forces to fire a fifteen cent shell at Cuba" because "it wouldn't conform to the National Policy." The newspaper quoted him regarding his arrest during the desegregation crisis at Oxford, Mississippi, as saying "they had to get rid of me because I knew too much about Mississippi. Bobby Kennedy didn't put me in a hospital; he put me in a cell; he showed me how far we have gone down the police dictatorship line." The article also stated that Walker claimed that James Meredith, the Negro student, could not have entered the University of Mississippi if he had been white because his records were not good enough and he had psychiatric trouble in the Army. The article also stated that he had attacked President Kennedy on the press and stated that the press would not tell the facts tomorrow, that they were going to tell how he, Walker, played the audience with his arms or stood on his head.

MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A.
WALKER; BILLY JAMES HARGIS

This article stated that Hargis, speaking on the internal threat of Communism, after leading the audience in an opening prayer and reading the Scripture, stated that the "liberals" have led us down the path to destruction.

On March 14, 1963, Memphis confidential informant T-1 stated that there was a very small crowd in attendance at the speaking of Hargis and Walker. The informant stated that Hargis gave his usual "rebel rousing" speech. The informant noted that Hargis did not pass the plate for donations but one time, noting that this was unusual for him. Informant stated that usually he passes the plate several times during a talk. Informant stated that it appears that Hargis is using Walker as an attraction to get crowds out for speeches and it appears that Hargis may be an opportunist who is using this as a means of making money for himself.

Informant stated that Walker made a very sincere speech. He talked about his experiences at Oxford, Mississippi, and at the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners at Springfield, Missouri. In speaking about this, he stated that he had been illegally arrested and illegally transported from the state of Mississippi to Springfield, Missouri, by the Federal Government. He stated that the reason they had done this was to get him out of the way because he knew too much about Bobby Kennedy. He related several incidents concerning his interrogation at Springfield, and indicated that the psychiatrist that examined him was not a bona fide psychiatrist.

The informant stated that Walker then turned his talk to the subject of Cuba and at this time he became highly technical in his discussion of the invasion of Cuba and was very critical of the fact that there was no air cover for the forces that landed at the Bay of Pigs. He indicated that had the operation been properly planned and put into motion Cuba could have been taken without firing a shot. He still feels that the United States should take action to take over Cuba and to eliminate the Communist from the island. In talking about the Cuban situation, Walker was critical of the present administration in Washington and also was critical of the past Republican administration. In this regard he made the statement that Ike had his Milton and Jack has his Bobby. He also was critical of the administration for allowing the invasion of Cuba to be run by civilians and not allowing the Joint Chiefs of Staff to make recommendations and to plan and run the operation.

Informant also stated that Walker was critical of the administration's giving a contract for a plane to a Texas firm instead of Boeing Aircraft, which was low bidder on the plane and stating that it was obvious that this was done in order to "help bring Texas back into the fold."

EDWIN A. WALKER

On June 6, 1963, WILLIAM M. DUFF, 5420 Lewis Street, Apartment 123, Dallas, Texas, advised that he is a British citizen, born January 4, 1931, in Scotland, who entered the United States on May 11, 1957, at New York City, Alien Registration No. A11330675. DUFF advised he was employed by former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER for about four months as a driver and aide and that he resigned this position about three months ago due to a misunderstanding with MRS. ALTA EDMONDSON, WALKER's secretary. DUFF stated that following an attempt to shoot EDWIN A. WALKER, he was questioned at length by the Dallas Police Department as a suspect.

DUFF stated that last night, June 5, 1963, he was approached by two individuals from Oklahoma City who reside at the same address as he does, Apartment 115, concerning a possible attempt to assassinate EDWIN A. WALKER. These two individuals asked DUFF to give them a diagram of WALKER's house and to assist them on Tuesday, June 11, 1963, in an attempt to assassinate EDWIN A. WALKER. DUFF stated that one of these individuals showed him a 30.06 rifle. One of these individuals was named BILL, last name unknown, who drove a Chevrolet Corvair, Oklahoma license XE 3592, the other was named CLIFF, last name unknown, who drove an Oldsmobile, Oklahoma license XW9530. These two men indicated that unknown individuals from New York City wished to kill WALKER.

The above facts were immediately furnished to [redacted] Dallas Police Department, who is investigating the attempted assassination of EDWIN A. WALKER, and he advised that the above named individuals from Oklahoma are known to him to be private detectives hired by EDWIN A. WALKER to investigate the alleged attempt to kill WALKER. [redacted] advised that on this date these two individuals advised him that DUFF whom they consider to be a prime suspect in this attempted killing was the one who wished to assassinate WALKER on June 11, 1963. [redacted] stated that this is obviously a case of entrapment by the two private detectives. [redacted] stated he will interview these two individuals today and keep the Dallas Office advised.

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

In connection with the above-entitled matter, I discussed the following two items with Inspector Malley:

(1) With respect to the 8 m.m. color movie taken by Abraham Zapruder in Dallas of the actual shooting, the Bureau, of course, has copies of this film and from it a rough approximation can be made as to the elapsed time between the three shots which were fired. However, since this estimate of time depends upon the speed at which the camera was running, it is considered desirable that we obtain from Mr. Zapruder information as to the speed at which his camera was set during the shooting of this film and, in addition, that the camera itself be forwarded to the Laboratory in order that we may determine the actual speed of the camera at the reported setting.

(2) With respect to the bullet reportedly recovered from the shooting into the home of General Walker, I pointed out to Mr. Malley that because of the distorted nature of the bullet and the fact that we had no known specimens taken sometime near April 1963, it had not been possible to make a determination as to whether the Walker slug had been fired from the assassination rifle. I requested Malley to consider possible sources of bullets which might have been fired by Oswald during the early part of the year in order that we might further attempt to resolve the question of identity. In this respect I suggested that Mrs. Oswald be interviewed for possible leads as to where Oswald might have conducted target practice.

Mr. Malley advised that both of these items would be checked into and we would be further advised.

DATE: 12/4/63

FROM: R. H. Jevons

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

EDWIN A. WALKER, RETIRED MAJOR GENERAL; INFORMATION CONCERNING

By letter dated 12/2/63, the Dallas Office submitted a rifle bullet obtained from Lieutenant Carl Day of the Dallas Police Department. This bullet was recovered from the home of Edwin A. Walker, Retired Major General, U. S. Army, on 4/10/63, by the Dallas Police Department following a report of a bullet having been fired into Walker's home through a window.

Investigation in connection with the assassination of President Kennedy discloses that the rifle used in the assassination was shipped to Lee Harvey Oswald at Dallas, Texas, on 3/20/63, and that Oswald continued to reside in Dallas until 1/29/63.

It was requested that the Laboratory compare the bullet from Walker's home with the test bullets obtained from Oswald's rifle.

It was determined that the Walker bullet has the same physical characteristics as the assassination bullet and fragments. It is a 6.5 mm caliber bullet which has been fired from a four land and groove, right twist barrel. Mannlicher-Carcano rifles of the type used in the assassination are among those weapons which produce rifling characteristics such as are on the Walker bullet.

It is noted that this bullet is extremely distorted and mutilated; also, that it reportedly was fired on 4/10/63, some seven months ago. No test bullets known to have been fired from the subject gun near 4/10/63, are available. The only known test bullets from the assassination weapon are those recently fired in the FBI Laboratory for comparison with the bullet and fragments involved in the assassination. Accordingly, because of the extreme mutilation and distortion of the bullet and because the individual characteristics produced by the gun barrel may have changed during the intervening seven-month period, it could not be determined whether or not the Walker bullet was fired from Oswald's rifle.

The results of the Laboratory examination as set out above were arrived at independently by three of our top firearms examiners in the Laboratory.

If test bullets known to have been fired near the date of 4/10/63, are subsequently located, it may be possible to further resolve this question. Efforts are being made to see if similar earlier known bullets can be located.

DOING THIS, AND HE REPLIED THAT GENERAL WALKER WAS THE LEADER OF THE FASCISTS HERE, AND IT WAS BEST TO REMOVE HIM. THEY LISTENED TO THE RADIO FOR THE REPORTS CONCERNING THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF WALKER, AND MARINA WAS GLAD WHEN THE REPORT CAME THAT THE BULLET HAD NOT HIT WALKER.

MARINA SAID SHE THOUGHT OSWALD USED TO SHOOT AT GENERAL WALKER THE SAME RIFLE WHICH HE HAD AT THE NEELEY STREET AND THE PAINE HOUSES. SHE SAID HE DID NOT TAKE THE RIFLE WITH HIM TO HER KNOWLEDGE WHEN HE LEFT THE HOUSE THE EVENING THAT HE SHOT AT GENERAL WALKER, NOR DID HE BRING IT BACK WITH HIM. SHE QUESTIONED HIM THE NEXT DAY, AND HE TOLD HER THAT HE HAD HIDDEN THE RIFLE IN THE BUSHES OR IN THE GROUND. SHE ASKED HIM HOW HE HAD GOTTEN AWAY FROM THE WALKER HOUSE, AND HE REPLIED THAT HE COULD RUN VERY FAST, AND HE HAD COME HOME ON THE BUS. HE SAID THE POLICE THOUGHT THAT THE WOULD BE ASSASSIN HAD AN AUTOMOBILE.

MARINA STATED THAT FOR A PERIOD OF A MONTH BEFORE THE ATTEMPT OF WALKER-S LIFE, OSWALD HAD BEEN VERY AGITATED AND HAD CLOSETED HIMSELF IN HIS ROOM, READING AND WRITING.

MARINA STATED SHE HAD KEPT THE LETTER WRITTEN IN RUSSIAN BY OSWALD, WHICH WAS EVIDENTLY A FAREWELL LETTER, IN ORDER THAT SHE COULD USE IT AGAINST HIM IF HE EVER HAD ANOTHER ~~CRAZY~~ CRAZY "~~PLOT~~" SCHEME. SHE THREATENED OSWALD WITH GOING TO THE POLICE WITH THE LETTER IF HE WERE TO HAVE ANOTHER SUCH SCHEME.

MARINA ADVISED OSWALD HAD NOT MENTIONED GENERAL WALKER IN HER PRESENCE BEFORE THE NIGHT OF THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION, AND THEY DID NOT SPEAK OF THE INCIDENT AGAIN AFTER THE SECOND NIGHT FOLLOWING THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION. SHE ADVISED THAT

END PAGE THREE

ON NOV. TWENTYTWO, LAST, MARINA WAS LOOKING AT THE KENNEDY MOTORCADE ON TV WITH MRS. PAINE AT THE LATTER-S HOUSE. IT WAS ANNOUNCED ON TV THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD BEEN SHOT. MRS. PAINE WAS TRANSLATING FOR MARINA. MARINA ASKED MRS. PAINE SEVERAL TIMES WHO HAD SHOT THE PRESIDENT, BUT MRS. PAINE COULD NOT TELL HER. MRS. PAINE SAID THAT THE SHOTS HAD SUPPOSEDLY COME FROM THE TEXAS SCHOOL BOOK DEPOSITORY. THE THOUGHT ENTERED MARINA-S MIND THAT PERHAPS HER ~~QUOTE~~ "CRAZY" ~~UNQUOTE~~ ~~HUSBAND~~ (OSWALD) ~~HAD~~ HAD SHOT THE PRESIDENT. SHE WENT TO THE GARAGE WHERE SHE KNEW OSWALD KEPT THE RIFLE AND LOOKED AT THE BLANKET WHICH SHE KNEW THE RIFLE WAS KEPT IN. THE BLANKET APPEARED TO HAVE THE SAME SHAPE AS ALWAYS, AND SO SHE THOUGHT THAT THE RIFLE WAS STILL IN IT. SHE SAID THAT WHEN THE POLICE CAME TO PICK HER UP, SHE WAS IN A STATE OF NEAR COLLAPSE AND HOPED THAT OSWALD WAS MERELY A SUSPECT.

MARINA STATED THERE HAD BEEN MANY ARGUMENTS AND SCENES BETWEEN HER AND OSWALD BECAUSE OF HIS INSTABILITY AND BECUASE SHE KNEW THAT HE WAS NOT A STUPID MAN AND COULD MAKE SOMETHING OUT OF HIMSELF.

VARIOUS PHOTOGRAPHS SEIZED BY POLICE FROM OSWALD-S EFFECTS AND NOW IN POSSESSION OF THIS OFFICE WERE EXHIBITED TO MARINA, AND SHE IDENTIFIED VARIOUS PERSONS IN RUSSIA, AS WELL AS SOME LAND MARKS, INCLUDING THEIR APARTMENT HOUSE.

He inquired if the Bureau would confirm this. Taylor advised him no comment in this regard.

He was not persistent but wondered aloud where "Chicago Sun Times" had come up with this information and again inquired if Bureau would confirm it. He was advised no comment would be made.

Memorandum

TO: Mr. Mohr

DATE: December 6, 1963

FROM: C. D. DeLoach

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT

Deputy Attorney General Katzenbach called me at 10:45 p.m., 12-5-63. He told me that Sandy Smith of the "Chicago Sun Times" had called Guthman several times relative to the attempted assassination of General Edwin A. Walker by Lee Harvey Oswald. I told Katzenbach that we too had received a number of calls, however, had refused to make any comment whatever in this matter although we knew the story was getting out. Katzenbach told me that Pierre Salinger of the White House had called him and wanted guidance on what to say in the matter. Katzenbach told Salinger inasmuch as the story was apparently already out that Salinger should go ahead and merely confirm the fact that apparently there was evidence that Oswald had made an assassination attempt upon General Walker's life.

Katzenbach told me that the Associated Press (AP) had picked up a rumor that the FBI report on the assassination of the President and the murder of Oswald was forthcoming in the Department. He wanted to know if we had received any inquiries in this regard. I told him we were deluged with inquiries during the past several days as to when the FBI would complete the report, however, we had made no comment and intended to stick by this. He stated that Senator Russell, at the Presidential Commission meeting yesterday, 12-5-63, had been somewhat sore that information contained in the report was leaked out. Katzenbach stated he told Russell that Director Hoover had assured him that the FBI was not giving any information to the press and that he further stated he would check with the FBI to make certain that this was not being done. I asked Katzenbach if he had any information that facts given to the press were coming from the FBI. He stated he had not and that was not the purpose of his call. He indicated he merely wanted to advise me of Senator Russell's feelings. I told him he should keep in mind that almost every police officer in the Dallas Police Department has been furnishing information to the press. I mentioned that Henry Wade, the prosecutor, the Chief of Police and Captain Will Fritz had had a field day in giving out all available facts. I mentioned there were still a considerable number of reporters in Dallas and that the evidentiary reports which we had furnished the Dallas Police Department were still being quoted on a daily basis. Katzenbach stated he knew all of this but that he had been unable to convince Russell that such was the case. I further told Katzenbach that before looking at the FBI as to possible "leaks," he should carefully examine his own house. I told him I was quite thoroughly familiar with the way Guthman and Rosenthal dealt with the press and that as he well knew the wire service people stayed constantly in Guthman's private office. I told him it was quite obvious to me how the AP had learned that the report had been sent over to the Department.

Katzenbach reiterated that he had no complaints against the FBI. He stated again that the purpose of his call was to tell me about Senator Russell's feelings.

He added that he had another reason for calling and that was to determine if we could give him any ideas as to how Warren Olney could be dropped as Chief Counsel of the Presidential Commission. I told Katzenbach of our feelings concerning Olney. He stated that he was presently working through Congressman Hale Boggs and he thought he was going to be successful in getting Olney's name removed from consideration. He told me that Boggs was very sympathetic.

Katzenbach mentioned that Waggoner Carr, the Texas State Attorney General, would like very much to see the Director on Friday, 12-6-63. I asked him what for. He stated that Carr had no particular motive in mind other than to indicate to the press later on that he had discussed matters with the Director. I told him I could see no percentage in the Director's seeing Carr, that we were the investigative agency and that Carr's dealings should be with the Department and the Presidential Commission. Katzenbach indicated that the White House might think otherwise. He stated that the President was most anxious for Carr to be given attention in Washington inasmuch as Carr was running for office next year. I told Katzenbach I knew this, however, I still felt that the Director should not be injected into this matter. Katzenbach stated he would attempt to disuade Carr from seeing the Director, however, Carr was quite persistent.

ACTION:

In view of the close friendship which Carr obviously has with the President, the Director may desire to just shake hands with Carr without sitting down and discussing facts concerning our report.

ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT

Newsmen have been calling my office this afternoon stating they understand that the attempted shooting of General Edwin A. Walker in Dallas on April 10, 1963, was done by Lee Harvey Oswald.

Reporters have said they understand that Oswald bought a rifle on March 20, 1963, from the Chicago Mail Order House, that attempts were made on Walker's life on April 10, 1963, and that the Dallas Police Department has a slug from the Walker shooting which is to be compared with slugs fired from the assassination weapon. The newsmen asked for comment. They were told we had no comment.

Q183 Bullet from Edwin A. Walker's residence

Results of examination:

The remaining physical characteristics of the bullet, Q183, are the same as those of the bullet and bullet fragments recovered in connection with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the same as those of 6.5 millimeter Mannlicher-Carcano bullets manufactured by the Western Cartridge Company. The mutilation of Q183 prevents stating that it is of Western manufacture to the exclusion of all other sources.

Specimen Q188 was fired from a barrel rifled with four lands and grooves, right twist. Mannlicher-Carcano rifles of the type used in the assassination of President Kennedy (described as specimen K1 in Laboratory report PC-78243 EX) are among those which produce general rifling impressions such as were found on specimen Q188.

Because of the extreme mutilation and distortion of Q188 and because the individual microscopic marks left on bullets by the barrel of the K1 rifle could have changed subsequent to the time Q188 was fired, it was not possible to determine whether or not Q188 was fired from K1.

There are no specimens presently being maintained in the National Unidentified Ammunition File which could have been fired from the K1 rifle or which logically should be compared with Q188. Further, no bullets or rifles which logically should be compared with specimen Q188 have come to the attention of the FBI Laboratory since March, 1963.

The copper jacket and the lead core of the Q188 bullet were determined to be slightly different in composition from the copper jackets and lead cores of the Q1 and Q2 bullets.

Although the differences in composition between the Q188 and the Q1 and Q2 bullets were small and do not indicate that these bullets represent two different types of bullets, it was not possible to determine if these bullets came from the same lot. It is to be noted that there is no assurance in the fabrication of ammunition that all the ammunition ends up in one box possesses bullets from the same batch of metal, that is, with the same composition.

The bullet, Q188, is being temporarily retained in the Laboratory for comparison with any additional bullets which may be received.

ADDENDUM - DALLAS

This report confirms the teletype to the Dallas Office on 12/4/63.

Dallas should endeavor to locate and forward to the Laboratory any bullets determined to have been fired by Oswald's rifle from the time of purchase until the time of its recovery. In this connection, it is pointed out that if any area is located where such bullets may have been fired, cartridge cases recovered at this area should be forwarded to assist in determining whether Oswald's rifle was fired.

You may wish to alert the Dallas Police Department to the possibility of recovering bullets previously fired in Oswald's rifle.

TO: Mr. DeLoach DATE: 12-6-63

FROM: M. A. Jones

SUBJECT: GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
COMPLAINT TO UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
REGARDING COVERAGE OF DIRECTOR'S SPEECH

General Edwin A. Walker has attained nationwide prominence in recent years as a supporter of the John Birch Society and an outspoken critic of notable Americans whom he considers to be "pink." Among the charges he reportedly has made is that the United Nations is immoral and its late Secretary General, Dag Hammarskjold, was a "Red Swede" who took instructions from Moscow.

General Walker has particularly earned the enmity of many newsmen and has charged that the American press, radio and television industry is heavily infiltrated with communists. Our investigation of President Kennedy's assassination has indicated that Walker was a near victim of Lee Harvey Oswald earlier this year.

RECENT ACTION:

Yesterday afternoon, General Walker telephoned the Bureau from Shreveport, Louisiana, and spoke with [redacted] Walker said that a local Shreveport newspaper had carried the United Press-International (UPI) wire story concerning the Brotherhood Award which had been presented to the Director by the Washington Hebrew Congregation; that the UPI story quoted portions of the Director's December 4th speech--which portions, he charged, were taken out of context to reflect criticism of "conservative, right-wing Americanism." General Walker insisted that the UPI article (copy attached) obviously had been written by a procommunist who was aided by other procommunists in a deliberate effort to misrepresent what the Director had said in his speech.

EDWIN A. WALKER

On June 6, 1963, WILLIAM M. DUFF, 5420 Lewis Street, Apartment 123, Dallas, Texas, advised that he is a British citizen, born January 4, 1931, in Scotland, who entered the United States on May 11, 1957, at New York City, Alien Registration No. A11330675. DUFF advised he was employed by former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER for about four months as a driver and aide and that he resigned this position about three months ago due to a misunderstanding with MRS. ALTA EDMONDSON, WALKER's secretary. DUFF stated that following an attempt to shoot EDWIN A. WALKER, he was questioned at length by the Dallas Police Department as a suspect.

DUFF stated that last night, June 5, 1963, he was approached by two individuals from Oklahoma City who reside at the same address as he does, Apartment 115, concerning a possible attempt to assassinate EDWIN A. WALKER. These two individuals asked DUFF to give them a diagram of WALKER's house and to assist them on Tuesday, June 11, 1963, in an attempt to assassinate EDWIN A. WALKER. DUFF stated that one of these individuals showed him a 30.06 rifle. One of these individuals was named BILL, last name unknown, who drove a Chevrolet Corvair, Oklahoma license XE 3592, the other was named CLIFF, last name unknown, who drove an Oldsmobile, Oklahoma license XW9530. These two men indicated that unknown individuals from New York City wished to kill WALKER.

The above facts were immediately furnished to [redacted] Dallas Police Department, who is investigating the attempted assassination of EDWIN A. WALKER, and he advised that the above named individuals from Oklahoma are known to him to be private detectives hired by EDWIN A. WALKER to investigate the alleged attempt to kill WALKER. [redacted] advised that on this date these two individuals advised him that DUFF whom they consider to be a prime suspect in this attempted killing was the one who wished to assassinate WALKER on June 11, 1963. [redacted] stated that this is obviously a case of entrapment by the two private detectives. [redacted] stated he will interview these two individuals today and keep the Dallas Office advised.

RACIAL MATTERS

The Christian Crusade, holding what it termed its Fifth Annual Convention at the Skirvin Hotel, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, August 2, 1963, heard statements from the Reverend Billy James Hargis, a founder and director of the organization, and former Major General Edwin A. Walker.

Referring to its members as "patriots," the Christian Crusade ostensibly fights communism and is openly defiant of integration.

A source which has furnished reliable information in the past advised that on August 2, 1963, General Walker criticized the Director of the FBI for allegedly failing to advise that integration matters are communist inspired, and stated the Director of the FBI had failed to outline the alleged communist connections of persons surrounding the Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Reverend Mr. Hargis at this point said he wanted to correct the statements of General Walker and alleged that the Director of the FBI had been "muzzled" by Attorney General Robert Kennedy. In response to the Reverend Mr. Hargis' remarks, General Walker continued that the Director of the FBI should not have permitted the Attorney General to speak for him, but should have spoken out himself, citing the alleged failure to speak out as an instance of political control exercised by the Kennedy Administration.

General Walker declared he and the Christian Crusade intended to fight the Kennedys wherever they [illegible]. He stated it of the opinion that General Walker "[illegible] in his experiences at Oxford" (referring to his opposition to the integration of the University of Mississippi).

FROM : MR. I. W. CONRAD

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

In connection with the above-entitled matter, I discussed the following two items with Inspector Malley:

(1) With respect to the 8 m.m. color movie taken by Abraham Zapruder in Dallas of the actual shooting, the Bureau, of course, has copies of this film and from it a rough approximation can be made as to the elapsed time between the three shots which were fired. However, since this estimate of time depends upon the speed at which the camera was running, it is considered desirable that we obtain from Mr. Zapruder information as to the speed at which his camera was set during the shooting of this film and, in addition, that the camera itself be forwarded to the Laboratory in order that we may determine the actual speed of the camera at the reported setting.

(2) With respect to the bullet reportedly recovered from the shooting into the home of General Walker, I pointed out to Mr. Malley that because of the distorted nature of the bullet and the fact that we had no known specimens taken sometime near April 1963, it had not been possible to make a determination as to whether the Walker slug had been fired from the assassination rifle. I requested Malley to consider possible sources of bullets which might have been fired by Oswald during the early part of the year in order that we might further attempt to resolve the question of identity. In this respect I suggested that Mrs. Oswald be interviewed for possible leads as to where Oswald might have conducted target practice.

Mr. Malley advised that both of these items would be checked into and we would be further advised.

FROM: R. H. Jevons

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN F. KENNEDY

EDWIN A. WALKER, RETIRED MAJOR GENERAL; INFORMATION CONCERNING

By letter dated 12/2/63, the Dallas Office submitted a rifle bullet obtained from Lieutenant Carl Day of the Dallas Police Department. This bullet was recovered from the home of Edwin A. Walker, Retired Major General, U. S. Army, on 4/10/63, by the Dallas Police Department following a report of a bullet having been fired into Walker's home through a window.

Investigation in connection with the assassination of President Kennedy discloses that the rifle used in the assassination was shipped to Lee Harvey Oswald at Dallas, Texas, on 3/20/63, and that Oswald continued to reside in Dallas until 4/29/63.

It was requested that the Laboratory compare the bullet from Walker's home with the test bullets obtained from Oswald's rifle.

It was determined that the Walker bullet has the same physical characteristics as the assassination bullet and fragments. It is a 6.5 mm caliber bullet which has been fired from a four land and groove, right twist barrel. Mannlicher-Carcano rifles of the type used in the assassination are among those weapons which produce rifling characteristics such as are on the Walker bullet.

It is noted that this bullet is extremely distorted and mutilated; also, that it reportedly was fired on 4/10/63, some seven months ago. No test bullets known to have been fired from the subject gun near 4/10/63, are available. The only known test bullets from the assassination weapon are those recently fired in the FBI Laboratory for comparison with the bullet and fragments involved in the assassination. Accordingly, because of the extreme mutilation and distortion of the bullet and because the individual characteristics produced by the gun barrel may have changed during the intervening seven-month period, it could not be determined whether or not the Walker bullet was fired from Oswald's rifle.

The results of the Laboratory examination as set out above were arrived at independently by three of our top firearms examiners in the Laboratory.

If test bullets known to have been fired near the date of 4/10/63, are subsequently located, it may be possible to further resolve this question. Efforts are being made to see if similar earlier-known bullets can be located.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD, also known as AKA, ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY, NOV. TWENTYTWO, LAST, DALLAS, TEXAS, AFO.

MARINA OSWALD INTERVIEWED AGAIN TODAY. SHE WAS ASKED ABOUT THE LETTER WRITTEN IN RUSSIAN WHICH HAD BEEN FOUND IN A COOK BOOK AT THE PAINE-S HOUSE. MARINA ADVISED SHE HAD FOUND THIS LETTER IN A ROOM WHERE OSWALD KEPT HIS THINGS AT THE NEELEY STREET ADDRESS ONE NIGHT LAST SPRING. ON THIS NIGHT OSWALD, WHO HAD TOLD HER THAT HE WAS GOING TO ATTEND A TYPEWRITING CLASS AT THE DALLAS EVENING SCHOOL, CAME RUSHING INTO THE HOUSE AROUND MIDNIGHT VERY PALE AND AGITATED. HE IMMEDIATELY TURNED ON THE RADIO AND LAY ON THE BED IN A VERY AGITATED CONDITION. MARINA ASKED HIM WHAT WAS WRONG, AND HE REPLIED THAT HE HAD TRIED TO KILL GENERAL WALKER BY SHOOTING AT HIM WITH A RIFLE, AND THAT HE DID NOT KNOW WHETHER HE HAD HIT HIM OR NOT. SHE BECAME ANGRY AT HIM FOR

DOING THIS, AND HE REPLIED THAT GENERAL WALKER WAS THE LEADER OF THE FASCISTS HERE, AND IT WAS BEST TO REMOVE HIM. THEY LISTENED TO THE RADIO FOR THE REPORTS CONCERNING THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF WALKER, AND MARINA WAS GLAD WHEN THE REPORT CAME THAT THE BULLET HAD NOT HIT WALKER.

MARINA SAID SHE THOUGHT OSWALD USED TO SHOOT AT GENERAL WALKER THE SAME RIFLE WHICH HE HAD AT THE NEELEY STREET AND THE PAINE HOUSES. SHE SAID HE DID NOT TAKE THE RIFLE WITH HIM TO HER KNOWLEDGE WHEN HE LEFT THE HOUSE THE EVENING THAT HE SHOT AT GENERAL WALKER, NOR DID HE BRING IT BACK WITH HIM. SHE QUESTIONED HIM THE NEXT DAY, AND HE TOLD HER THAT HE HAD HIDDEN THE RIFLE IN THE BUSHES OR IN THE GROUND. SHE ASKED HIM HOW HE HAD GOTTEN AWAY FROM THE WALKER HOUSE, AND HE REPLIED THAT HE COULD RUN VERY FAST, AND HE HAD COME HOME ON THE BUS. HE SAID THE POLICE THOUGHT THAT THE WOULD BE ASSASSIN HAD AN AUTOMOBILE.

MARINA STATED THAT FOR A PERIOD OF A MONTH BEFORE THE ATTEMPT OF WALKER-S LIFE, OSWALD HAD BEEN VERY AGITATED AND HAD CLOSETED HIMSELF IN HIS ROOM, READING AND WRITING.

MARINA STATED SHE HAD KEPT THE LETTER WRITTEN IN RUSSIAN BY OSWALD, WHICH WAS EVIDENTLY A FAREWELL LETTER, IN ORDER THAT SHE COULD USE IT AGAINST HIM IF HE EVER HAD ANOTHER ~~CRAZY~~ CRAZY "~~WROTE~~ SCHEME. SHE THREATENED OSWALD WITH GOING TO THE POLICE WITH THE LETTER IF HE WERE TO HAVE ANOTHER SUCH SCHEME.

MARINA ADVISED OSWALD HAD NOT MENTIONED GENERAL WALKER IN HER PRESENCE BEFORE THE NIGHT OF THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION, AND THEY DID NOT SPEAK OF THE INCIDENT AGAIN AFTER THE SECOND NIGHT FOLLOWING THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION. SHE ADVISED THAT

SHE HAD INSISTED THEY MOVE FROM DALLAS FOLLOWING THIS EVENT, BECAUSE SHE THOUGHT IT MIGHT HELP IF THEY MOVED TO ANOTHER CITY.

ON NOV. TWENTYTWO, LAST, MARINA WAS LOOKING AT THE KENNEDY MOTORCADE ON TV WITH MRS. PAINE AT THE LATTER-S HOUSE. IT WAS ANNOUNCED ON TV THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD BEEN SHOT. MRS. PAINE WAS TRANSLATING FOR MARINA. MARINA ASKED MRS. PAINE SEVERAL TIMES WHO HAD SHOT THE PRESIDENT, BUT MRS. PAINE COULD NOT TELL HER. MRS. PAINE SAID THAT THE SHOTS HAD SUPPOSEDLY COME FROM THE TEXAS SCHOOL BOOK DEPOSITORY. THE THOUGHT ENTERED MARINA-S MIND THAT PERHAPS HER ~~QUOTE~~ "CRAZY" ~~UNQUOTE~~ ~~MAREN~~ (OSWALD) ~~FARIN~~ HAD SHOT THE PRESIDENT. SHE WENT TO THE GARAGE WHERE SHE KNEW OSWALD KEPT THE RIFLE AND LOOKED AT THE BLANKET WHICH SHE KNEW THE RIFLE WAS KEPT IN. THE BLANKET APPEARED TO HAVE THE SAME SHAPE AS ALWAYS, AND SO SHE THOUGHT THAT THE RIFLE WAS STILL IN IT. SHE SAID THAT WHEN THE POLICE CAME TO PICK HER UP, SHE WAS IN A STATE OF NEAR COLLAPSE AND HOPED THAT OSWALD WAS MERELY A SUSPECT.

MARINA STATED THERE HAD BEEN MANY ARGUMENTS AND SCENES BETWEEN HER AND OSWALD BECAUSE OF HIS INSTABILITY AND BECUASE SHE KNEW THAT HE WAS NOT A STUPID MAN AND COULD MAKE SOMETHING OUT OF HIMSELF.

VARIOUS PHOTOGRAPHS SEIZED BY POLICE FROM OSWALD-S EFFECTS AND NOW IN POSSESSION OF THIS OFFICE WERE EXHIBITED TO MARINA, AND SHE IDENTIFIED VARIOUS PERSONS IN RUSSIA, AS WELL AS SOME LAND MARKS, INCLUDING THEIR APARTMENT HOUSE.

Memorandum

TO: Mr. Mohr

DATE: December 6, 1963

FROM: C. D. DeLoach

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT

Deputy Attorney General Katzenbach called me at 10:45 p.m., 12-5-63. He told me that Sandy Smith of the "Chicago Sun Times" had called Guthman several times relative to the attempted assassination of General Edwin A. Walker by Lee Harvey Oswald. I told Katzenbach that we too had received a number of calls, however, had refused to make any comment whatever in this matter although we knew the story was getting out. Katzenbach told me that Pierre Salinger of the White House had called him and wanted guidance on what to say in the matter. Katzenbach told Salinger inasmuch as the story was apparently already out that Salinger should go ahead and merely confirm the fact that apparently there was evidence that Oswald had made an assassination attempt upon General Walker's life.

Katzenbach told me that the Associated Press (AP) had picked up a rumor that the FBI report on the assassination of the President and the murder of Oswald was now over in the Department. He wanted to know if we had received any inquiries in this regard. I told him we were deluged with inquiries during the past several days as to when the FBI would complete the report, however, we had made no comment and intended to stick by this. He stated that Senator Russell, at the Presidential Commission meeting yesterday, 12-5-63, had been somewhat sore that information contained in the report was leaked out. Katzenbach stated he told Russell that Director Hoover had assured him that the FBI was not giving any information to the press and that he further stated he would check with the FBI to make certain that this was not being done. I asked Katzenbach if he had any information that facts given to the press were coming from the FBI. He stated he had none and that was not the purpose of his call. He indicated he merely wanted to advise me of Senator Russell's feelings. I told him he should keep in mind that almost every police officer in the Dallas Police Department has been furnishing information to the press. I mentioned that Henry Wade, the prosecutor, the Chief of Police and Captain Will Fritz had had a field day in giving out all available facts. I mentioned there were still a considerable number of reporters in Dallas and that the evidentiary reports which we had furnished the Dallas Police Department were still being quoted on a daily basis. Katzenbach stated he knew all of this but that he had been unable to convince Russell that such was the case. I further told Katzenbach that before looking at the FBI as to possible "leaks," he should carefully examine his own house. I told him I was quite thoroughly familiar with the way Guthman and Rosenthal dealt with the press and that as he well knew the wire service people stayed constantly in Guthman's private office. I told him it was quite obvious to me how the AP had learned that the report had been sent over to the Department.

Katzenbach reiterated that he had no complaints against the FBI. He stated again that the purpose of his call was to tell me about Senator Russell's feelings.

He added that he had another reason for calling and that was to determine if we could give him any ideas as to how Warren Olney could be dropped as Chief Counsel of the Presidential Commission. I told Katzenbach of our feelings concerning Olney. He stated that he was presently working through Congressman Hale Boggs and he thought he was going to be successful in getting Olney's name removed from consideration. He told me that Boggs was very sympathetic.

Katzenbach mentioned that Waggoner Carr, the Texas State Attorney General, would like very much to see the Director on Friday, 12-6-63. I asked him what for. He stated that Carr had no particular motive in mind other than to indicate to the press later on that he had discussed matters with the Director. I told him I could see no percentage in the Director's seeing Carr, that we were the investigative agency and that Carr's dealings should be with the Department and the Presidential Commission. Katzenbach indicated that the White House might think otherwise. He stated that the President was most anxious for Carr to be given attention in Washington inasmuch as Carr was running for office next year. I told Katzenbach I knew this, however, I still felt that the Director should not be injected into this matter. Katzenbach stated he would attempt to disuade Carr from seeing the Director, however, Carr was quite persistent.

ACTION:

In view of the close friendship which Carr obviously has with the President, the Director may desire to just shake hands with Carr without sitting down and discussing facts concerning our report.

ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT

Newsmen have been calling my office this afternoon stating they understand that the attempted shooting of General Edwin A. Walker in Dallas on April 10, 1963, was done by Lee Harvey Oswald.

Reporters have said they understand that Oswald bought a rifle on March 20, 1963, from the Chicago Mail Order House, that attempts were made Walker's life on April 10, 1963, and that the Dallas Police Department has a slug from the Walker shooting which is to be compared with slugs fired from the assassination weapon. The newsmen asked for comment. They were told we had no comment.

Specimens:

Q183 Bullet from Edwin A. Walker's residence

Results of examination:

The remaining physical characteristics of the bullet, Q183, are the same as those of the bullet and bullet fragments recovered in connection with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the same as those of 6.5 millimeter Mannlicher-Carcano bullets manufactured by the Western Cartridge Company. The mutilation of Q183 prevents stating that it is of Western manufacture to the exclusion of all other sources.

Specimen Q188 was fired from a barrel rifled with four lands and grooves, right twist. Mannlicher-Carcano rifles of the type used in the assassination of President Kennedy (described as specimen K1 in Laboratory report PC-78243 BX) are among those which produce general rifling impressions such as were found on specimen Q188.

Because of the extreme mutilation and distortion of Q188 and because the individual microscopic marks left on bullets by the barrel of the K1 rifle could have changed subsequent to the time Q188 was fired, it was not possible to determine whether or not Q188 was fired from K1.

There are no specimens presently being maintained in the National Unidentified Ammunition File which could have been fired from the K1 rifle or which logically should be compared with Q188. Further, no bullets or rifles which logically should be compared with specimen Q188 have come to the attention of the FBI Laboratory since March, 1963.

The copper jacket and the lead core of the Q188 bullet were determined to be slightly different in composition from the copper jackets and lead cores of the Q1 and Q2 bullets.

Although the differences in composition between the Q188 and the Q1 and Q2 bullets were small and do not indicate that these bullets represent two different types of bullets, it was not possible to determine if these bullets came from the same box. It is to be noted that there is no assurance in the fabrication of ammunition that all the ammunition ending up in one box possesses bullets from the same batch of metal, that is, with the same composition.

The bullet, Q188, is being temporarily retained in the Laboratory for comparison with any additional bullets which may be received.

ADDENDUM TO DALLAS

This report confirms the teletype to the Dallas Office on 12/4/63.

Dallas should endeavor to locate and forward to the Laboratory any bullets determined to have been fired by Oswald's rifle from the time of purchase until the time of its recovery. In this connection, it is pointed out that if any area is located where such bullets may have been fired, cartridge cases recovered at this area should be forwarded to assist in determining whether Oswald's rifle was fired.

You may wish to alert the Dallas Police Department to the possibility of recovering bullets previously fired in Oswald's rifle.

SUBJECT: GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
COMPLAINT TO UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
REGARDING COVERAGE OF DIRECTOR'S SPEECH

General Edwin A. Walker has attained nationwide prominence in recent years as a supporter of the John Birch Society and an outspoken critic of notable Americans whom he considers to be "pink." Among the charges he reportedly has made is that the United Nations is immoral and its late Secretary General, Dag Hammarskjold, was a "Red Swede" who took instructions from Moscow.

General Walker has particularly earned the enmity of many newsmen and has charged that the American press, radio and television industry is heavily infiltrated with communists. Our investigation of President Kennedy's assassination has indicated that Walker was a near victim of Lee Harvey Oswald earlier this year.

RECENT ACTION:

Yesterday afternoon, General Walker telephoned the Bureau from Shreveport, Louisiana, and spoke with [redacted] Walker said that a local Shreveport newspaper had carried the United Press-International (UPI) wire story concerning the Brotherhood Award which had been presented to the Director by the Washington Hebrew Congregation; that the UPI story quoted portions of the Director's December 4th speech--which portions, he charged, were taken out of context to reflect criticism of "conservative, right-wing Americanism." General Walker insisted that the UPI article (copy attached) obviously had been written by a procommunist who was aided by other procommunists in a deliberate effort to misrepresent what the Director had said in his speech.

REVIEW OF ARTICLE:

The wire story concerning the Director's speech which UPI sent to its subscribers on December 4th was written by Jack Vandenberg, who covers the Department of Justice for UPI. It is highly accurate, favorable and well written.

RECOMMENDATION:

Attached is a letter from the Director to [redacted] commenting favorably concerning the UPI story regarding the Director's Brotherhood speech. This letter makes no reference to General Walker since no purpose would be served by entering into a controversy with him; and it gives the impression that it contains unsolicited complimentary remarks about the UPI article.

ATTN: FBI LABORATORY

SUBJECT: EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

Enclosed under separate cover for the Laboratory is a rifle slug obtained by SA BARDWELL D. ODUM on 12/2/63 from Lieutenant CARL DAY, Dallas Police Department.

It is requested that an immediate comparison be made between this slug and the test slugs fired from the rifle used to assassinate President JOHN F. KENNEDY on 11/22/63 at Dallas Texas.

In the event that the slug is battered to the extent that no adequate comparison of the rifling marks can be made it is requested that an analysis be made of the metal in this slug with the metal in the slugs involved in the assassination of President KENNEDY, unless such analysis would destroy this slug or the other slugs involved.

For your information, this slug was recovered from the home of EDWIN A. WALKER, Retired Major General, U. S. Army, on 4/10/63, by the Dallas Police Department, following a report of a bullet being fired into WALKER's home through a window. No one has ever been identified as firing the bullet.

WALKER is a well-known controversial figure, generally associated with Right-Wing Activities in Dallas, Texas, and other points, since his retirement from the U. S. Army.

Investigation in the matter entitled "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka.; ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY 11/22/63, Dallas, Texas, AFO", discloses that the rifle used in that case was shipped to OSWALD at Dallas, Texas, on 3/20/63. OSWALD continued to reside in Dallas until 4/29/63, when he left Dallas reportedly going to New Orleans, Louisiana. He did not return until 10/3/63. Major WALKER's name appears in the address book taken from the person of OSWALD at the time he was arrested.

It is requested that the slug be returned when the examination is completed, so that it can be returned to the Dallas Police Department, contributor.

Honorable J. Lee Rankin
General Counsel
The President's Commission
200 Maryland Avenue, N. E.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

For your information, on January 4, 1964, I received a telegram from Attorney Clyde J. Watts of 219 Couch Drive, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, in which Mr. Watts stated as attorney for retired General Edwin A. Walker, he was requesting the FBI to officially confirm or deny news reports that Lee Harvey Oswald confessed to his wife that he attempted to murder Walker on April 10, 1963. He also desired the FBI to furnish a transcript of all evidence and information pertinent to the alleged attempt by Oswald so that appropriate action could be taken to protect the general.

Mr. Watts and Attorney A. V. Grant of St. Jo, Texas, initially contacted our Dallas Office on December 7, 1963, and indicated they were representing General Walker. Watts stated that aside from being Walker's legal representative he was also a very close personal friend. Watts was of the opinion that there had been an official leak somewhere concerning the disclosure that Marina Oswald had stated her husband was responsible for the attempt on General Walker's life. At this time, the attorneys were advised the FBI had made no such disclosure.

Watts stated he was not asking for information but asked that any information developed relating to Walker's safety be furnished to Walker or the Dallas Police Department. Watts was, of course, advised any such information received would be handled in the same manner as a threat against any individual in that the FBI would promptly advise not only the individual but appropriate local authorities.

Wallis concluded by stating he was considering an interview [redacted] to protect Walker. He was told whatever decision he made in this matter would be entirely up to him and we would not suggest or recommend any course of action.

Of possible interest, immediately following the attempted murder of Walker in April, 1963, our Dallas Office discussed the case with the Dallas Police Department and volunteered to forward the bullet recovered from Walker's home to the FBI Laboratory for examination; however, no such request was ever made. During the course of our current investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy and prior to the interview of Mrs. Oswald on December 3, 1963, wherein she indicated her husband may have been responsible for the shooting at Walker, the possibility that Oswald may have fired at Walker was considered. Our Dallas Office, therefore, on the weekend of November 30, 1963, requested the Dallas Police Department to make available the recovered bullet for examination by the Laboratory. On December 2, 1963, the bullet was forwarded to our Laboratory where it was examined. This examination revealed that the distorted and mutilated bullet had the same general characteristics of bullets from the rifle used by Oswald in the assassination of President Kennedy. However, it was not possible to definitely establish whether or not the recovered bullet was fired from Oswald's gun.

The files of the Dallas Police Department relating to the investigation of the Walker shooting disclose that General Walker reported that at approximately 9:00 p.m., on April 10, 1963, while sitting at his desk in his Dallas residence, a shot was fired above [redacted] into his home. The only suspect developed by the Dallas Police Department in the matter was one William MacEwan Duff [redacted] been employed in some capacity by General Walker or his [redacted] primarily because he was considered to be [redacted] and firearms had been given to him by [redacted] later they conducted other [redacted] by the Dallas Police Department [redacted]

Honorable J. Lee Rankin

Immigration and Naturalization Service records disclose that Duff was born on November 4, 1931, in Scotland and entered the United States in 1957. He has been characterized as a "con man" and "no good." So far in our investigation of the assassination, only one individual, a Dallas lunchroom proprietor, has linked Oswald with Duff in approximately April or May, 1963, as having frequented this lunchroom on one occasion. It should be pointed out that six other individuals who had intimate knowledges of Duff were unable to connect Oswald with Duff. Further, our investigation discloses that during the above period Oswald is known to have been in Dallas, Texas, until April, 1963; however, from late April, 1963, to September, 1963, he was in New Orleans, Louisiana.

On January 8, 1964, Attorney Watts was personally contacted by an Agent from our Oklahoma City Office at which time his January 4, 1964, telegram to me was acknowledged. He was told the results of the FBI investigation into Oswald's activities have been furnished to the President's Commission and we are not in a position to divulge such information to him. It was again reiterated that should any information be received relative to the safety of General Walker it would be promptly furnished to the General and to appropriate law enforcement authorities.

Watts at this time indicated he might possibly communicate with the President's Commission in an effort to obtain the information requested from the FBI.

In addition, Watts advised that shortly after the attempt on General Walker's life he hired two private investigators to look into the incident and they developed one Bill Duff of Dallas as a suspect. Duff, according to Watts, had been employed in some capacity by Walker or his staff. The private investigators were unable to develop any information linking Duff with the Walker shooting and turned over the results of their investigation to the Dallas Police Department. Watts stated he was furnishing this information as a possible link between Duff and Oswald.

We have been endeavoring to locate William MacEwan Duff, the suspect absolved by the Dallas Police Department, for interview. Information developed to date on this individual indicates he remained in Dallas, Texas, until October, 1963, when he was last reported to be en route to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, by bus.

We will continue our efforts to locate Duff, an alien, for interview, and when this is accomplished you will be advised.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

FROM : A. Rose

SUBJECT: LEE HARVEY OSWALD, AKA IS - R - CUBA

Purpose is to advise that the results of the examination in the FBI Laboratory of the bullet recovered from the home of General Edwin A. Walker were furnished to the Dallas Police Department but the information furnished by Marina Oswald implicating Lee Harvey Oswald with the attempted killing of Walker was not disseminated by the FBI to either the Dallas Police Department or General Walker.

The information furnished by Marina Oswald to Agents of the Dallas Office on 11-22-63, was to the effect that Lee Harvey Oswald admitted to her that he had tried to kill General Walker by shooting him with a rifle on 4-10-63. This prior similar act was considered to be of considerable significance in connection with our overall investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy. The information was incorporated into the FBI report which was disseminated to the President and the President's Commission. In view of the confidential nature of our investigation concerning the President's assassination and since the attempted shooting had no current bearing on Walker's safety as Oswald was already dead, the information was not disseminated to Walker or the Dallas Police Department.

Immediately following the attempted shooting of Walker in April, 1963, the Dallas Office discussed the case with the Dallas Police Department and volunteered to forward the bullet to the FBI Laboratory for examination, but no request for such examination was ever made. During the course of our investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy, and prior to the interview of Mrs. Oswald on 11-23-63, when she indicated her husband may have been responsible for the attempted shooting of Walker, the possibility was considered that Oswald may have fired at Walker since the attempted murder took place in Dallas with the use of a rifle. The Dallas Office, therefore, during the weekend of 11-30-63, requested the Dallas Police Department to make available the bullet found in the Walker home in order that it could be examined in the FBI Laboratory. This was done, and on 12-2-63 the bullet was forwarded to the FBI Laboratory where it was examined and the results were promptly furnished to the Dallas Police Department as well as the President's Commission. This examination revealed that while the bullet was distorted and mutilated it did have the general characteristics of bullets fired from the rifle used by Oswald in the assassination of President Kennedy. It was not possible to definitely determine whether or not the bullet recovered in Walker's home was fired from Oswald's rifle.

ADMINISTRATIVE, 1/8/64, Mitchell:

We have discussed whether we should now advise Walker and the Dallas Police of our information developed concerning Oswald's attempt to kill Walker. Oswald, of course, is dead and no longer poses any threat to Walker. We have told Walker's attorney that we will inform Walker of any threat to his safety coming to our attention and that the results of our investigation of Oswald have been furnished to the President's Commission.

We have reported the results of our Laboratory examination of the Walker bullet to the Dallas Police Department, and the police are aware of Mrs. Oswald's story that her husband attempted to kill Walker, as this has been widely published.

We think our position is best if we stick to the fact that we have furnished all information we developed to the President's Commission. In the event the Director concurs, this is the position we will continue to take.

General Walker's supposition that Oswald "was working with a communist cell in Dallas" has no basis in fact. During the last quarter of 1963 there were 7 Communist Party (CP) members in the Dallas territory. We have excellent informant coverage and can identify each member. There has been no information that Oswald was connected with the CP in Texas. If you approve, we will instruct Dallas to interview Walker and pin him down.

SUBJECT: LEE HARVEY OSWALD
INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA

At approximately 1:00 p.m. today SAC Shanklin of Dallas called and made reference to Bureau instructions to Dallas to interview General Walker for information which formed the basis for Walker's statement that Lee Harvey Oswald had been a member of the Communist Party in Dallas. Shanklin said that General Walker was contacted this morning in this connection and he said he would be glad to be interviewed by a representative of the Bureau but requested that the interview be conducted in the presence of his attorney at the attorney office. Walker said he would contact his attorney and the attorney would call SAC Shanklin and indicate a time.

Shanklin said he subsequently received a telephone call from the attorney who said General Walker would be in the attorney's office at 1:45 p.m. Dallas time (2:45 p.m. Washington time) and would be availab for interview. Shanklin said the attorney is known to the office and is a very reputable and reasonable person. Shanklin said he is a much more sensible person than Walker himself, and Shanklin, therefore, recommended that the interview be conducted in the attorney's office a he felt it highly desirable to pin General Walker down on this.

ACTION:

I told Shanklin to go ahead with the interview under these circumstances unless he was advised to the contrary in the interim; and that it should be carefully handled in order not to make available to the attorney or Walker any information concerning developments in this case.

A news article appeared in the "Washington Post and Times Herald" on the morning of 2/19/64, headlined "Gun Used to Slay JFK is Linked to Walker Case." This article was accompanied by a photograph purportedly showing Lee Harvey Oswald with a gun in a holster at his hip and holding a rifle. The article stated in part that "police ballistics test report" was made public by Chief Jesse Curry and Chief of Detectives M. W. Stevenson which stated points of comparison of the slug that was aimed at Walker match fragmentations of the bullets which took the President's life. The article went on to state "The ballistics report cannot be final or conclusive but generally the comparison point of the slugs were good." The Director noted "Let me have memo re this ballistics rept & what we know about attached photo." (This clipping is attached.

The Walker bullet was originally recovered by the Dallas Police Department. However, since the bullet fragments from the assassination were obtained by the FBI directly from the Secret Service and we know of no prior "police ballistics test" on these items, the SAC at Dallas was requested to determine the basis for the article.

SAC, Dallas has telephonically advised that he has discussed the matter appearing in the article mentioned above with Chief Curry of the Dallas Police Department and Chief Curry advised that he gave no such information to the paper and neither did Chief of Detectives Stevenson. Chief Curry further advised that the Dallas Police Department had made no "ballistics test" of this material. Chief Curry did advise, however, that George Carter of the "Dallas Times Herald" was told of the FBI Laboratory results which had been furnished to the Police Department concerning the Walker case. Carter inquired of the Chief if they were going to close the Walker case and Chief Curry told Carter they did not intend to go any further. From this, if Chief Curry is reporting the situation correctly to us, it appears that Carter composed the article as printed in the paper.

For information, it is noted that the FBI Laboratory report covering the examination of the Walker bullet obtained from the Dallas Police Department indicated that the Walker bullet is the same caliber and is the same type of bullet as the bullet evidence recovered in connection with the assassination of President Kennedy. The Walker bullet was fired from a barrel rifled with four lands and grooves, right twist, and Mannlicher-Carcano rifles of the type used in the assassination are among weapons producing such impressions. However, the report further points out that because of extreme mutilation and distortion of the Walker bullet, it was not possible to determine the brand of the ammunition and whether or not the Walker bullet was fired from Oswald's rifle.

With respect to the photograph accompanying the article, the original photograph was reportedly obtained by the Dallas Police Department from the residence of Mrs. Ruth Paine where Oswald's wife had been living in Irving, Texas. A copy of this photograph was included in the initial FBI report to the President's Commission. This same photograph appeared in the "Evening Star" of 2/18/64, and is featured on the cover of the "Life" magazine currently on newsstands. No information has come to the Bureau's attention that this photograph has appeared in previous newspapers or magazines.

Gun Used to Slay JFK Is Linked to Walker Case

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 18 (AP) — The mail-order rifle believed to have killed President Kennedy was the same one used in an attack on former Gen. Edwin Walker, a police ballistics test report indicated today.

The report was made public by Chief Jesse Curry and Chief of Detectives M. W. Stevenson. Stevenson said points of comparison of the slug that was aimed at Walker match fragmentations of the bullets which took the President's life.

"The ballistics report cannot be final or conclusive," Stevenson said, "but generally the comparison points of the slugs were good."

The report, coupled with Marina Oswald's statements to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and later to the Warren Commission, point to her late husband, Lee Harvey Oswald, as not only the slayer of President Kennedy but also as the sniper who tried to gun down Walker.

Walker, a former Army commander, was alone at his Dallas home when a sniper's bullet tore into his residence, skimmed Walker's head and plowed through a wall.

MARINA OSWALD INTERVIEWED TODAY AT HOME OF DECLAN FORD, ONE FOUR ZERO FIVE SEVEN BROOKCREST, DALLAS, WHERE SHE IS TEMPORARILY RESIDING. SHE HAD PREVIOUSLY PLANNED TO RETURN TO DALLAS AND HE HAD ORIGINALLY PLANNED TO REUTRN WITH HER. HOWEVER, HE SUBSEQUENTLY DECIDED TO GO TO MEXICO FOR PURPOSE OF ENTERING CUBA. MARINA DID NOT WANT TO GO TO CUBA, BUT WOULD HAVE JOINED OSWALD THERE LATER IF HE HAD SENT FOR HER. OSWALD WENT TO MEXICO CITY FROM NEW ORLEANS VIA BUS AND RETURNED FROM MEXICO CITY TO DALLAS BY BUS. MARINA SAID SHE WAS AWARE OF OUR INTEREST IN OSWALD-S TRIP TO MEXICO BECAUSE OF CLOSE QUESTIONING THIS POINT. SHE SAID SHE HAD NOT TOLD INTERVIEWING AGENTS OF THIS TRIP BECAUSE SHE DOES NOT LIKE THE FBI AND BECAUSE SHE WANTED TO SAVE SOMETHING TO TELL THE COMMISSION.

SHE ADVISED OSWALD HAD TOLD HER AFTER THE WALKER INCIDENT HE HAD PRACTICED WITH RIFLE IN A FIELD. ONE NIGHT IN JANUARY OF SIXTYTHREE WHEN THEY RESIDED AT THE NEELEY ADDRESS HE WAS CLEANING HIS RIFLE AND WHEN QUESTIONED CONCERNING THIS TOLD HER HE HAD BEEN PRACTICING THAT DAY. SHE RECALLS ONE EVENING IN MARCH SIXTYTHREE OSWALD WALKED WITH HER FROM HOUSE WITH RIFLE WRAPPED IN RAINCOAT FOR ABOUT FOUR BLOCKS AND THEN BOARDED A QUOTE LOVE FIELD BUS END QUOTE. SHE WENT ON TO A STORE NEARBY. HE RETURNED ABOUT NINE P M AND TOLD HER HE HAD PRACTICED FIRING RIFLE. SHE TOLD HIM HE WOULD BE ARRESTED AND HE HAD REPLIED THAT NOONE HAD HEARD HIM FIRE THE RIFLE. SHE DID NOT TELL THE COMMISSION OF THIS FIRING PRACTICE INCIDENT IN MARCH DURING HER INTERROGATION IN WASHINGTON.

END PAGE THREE

EVEN TODAY MARINA WAS DEVIOUS CONCERNING THE FIRING PRACTICE UNTIL SHE WAS CAUTIONED TO TELL THE WHOLE TRUTH CONCERNING ALL INCIDENTS, EVENTS AND PERSONS CONCERNING WHICH SHE IS QUESTIONED. QUESTIONING WILL CONTINUE TOMORROW PARTICULARLY ON THIS POINT OF THE FIRING PRACTICE.

SHE DID NOT DISCUSS THE WALKER INCIDENT WITH ANYONE AND DOES NOT BELIEVE OSWALD DID. SHE DENIES PRIOR KNOWLEDGE OF OSWALD'S INTENTIONS TO ASSASSINATE WALKER.

THE RIFLE WAS WRAPPED IN NEW ORLEANS BY OSWALD AND EVIDENTLY TRANSPORTED TO DALLAS IN THE PAINE STATION WAGON ALTHOUGH THIS IS SUPPOSITION ON HER PART. SHE FIRST SAW THE RIFLE APPROXIMATELY ONE WEEK AFTER RETURN TO DALLAS IN SEPT. LAST. RIFLE WAS WRAPPED IN THE BLANKET. SHE DID NOT SEE IT AGAIN UNTIL SHOWN IT BY THE COMMISSION DURING HER INTERROGATION IN WASHINGTON.

AS FAR AS SHE KNOWS NEITHER OF THE PAINES KNEW OSWALD HAD A RIFLE OR KNEW THE RIFLE WAS IN THE PAINE GARAGE.

MARINA DESCRIBES MRS. PAINE AS TALKATIVE AND A PERSON YOU COULD NOT TELL A SECRET FOR SHE COULD NOT KEEP IT. MARINA KNOWS NOTHING OF THE QUOTE OCT. TWENTYTHIRD END QUOTE ENTRY IN MRS. PAINE'S DIARY.

TWO OR THREE DAYS AFTER THE WALKER SHOOTING MARINA SMELLED SMOKE IN THEIR RESIDENCE ON NEELEY. SHE FOUND OSWALD IN THE BATHROOM BURNING PAGES FROM A LOOSE LEAF NOTEBOOK WHICH HE SAID CONTAINED HIS PLAN TO ASSASSINATE WALKER. SHE SAW A BUS SCHEDULE IN THE NOTEBOOK. OSWALD HAD TWO PHOTOGRAPHS IN HIS HAND. SHE ASKED TO SEE THEM. THE PHOTOS WERE OF A HOUSE.

OSWALD IDENTIFIED THEM AS OF WALKER'S HOUSE. SHE DOES NOT KNOW WITH WHICH CAMERA OSWALD TOOK THE PHOTOS. ALTHOUGH, SHE BELIEVES IT WAS THE U. S. MADE CAMERA. SHE BELIEVES HE DEVELOPED AND PRINTED THE PHOTOS HIMSELF AT HIS EMPLOYMENT. OSWALD HAD TWO CAMERAS AS PREVIOUSLY RELATED. ONE A RUSSIAN MADE THE PHOTO OF WHICH SHE IDENTIFIED. THE OTHER WAS A U.S. MADE BOX TYPE CAMERA BUT NOT THE STEREO REALIST A PHOTO OF WHICH WAS SHOWN HER ALSO. SHE STATED HAD NEVER SEEN THE STEREO DASH REALIST. SHE COULD NOT IDENTIFY THE MINOX LIGHT METER. SHE STATED SHE CANNOT FIND ANY NEGATIVES AMONG HER EFFECTS.

MARINA VOLUNTEERED THAT SHE HAD BROKEN WITH MARTIN HER MANAGER AND THORNE HER ATTORNEY BECAUSE SHE BELIEVES THEM

DISHONEST WITH HER MONEY. MARTIN TOLD HER SHORTLY AFTER CHRISTMAS SHE HAD RECEIVED ABOUT SIXTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN DONATIONS. SHE SAID SHE WAS PRESENTED A CONTRACT FOR SIGNING IN EARLY DECEMBER WHICH CONTRACT CALLED FOR MARTIN TO RECEIVE FIFTEEN PER CENT AND THORNE TO RECEIVE TEN PER CENT OF ALL DONATIONS AND FUTURE EARNINGS. LEON GOPADZE, SECRET SERVICE AGENT THEN ON SPECIAL AT DALLAS, TRANSLATED IT FOR HER AND ADVISED HER NOT TO SIGN IT. BY COURIER SERVICE

Honorable J. Lee Rankin
General Counsel
The President's Commission
200 Maryland Avenue, N. E.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to my letters (two) dated February 17, 1964, dealing with entries in a 1963 calendar maintained by Mrs. Ruth Paine and with the revelations of a confidential source concerning the relationship in Washington, D. C., between James Herbert Martin and Marina Oswald.

Marina Oswald was reinterviewed on February 17 and 18, 1964, in Dallas, Texas. She stated that she first knew about Lee Harvey Oswald's trip to Mexico about one week prior to her departure from New Orleans for Dallas in September, 1963. She previously planned to return to Dallas and Oswald planned to return with her; however, he subsequently decided to go to Mexico for the purpose of entering Cuba.

Marina Oswald stated she did not want to go to Cuba but that she would have joined her husband there later if he had sent for her. She said her husband went to Mexico City from New Orleans by bus and returned from Mexico City to Dallas by the same means. She maintained she did not know the routes he traveled.

She said Oswald traveled alone and subsequent to the trip did not refer to any acquaintances made during his trip to Mexico. She said Oswald took between $160 and $180 with him and on his return, had approximately $70. She said Oswald visited both the Soviet and Cuban Embassies in Mexico City but failed to obtain an entry permit to Cuba. She reported that Oswald, on his return to Dallas, was convinced he would be unable to enter Cuba.

MAIL ROOM ☐ TELETYPE UNIT ☐

Mrs. Oswald admitted being aware of our interest in her husband's trip to Mexico because of previous close questioning on this point. She said she had not told the interviewing Agents about this trip because she did not like the FBI and as she wanted to save something to tell the Commission.

Mrs. Oswald said further that her husband told her after the General Walker incident that he practiced with a rifle in a field. On a night in January, 1963, when they resided at the Neeley Street address, Oswald was cleaning his rifle and when she questioned him concerning this, he told her he had been practicing that day. She recalled an evening in March, 1963, when Oswald walked with her from their residence with the rifle in a raincoat. After a walk of about four blocks, Oswald boarded a Love Field bus and she went on to a nearby store. When Oswald returned about 9 p.m. he told her he had practiced firing the rifle. At that time Mrs. Oswald said she told her husband he would be arrested and he replied to the effect that no one heard him fire the rifle. Mrs. Oswald said that she did not relate to the Commission the facts concerning her husband's rifle practice in March, 1963.

When pressed concerning her statement regarding Oswald's cleaning his rifle in January, 1963, Mrs. Oswald said that to her knowledge Oswald owned but one rifle which he received by mail some time during their residence on Neeley Street in Dallas. She stated she was confused when she advised that Oswald was cleaning his rifle at the Neeley Street address in January, 1963. She said she first saw the rifle on a shelf in Oswald's room on Neeley Street and she would estimate the time she first saw it to be near the end of March, 1963. About seven to ten days after first seeing the rifle, she took the picture of Oswald with the rifle, the pistol and the newspapers. Mrs. Oswald said she recalled taking the picture on a Sunday. Following this, she recalled seeing Oswald clean this rifle four or five times before the General Walker incident and on about one occasion after the incident and prior to their move to New Orleans. On one of these occasions while cleaning his rifle before the Walker incident Oswald told her he had practiced firing with the rifle. Oswald did not say when this practice occurred. Mrs. Oswald concluded that her husband may have practiced firing the rifle on the other occasions when she saw him cleaning it. She said she could not recall any specific incident connected with the other occasions that he was cleaning the rifle which would have indicated to her that he had practiced firing it. She said it was possible that Oswald may have practiced with the rifle on these occasions as this was the period during which he attended night school and she would not have known if he practiced firing the rifle instead of attending school.

In connection with the specific incident in March, 1963, when she and Oswald walked from the Neeley Street address at which time Oswald had the rifle wrapped in a raincoat, she recalled Oswald telling her that it was his intention to practice with the rifle. She stated that on that occasion she saw him take a bus from the bus stop about three blocks from the Neeley Street address. She believed this bus stop to be on Beckley Avenue. She said she did not know exactly which bus Oswald boarded but that she associated the name "Love Field" with the trip because she knows that a bus marked "Love Field" stops at the bus stop in question and she recalled that Oswald told her he practiced firing the rifle in a "field." She stated further that she can read the English word "field."

Mrs. Oswald said that she had never discussed with anyone the General Walker incident and she expressed the belief that her husband never discussed the incident with anyone other than herself. She denied prior knowledge of Oswald's intention to assassinate General Walker.

Concerning the presence of Oswald's rifle in the garage of the Paine residence, Mrs. Oswald said the rifle was wrapped in New Orleans by her husband and was evidently transported to Dallas in Mrs. Paine's station wagon. She emphasized that this is supposition on her part. She claims to have first seen the rifle at the Paine residence approximately a week after returning to the Dallas area in September, 1963. She said the rifle was wrapped in the blanket and that she had not seen it again until it was displayed to her by the Commission during her interrogation in Washington. She maintains that as far as she knows neither Michael Paine nor his wife knew that her husband had a rifle or knew the rifle was in the Paine garage. Mrs. Oswald described Mrs. Ruth Paine as talkative and as a person who could not maintain a confidence. She said that she knew nothing of the notation at the top of the page of Mrs. Paine's calendar for the month of March, 1963.

She said further that two or three days after the General Walker incident she smelled smoke in their residence on Neeley Street whereupon she determined Oswald was in the bathroom burning pages from a loose-leaf notebook which he said contained his plan to assassinate General Walker. She saw a bus schedule in the notebook and said that Oswald had two photographs in his hand. Upon asking to see them, she determined they were pictures of a house, at which time Oswald identified them as photographs of General Walker's home. She said she does not know which camera Oswald utilized to take these pictures, although she believes it was the American-made camera. She expressed the belief that Oswald developed and printed the photographs himself at his place of employment.

She maintained that Oswald had two cameras, one of Russian manufacture, a photograph of which she identified. She said the other was an American-made box-type camera but not the Stereo Realist, a photograph of which was displayed to her. She maintained she had never seen the Stereo Realist. She said that she could not identify the Minox light meter and that she cannot find any photographic negatives among her effects.

Mrs. Oswald said that she believed she took the photograph of Oswald with the rifle and pistol with her husband's American camera. She said that this camera was grayish in color, something like aluminum and she described it as a box-type camera although she was not completely sure as to whether there was an extended bellows. She recalled that she sighted the camera by looking into a viewer at the top. She maintained that she does not know where this camera is presently located.

Concerning the presence of the license number of the Government automobile utilized by Special Agent James P. Hosty, Jr. which number appeared in Oswald's address book, Mrs. Oswald admitted jotting down the license number of Agent Hosty's automobile on an occasion when he called at the Paine residence. She said she did this because Oswald told her to jot down the license number of any car used by any FBI Agent who came to the house in order that he would know it was an FBI car. She said she gave to Oswald the piece of paper on which she wrote the license number.

During the interview Mrs. Oswald volunteered that she had broken with her manager, James H. Martin, and with her attorney, John M. Thorne, because she believes them to be dishonest with her money. She said that Martin told her shortly after Christmas she had received about $60,000 in donations. She said that early in December, 1963, she was presented a contract for signing which called for Martin to receive fifteen per cent and Thorne ten per cent of all donations and future earnings. She said that Leon Gopadze, Secret Service Agent then on special assignment in Dallas, translated the contract for her and advised her not to sign it. Later, and still in early December, 1963, she said she signed the contract to give Martin fifteen per cent and Thorne ten per cent of future earnings only.

She complained that Martin is delaying giving her the money deposited for her and she believes him dishonest. She said further that Martin professed his love for her daily when she resided in his home. She said that it is her desire to obtain her money, rent a house and then later build a house in Dallas.

Our interview of Marina Oswald is continuing and further details will be furnished to you as received.

Sincerely yours,

In an article in the 5-17-64 issue of the "National Inquirer," there is a wild story by John Henshaw in which it is alleged that the Dallas Police knew in April, 1963, that Oswald and Jack Ruby were linked in the assassination attempt against General Walker; that they were about to arrest Oswald and Ruby but were dissuaded from this action by a "Top Secret" letter sent to Chief Curry by the Department at the behest of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). It also alleged that a high Bureau official at the Department's request interceded with Chief Curry, asking that Oswald and Ruby not be arrested but that the Dallas Police desired this request in writing which resulted in the Departmental letter.

Concerning this story, the Director inquired "Have we checked our files just to be on safe side."

The main point of the article in the "National Inquirer" is hinged on the fact that the Dallas Police had developed Oswald and Ruby as suspects in connection with the assassination attempt on General Walker in April, 1963. This is completely at variance with information in our files and from our check of Dallas Police files and our interviews of Dallas Police officials. Neither Ruby nor Oswald were suspected by Dallas Police of any participation in the Walker incident prior to the assassination of the President. The only suspect developed by them prior to 11-22-63 was a 22-year-old Scotsman named William McEwan Duff, who was befriended by Walker and worked for him for a period of time as a chauffeur and houseboy. Duff was questioned by Dallas Police and was exonerated on the basis of a polygraph examination.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. SULLIVAN
RE: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

As to the allegation that a high Bureau official contacted the Dallas Police and urged them not to arrest Ruby and Oswald, this, of course, is a complete absurdity and nothing in our files could support such a story. Likewise, there is nothing in our files to support the allegation that a "Top Secret" letter was sent by a high official of the Justice Department requesting them not to arrest Ruby and Oswald. Furthermore, CIA has formally denied that Oswald was an informant of their organization or connected with them in any way and we have no information that CIA was ever interested in Ruby at any time.

The President's Commission has forwarded an article appearing in the "National Enquirer" issue of 5-17-64. In essence, the sensational article alleges that a high official of the Justice Department sent a letter to Dallas Police Chief Jesse E. Curry requesting the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection with the General Walker shooting.

By memorandum of 5-8-64 you were advised that Chief Curry in an interview on 5-7-64 emphatically denied that he had ever been requested by the Justice Department or any official of the FBI not to arrest Oswald or Ruby. A letter incorporating the results of the interview of Chief Curry was forwarded to the President's Commission on 5-8-64.

At the same time, since the Commission had specifically requested that they be advised as to any knowledge possessed by the Justice Department, a letter was sent to the Deputy Attorney General advising of the request from the President's Commission. The Director noted, "Follow up and get prompt action."

Assistant Director Evans was in contact with Mr Katzenbach's office on May 12 and May 13. We have now received a letter dated May 13, attached, which was hand delivered from the Deputy Attorney General. In this letter he advises that a check of the files discloses no reference to an alleged letter from a high official of the Justice Department to Chief Curry nor any reference that an FBI official was asked to request the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald or Ruby.

The story that appeared in the "National Enquirer" is, therefore, a complete fabrication.

INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA

This is to brief a wild and unsupported article in the 5-1-64 issue of the "National Enquirer" claiming that the Department of Justice at the request of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) blocked the arrest of Oswald and Ruby by the Dallas Police in April, 1963. The article cites no specifics as to the basis for the imaginative charge and is loaded with filler material consisting of numerous hoaxes and false reports which have been discredited. It is recommended that the article not be brought to the attention of the President's Commission or the Department as it is patently false and unworthy of consideration. The "National Enquirer" is a well-known sex-type of newspaper, is totally unreliable and is known to feature wild sensational stories.

The story in question was written by John Henshaw, described as Washington Bureau Chief of the "National Enquirer," weekly published in New York City. The article alleges that Dallas Police knew in April, 1963, that Oswald and Ruby were linked in the assassination attempt against General Walker; Oswald as the assassin and Ruby as the paymaster. It alleges that CIA was using Ruby to recruit commandos for raids on Cuba and to prevent Dallas Police from arresting Ruby as well as Oswald, they petitioned the Department to step in. It alleges that a high Bureau official received a signed directive from the Department as a result of which he contacted the Dallas Police in April, 1963, and urged them not to arrest Ruby and Oswald. As the Dallas Police desired a signed communication, a "Top Secret" letter was signed by a high official of Justice and was sent to Dallas Police Chief Curry requesting them not to arrest Ruby and Oswald. The article thereafter attempts to establish that Ruby and Oswald knew each other long before the assassination and as filler information it repeats the allegation that Oswald was a double agent for CIA and Bureau, the false claims of Mark Lane, the New York attorney, and the wild speculations that have appeared in the foreign press. This article is pure sensational trash and there is no substance to it.

The President's Commission has forwarded an article appea in the "Nati[illegible] Enquirer," issue of 5/17/64. In essence, the sensational article alleges that a high official of the Justice Department sent a letter to Dallas Police Chief Jesse E. Curry reque the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection with t General Walker shooting.

The Commission requested that the Bureau interview Chief Curry concerning his knowledge of the alleged letter and also reques that the Commission be advised as to any knowledge possessed by the Justice Department or the Bureau concerning the allegations in the article.

ACTION:

1. SAC, Shanklin, Dallas, interviewed Chief Curry on 5/7/6 Curry emphatically stated he had never received or heard of a letter to his department from the Justice Department and that he had never been requested by any official of the FBI not to arrest Oswald or Rub He described the allegations as absolutely false and added that prio to the assassination neither he nor his department had ever heard of Oswald. Attached for approval is letter to Rankin advising of the interview with Curry. This letter points out that the Bureau has no information in its files concerning the alleged letter from a high official of the Justice Department, nor any reference that an FBI official was asked to request the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald or Ruby. Rankin is also advised that we are making inquiry of the Justice Department and upon receipt of the results of that inquiry th Commission will be advised.

On May 7, 1964, the Dallas Office forwarded by urgent teletype the results of an interview with Dallas Police Chief Curry which was conducted on that day. This interview was conducted at the request of the President's Commission following an article which appeared in the "National Enquirer" alleging that a high official of the Justice Department sent a letter to Dallas Police Chief Curry requesting the Dallas police not to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection with the General Walker shooting.

In the interview Chief Curry emphatically stated that he never received or heard of a letter from the Justice Department and he was never requested by any official of the FBI not to arrest Oswald or Ruby. Chief Curry described the allegation as absolutely false.

The Dallas teletype concluded that unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau the results of the interview would not be included in a report or a letterhead memorandum. The Director noted, "Of course it must be in a report so we can send it to the Commission."

On May 8 SAC Shanklin was telephonically instructed to include the interview of Chief Curry in an FD-302 as an insert in the next investigative report to be submitted by the Dallas Office in their investigation of the Oswald case. SAC Shanklin noted that the complete results of the interview were incorporated in the urgent teletype sent to the Bureau, and he was of the belief that the Bureau would send the results to the President's Commission by letter.

The results of the interview of Chief Curry were incorporated in a letter which was sent to the Honorable J. Lee Rankin of the President's Commission on May 8, 1964. The Commission is, therefore, cognizant and their files reflect the denial by Chief Curry that a letter was sent to him requesting the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald and Ruby.

ACTION: This is for information.

NOTE: General Walker made a speech at Dartmouth, Mass., on 5-10-64 wherein he stated that the Warren Commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy was attempting to suppress an alleged relationship between Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby. The newspaper also reported that General Walker got into a pushing scuffle with a free-lance television photographer who was attempting to photograph Walker during his speech. Our investigation has disclosed no relationship between Oswald and Ruby and we are conducting no investigation concerning the instant incident involving General Walker.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

The report of the investigation conducted by the Dallas Police Department of the attempted assassination of Major General Edwin A. Walker, which report was provided to this Commission by the Attorney General of the State of Texas, does not indicate the caliber and other basic characteristics of the bullet which was recovered from General Walker's home. We do note, however, that the report of Officers McElroy and Van Cleve, both of the Dallas Police Department, indicates that the bullet was given to Detective G. B. Brown of the Dallas Police Department, Crime Laboratory Division.

In view of the conflicting stories concerning the nature of the bullet which was actually recovered from General Walker's home, we would appreciate advice as to whether or not that bullet was ever examined by the Dallas Police Department or by any other person or organization on its behalf. We would like to have any reports which may have been made of such an examination, if in fact any such examination was made. We would like to know who had possession of that bullet from the time it was recovered from General Walker's home until it came into the possession of this Commission.

6 MAY 25 1964

SOVIET SECTION

We also note that Mr. Robert Surrey, then of 3508 Lindenwood Street, a business associate of and aide to General Walker, stated that at about 9:00 P.M. on April 6, 1963, he observed two men sitting in a 1963 Ford, either dark purple or brown in color, which was parked in the rear of General Walker's house. Mr. Surrey said the two men got out of the car and walked around General Walker's house, apparently observing it closely. Surrey said he became suspicious and followed the car in an attempt to obtain its license number, which he was not able to do since the car bore no license plates of any kind.

There appears to be some confusion, however, concerning Mr. Surrey's story. The Dallas police file seems to state that Mr. Surrey also saw the same car and the same two men at General Walker's premises on the evening of April 10, 1963 and that report is reflected in the report of your Bureau set forth at page 441 of the report of Special Agent Robert P. Gemberling dated December 10, 1963 at Dallas, Texas. Please advise as to when Mr. Surrey did see such car and men.

In view of the fact that Marina Oswald has stated that Lee Harvey Oswald told her that he had gone to General Walker's home "three days or more" prior to April 10, 1963 (page 733 of Agent Gemberling's report dated December 23, 1963), we think Mr. Surrey should be interviewed to determine whether or not he can describe to any extent either of the two men whom he saw. Assuming that Oswald was involved in the attempt on Walker's life, consideration should be given to the possibility that he may have had accomplices.

The Dallas Police also indicated that Dr. Ruth Jackson, General Walker's next door neighbor, had a dog that supposedly barked at "everybody and everything." The dog apparently did not bark on the evening of April 10, 1963. The Dallas Police report indicated that Dr. Jackson's dog was "very sick" on April 11 and 12, 1963. No reason for the illness was indicated. We would appreciate advice as to whether or not Dr. Jackson's dog appeared to have been drugged or otherwise incapacitated in connection with the attempt on General Walker's life.

We also note a certain confusion in the stories told by Marina Oswald concerning her husband's involvement in the Walker shooting. She told your agent on December 3, 1963 that Oswald said that on April 10, 1963 he had gone to Walker's residence on foot. Your report then states: "He said that after he fired the rifle, he ran away and that he could run very fast. . . . He came home on the bus." (Pages 71-2 of Agent Gemberling's report of December 10, 1963.)

On December 11, 1963 Marina advised Secret Service agents that Oswald told her that he took buses to go to the Walker residence and that he took a different bus to return home after the shooting. (Secret Service Control No. 632.)

Marina told the Secret Service that three days prior to April 10 he took his rifle out of the house and "buried it in a field near the Walker house." (Ibid.) She told your agents that "Oswald did not say and she did not ask him what he had done with the rifle after the first evening when he went to shoot at Walker but had changed his mind." (Page 734, Gemberling's report of December 23, 1963.)

Marina also said that Oswald told her he had buried the rifle in the ground "far from the actual spot of the shooting." Oswald then mentioned a field and said it was near a railroad track. (Id., at 733). In her testimony before this Commission Marina associated a picture showing a railroad track with the Walker incident. You have not been able to determine that that picture (Commission Exhibit 4; photograph No. 5 of your Item 6) depicts a scene near the Walker residence. (page 313 of Gemberling's report of February 11, 1964.)

We are unable, on the basis of the above reports, to determine exactly what Oswald told his wife concerning his possible involvement in the Walker shooting. Would you please:

1. Conduct such investigation as may be necessary to reconcile and clarify the above statements of Marina Oswald in an attempt to determine just how Oswald travelled to and from Walker's residence and what he did with the rifle in connection with that incident. In that connection consideration should be given to the possibility that Oswald could have had accomplices in his alleged attempt on General Walker's life.

2. Identify, if possible, the scenes depicted in Commission Exhibit 5, photograph No. 5 of your Item 6, as well as photograph No. 2 of your Item 7 (Commission Exhibit 2).

Sent by Courier 5/1: 8/64

3. Forward to Mr. Wesley J. Liebeler of our staff photograph No. 5 of your Item 1 and photograph No. 1 of your Item 70.

4. Advise as to the location of railroad tracks located most closely to General Walker's residence and as to the location of any railroad tracks along which may lie fields or other locations in which Oswald may have buried or otherwise hidden his rifle as related by Marina Oswald.

5. Conduct such investigation, particularly observation of the vicinity of Walker's residence and other appropriate locations, as may be necessary to determine the probabilities that Oswald did in fact do any of the things Marina has stated that he did in connection with his travel to and from Walker's residence and his secretion of the rifle.

6. Provide us with an aerial view of the vicinity of General Walker's residence showing, if possible, the location of any railroad tracks and open fields within appropriate distances thereof, and indicating the routes of any bus lines which Oswald may have used to travel to and/or from Walker's residence and/or such fields.

Your continued cooperation is greatly appreciated.

INFORMATION CONCERNING

On May 8, 1964, [redacted] Beverly, Massachusetts, Police Department, advised that [redacted] Massachusetts, had informed him that Major General Edwin A. Walker would be staying at [redacted] residence on May 9, 1964, and [redacted] requested the police department to furnish the services of a uniformed officer at [redacted] home from 8:00 P. M., May 9, 1964, to 8:00 A. M. May 10, 1964. [redacted] stated he was complying with this request but had received an information that Major General Walker had a speaking engagement in that area. [redacted] stated that Major General Walker has spoken at [redacted] in the past at the request of [redacted] who is somewhat of an eccentric and likes to associate with persons she considers 'intellectuals."

The "Boston Traveler," a daily newspaper published in Boston, Massachusetts, in its final edition of May 11, 1964, carried an article stating that former Major General Edwin A. Walker spoke before about 100 persons at the Padanarum Fire Station at Dartmouth, Massachusetts, on the evening of May 10, 1964. During his speech Walker said the Warren Commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy was attempting to suppress an alleged relationship between Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby.

General Walker got into a pushing scuffle with [redacted] of New Bedford, a free-lance television photographer, who was photographing the speech. Walker objected to being photographed and when [redacted] a free-lance reporter, told [redacted] "Go ahead. He can't stop you," Walker retorted. "Who can't stop you?" and advanced towards [redacted] who backed away and raised his camera for photographs as Walker advanced. Walker allegedly pushed [redacted] and during the scuffle, [redacted] was shoved against a wall.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

We have received a report from the United States Secret Service covered by that organization's Control No. 1535 dated May 25-26, 1964 at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, which indicates that William M. Duff had advised that Jack Ruby had called at the residence of General Edwin Walker on a monthly basis from December 1962 through March 1963. The Secret Service has furnished the information contained in that report to Agent David H. Berry of the Oklahoma City office of your Bureau. We would appreciate receiving a report of the investigation of this matter which you will no doubt conduct.

In that connection we note from the matters set forth on page 10 of the letterhead memorandum of your Bureau dated May 22, 1964 at Dallas, Texas in response to our letter of May 13, 1964 requesting certain additional information concerning photographs of General Walker's

NOTE:

The Bureau is not in receipt of any information re Secret Service report referred to in Commission's letter. William M. Duff was a primary suspect in the Dallas PD investigation of the attempted shooting of General Edwin Walker. Investigation does not indicate that he was in any way connected with the assassination of President Kennedy or Jack Ruby. Investigation does not establish that Ruby ever had any contact whatever with General Walker. Commission's reference to photographs of General Walker's house refers to extensive investigation conducted at their request concerning photographs of Walker's house found in Oswald's possession. The reference to Andre Angeles comes from an interview with one Juanita Buchannan, owner of the Eldorado Lounge, Dallas, on 12/17/63. She was acquainted with Duff and stated she had once worked for Ruby at the Carousel Club but knew of no connection between the two. She referred to Andre Angeles (phonetic), whom she described briefly but could not identify. She said Andre had known Ruby and Duff. Investigation does not establish that any Angeles or similar name is connected in any way with the assassination.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

The following is submitted in reply to a request received from Mr. Norman Redlich of the President's Commission on June 16, 1964. Mr. Redlich requested this Bureau to furnish identify the source of an incident in which General Walker allegedly flew flags upside down at his residence.

On June 16, 1964, Agents of our Dallas Office interviewed Mr. Eddy Barker, News Manager, Station WFAA-TV, Dallas, Texas. Mr. Barker recalled that Adlai Stevenson gave a speech in Dallas on the night of October 24, 1963. The following day, one of General Walker's aides, identity presently unrecalled, called Mr. Barker and advised him that General Walker was flying the American flags upside down in front of his house. This aide indicated that this was being done because "Dallas was a city in distress."

Mr. Barker said that this aide called him on such a day, days thereafter that was perturbed because he had not previously publicity for this stunt. On the following Monday, October 28, 1963, United Press International ran a piece on the news wires about these flags being flown at General Walker's residence. On the same day, a representative of the Columbia Broadcasting System called Mr. Barker and requested him to interview General Walker in front of his residence and take movies of the flying of the American flags in their incorrect position.

Mr. J. Lee Rankin

Mr. Barker contacted General Walker at his residence, and after explaining the purpose of his visit, the General went into a "raving rage," got into his car and drove off. Mr. Barker did not interview General Walker nor did he take any photographs. Mr. Barker recalls that General Walker flew these flags for approximately five days and it is Mr. Barker's opinion that due to the absence of publicity regarding this matter, General Walker removed the flags from his residence.

Mr. Barker stated that he could not locate a photograph of the flags flying at General Walker's residence, and he is certain that the photograph transmitted on the United Press International news wire was not published in the Dallas area.

The above information was furnished telephonically to Mr. Redlich on June 15, 1964, and unless advised to the contrary, no additional inquiries will be conducted concerning this matter.

house, that the Dallas Police Department has apparently conducted continuing investigation concerning visitors to the Walker residence. We would appreciate it very much if you would obtain copies of the reports of that investigation and forward them to us.

We also note from page 48 of Agent Clements' report dated December 21, 1963 at Dallas, Texas, that one Andre Angeles (phonetic), who is apparently acquainted with Mr. Duff, is reported to have stated that he was flying to Dallas on Friday, November 22, 1963 "with a lot of money." We would appreciate your advice as to whether or not Mr. Angeles appears to be connected in any way with the assassination.

Your continued cooperation is appreciated.

Re: EDWIN A. WALKER

An article appeared in "The Dallas Morning News", dated June 3, 1964, which reflected that Judge CHARLES J. MURRAY of the 17th District Court, Fort Worth, Texas, has dismissed "The Fort Worth Star-Telegram", a daily Fort Worth newspaper, Fort Worth radio station WBAP and Fort Worth television station WBAP-TV, together with Carter Publications, Incorporated, as defendants in the $2,000,000.00 libel suit by Former General EDWIN A. WALKER. This dismissal was made at the request of WALKER's attorneys. This article pointed out that this suit involved alleged libelist statements made by these organizations concerning WALKER's activities at the University of Mississippi in 1962, during the enrollment of Negro JAMES MEREDITH at the University of Mississippi.

An article appeared in "The Fort Worth Star-Telegram", a daily Fort Worth newspaper on June 9, 1964, which reflected that an all white jury of four women and eight men was impaneled June 8, 1964, at Fort Worth, Texas, to hear the $2,000,000.00 libel suit of Former General EDWIN A. WALKER against the Associated Press.

CLYDE J. WATTS of Oklahoma City, representing WALKER, stated in his legal petition that the Associated Press knowingly and falsely accused WALKER of crimes against the Penal Code of the United States and that statements made about WALKER's activities during the rioting which accompanied the enrollment of the Negro, JAMES MEREDITH into the University of Mississippi in the Fall of 1962 were false, malicious, and untrue. WATTS stated that WALKER did not levy a charge against the United States Marshals as the Associated Press had reported and had, in fact, turned down several requests that he do so.

No. 5, of Item No. 1, had been furnished to Mr. WESLEY J. LIEBELER, of the President's Commission.

It is pointed out the two automobiles and the two individuals described in the interviews with WALTER KIRK COLEMAN have not been identified. It appears only logical these two individuals are (1) either accomplices of the individual shooting at General WALKER; (2) are witnesses to the shooting who are reluctant to divulge their identity, or (3) they are associates of General WALKER. If further investigation is desired to identify these individuals and these automobiles, it would appear necessary to interview General WALKER who, it is pointed out, is a most controversial figure, who will, undoubtedly, immediately alert the press or call a press conference and publicize the inquiry.

Investigation was conducted by SA'S ROBERT M. BARRETT and IVAN D. LEE.

Dallas, Texas

June 10, 1964

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

The President's Commission, by letter dated May 20, 1964, requested additional investigation in connection with the attempted assassination of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, at Dallas, Texas, on April 10, 1963.

On May 28, 1964, B. G. BROWN, Police Officer assigned to the Crime Scene Search Section (CSSS), Dallas, Texas, Police Department, advised that on the night of April 10, 1963, he was dispatched to 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, to conduct a crime scene search in connection with a shooting at that residence. BROWN identified the residence as that of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army (Retired).

After his arrival at the residence, Patrolman L. C. NORVELL handed BROWN a bullet, which NORVELL stated he had found among some papers and literature in the room next to this room where General WALKER had been sitting at the time of the shooting. BROWN stated the bullet apparently had come through the wall between the two rooms, as there was a hole in this wall. BROWN stated he marked the bullet and took it back to the CSSS at the Dallas Police Department, where he kept it for safekeeping.

BROWN made available copies of the below-listed Dallas Police Department reports concerning investigation conducted by that agency in connection with the shooting at WALKER's residence:

1. General Offense Report dated April 10, 1963, by Officers D. P. TUCKER and L. C. NORVELL.

2. Supplementary Offense Report dated April 11, 1963, by Police Department Detectives E. H. VAN CLEAVE and D. E. McELROY.

3. Supplementary Offense Report dated April 11, 1963, by Police Department Detectives C. R. DELLINGER and F. M. ROSE.

4. Supplementary Offense Report dated April 7, 1964, by Police Department Detective C. R. DELLINGER.

These copies are being maintained in the files of the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

On May 28, 1964, DON E. McELROY, Detective, Burglary and Theft Squad, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, advised that on the night of April 10, 1963, he was dispatched to 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard to investigate a shooting. This address is the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army (Retired).

McELROY, a police officer for thirteen years, advised it appeared the bullet had entered through a window in the back of the house and gone through a wall next to which General WALKER had been sitting at the time. In the room next to where General WALKER had been sitting, Mr. McELROY stated he found a spent bullet among some papers and literature. There was a hole in the wall through which the bullet had apparently entered. Mr. McELROY stated he picked up the bullet and later gave it to Officer B. G. BROWN, of the Crime Scene Search Section, Dallas Police Department.

On June 2, 1964, D. P. TUCKER, Patrolman, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, residence, 2632 Lakeland Drive, Dallas, Texas, advised that on the night of April 10, 1963, he and his partner, Patrolman B. G. NORVELL, were sent by the Dallas Police Department radio dispatcher to 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, concerning a shooting. Officer TUCKER stated this is the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

At the residence while investigating the shooting, which included interviews of General WALKER and other persons at the residence and conducting a search of the area, Officer NORVELL found a bullet in a battered condition which apparently had been the bullet fired through the window which barely missed General WALKER. Officer TUCKER stated Officer NORVELL found this bullet in the room adjoining the room where General WALKER was sitting at the time the shot was fired. There was a hole in the wall near where General WALKER had been sitting. In the adjacent room, NORVELL found the bullet among some papers and literature and later gave this bullet to Detective J. L. McELROY. McELROY advised NORVELL and TUCKER that he, Mr. McE., would give the bullet to the Dallas Police Department Crime Laboratory. Officer TUCKER stated he did not know whether or not NORVELL had marked the bullet for identification and that NORVELL gave it to McELROY this was the last time TUCKER ever saw of the bullet.

On June 1, 1964, Sergeant W. H. [illegible], Identification Bureau, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, advised that Officer B. G. NORVELL resigned from the Police Department on May 4, 1963. At that time, NORVELL resided at 4920 Lake Oak Street, Dallas, Texas.

On June 3, 1964, BILLY GENE NORVELL, Apartment 147, 1603 Darr Street, Irving, Texas, advised he was employed as a Patrolman by the Dallas, Texas, Police Department from December 1, 1962 to May 4, 1963.

On the night of April 10, 1963, at about 9:30 P.M., while working with Patrolman D. P. TUCKER, NORVELL and TUCKER received radio instructions to "meet the complainant" at 3011 Turtle Creek Boulevard. NORVELL stated he and his partner proceeded immediately to this address, arriving about five minutes after receiving the radio instructions. Upon arrival, they were met at the front door by Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, who told them he wanted to "show" them something. General WALKER led the officers to a study in the back of the house, where he showed them a hole in the wall, and stated this had been caused by a shot which had entered through a window at the back of the house and went through the wall about three inches above WALKER's head. NORVELL stated he and his partner inspected the window where the bullet entered and then called the Burglary and Theft Bureau of the Dallas Police Department, requesting that detectives be sent out to handle the investigation. NORVELL advised that he and TUCKER then went to the room adjoining the study between which was the wall that the bullet had passed through. In this adjoining room, the officers found numerous bundles of literature and papers stacked against this common wall. Upon removing some, they found a mushroomed bullet lying on one of the stacks of literature near the hole in the wall. NORVELL stated he then picked up the bullet and scratched his initials "G. H." on its mutilated "N" on the base of it. NORVELL stated that later he gave this bullet to Detective McELROY, of the Burglary and Theft Bureau, and McELROY advised that he would take the bullet to the Dallas Police Department Crime Laboratory for examination. NORVELL stated he did not observe McELROY mark the bullet for identification while in NORVELL's presence. NORVELL advised that was the last time he had seen this bullet. He stated the bullet was mutilated and mushroomed from impact, except for the base and a fraction of an inch from the base.

On May 28, 1964, Lieutenant J. C. DAY, Officer in Charge of the Crime Scene Search Section (CSSS), Dallas, Texas, Police Department, advised that on April 25, 1964, he took a bullet from the CSSS, marked it for identification, and then personally took it to the City - County Criminal Investigation Laboratory, Parkland Memorial Hospital, where he gave it to F. T. ALEXANDER and LOUIS L. ANDERSON. The bullet was turned over to these men with a request from Lieutenant DAY for examination to identify the gun which had fired the bullet. Within a few days, Lieutenant DAY received an oral report from the City - County Criminal Investigation Laboratory that the laboratory could not identify the gun which fired the bullet because of the battered condition of the bullet.

Lieutenant DAY stated the bullet remained in the custody of the City - County Criminal Investigation Laboratory until December 2, 1963, when Lieutenant DAY personally went to Parkland Memorial Hospital, picked up the bullet, and returned it to the Dallas Police Department CSSS.

Lieutenant DAY stated his records show that at 4:10 PM, on December 2, 1963, he personally turned over this bullet to Federal Bureau of Investigation Agent BARWELL D. ODUM.

On June 1, 1964, FLOYD T. ALEXANDER, City - County Criminal Investigation Laboratory, Parkland Memorial Hospital, Dallas, Texas, advised his records show that on April 25, 1963, he received a bullet in damaged condition, which had apparently been fired, from Lieutenant J. C. DAY, of the Crime Scene Search Section, Dallas Police Department. The receipt for this bullet was signed by ALEXANDER and his assistant, LOUIE L. ANDERSON, as this is their usual procedure on receipt of any possible evidence.

ALEXANDER had been requested by Lieutenant DAY only to determine, if possible, the type of gun which fired the bullet in question. Upon examination, ALEXANDER was only able to ascertain the types of guns from which the bullet could have been fired but that this was speculation on his part. He explained this was due to the fact he did not have any weapon with which to make a comparison.

ALEXANDER stated he subsequently, date unrecalled, made an oral report to Lieutenant DAY that he had been unable to definitely determine what type of gun fired the bullet and advised Lieutenant DAY the types of guns which could have possibly fired the bullet. He stated the oral report was made as there was nothing on which to base a written report other than the above speculation.

ALEXANDER stated his records show the bullet was maintained in his custody at the Laboratory in Parkland Memorial Hospital from April 25, 1963, until December 2, 1963, when it was released to Lieutenant DAY.

Files of the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation show that Special Agent BARDWELL D. ODUM transmitted by registered mail a bullet to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory on December 2, 1963. This bullet had been obtained by Special Agent ODUM from Lieutenant J. C. DAY, Crime Scene Search Section, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, on December 2, 1963. This bullet was subsequently designated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory as Specimen No. Q-188. This bullet is Item No. C-148.

Item No. C-148 was delivered to the President's Commission on March 21, 1964. It was returned to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory by the President's Commission on May 1, 1964, where it is now retained.

On June 3, 1964, Lieutenant J. C. DAY, Crime Scene Search Section, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, furnished copies of seven photographs taken April 10, 1963, in or near the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas, by Officer B. G. BROWN, who is assigned to the Crime Scene Search Section. These photographs are described as follows:

1. Scene depicting the entry of a shot through WALKER's residence near the upper portion of the window frame. This photograph was taken from inside looking out.

2. Photograph depicting a scene showing the entry of a bullet through the screen and window of WALKER's residence. This photograph was taken from the outside of the residence looking in.

3. Photograph depicting a scene taken inside WALKER's residence and of the wall which was to WALKER's left at the time of the shot. This photograph depicts the hole in the wall made by the bullet which, according to General WALKER, was about 3" above his head.

4. Photograph taken in the adjoining room to the room where WALKER was sitting at the time of the shot. It depicts a scene showing a bullet hole in the wall near some packages and just below a painting. This was where the bullet entered the adjoining room and the area where the bullet was found by the police.

5. Photograph taken outside of the residence of General WALKER near the alley and depicts what appears to be part of a tire track and a roller. The significance of this picture is unknown, other than it was taken for possible future use as evidence.

6. Photograph taken from the alley behind WALKER's residence looking towards a wooden fence. It was believed that it was in this area that the would-be assassin stood when he fired the shot at General WALKER.

7. Photograph taken from where officers believed the assailant stood at the time he fired the shot into WALKER's residence. Photograph depicts part of the back of WALKER's residence, the window through which the bullet entered, and the chair where WALKER was sitting at the time of the shooting.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

On June 3, 1964, ROBERT A. SURREY, residence, 3506 Lindenwood, Highland Park, business, 2700 Haskell Avenue, Dallas, Texas, furnished the following information:

On Monday night, April 8, 1963, at about 9:00 to 9:30 p.m., SURREY arrived in the area of the residence of General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard. SURREY was proceeding up Avondale Street in order to turn into the alley and enter the WALKER residence by the alley entrance. Prior to turning into the alley, he observed a 1963 dark brown or maroon, four-door Ford, parked on Avondale with two men sitting in it. Rather than turn into the alley, SURREY proceeded around the block and entered the Mormon Church Parking Lot, located on the property adjoining the WALKER residence to the north, and parked his car in this lot. He then went to a position in one of the neighboring yards where he could observe the two men. He observed them get out of the car, walk up the alley and onto the WALKER property and look into windows of the WALKER house. At about this point, SURREY went to their automobile, where he checked the rear of the car, and observed there was no license plate on the rear. He then opened the door and looked into the car and opened the glove compartment. He observed nothing in the car or glove compartment which would help identify the occupants. He then went back to his car and drove to a position where he could observe the 1963 Ford leave.

About a half hour after SURREY first observed this car, the two men returned to it and drove off down Turtle Creek Boulevard, then south to Pacific Street. At this point, SURREY stated he was unable to continue following this automobile.

SURREY stated he had never seen either of these two men before or since this incident, and was of the opinion that neither of these two men was identical with LEE HARVEY OSWALD. He described one of the men as a white male, in his 30's, about 5' 10" to 6' tall, and weighing about 190 pounds. SURREY described the second individual as a white male, in his 30's, about 5' 10" to 6' tall, and weighing about 160 pounds. He stated both men were well dressed in suits, dress shirts and ties.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Mr. SURREY stated he is not certain he could identify either man if he ever observed them again.

On the night of April 10, 1963, SURREY stated he was not at WALKER's residence, but received a call from General WALKER shortly after the shooting incident, or shortly after 9:00 P.M. He stated he proceeded from his residence directly to WALKER's residence, arriving there at about the same time as did the first police car. SURREY stated he observed one of these uniformed police officers find a mushroomed bullet in the room adjoining that where General WALKER had been sitting when the shot was fired through the window.

SURREY was shown a photograph, which is Commission Exhibit No. 5, Federal Bureau of Investigation Inventory No. 360, and which depicts the rear of General WALKER's residence and a 1957 Chevrolet.

It appears that this photograph was mutilated, in that the area on the back of the Chevrolet where the license plate would normally be found has been torn out.

SURREY stated this car appears identical to that owned and operated by CHARLIE KLEIN, a frequent visitor to General WALKER's residence. SURREY stated KLEIN resides in Irving, Texas, and is employed by Texas Instruments.

On June 3, 1964, WALKER KERR COLEMAN, 4338 [illegible] Dallas, Texas, age 15, furnished the following information:

On April 10, 1963, sometime between 9:00 and 10:00 P.M. COLEMAN, along with his godfather, RONALD ADKINS, was building some shelves in COLEMAN's bedroom. At this time, COLEMAN was standing in the doorway which leads from his bedroom to the rear of the house on the north side of his residence. COLEMAN heard a blast and his first impression was that it was a car backfiring. COLEMAN ran immediately to the fence which separates the property where he resides and that of the Mormon Church Parking Lot. COLEMAN stepped up on a bicycle, which was leaning against the fence, and which put him in a position to look into the Mormon Church Parking Lot and the back of the church property.

Upon looking into this parking lot, COLEMAN observed two men, hereinafter referred to as No. 1 and No. 2. No. 1 was at the back of a white or beige 1950 Ford and was hurrying towards the driver's side of this car. COLEMAN observed no other person in the car. The car was parked headed towards Turtle Creek Boulevard (or away from COLEMAN) with the motor running and the headlights on. No. 2 was about ten yards behind No. 1 at a point about twenty-five feet inside the church property, or parking lot, from the alley entrance to this parking lot. No. 1 was almost directly in front of COLEMAN and No. 2 was to COLEMAN's right. No. 2 was walking in a direction away from the alley entrance and towards a 1958 black over white, two-door Chevrolet sedan. This Chevrolet was parked in the second parking slot to the east of the alley entrance headed in towards a fence which separates the church property and that of General EDWIN A. WALKER. A Renault automobile belonging to the church caretaker was parked in the first parking slot.

COLEMAN stated his immediate attention was directed toward No. 1. No. 1 got into the 1950 Ford and, as he did so, glanced back in the direction of COLEMAN. This man got into the car and drove off at a normal rate of speed towards the exit from the church parking lot onto Turtle Creek Boulevard. COLEMAN stated he did not notice if No. 1 was carrying anything in his hands. He stated No. 1 was wearing khaki pants, a sport shirt with figures in it, and was a white male, about 19 or 20 years of age, about 5'10" tall, and weighing about 130 pounds. He stated this man had dark, bushy hair, a thin face with a large nose, and was "real skinny."

COLEMAN stated he was able to observe this even though it was nighttime, as the church has a floodlight which was on at the time, and which lights up the parking lot.

COLEMAN then looked back towards No. 2 and observed that he was, by this time, at the driver's side of the Chevrolet. He had the door open and the front seat pushed forward. He was leaning through the car door and into the back seat area of this car. COLEMAN then returned to his residence and did not observe how or when No. 2 left the parking lot. About an hour later, while being questioned by a police officer, COLEMAN noticed that the Chevrolet was gone, as were all other cars that had been in the parking lot when he first observed the two men, with the exception of the caretaker's Renault. COLEMAN advised that, when he first observed these two men, along with the 1950 Ford and the 1958 Chevrolet, there were about six other cars parked in the parking lot.

COLEMAN described No. 2 as a white male, about 6'1", about 200 pounds, wearing a dark, long-sleeve shirt, and dark pants. COLEMAN advised he never saw No. 2's face and could not furnish any information as to his age. He also stated he did not recall anything about No. 2's hair. He advised that when he first observed No. 2 he did not notice if he was carrying anything, although this was possible, as his attention was mainly directed towards No. 1 at that time.

COLEMAN advised he had never seen either man or either car at any time before or after this incident.

COLEMAN stated he has seen numerous photographs of LEE HARVEY OSWALD and he was shown a photograph of OSWALD among several other photographs. He stated that neither man resembled OSWALD and that he had never seen anyone in or around the WALKER residence or the church before or after April 10, 1963, who resembled LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

COLEMAN explained that, from where he was standing looking over the fence, he could not see down the alley behind WALKER's residence, as there is a stockade fence around some garbage cans in the southwest corner of the church parking lot and this blocked his view down the alley.

It was personally observed on June 3, 1964, by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that the distance from the door in the residence of WALTER KIRK COLEMAN, 4930 Mc Street, Dallas, Texas, to the place at the stockade fence where he observed incidents on the night of April 10, 1963, in the church parking lot at about 9:00 PM, is approximately fourteen feet.

COLEMAN was requested to re-enact his actions upon hearing the blast of what he first thought was a backfire on the night of April 10, 1963. It was personally observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that it required COLEMAN two seconds to go from where he was standing in a door to the stockade fence, a distance of about fourteen feet.

It was personally observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, based on information furnished by WALTER KIRK COLEMAN on June 3, 1964, that from the point where COLEMAN states he observed a man walking towards a 1958 Ford to the alley entrance of the church parking lot is approximately forty-five feet. It was also personally observed that the distance from where COLEMAN states he first saw a man walking toward a 1958 Chevrolet is twenty-one feet to the alley entrance of the church parking lot.

It was personally observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that it is approximately thirty-five feet from the alley entrance of the WALKER property (4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard) to the alley entrance of the church parking lot.

On June 4, 1964, WALTER KIRK COLEMAN, 4930 Herndon Street, Dallas, Texas, was reinterviewed in connection with the information he had previously furnished Federal Bureau of Investigation Agents on June 3, 1964, in connection with inciden he observed on the night of April 10, 1963, in the parking lot of the Mormon Church. This church parking lot is located adjacent to the property of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army (Retired), 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas.

COLEMAN stated he was able to observe what he had seen because the lights in the church and the floodlight, which is attached to the church building and lights up the church parking lot, were on at the time.

Concerning the foreign-made car he had observed parked next to the 1958 black and white Chevrolet, COLEMAN stated he believes this was a Renault, but it could have been some other make of automobile, as he does not know what a Renault looks like.

He stated at the time there were about six other cars observed by him in the lot other than the 1950 white or light beige Ford and the 1958 Chevrolet. He added, however, there could have been some other cars parked to his left as he looked into the lot as he did not look in that direction.

He stated the reason he ran to the fence and looked into the church parking lot was that he became curious after hearing what he thought was a backfire of an automobile as it is unusual to hear such noises in this neighborhood. He returned to the house because he did not think that a shot had been fired, and there was no other reason for him to continue observing the man near the 1958 black and white Chevrolet.

On June 3, 1964, H. M. HART, Detective, Criminal Intelligence Section, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, advised that during the past month he has compiled a list of automobiles observed in and around the residence of General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas. These cars had been observed by HART on various occasions during this period of time.

Upon checking this list, HART stated he had no information that a 1950 white or beige Ford or a 1958 black over white Chevrolet, two-door sedan, had ever been observed by him. HART explained that some of the cars he had observed had been parked in the church parking lot, which adjoins General WALKER's property to the north.

HART reviewed information compiled by the Intelligence Section since December, 1962, concerning activities in and around the residence of General WALKER and of General WALKER and his associates. This review failed to show any knowledge by the Intelligence Section of a 1950 white or beige Ford or a 1958 black over white Chevrolet.

On June 4, 1964, Mr. E. OWEN HANSEN, 3328 Leahy Drive, Dallas, Texas, advised that he is presently a Bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Ward Number One, located at 4027 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas. He advised that as of April, 1963, he had the title of a Counselor for the above church.

HANSEN related that, in regard to church services scheduled, he does not hold services on the first Sunday evening of each month and, after reviewing a calendar, advised that they did not have services at the church on April 7, 1963. He advised they have Wednesday evening services at the church on every Wednesday except during the month of August. HANSEN stated the Wednesday evening services were scheduled from 7:30 PM until 9:00 PM, and that usually everyone had departed the church by 9:15 PM to 9:20 PM.

HANSEN stated he does not recall whether he was in attendance at the church on the evening of April 10, 1963, and has not heard anyone make comments concerning his attendance the night that someone had taken a shot at Major General EDWIN A. WALKER. HANSEN also advised he does not recall seeing a 1950 beige or white Ford or a 1958 black over white Chevrolet parked in the parking lot at the church, nor does he know of any of the church members who own automobiles described as above.

HANSEN related that during the day there are usually cars parked along the fence next to the WALKER residence which do not belong to church members. He advised they are probably friends of WALKER or other people residing in the area of the church.

HANSEN related that insofar as attendance at the church on the night of April 10, 1963, Mr. CARL GREENWOOD, of 1017 Belaire Street, Richardson, Texas (telephone number AD 2-1641), would have this information as he is presently in charge of the records of the church. He also advised that Mr. ED [illegible], who is a detective with the Dallas, Texas, Police Department, is a part-time custodian at the church and may have been on duty the night of April 10, 1963.

HANSEN stated that the dress on Wednesday evening for the young people is usually classified as being casual, in that they wear sport shirts and slacks, and that the adults usually wear shirts, ties and suits to the services.

HANSEN estimated that the parking lot is usually one-half to two-thirds full for the Wednesday night services.

On June 4, 1964, SCOTT HANSEN, age 15, 5110 Bahy Drive, Dallas, Texas, advised that he is the son of N. [illegible] HANSEN, and that he is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, located at 4027 Bobbie Creek Boulevard, Dallas.

He advised that he was present at the church on the night of April 10, 1963, attending a Scout meeting and, to the best of his recollection, he arrived at approximately 7:15 PM and left at approximately 9:30 PM. He advised that he was inside the church from the time of his arrival until the time of his departure.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

HANSEN stated that he recalls observing a [illegible] over white Chevrolet parked along the fence next to Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's property on the night of April 10, 1963. He stated that he recalls seeing the same automobile parked along this fence on a previous Wednesday, but has not seen the car in the church lot since April 10, 1963. He stated that he was talking to another Boy Scout by the name of DAVID [illegible] concerning the appearance of the automobile and remarked he thought that it was a "pretty good-looking car."

HANSEN also advised that he does not recall observing a 1949 or 1950 white or beigh-colored Ford in the parking lot.

HANSEN stated that a church member by the name of [illegible] ST. JOHN, who is presently a student at Southern Methodist University, drives a Karmann Ghia and usually parks in the parking lot near the fence dividing the church property from that of Major General WALKER. He stated ST. JOHN might possibly recall seeing the 1958 Chevrolet parked in that area.

HANSEN stated that Scoutmaster HAROLD RAY GIBBS would have a knowledge of the Boy Scouts present for the meeting on the night of April 10, 1963.

On June 4, 1964, EDWIN D. HEATH, SR., 1102 Hawthorn Circle, Richardson, Texas, advised he is a Detective with the Dallas, Texas, Police Department, and works as a part-time custodian at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, located at 4027 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas. HEATH stated he is also a member of this church.

HEATH related he spends approximately fifteen hours each week at the church in taking care of the property; however, on the night of April 10, 1963, he was working the evening shift at the Police Department and was not present for the Wednesday evening services.

He advised that, knowing the Police Department was interested in the shooting, he had made inquiry of various members for any possible information they may have concerning the shooting; however, his efforts met with negative results.

HEATH stated he has never observed a 1958 black over white Chevrolet parked in the parking lot, nor does he know of any member who has owned a 1958 black over white Chevrolet. He also advised he has never observed, nor does he know of any member who has owned, a 1949 or 1950 white or beige Ford automobile.

HEATH stated that church member JOE ST. JOHN has a foreign-made car and usually parks near the fence located next to WALKER's property.

HEATH related that the parking lot is poorly lighted, due to the fact the neighbors had previously complained to the church concerning the bright lights. HEATH related he believed that enough light would be present on the lot for an individual to obtain a description of a person standing in the lot, as well as to identify various automobiles. He stated he believes the colors of the automobiles could be distinguished by the light in the church parking lot.

On June 4, 1964, photographs were taken of the parking lot area of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 4027 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas. It is noted this parking lot is located adjacent to and just north of the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER (Retired), at 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas.

Photograph designated as DL-53 (1) is a view of the parking lot looking south toward the entrance to the alley. The alley, just beyond the entrance to the parking lot, runs directly behind the residence of Major General WALKER.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

DL-53 (2) and (3) are views of the church parking lot looking east toward the parking lot entrance at Turtle Creek Boulevard. The wooden fence on the right-hand side of the photograph divides the property of the church from that of the residence of General WALKER.

These photographs were taken from the same location that WALTER KIRK COLEMAN, of 4338 Newton Street, stated he was standing immediately after he heard the loud noise the night of April 10, 1963.

In connection with the copies of Police Department reports furnished by Officer B. G. [illegible], Dallas, Texas, Police Department, on May 28, 1964, concerning investigation by that agency of the shooting at the residence of Major General WALKER on April 10, 1963, the following discrepancies as determined through this investigation should be noted:

1. The report of Officers D. P. [illegible] and B. G. NORVELL states, "Officer J. C. [illegible] found the bullet..." and it was given to Det. G. B. BROWN, Crime Laboratory Division." On May 28, 1964, Detective Bill B. [illegible] advised he found the bullet and turned it over to Officer BROWN. On this same date, Officer BROWN stated he obtained the bullet from Officer NORVELL. Officer [illegible], on June 2, 1964, and former Officer NORVELL, on June 3, 1964, both stated NORVELL found the bullet and he, in turn, gave it to McELROY, who said he would take it on and give it to the Dallas Police Department Crime Laboratory.

2. The report of Officers TUCKER and NORVELL states, "A witness by ear, Kirk Coleman, w/m/14, 4338 Newton, LA 8 7059, states he was sitting in the back room of his home, and heard what sounded like a shot from a shotgun, and he ran outside and pulled himself up over the stockade fence in the rear yard, and as he looked onto the church parking lot he saw some unk/w/m/ speed down the driveway towards Turtle Crkke, in either 49 or 50 Ford, light green. He then noticed what appeared to be a w/m with the door open on a 58 Chev., blk with white stripe down side, states this person had the seat pushed up and was leaning over as if he was putting something into the floorboards. This person got inside the Chev. and sped away from the lot. (There was a meetting of some sort in the church, and the lot was full of car, but at the time the time the witness looked out there these were the only people on the lot)." On June 3, 1964, WALTER KIRK COLEMAN, 4338 Newton Street, Dallas, Texas, furnished Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation the following noted discrepancies in connection with the above report:

(a) COLEMAN was standing at an outside door at the time of the shot, not "sitting in the back room."

(b) The shot sounded to COLEMAN like a car backfire, not a "shot from a shotgun."

(c) COLEMAN observed one unknown white male hurrying towards a 1950 white or beige Ford (not light green) and, after getting in behind the steering wheel, this person drove away at a normal rate of speed. He did not "speed down the driveway."

(d) COLEMAN observed a second unknown white male at a point about twenty-five feet inside the church property, from the alley entrance or exit. When COLEMAN next observed this individual, this person was at the driver's side of a 1958 black over white Chevrolet, two-door sedan, not a "58 Chev. blk with white stripe down side."

(e) COLEMAN stated this second individual was observed by him leaning front of the car into the back seat area of the Chevrolet and COLEMAN could not tell what this man was doing, nor did COLEMAN ask what this man was doing because, at this point, COLEMAN returned to his residence.

(f) The TUCKER - NORVELL report [illegible] COLEMAN advised the lot was "full of cars" COLEMAN advised the Special Agents there were about six other cars in addition to the Ford and Chevrolet in the lot at the time.

(g) The TUCKER - NORVELL report reflects interview of "Robert Surney" (correct spelling SURREY) concerning two men in dark 1963 Ford seen by SURREY on Monday, April 8, 1963, in the alley behind his residence. The report of Detectives [illegible] and VAN CLEAVE, dated April 10, 1963, states SURREY saw the 1963 Ford and two men, no other description, on April 6, 1963 (Saturday), parked at the rear of TUCKER's residence. The report of Officers DILLMAN and REIL, dated April 11, 1963, contains an interview of SURREY concerning the incident about Sunday, 1963 Ford and two men, but does not [illegible] SURREY saw this car or the men [illegible] gives the impression it occurred on April 10, 1963.

(h) On June 3, 1964, ROBERT A. SURREY advised Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation he observed the 1963 dark brown or maroon Ford parked on Avondale Street near the alley entrance, which alley runs behind WALKER's residence. SURREY stated this incident took place on April 8, 1963 (Monday), and he described the individuals as one being a white male in his 30's, 5'10" to 6' tall, 160 pounds, and the second as a white male, in his 30's, 5'10" to 6' tall, weighing 190 pounds. He stated both men were well-dressed in suits, shirts and ties.

On June 1, 1964, Mrs. ROSS BOUVE, 4001 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas, Business Manager for the Jackson Clinic, 3929 Fairmount, advised she has resided at the residence of Doctor RUTH JACKSON, 4001 Turtle Creek Boulevard, for about six years. She stated the wing in which she resides in the house overlooks the entire property belonging to Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard. Mrs. BOUVE advised that Doctor RUTH JACKSON resides in the wing on the opposite side of the house and on the night of April 10, 1963, Doctor JACKSON was not in a position to hear or see anything which occurred at the WALKER residence. She further advised that Doctor JACKSON does not own a dog.

Mrs. BOUVE stated she owns a "border collie" named "Toby" which she usually keeps in the fenced back yard, which area is directly next to the back yard area of the WALKER residence. She advised that "Toby" will bark loud at anyone or anything in the alley area at the rear of their residence, or at anyone or anything on the WALKER property. On April 10, 1963, "Toby" was placed in the laundry room by Mrs. BOUVE sometime after dark, as "Toby" had been barking loud and long earlier in the evening at the numerous people coming and going from the WALKER residence, and at the numerous people coming and going to church services at the Mormon Church located on the other side of the WALKER residence. Mrs. BOUVE stated her other dog "Two-Bit," is a Yorkshire terrier who usually remains inside the house and who does not bark while in the house.

Prior to the shooting incident on April 10, 1963, at the WALKER residence, Mrs. BOUVE stated she heard "Toby" growling and barking in the laundry room, but she took no notice of this because this was his usual behavior and especially on Wednesday nights when church services are held at the Mormon Church. She, therefore, did not make any check to ascertain why he was growling barking. Upon hearing what she thought was a backfire, Mrs. BOUVE stated she thought nothing of it. She explained there is heavy traffic on Turtle Creek Boulevard and numerous cars also drive through the alley at the rear of the house to the Mormon Church. Her first impression was that the noise was a fire and she, therefore, did nothing about it. She stated she did not look out her window at the WALKER residence until such time when she heard police cars arrive.

She advised that, immediately after hearing what she thought was a backfire, she could not recall having heard any car run from the area or any car driving away. She further stated that on the Sunday previous to the shooting, April 7, 1963, she noticed nothing unusual in or about the WALKER residence, other than there had been a large crowd at the Mormon Church on Sunday night.

She advised her dog "Toby" became very sick on April 11 and 12, 1963. She stated she was of the opinion someone had given him something to quiet him or drug him or poison him, because he did become sick and vomited extensively on April 11 and 12, 1963. She did not take him to a veterinarian. She stated she based her belief that the dog had been given drugs because of the shooting incident and the dog's habit of barking at anyone or anything in the alley area. She stated she had no other basis for this belief or any proof whatsoever, and this is only opinion on her part.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Personal observation of the MKT railroad tracks at the point where Photograph No. 1 of Item No. 70 was taken by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation revealed the following identical reference points as depicted in the photograph:

The tenth railroad tie from the bottom of the picture is extended approximately four or five inches out of line with the rest of the ties. It was noted the extended railroad tie is three ties above a connection on the right-hand railroad track.

The metal utility tower, as depicted in the center of the photograph, was observed in the same location in reference to the extended railroad tie.

The railroad signal device located to the right of the tracks and at a point where it appears to disappear at the top of photograph was observed in the same location.

To the right of the railroad signal device a telephone post can be observed leaning at a 45-degree angle and used as a brace against another telephone post. In the photograph, it is the fourth telephone post from the right-hand edge of the picture.

On the left side of the photograph, a portion of a house can be observed. From personal observation of the area, it is believed this house is the rear of the duplex at 3[illegible] Mockingbird Street.

On June 3, 1964, aerial photographs of the area in and around the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army (Retired), 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, were taken by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation from a Bell Aircraft Company helicopter piloted by WAYNE SPILKER.

These photographs bearing the below-listed identification designations are described as follows:

stated this person could board the second bus at any one of a number of transfer points in the downtown area.

It should be noted that the scene depicted in Photograph No. 5, Item No. 6, has been identified through previous investigation on May 18, 1964, as reported on pages 258 and 259, of the report of Special Agent ROBERT P. GEMBERLING, dated May 28, 1964, at Dallas. In this photograph, there is depicted a railroad curving to the left with a metal utility pole on the left and a building in the left center of the photograph.

It should be noted that the scene depicted in Photograph No. 2, Item No. 7, has been identified through previous investigation on May 20, 1964, as reported on pages 260, 261 and 262, of the report of Special Agent ROBERT P. GEMBERLING, dated May 28, 1964, at Dallas. In this photograph, there is depicted an alley in the center, a two-story house on the right, a multi-story building under construction in the background, and some trees and a wooden fence on the left.

It should be noted that information concerning buses available to anyone in the downtown area of Dallas who desires transportation to the Oak Cliff area of Dallas was previously obtained on March 10, 1964, and reported on pages 176 - 183, of the report of Special Agent ROBERT P. GEMBERLING, dated April 15, 1964, at Dallas. On any bus traveling to the downtown area of Dallas from the general area near the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army (Retired), 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, a passenger, after paying his fare, can obtain a transfer coupon, which entitles him to board any bus destined for the Oak Cliff area at any of the many transfer points in the downtown area. This would be necessary only if the original bus was not destined for a desired destination point in the Oak Cliff area.

As of April 10, 1963, LEE HARVEY OSWALD and his wife, MARINA, were residing at 214 West Neely Street, which is located in the Oak Cliff area and which is near the bus route of the bus designated as "Bishop," Bus Run No. 4. (See interview of V. C. SNIDER, Dallas Transit Company, June 3, 1964.)

On June 4, 1964, MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at her residence, 629 Belt Line Road, Richardson, Texas.

She was questioned further concerning conversations she had had with LEE HARVEY OSWALD about his visits to the house of General EDWIN A. WALKER, Dallas, Texas.

She said she had asked OSWALD how he had arrived at the WALKER home on the night he had attempted to kill WALKER by shooting him. OSWALD replied that he had walked up to the house. MARINA said she later learned OSWALD had taken a bus to the vicinity of the WALKER home and she presumes that he had gotten off the bus a distance from the WALKER home and had traversed the remaining distance on foot. She said OSWALD had said also he had returned to their home by bus after the attempted assassination. MARINA advised she was not aware of what buses OSWALD took to arrive in the vicinity of the WALKER home or to leave the vicinity of the WALKER home en route back to their home.

MARINA said she remembers OSWALD telling her he had run away from the WALKER house after the attempted assassination and that he could run very fast. She said she does not recall that OSWALD told her how far he ran or what bus he boarded or where he boarded the bus.

She does remember OSWALD told her he came home on the bus after the attempted assassination.

MARINA said she does not recall OSWALD telling her what he did with his rifle after he made the first trip to the WALKER home for the purpose of assassinating General WALKER. She said he did not bring the rifle into their home upon his return to her knowledge. She said she did not ask him what he had done with the rifle on this first visit of OSWALD to the WALKER home for the purpose of assassinating WALKER. She does recall she had asked OSWALD when he returned home and confessed he had attempted to assassinate General WALKER that night what he had done with the rifle because she was afraid the rifle might be found and traced to OSWALD. In answer to her query, OSWALD told her he had buried the rifle in the ground or in the bushes far away from the actual spot of the shooting. She recalls OSWALD mentioned a field and also a railroad track and she has the impression OSWALD might have meant he hid the rifle in a field near a railroad track.

MARINA said she recalled OSWALD showing her photographs he had taken of the General WALKER home. She also recalled OSWALD had shown her some photographs he had taken which depicted a railroad track. It is her recollection that these railroad tracks were near the WALKER house. She said she recalls seeing an automobile in one of the photographs of the WALKER house, but did not recall what type of an automobile it was or whether or not it had a license plate on it.

MARINA was asked if OSWALD had mentioned being associat with any other person in connection with the attempted assassination of WALKER. She said OSWALD had never mentioned another pers in this connection. She said she was sure in her own mind he had planned and attempted the assassination completely alone. She said it was not like OSWALD to be associated with anybody else in such an endeavor.

MARINA said she did not know that OSWALD had known or associated with anyone in April, 1963, who owned a 1963 Ford automobile or a 1949 or a 1950 Ford automobile or a 1958 Chevrole She said he had never mentioned a large collie dog or any other type dog which had been near the WALKER residence. She does recall OSWALD mentioned on one occasion, when they were discussing the WALKER incident, a gathering at a church near the WALKER house. He told her he had postponed his assassination attempt until the evening of the gathering at this church.

We note that one of the photographs purporting to depict the house of Major General Edwin A. Walker, which photograph has been marked as Commission Exhibit 5 and as FBI inventory number 369, has been mutilated in such a way as to obliterate the license number of an automobile which appears in the photograph. Would you please advise concerning the circumstances under which and from whom your Bureau obtained the above photograph and as to whether or not the picture was so mutilated at the time it came into your possession or into the possession of any other person or organization from whom you may have obtained it.

We would also appreciate having the automobile in question identified. Since the photograph purports to depict General Walker's house, the General could probably identify the automobile, as well as the house itself.

EDWIN A. WALKER

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Star Telegram", a daily Fort Worth newspaper, dated June 9, 1964, which reflected that the 17th District Court in Fort Worth was hearing the libel suit by Edwin A. Walker against the Associated Press.

Richard H. Sweat of Corinth, Mississippi, a pre-law student at the University of Mississippi, was the first witness. When Clyde Watts, attorney for Edwin A. Walker, asked Sweat if Walker led a charge of students at the University of Mississippi during the rioting at that school in the fall of 1962, attorney for the Associated Press, J. A. Gooch, objected and Judge Charles Murray sustained the objection. Judge Murray said the question called for a conclusion, which is a matter for the jury to decide. Sweat did testify that his first impression of Walker was that of a leader, but that he found out that Walker would not lead a charge.

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Star Telegram", dated June 10, 1964, which reflected that a Mississippi Deputy Sheriff, Talmadge Witt, furnished a statement which was introduced into evidence, which reflected that Walker, after addressing the students at the University of Mississippi on September 30, 1962, started moving toward the United States Marshals and a crowd of at least one thousand followed him. Deputy Sheriff Witt testified that Walker had approached him and asked to be deputized, stating that he wanted to be safe to observe. Witt also testified Walker stated to the students, "Protest all you want, they might run out of tear gas. Help is on the way, thousands are coming."

EDWIN A. WALKER

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Star Telegram", a daily Fort Worth newspaper, dated June 15, 1964, which stated that Associated Press newsman VAN SAVELL furnished a deposition to the Seventeenth District Court in Ft. Worth, Texas, in which SAVELL stuck by his contention that former Major General EDWIN A WALKER led a charge against United States Marshals during rioti at the University of Mississippi in 1962. In the deposition, SAVELL stated he heard someone say, "Here is General WALKER. Here comes General WALKER." Someone asked WALKER, SAVELL said, "lead us to the steps." SAVELL said WALKER made no comment and appeared to be in deep thought for forty or fifty seconds. Finally, SAVELL said, WALKER nodded his head, two men took WALK by the arms and the three started walking in the direction of th United States Marshals. A group followed the three. After walking a distance, SAVELL said the group threw rocks and other articles in the direction of the marshals and then turned and r As the group returned to near a Confederate monument on the campus, SAVELL said he heard WALKER say, "Well, we'll get together and charge again." When WALKER made that statement, SAVELL said he ran to telephone his office.

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Star Telegram" dated June 16, 1964, which stated that United Press Internatio reporter ALFRED KUETTNER, furnished a deposition which was rea on June 16, 1964. KUETTNER said in his deposition he heard WA tell students: "You have every right to demonstrate, but this not the way to Cuba". KUETTNER said the crowd jeered when WALK told them to avoid violence. KUETTNER testified he could not everything that went on during the rioting and that at one poi he was away from the riot scene about twenty minutes making a telephone call. He said it was possible that WALKER led a cha during his absence. KUETTNER described WALKER as staring and and said WALKER was walking fast when the reporter first encou him. KUETTNER said that WALKER was present on the campus as " than an interested observer." KUETTNER quoted WALKER as sayir a press conference in Atlanta, Georgia, when asked about the r

"This was not a riot. This was just a bunch of college boys blowing off steam, having a good time."

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Press", a daily Fort Worth newspaper, dated June 17, 1964, which revealed that United Press International Wire Service writer, CRAIG ELLIS, told the Seventeenth District Court in Fort Worth, Texas, that General WALKER addressed a crowd, stepped from the Confederate monument and then advanced toward the University Administration Building and the mushrooming crowd followed.

WILLIAM BRITTINGHAM, a University of Mississippi student, participated in the riot on September 30, 1962, testifie by written sworn statement that similar situation developed after General WALKER's speech. Radio executive JOHN KING, JR., testified he heard General WALKER say: "You're doing all right - riot, riot. You are getting news all over the country. Now, you've got casualties."

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Star Telegram" dated June 18, 1964, stated that TOM GREGORY, a reporter for the Meridian (Mississippi) Star, testified he was at the Univers of Mississippi on September 30, 1962. He said WALKER encounter several persons, and students yelled that the former general was "going up to the marshals." At that point, the general beg striding at a rather fast pace toward the Administration Buildi GREGORY said he saw a crowd, estimated at 200 persons follow WALKER. The group went within fifteen or twenty yards of a driveway surrounding the Administration Building. "They continued going this way until tear gas came and I lost sight of WALKER."

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Star Telegram" on June 18, 1964, which stated that the Seventeenth District Court Jury, Ft. Worth, Texas, received the following charge from Judge CHARLES MURRAY: (One) Do you find from the preponde of evidence that the statement "WALKER led a charge against Fed Marshals on the Ole Miss campus" was substantially true? Was the statement fair comment? (Two) Do you find from the preponderance of evidence that the statement "WALKER assumed command of the crowd" was substantially true? Was it fair comm

An article appeared in the "Fort Worth Star Telegram", dated June 19, 1964, which stated that the Seventeenth District Court Jury said the Associated Press must pay former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER $500,000 for actual damages and $300,000 for exemplary or punitive damages.

REC'D-READING ROOM

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Enclosed for your information are two copies of a communication dated May 22, 1964, at Washington, D. C.; a copy of the "Deutsche Nationalzeitung und Soldatenzeitung," a Munich, Germany, newspaper of November 29, 1963; and two copies of translations of two pertinent articles appearing on pages one and four of the above enclosed newspaper.

Your attention is called to the fact that one of the articles, entitled "The Strange Case of Oswald," reportedly written by an editor of the newspaper, alleges that Lee Harvey Oswald had made an attempt on the life of General Edwin A. Walker. As you will note, the date of the appearance of this article was prior to December 3, 1963, the date on which Marina Oswald first advised Agents of this Bureau that Oswald had tried to kill General Walker. Page two of the enclosed communication dated May 22, 1964, at Washington, D. C., sets forth information indicating that the source of the allegation in the above article was General Walker in a transatlantic telephone interview with a West German journalist, Helmut Herbert Muench, following the assassination of President Kennedy.

In addition, the article also alleges that Oswald had been hired for the attempt on General Walker's life and that Attorney General Robert Kennedy had stopped the investigation. According to Muench, these latter allegations were inserted by the editor on his own initiative.

to your letter of May 5, 1964, which requested investigation regarding an allegation in the May 17, 1964, issue of the "National Enquirer" that a high official of the Department of Justice had requested the Dallas, Texas, Police Department not to arrest Oswald for the attempted shooting of General Walker. It would appear that my letters of May 8 and 14, 1964, that indicated the "National Enquirer" allegation could not be substantiated, would be pertinent to the allegation in the above article in the November 29, 1963, issue of "Deutsche Nationalzeitung und Soldatenzeitung."

The second article being called to your attention in the above newspaper reportedly records two transatlantic telephone interviews between General Walker and Munich.

This completes our inquiry in the matter.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

The "Deutsche Nationalzeitung und Soldatenzeitung" (German National Newspaper and Soldiers' Newspaper) is a weekly newspaper published in the German language at Munich, Germany. The November 29, 1963, edition of this newspaper carried on its front page an article entitled, "Der merkwuerdige Fall Oswald" (The Strange Case of Oswald). No author for this article was shown. The article may be translated as follows:

"The murderer of Kennedy made an attempt on [illegible] General Walker's life early in the summer when General Walker was sitting in his study. The bullet missed Walker's head only by inches. Oswald was seized. The following investigation, as it was reported, was stopped through the influence of the U. S. Attorney General, Robert Kennedy. If Oswald had been investigated, he eventually would have been imprisoned for many years, and so he could not have been in a position to commit the murder of Robert Kennedy's brother, John F. Kennedy."

Also on the front page of the November 29, 1963 issue there appeared as the main article what purported to be a transcript of two telephonic interviews 24 hours apart with General Edwin A. Walker. The text of this article was in question-and-answer form, and the newspaper reporter was referred to therein as Hasso Thorsten of the "Deutsche National Zeitung." The report of the interviews, which appeared on page four of the issue, contained no [illegible] on Walker's life.

NZ: Hello , General Walker. It looks as though you are the man most in demand in America now.

Walker: Who ... Who is speaking? Are you calling from Louisiana or Dallas?

NZ: This is Hasso Thorsten of the Deutsche National Zeitung *, I am calling from Germany.

Walker: This is impossible ..... How did you find out? I left Dallas ten hours ago. Nobody knows .....

NZ: General, you are staying at the Hotel Captain Shreve in Shreveport, Louisiana. Your room number is 701.

Walker: (laughing) Thorsten, tonight, at 10 o'clock, I am appearing on television, on "Meet the Press."

NZ: I give you my word that there are no television cameras hidden in your room, General. You can talk to your friends in your pajamas.

Walker: You are the first, Thorsten, I mean it .... but I must make sure. Give me your telephone number.

NZ: (furnishes the direct telephone connections with Munich and Hamburg)

Walker: (laughing) Okay! Let's have it.

NZ: The news of Kennedy's death had hardly jolted the world, when the usual choir started to yell that the slayer is an ultrarightist.

Walker: Nonsense. The murderer is a [illegible] well-known communist, one of the countless [illegible] who has infiltrated our country.

NZ: Unexpected? A bolt from the blue sky?

*Translator's Note: It is noted that the newspaper is interchangeably referred to as "National Zeitung" and "Deutsche National Zeitung". It is described as a "soldiers' newspaper" and the contents of this issue(the interview with General Walker, an appeal to help the German-speaking population of South Tyrol, an article about Dr. Goebbels, a violent anticommunism in practically all items, etc.) would appear to indicate a publication of the extreme right. Curiously enough, the masthead of the newspaper is shown only partially, as though two-thirds has been cut off. Possibly it is a tacit reference to the present partition of Germany.

Walker: No. Kennedy's death did not come as a surprise, as is being claimed. Enough fuel had accumulated. It was only through the constant spreading of false reports that it had remained hidden.

NZ: The assassin is said to belong to a pro-Castro organization, isn't that so?

Walker: Right! A trained Marxist.

NZ: I am not unsympathetic, General, but this story of a U. S. President coming out of the left and assassinated by the left appears, to a middle-of-the-road man like myself, to have a quite macabre twist.

Walker: Kennedy's death [illegible].

NZ: Are you going to say this on "Meet the Press" tonight, General? Let us have, first of all, if you please, the official position you will take.

Walker: I repeat, you are the first to hear it. The President's tragic death urgently and forcibly brings home the point that the dangerous circumstances by which we are surrounded cannot be underestimated. Mr. Kennedy's death is not the great surprise which is now being depicted. The sympathy I experience for the Kennedy family is not less than the sympathy I experience for the million families who have given one or more victims to the cause of the struggle of freedom against communism. I grieve over the losses they have suffered. The sacrifice of this member of the Kennedy family is but one of the many sacrifices which are being made by everybody for freedom. During these very sad hours, our public must be the absolute need for strong unity, avoiding the divisive effect of reciprocal accusations which can only bring about more differences. We must stand together more than ever in our national devotion to freedom and human dignity.

NZ: Dear General Walker, I thank you for these words. I thank you personally, regardless of their newsworthiness.

Walker: It's all right. [illegible] the Voice of America?

NZ: The Voice of America! That is quite a resounding name. Yes, of course, Why?

Walker: I would like to find out for sure whether it has been spreading the false rumor of an attack on Europe by the extreme right.

NZ: I will call you as soon as I learn something positive.

Walker: I shall be staying here until midnight. Tomorrow you can reach me at the Lakeside number in Dallas.

NZ: Okay. And now let's have some details General. Will there be a change in American policies, domestic policies or foreign policies?

Walker: The changes will be there and they will be anything but trifling even though they won't be readily recognizable. The strength of the nation cannot be underestimated.

NZ: This has nothing to do, of course, with the fact that American "pinks" and their "[illegible]" throughout the world claim that no changes will be [illegible].

Walker: The strength of the nation cannot be underestimated under any circumstances. It is live and real and will break through all unnatural barriers and attempts to confine it.

NZ: What does the United Nations say?

Walker: Since the signing of the United Nations Charter there have been 23 wars. The machinations of the warring groups which operate there in furtherance of the various "isms" from which they derive support and comfort have finally found fruition and a compelling "expose" in yesterday's tragedy.

NZ: What's to come from it?

Walker: As far as the new President is concerned, even Kennedy would expect from him that his tragic [illegible] should not be in vain....

NZ: Do you mean he should learn from past mistakes and spin the wheel in the opposite direction?

Walker: Yes. We must pursue a stronger national policy and demand the same from the rest of the world. This is the first commandment for the [illegible].

NZ: A clear national policy.

Walker: That will lead to honest partnerships and dependable security arrangements.

NZ: [illegible] political policy that you in the forefront?

Walker: I have always been and continue to be in the forefront.

NZ: What is your main goal?

Walker: We must evaluate what is happening now and come up, as soon as possible, with a clear domestic political line.

NZ: What about Senator Barry Goldwater?

Walker: He is the recognized leader of the conservative movement. He has not yet allowed his supporters to present him as a candidate and I have not yet made any statements about him myself. We expect him to show himself steadfast to the principles of freedom.

NZ: The principles of freedom in the sense or "nonsense" of the United Nations?

Walker: As the true nature of the organization becomes better known, the tide of opposition against the United Nations will grow. It is only a deceptive propaganda which gives this instrument of conquest, created with a specific goal in mind and burdened by an overwhelming communist majority, an appearance of friendliness to mankind. All we need is an inner recovery, a sobering up and a realization of our own strength as well as a good shove to get the United Nations back on the side of the free world.

NZ: This is a courageous evaluation, General, and I wish it would be made in Germany.

Walker: (laughing) I have many friends in Germany, as you know. Wait a second ... hold the line... I just received word that ...

NZ: I am holding the line.

Walker: We have been talking about this Marxist assassin... this Oswald... Lee Oswald... I have just learned that John Abt from New York has offered to defend him in court.

NZ: John ... ? Would you mind to spell it?

Walker: Attorney John A-B-T. From New York.

NZ: This cannot be true. I had to make sure. Is it John Abt?

Walker: Right? Mr. Abt is an American Jew who defends all big communist cases.

NZ: I will give our readers a short biography of Mr. Abt, General.

Walker: This is extremely interesting.

NZ: How come you have one of them in your own "Promised Land."

Walker: (laughing) We'll keep in close touch, Thorsten. Give my regards to my German friends, expecially Dr. Frey. One of the results will be that Germany and America will be able to become true partners. The relations between our two countries will develop on the basis of a real friendship among the people instead of being the result of a "propaganda" friendship.

NZ: Thank you, General Walker.

Walker: Many mistakes have been made in the past. Let us be careful so that we avoid them in the present for the sake of the future. A strong, united and great Germany will be a dependable factor of security for peace, liberty in Europe and throughout the world.

Twenty-four hours after this conversation, General Walker called NZ from Dallas and imparted the following:

Walker: I have received your second call with the information you promised. Many thanks. It is to be expected that a new wave of artfully mystifying and carefully planned lies will sweep the world, especially after the assassination of Marxist Lee Oswald while he was on his way to a hearing under heavy police escort.

NX: According to the reports which we have received thus far, the slayer is still alive. He was shot in the belly.

Walker: He is dead.

NX: [illegible] time. Isn't that so?

Walker: Mark my words. The second slayer is one Rubinstein who, among other things, is a gangster from Chicago and has a record of several convictions on charges of disturbing the peace and illegal possession of arms. He runs a "striptease" bar and a "speakeasy."

NX: What was his motive?

Walker: It is fantastic! He claims he wanted to avenge Kennedy's death.

NX: An "honor" assassin! The right man at the right place!

Walker: Rubinstein got him as they were coming out of the station.

NX: Like clockwork!

Walker: There are too many extraneous and uncontrollable factors in America.

TRANSLATION FROM GERMAN

Oswald, Kennedy's slayer, is said to have carried out, in the early summer of last year, an attempt on U. S. General Walker's life by taking a shot at him while the General was in his own work studio. The shot passed over General Walker's head by a very scant margin. Oswald was arrested, but his prosecution, according to certain statements, was stopped at the request of U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy. If that had not been the case, Oswald would be in jail serving a long sentence and above all he would not have had a chance to assassinate Robert's brother, John F. Kennedy.

An article appeared in the Ft. Worth Star Telegram dated June 20, 1964, which stated that Associated Press General Manager Wes Gallagher, in a statement made after the verdict in which former General Edwin A. Walker was awarded $500,000 for actual damages, and $300,000 exemplary or punitive damages, stated "the Associated Press will appeal the verdict of the jury in this case. In light of the evidence presented by both sides, the Associated Press is confident that the verdict will not be upheld on appeal."

An article appeared in the Ft. Worth Press dated June 21, 1964, which quoted six of the twelve jurors who awarded the $800,000 in damages to former General Walker. This article stated that it seemed significant to the jurors that the Associated Press reporter, VAN SAVELL, who wrote the article concerning former General Walker did not take the witness stand and that only his deposition was read. A verdict was reached openly by a show of hands and without a secret ballot and at no time were politics, the Kennedy Administration, General Walker's membership in the John Birch Society, or civil rights brought into the case. At least one member of the jury wanted to award Walker $1,000,000 in actual damages and the jury agreed on $500,000 for actual damages.

[redacted] Attorney J. R. Cocke told Judge Charles Murray of the 17th District Court, Fort Worth, Texas, "It is respectfully submitted that the jury's verdict should be disregarded in its entirety and judgment entered for the defendant because of the undisputed activities of plaintiff, which were certainly of a nature as to cause a viewer to describe them as did the writer for the AP."

Attorney Clyde Watts, speaking for Walker, said that Judge Murray should sustain the jury's verdict because there has been "a rise of arrogance and tyranny" on the part of news media." Watts said the news media have a right to comment editorially, and "they can comment but they cannot lie." Watts said there are two tragedies relative to Walker's situation: one that Walker was forced to spend six days and nights in a "prison hut house", and the other that news media are inclined to teach young men to lie. Watts said the AP account of Walker's activities on the University of Mississippi campus was handled in a slipshod and careless manner.

An article appeared in the "Dallas Times Herald", dated July 30, 1964, which stated that District Court Judge Charles Murray of Fort Worth, Texas, 17th District Court, reduced former General Walker's jury award in his libel suit against AP from $800,000.00 to $500,000.00. The judge also ruled that AP was not actuated by malice in writing about Walker's activities on the University of Mississippi campus. The jury, however, said that AP was guilty of malice. Since Judge Murray said no malice existed, he threw out the jury award of $[redacted],000.00 for exemplary damages, sustaining the $500,000.00 award for actual damages.

[redacted] observed in the Fort Worth Star Telegram dated September 1, 1964, which reported that on August 31, attorneys for the Associated Press made an amended motion for new trial in the 17th District Court, Fort Worth, Texas, in the libel suit of Edwin A. Walker versus The Associated Press. This article stated that a jury had earlier awarded Edwin A. Walker $500,000 for actual damages and $300,000 for punitive damages.

In this motion for a new trial, the attorneys for Associated Press furnished affidavits from two jurors who stated that two other jurors had said, "All news media release false and malicious news reports." In one sworn affidavit, former juror, M. L. Meriweather said, "Two jurors stated that 'all news media had in the past been guilty of false and malicious news reports.' One juror stated that 'news services were always publishing false and malicious reports.' One juror stated that 'we should award Walker one million dollars because the Associated Press had plenty of money and would never miss it.' At sometime before or during the deliberation, a juror remarked that 'a Georgia football coach had gotten a big libel damage award.'"

Judge Charles J. Murray set a hearing date on this motion at 9:30 A. M., September 18, 1964.

RE: EDWIN A. WALKER

An article appeared in the Fort Worth Star Telegram dated October 1, 1964, which reflected that on September 30, 1964, Judge Charles J. Murray of the 17th District Court, Fort Worth, Texas, ruled that the Associated Press is not entitled to a new trial in the libel suit brought against it by the former General Edwin A. Walker. Attorneys for the wire service had asked for a new trial on the grounds of jury misconduct during the deliberations. The Judge ruled that two statements made by jurors constituted misconduct but held that these statements would not affect the outcome of the case. Associated Press attorneys indicated they would appeal.

[redacted] also advised that WALKER has been the subject of extensive investigation recently by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), [redacted].

Contact was had with JIM COOMER, Chief, Intelligence Unit, IRS, on 11/4/64. He stated investigation had been conducted by his agency into WALKER's 1961 and 1962 income tax returns, with a finding that WALKER owed additional taxes. Discrepancies occurred in personal and business deductions taken by him. General WALKER has not agreed to any settlement with the IRS and has 30 days in which to file an appeal to that agency's ruling. IRS has completed its investigation and does not have frequent personal contact with WALKER. Because the income tax matter does not appear pertinent to the present inquiry, this information is not being set forth in the LHM.

Re: ALLEGED KLAN PARTICIPATION
IN INSURRECTION PLOT

On September 30, 1964, a confidential source of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that a member of the Klan in Meridian, Mississippi, had been overheard to say that former Major General Edwin A. Walker had approximately 100,000 followers in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Arizona, who were storing ammunition and weapons and planned insurrectionary action if President Lyndon B. Johnson were elected.

The same source advised on November 2, 1964, that Klansman in Mississippi had been heard to say that rumors in Klan circles in Alabama and Mississippi are that Klan groups in these two states will precipitate action after President Johnson's election, and that if martial law results, General Walker's followers plan to start a revolution in the latter part of December, 1964, or early January, 1965.

On the night of November 3, 1964, the above information was orally furnished to [redacted] U. S. Secret Service, Dallas, Texas, and [redacted] Intelligence Corps Group, U. S. Army, Dallas. This information was also furnished [redacted] Dallas County Sheriff's Office; [redacted], Dallas Police Department; [redacted] Department of Public Safety, Dallas, on November 4, 1964.

Re: [redacted] PARTICIPATION
[redacted] INSURRECTION PLOT

On November 4, 1964, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that he had personal knowledge as to General Walker's presence in Dallas as of that date, and that to the best of source's knowledge, Walker had no plans to leave Dallas in the immediate or near future. Source volunteered that Walker has a strong following in Mississippi, but has no organization backing him. Source said it would not be characteristic of Walker to be a part of any organizational activity, as he is very much a "loner." Source described Walker as being very much an egotist who would do almost anything for publicity, but he did not believe Walker would be capable of, or interested in, leading an insurrection or participating in similar activity.

This source stated that in discussing the elections held on November 3, 1964, General Walker was heard to make a comment on November 4, 1964, to the effect that, "Well, we'll have another chance to get them in four years." Source said Walker did not indicate any violent reaction or bitter disappointment at the results of the election.

Source also said he believes Walker to be too much of an individualist to get mixed up with the Klan, and that although Walker is very much against the administration of President Johnson, he is also in disagreement with most of those other individuals and organizations who violently oppose the present administration.

Confidential informants of the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation familiar with racial and similar activity in the Dallas and Fort Worth areas were contacted on November 4, 1964, and could furnish no information concerning the rumors described above.

Memorandum

TO : Mr. D[redacted]

DATE: 1-18-65

FROM : M. A. [redacted]

SUBJECT: SPEECH BY MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI
11-19-64

By letter of 1-7-65, our Jackson Office furnished us a transcription of a speech delivered by captioned individual before the Americans for the Preservation of the White Race in Brookhaven, Mississippi, on 11-19-64. The following is a brief resume of [redacted] address, it being noted that the last 10 minutes of this speech was not tape-recorded.

Throughout his entire speech, which appears to be a criticism of the controlled news media in the United States, General Walker tends to ramble at great length and covers a number of diverse topics. He particularly criticizes the press as being "irresponsible" and failing in its duty to properly inform the American public.

In his ramblings, General Walker is critical of Edward R. Murrow, Voice of America, Martin Luther King, The Warren Report, Governor Rockefeller, the use of troops in Oxford, Mississippi, and the United Nations, just to mention a few. He makes reference to the Director, or the FBI, on pages 2, 6, 9, 10, 22 and 23 of this transcription.

General Walker states that he has questioned Mr. Hoover's attitude for some time, basically because of the work of some of his (Director's) people. On page 9 he refers to the Director's calling Martin Luther King a liar and asks, "Why didn't [redacted] Hoover find out how many times Mr. Martin Luther King has, or would lie, with regard to his communist affiliation and subversion?" Walker contends that this is the area in which the Director's overall responsibility lies. He then infers that the Director had an ulterior motive in his attack on King, namely to obtain, --"conservative support to get his financing through the Congress."

Walker also refers to the Director attacking the Warren Commission's criticism of the FBI. Here again Walker draws the inference that the Director should not have criticized this Commission so much for its attack on FBI Agents, but because of the Commission's untruthfulness and the fact it issued a false report.

[redacted] Walker also talked about the flowers sent Mr. Jenkins [redacted] that he was usually [redacted] embarrassed when asked about this, but that he (Walker) was going to stop being embarrassed as of that time. He claimed that the only [redacted] he had was--"that it was most surprising and fantastic to me that men sent flowers to each other. I never heard of this before."

On pages 22 and 23 he attacks the Director's statement that the racial disorders that took place in Harlem, Rochester, New York, and other localities throughout the country, were not communist inspired. Walker claimed that they were communist inspired and that the Director's press release to the contrary, two days [redacted] release of the Warren Commission Report--"was excellent timing because that played right into the fact that Oswald wasn't tied in to anybody either." Walker sets this out as an example of how propaganda works.

MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER

At approximately 10:55 p.m., January 26, 1965, [redacted] St. Petersburg, Florida, advised a Special Agent of the FBI that Major General EDWIN A. WALKER made a speech at the Meadowlawn Baptist Church, 6153 9th Street North, St. Petersburg, on the night [redacted] January 26th. He was unable to furnish any details except that he understood General WALKER had come to St. Petersburg from Miami, Florida.

On January 27, 1965, [redacted] advised that on January 26 the City Manager of St. Petersburg had inquired of the Chief of Police if the police department was aware that General WALKER was to speak in St. Petersburg on the night of January 26th. This was the first information the police department had that General WALKER was to be in the city.

[redacted] stated that men from his department checked the meeting and that there was a large crowd present for the speech around 8:30 p.m. and that General WALKER was in evidence. These officers determined from checking with those in attendance that the only publicity about General WALKER's appearance was disseminated by word of mouth and that there was no advance printed publicity.

The "St. Petersburg Times," St. Petersburg, Fla., January 27, 1965, reported that General WALKER spoke to a group of about 200 persons at the Meadowlawn Baptist Church, 6153 9th Street North, St. Petersburg, the night of January 26. The article stated that General WALKER "strongly criticized the JOHNSON Administration, military leaders, the press, the United Nations and the nation's political parties."

The remarks you made concerning this Bureau are gratifying. I too abhor the thought of this country becoming a police state and, as you know, I have continually fought against it.

Mr. J. [redacted]
Direct[redacted]ress of Investigation

Dear Sir:

I am writing you in regards to an incident that occurred last evening, January 26, 1965 which has disturbed me a great deal.

I was invited to a meeting at a small Baptist church here in St. Petersburg to hear a talk given by General Walker. During the course of the evening while he was speaking, two of your agents were in the parking lot taking down the license numbers of all the cars there. To say that this is disturbing is putting it mildly. Here is a group of some two hundred patriotic Americans meeting in the House of God and the government feels that it is necessary that they identify those in attendance. My question to you sir, is, For what reason?

Can it be that it is a fact that our great country is on the verge of becoming a police state? This situation is difficult to associate with a department such as yours. Most American Conservatives when we ask ourselves, Who in Washington can we turn to? Who is on our side? The same answer is always arrived at there is only one person in Washington who we feel is on the side of constitutional government and that sir, is you. With the exception of a few leftist radicals, I am sure that the majority of the American people feel that yours is the only department in all of the government that, through your efforts, has not been tainted by petty politics in any way. Further, due to your efforts through the years, the growth of communism in this country has been kept at a minimum. I am sure the odds and pressures which you have encountered are tremendous and we admire you for your stand. In view of this, when a small group of people gather to hear a speaker talk against communism, we find it difficult to understand the governments interest in our attendance. Not that we have anything to hide but if we are on the verge of a police state I think we are entitled to know.

Again, we have nothing but praise for the wonderful job which you have done through the years and we wish you continued success.

From a personal standpoint I would state this: I am a native born Ame[redacted] years of age. I have never been arrested for even so much as for a m[redacted]ti with a motor vehicle. I consider myself to be a patriotic American. [redacted] God and [redacted] constitutional government, in freedom and in justice. I hav[redacted] been as[redacted] with, attended, or been a part of any subversive group [redacted] zation. [redacted]ld any department of the government be interested when such an average American attends a patriotic meeting?

RACIAL MATTERS

[redacted] Tarpon Springs, Florida, by letter dated January 27, 1965, alleged that two FBI Agents were "taking down the license numbers" of all cars belonging to individuals attending a meeting at a Baptist church in St. Petersburg, Florida, where former Major General Edwin Walker was speaking. [redacted] made complimentary remarks concerning the Bureau not being tainted by petty politics and stated he could not understand the Government's interest in attendance at a gathering to hear a speaker talk against communism. He also expressed his fear that this country is on the verge of becoming a police state.

Special Agent in Charge Santoiana of the Tampa Office advised that a communication had been forwarded to the Bureau dated January 28, 1965, setting forth information concerning the speech of former Major General Walker. Santoiana advised that the FBI had no personnel present at the meeting at the Baptist church in St. Petersburg. However, officers of the intelligence unit of the St. Petersburg, Florida, Police Department were present at the meeting. A search of Bureau files disclosed no information which could be identified with [redacted] on the basis of available background information.

[redacted] ACCUSED WALKER OF [redacted]ING RACE RIOTS IN 1962

Former Major-General Edwin A. Walker addressed an [redacted] audience at Meadowlawn Baptist Church 62nd Avenue and 9th Street North, Tuesday evening, January 26th.

Falsely Accused — Sues "Times"

In October, 1962, Walker was falsely accused of leading a student riot at the University of Mississippi in an integration disturbance attendant upon the admission of James Meredith to the law school there. As a result of the libelous reports of this incident by the Associated Press, he instituted [redacted] suits against many newspapers which published the false charges. One of these damage suits in the amount of $1 million is now pending against the St. Petersburg Times. Walker was recently appointed publisher of the American Mercury Magazine, McAllen, Texas.

General Walker discussed various conditions which have contributed to the decline of the United States as a major [redacted] in the current world revolution, he said the basic [redacted] between the forces of good and evil is the same which has gone on for generations, and in essence is a re-enactment of the Crucifixion. Our free enterprise system is based on Christian principles, and while the immediate Communistic threat is directed against capitalism, the ultimate [redacted] the destruction of Christianity.

Walker urged vigorous criticism of Washington bureaucracy. He charged that the recent order placing the military [redacted] under the control of the National Guard strictly a political maneuver, because it will remove control of this division of the armed forces from the military, and place it under the jurisdiction of the state governors. He believes this to be an outgrowth of the 1[redacted] Presidential election, when Richard Nixon's vote among [redacted] overseas was 2 to 1 over the late President John [redacted]dy. The White House, the Supreme Court and Cabinet officials represent the most extreme thinking in the country. In Walker's view, the Great Society commits itself to nothing more than spending the people's money. He said what is needed today is not a Great Society, but a great Christian reformation in our national life. As an example, he deplored a statement by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, when he appeared before the National Security Council and said: "There is no place in the international situation for morality."

United States or United Nations

General Walker's sharpest comments were directed against the U.S. membership in the United Nations. He said the basic issue is " the United States or the United Nations." He continued that present foreign policy (with its commitments to the UN) has placed the country on an axis which extends from Moscow to Washington to Havana. Walker added that between November, 1963 and November, 1964 there had been a coup in the United States, but no one was told about it. He charged that the late President Kennedy put a portion of the Tactical Air Command under UN control two years ago in the Congo, and that the Indian commander of the UN forces had an order to kill all Europeans there. In recent days UN diplomats had difficulty in averting a formal censure of the United States for rescuing the white hostages held by the rebels.

Walker went on to say that the U.S. contribution of $100 million annually to the United Nations covers only the lowest

Congress "U.N. Prisoner of War Camp"

According to General Walker, the United Nations is in complete control of U.S. foreign policy. It opposes a successful operation in South Vietnam, as it did in Korea. In addition it has been responsible for the use of obsolete planes there when new aircraft should have been employed. He said the fundamental policy of the UN is compromise without specific solutions to international problems, and holding all problems in abeyance until there can be a solution by nuclear controls. As a consequence the United States is enmeshed in the process of a global conquest by Communism, seeking an anti-Christ solution by accommodation with Russia. Walker continued that Congress is helpless to intervene because "it is in a UN prisoner of war camp."

U.N. Charter Paralyzes U.S. World Influence

He recommended that Americans study the United Nations Charter to understand why U.S. influence in international affairs is in a state of paralysis. He alleged that the Charter contains all the answers to the drastic deterioration of U.S. dominance and prestige for the past twenty years. General Walker concluded by saying that the United Nations affects "our whole future—freedom, country and our children." He urged that Americans awaken to this danger, learn the facts and then take action to overcome it.

MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER, FPC.

Reurairtel 6/28/65

No investigation of Walker has been conducted by the Bureau; however, he has been the subject of frequent press comment. The following summary of information from Bufiles concerning Walker contains considerable newspaper comment, the reliability of which cannot be vouched for by the Bureau.

Walker was born 11/10/09, at Center Point, Texas, and entered military service 7/1/27, at the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York, as a cadet. He was appointed a Second Lieutenant at West Point on 6/11/31. Walker reportedly resigned from the Army after being criticized for methods of indoctrinating troops.

Among charges Walker reportedly has made is that the United Nations is immoral and that its late Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was a "Red Swede" who took instructions from Moscow. In addition, Walker has alleged that the United Nations is in complete control of U. S. foreign policy; that the U. S. is enmeshed in the process of a global conquest by communism, and that Congress is helpless to intervene because "it is in a U. N. prisoner of war camp."

A Baltimore psychiatrist allegedly has described Walker as showing signs of grandiosity, confusion and poor judgment.

It was reported that at a speech in Orlando, Florida, in 5/65, Walker criticized everything from U. S. foreign policy to civil rights to controlled news media."

Warren Report Is 'Fraud', Says Gen. Walker In Pasco Address

"The Warren Commission Report on the assassination of Pres. John Kennedy is false, a sham, a fraud and an insult to the American people."

[redacted]legations such as that [redacted]win A. Walker, controversial national figure, kept an audience of more than 300 persons attentive Saturday night when he made a public address in the auditorium of the agriculture building at the Pasco County Fairgrounds, Dade City.

Almost half of the audience, a survey would have indicated, was from Zephyrhills and surrounding rural community.

The appearance of Gen. Walker, who recently resigned his military commission and sacrificed his pension in order to be able to speak out on controversial matters, was sponsored here by the Pasco County Supporters of Constitutional Government.

"While you may read about my speech in your local pa[redacted] I venture there won't be [redacted] about it in the big dailies of your area; the liberal blackout of my remarks is complete, and nationwide," Walker said.

Ranging over a variety of topics in a 90-minute talk, the general covered such items as:

● His lawsuits against the Associated Press and various newspapers (more than $20 million worth, none of which has been settled either in or out of court; in the only case to have come to trial, Walker was awarded a $500,000 judgement against the [redacted] reduced to $500,000 by an appellate court and now appealed by [redacted] to the Texas Supreme Court.

● The United Nations (he asserted that American soldiers fighting in Vietnam are doing so for the UN, and that Pres. Kennedy sent two divisions of troops to Oxford, Miss., during the James Meredith enrollment incident at the behest of the UN and to prove to the One Worlders that the US is loyal to the UN).

● Racial integration (he said the US is following orders of the UN as expressed in an 11-article statement adopted in 1963 which says the whole world will "integrate or else" regardless of race, color or ethnic origin, which Walker defined as "our common everyday culture." He said: "If LBJ is so all-fired eager to integrate, why doesn't this great, ridiculous, corny president integrate the Greeks and the Turks, or the Jews and the Arabs, or the Chinese and Japanese?")

● The Ku Klux Klan (Walker was greeted by applause when he charged that Pres. Johnson lied when he said his father and grandfather had always fought the KKK. "We have heard his relatives back in Texas state that LBJ's folks were always first at Klan meetings," Walker said. "I'll tell you one thing; the Klan will outlast the Great Society.")

● The Vietnam war (Ambassador Lodge directs our activity in Vietnam, not in our interest, but for the interest of the UN, Walker said. He asserted efforts by Lodge over the past three years to form a coalition government in Vietnam and bring a halt to fighting there are secretly designed "to sell out" Vietnam to the Communists.)

● The National Council of Churches (Walker charged, and his remarks brought heavy applause, that "instead of a revolution for morality led by the clergy we are confronted by preachers in our pulpits who are members of the National Council of Churches selling out your re-

● The US State Department ("The most disgraceful thing about Vietnam, and this is not to belittle our boys who have died there, is the fight between the Vietnam generals, patriotic men about 35 years of age who want to save their nation from the Reds, and our own State Department, wanting us to surrender." Walker asserted that hundreds of CIA men, hundreds of USIA men and hundreds of State Department "meddlers" are like a swarm of bees, each with a direct line to his agency back in Washington, and each trying to end the war by surrender, while our generals are trying to win it. "The boy coming home in a box represents our fight to surrender, not a fight for victory," Walker said.)

On the Warren Report

The speaker said the Warren Commission Report "is one big lie from cover to cover." He charged that the report bases its conclusions on a belief that Ruby and Oswald did not know each other "but this is false, as hundreds of Dallas people will tell you the two were known pals and were seen together regularly."

He said Oswald is termed "a loner" and "an eccentric", yet Oswald knew more national and international figures personally, particularly leftist ones, than any other man his age.

Walker implied that a conspiracy exists to play down the role of the Communists in the assassination, and noted that Sen. Robert Kennedy has never visited Dallas.

"We're still waiting for him to come to Dallas to view the scene of his brother's murder," Walker said, "as any of us would do. I would leave no stone unturned to pin the exact guilt on my brother's murderer, but Bobby has never even come to Dallas as we have expected him to do."

"President Johnson's Revolution" was the title of the general's address, and on this subject he charged that history will record the current revolution as "the greatest ever known; JFK already is being acclaimed the hero of the revolution, and scrapping for leadership of it are an assortment of headline hunters."

"But LBJ is the real leader, and even he is a puppet," Walker asserted. He said LBJ is "deliberately corny at times so you will laugh at him and not notice him steal another of your freedoms away."

"I don't say you should arm yourselves for the revolution," the speaker said, "but you'd better keep the guns you have cleaned and oiled; you might need them."

The general concluded his speech with an appeal for a revival of patriotism:

"Let me tell you one thing sure. If every third home in this nation would have been flying the American flag on Nov. 22, no one would have dared to shoot your president.

"We need to show these trouble makers around the world, and on our own street corners, that there is still some patriotism left in our once-great nation," Walker said.

November 11, 1965

Mr. Charles Markmann
c/o St. Martin's Press
175 Fifth Ave.
New York 10, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Markmann:

I want to ask your opinion. Is it not heartless and by design to go on damaging me through the mire?

I was assigned to Pacific Theater Headquarters in a highly political position. I voluntarily asked to resign from the gold plated U.S. Army. My request for resignation was granted and continued with an Honorable Discharge after 30 years and 4 months service. I was assigned to the Pacific 13 October 1961. I resigned Nov. 1, 1961; was cancelled Nov. 4, 1961. My orders to the Pacific Theater Hdqrs., my resignation, its acceptance and my honorable discharge from the Army are a matter of record.

I was told then I could have retired--which with a 20-year civilian credit would have amounted to approximately $150,000 gained--without need of turning my hand.

To be fair to everyone and to be obligated to no one, I resigned in order that I might say exactly and completely what I wanted to say. I have required no one to accept or believe what I say or think. I hold no controls over anyone financially or otherwise.

Freedom of speech is depreciated and destroyed by false, libelous and degrading descriptions of the source of that speech.

Your book "The Noblest Cry" gives the American Civil Liberties Union great credit in a long struggle for human rights and civil liberties.

With regard to me, is it not in your opinion wrong to wrongly and falsely describe me and my actions in a derogatory manner--then to bring the ACLU forward to defend me? Of course, the ACLU becomes greater as I am maligned the further I am degraded. As I am libeled, maligned and defamed, I lose the rights and liberties which you then bring the ACLU forward to defend.

If I had not been slandered, libeled, degraded and the target of false reporting, the ACLU would not have found a necessity to defend me.

Is it not possible or true that false reports or excessive publicity have built press made targets--that the ACLU defends? Would it not be a design in continuing on and on to falsely report my beliefs and actions, then a hoax in the defense of falsehoods that go on and on?

You must know that a grand jury did not indict me in June of 1964 the government dropped the charges. You must know also that a jury by a unanimous verdict in June of 1964 awarded a judgement of $500,000 against [redacted] Associated Press. Another court by a unanimous jury decision has awarded me $2,250,000 in a judgement against the Associated Press and the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

I was not dishonored out of the Army.

I note that your book is dedicated to me among numerous others. I have had authors write and ask for my permission to dedicate their work to me. Would the public not believe that you wrote to me and I was willing to be listed among those you have listed with beliefs that extend from one end of the spectrum to the other.

[redacted] always have long convinced me that a "pay off" [redacted] An opportunity by the [redacted] corroborative that being employed [redacted] of [redacted] in the defense.

Your book does not mention that Lee Harvey Oswald did [redacted] the ACLU and attended their meetings. Your reply is respectfully anticipated.

A parallel injustice, carried out by the Department of Justice, was protested by the Union on behalf of former General Edwin Walker, the fanatical rightist ordered out of the army, who was a leader in the rioting at the University of Mississippi in October, 1962, when James Meredith was ordered admitted. At a hearing at which neither Walker nor his counsel was present, Robert Kennedy's view obtained an order that Walker be held for mental tests on the basis of testimony given by a psychiatrist who had never met the general. [redacted] stated that his Department was not aware of any future appearances of Walker in the Chicago area at this time.

The Red Streak edition of the "Chicago Daily News," December 10, 1965, a daily newspaper published at Chicago, Illinois, carried the following article relating to a press conference given by former Major General Edwin A. Walker at the Oak Park Arms Hotel, Oak Park, Illinois. Walker predicted that Chicago will experience a race riot similar to last August's Watts riots in Los Angeles and he also indicated there would be such disturbances in every state of the union. He particularly singled out Chicago and Harlem and blamed the nation's racial unrest on "the escalation of liberal politics." Walker declared that "the revolt is not selective as to whether it's in the North or South. It's like the atom bomb. It's not selective."

Dear General Walker:

I have your letter of November 11, 1965.

The reference to you on page 405 of my book, THE [redacted]EST CITY: A History of the American Civil Liberties Union, was in no way intended to be derogatory of you, or, on the other hand, unduly favorable to the American Civil Liberties Union. ROBERT F. KENNEDY

Why doesn't the U. S. Senate censure Robert F. Kennedy (Dem. —N. Y.)?

Does "Little [redacted] speak for the majority in the Senate and House:

when he, a U. S. "Little Bobby" made an official, public-funded trip to the Viet Nam combat zone. He obtained secret military information from his tour of the area.

AID AND ASSISTANCE TO THE ENEMY IN TIME OF WAR IS TREASON.

WF T-1, another Government investigative agency, on January 19, 1966, furnished a copy of a letter entitled, "Censure." This letter asked why the United States Senate does not censure Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat, New York. This letter refers to Senator Kennedy as "Little Bobby," and states that "Little Bobby" is quoted as saying there is nothing wrong with sending American blood to our communist enemies.

This letter, a copy of which is attached, is apparently signed Edwin A. Walker.

LETTER INQUIRY FROM EDWIN A. WALKER TO CRIMINAL DIVISION DATED JUNE 3, 1966

Reference is made to your letter captioned as above dated June 9, 1966, "DJM:CHD:bf 145-1-12-6122."

The Dallas Office of this Bureau received a letter from Edwin A. Walker dated May 10, 1966, in which he indicated he would like to see anything this Bureau might want to show him pertaining to the attempted assassination of him on April 10, 1966, at Dallas, Texas. Walker indicated he "has both a personal and legal interest in the case and the investigation of it." Mr. Walker also stated he "desired that the bullet fired, according to the Warren Commission's Report, by Lee Harvey Oswald be returned to him."

Our Dallas Office advised Mr. Walker that the Department of Justice has under study the disposition of evidence in this case and that he may desire to communicate with the Department of Justice if he feels he has a right to the bullet.

The bullet in question bears Commission Exhibit Number 573. Information relating to the attempt on Mr. Walker's life in Dallas, Texas, is contained in "The President's Commission On the Assassination of President Kennedy Report" beginning on page 183. Additional information relating to "The Walker Bullet" is found on page 592 of the same report. If you desire information concerning testimony relating to examination of "The Walker Bullet," refer to "Hearings Before The President's Commission On The Assassination of President Kennedy," Volume III, beginning page 438.

The Walker Bullet," Commission Exhibit Number 573, is presently being retained temporarily by this Bureau along with other evidence and exhibits until a determination is made by the Department of Justice as to final disposition.

[redacted] inviting your attention to a letter addressed to me dated February 10, 1965, from former Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, Herbert J. Miller, Jr., captioned, "Retention of Physical Items Pertaining to the Assassination." The enclosures to this communication listed items of evidence pertaining to the assassination of President Kennedy which should be retained permanently by the U. S. Government. Item number 50 listed the "Bullet From General Walker's Home (CE 573)."

I am also inviting your attention to my letter dated February 24, 1965, to Mr. Herbert J. Miller, Jr., captioned, "Assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, November 22, 1963, Dallas, Texas, Miscellaneous - Information Concerning," in which I indicated it is desirable the material in our possession obtained during the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy be turned over to the Government agency designated or to other interested individuals. This will be done when appropriate notification is received from the Attorney General.

NOTE: [redacted] course of the assassination investigation [redacted] established in testimony furnished by Marina Oswald that Lee Harvey Oswald had attempted to assassinate Edwin A. Walker (Major General resigned). This occurred on April 10, 1963. The Dallas Police Department investigated this matter and recovered bullet fired at Walker. This bullet was obtained by SA Bardwell D. Odum on 12/2/63, from Lieutenant Carl Day of the Dallas Police Department and was received in our Laboratory 12/4/63. An examination was conducted of this bullet, but due to its [redacted] condition a conclusion could not be reached that it was fired from the assassination rifle. Walker previously requested our Dallas Office to return this bullet; however, he was referred to the Department which has under study the disposition of evidence in this case. "The Walker Bullet" has Commission Exhibit #573 and is referred to in the Commission's Report. It is being temporarily retained in the Laboratory along with other evidence in this case until a determination is reached by the Department as to final disposition. The Department is currently in receipt of a letter from Walker requesting the return of this bullet. Department requested information which will enable them to prepare an appropriate response to Walker's letter.

Dear General Johnson:

[redacted] operations and those of the U. S. Marine Corps are sponsoring and publicizing a combined organizational campaign for support and funds for "Civic [redacted] Vietnam." This contemplated cooperative venture for donations [redacted] its unsuspecting units and the names of Marine Corps Reserv[redacted] without [redacted] in its misuse of [redacted] men and their names. It is [redacted] dating and [redacted] violates a military [redacted]

Literature for the combined project entitled "Fact Sheet, Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Program" states:

> "Donors send their contributions direct to CARE's central collection point for the Marine Reserve Civic Action Program in Washington. Individual pre-addressed envelopes--available through the local Marine Corps Reserve Unit-- are supplied for this purpose....This leaves it squarely up to the individual or local group to support this program. However, one thing that this does assure is that every penny of every donation will get to our Marines in the field in Vietnam--who in turn will make certain that it goes where it will do the most good."

The pre-addressed envelope form, subscribing funds, is addressed to CARE, 406 La Salle Bldg., 1028 Connecticut Ave. NW, Washington, D. C. On the left of this, on the face of the envelope, is "Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Fund for Vietnam" and above that, the place for the Marine Reservist's name and return address. On the back of this particular envelope is printed "2nd Bn. 14th Marines, 4th Mar Div, USMCR, NAMTR Trng. Cntr, 2424 Bachman Boulevard, P. O. Box 20102, Dallas, Texas 75220."

On what basis can military commanders subscribe funds from their men to be sent to CARE?

I have queried the military establishment as to what precedent or legality funds can be subscribed from service men by name for handling by such an organization as CARE-- or any other. I have also asked how there is any semblance of equality for soldiers, sailors or airmen where this type effort is placed behind one branch of the service-- the Marine Corps, who occupy less than one-third of South Vietnam. Letters in reply have avoided both points and have shown no semblance of responsibility to the entire command in Viet Nam.

CARE publications list its assistance to many countries including Poland, Yugoslavia and Viet Nam (which must include North and South-- or does it[redacted]

Francis T. Devlin, General Staff [redacted] Communications Division.

I quote from his letter: "The Chief of Staff, United States Army has directed me to reply to your inquiry requesting information on how donations may be made to help the civilian populace in Vietnam.... May I suggest that should you desire to contribute to the welfare of the people of Vietnam, that you contact one of the agencies listed in the inclosed Department of State fact sheet?

"The CARE program mentioned in your letter is a voluntary program supported by Marine Corps Reserve and Regular Establishments as well as other individuals and organizations for the purpose of purchasing CARE packages for use in Marine Corps areas of responsibility. The U. S. Army does not have a direct counterpart to this program.

No doubt you are interested to know that a Colonel on your staff is recommending that U. S. citizens help the U. S. soldiers and Vietnamese through a communist front-transmission-belt organization and apparatus. Col. Devlin says in his letter, "The various U. S. Army elements in Vietnam are assisting in the rehabilitation of that war-torn country in every way possible." He could have added, "through public support of a cited subversive apparatus and transmission belt."

It stands to reason, and with quite a bit of logic, that soldiers, sailors, airmen and their families would question the judgment of your General Staff. I do. If you insist on supporting soldiers in combat through organizations assisting the enemy or "used" by the enemy, then "loyalty" is indeed in question.

I also question the judgment of the Marine Corps General Staff in its combine project with CARE, which has a notorious record of assisting communist countries.

The betrayal of soldiers and what they are fighting for is not a pretty sight. There is no description for General Staffs of military services that ask mothers and fathers to support their own sons in Viet Nam by using the enemy's apparatus and transmission belt to provide for their needs and those of their Allies, the South Vietnamese.

Yours sincerely,

Edwin A. Walker

Edwin A. Walker

P. S. The U. S. Army's recommendation to support U. S. soldiers and South Vietnamese through the American Friends Service Committee swathes the Marine Corps-CARE project in a very unwholesome light and aroma. The next question might well be, "What are the Air Force and the Navy going to do?" Also what is the Congress going to do regarding your use of a communist transmission-belt apparatus?

The Fellowship of Reconciliation is said to be the largest pacifist group in the United States. A. J. Muste, for years the Executive Secretary of this organization, has been described as the "undisputed Dean of American Leftwing Activity." His affiliations with Communist fronts are too numerous to list. Heading a delegation of "observers" at the Communist Party's 16th National Convention, Feb. 9-12, 1957, his actions drew the comment from J. Edgar Hoover that most of these "so-called impartial observers were handpicked before the convention started and were reportedly headed by A. J. Muste, who has long fronted for Communists...." ("Recognize Red China?", Circuit Riders Inc., p. 11.) Muste is currently busy with his Committee for Non-Violent Action (which urges everyone to send Christmas cards to conscientious objectors and furnishes names and addresses), the War Resisters League, the New York Workshop for Non-Violence, and the Catholic Peace Fellowship.

Colton, Chairman of the American Friends Service Committee for the Delaware area, was an announced speaker at the Emergency Committee for Disaster Relief to Cuba meeting in New York on Feb. 26, 1964, along with Mark Lane, defender of Lee Harvey Oswald, and Philip A. Luce, spokesman for student groups which illegally visited Cuba the summer before.

The "pro-Castro Emergency Committee for Disaster Relief to Cuba ... which has succeeded the recently dissolved Fair Play for Cuba Committee ... is headed by identified Communists, Sidney J. Gluck and Dr. Louis I. Miller" (Tocsin, Feb. 12, 1964).

THE TIME HAS COME

PROMINENT SIGNERS OF TAX REFUSAL ST[illegible]

THE SPECTACLE of the United States — with its jet bombers, helicopters, fragmentation and napalm bombs and dimbling gun— carrying on an endless war against the hungry, scantily armed Vietnamese guerrillas and civilians . . .

. . . this spectacle will go down in history alongside the unforgivable atrocities of Italy in Ethiopia.

THE SPECTACLE of the United States invasion of the Dominican Republic—again pitting our terrify'ng weaponry mainly against civilians armed with rifles . . .

. . . this spectacle will go down in history alongside Russia's criminal intervention in Hungary.

BUT THE SPECTACLE of the indifference of so many Americans to the crimes being committed in their names, by their brothers, and with their tax money . . .

. . . this spectacle reminds us more and more of the indifference of the majority of the German people to the killing of six million Jews.

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT has not reacted constructively to legitimate criticism, protests and appeals:

by world leaders including the Pope, U Thant and President De Gaulle—

by United States leaders including Senators Morse, Gruening, Church, Fulbright, Robert Kennedy, Eugene McCarthy and Stephen Young—by hundreds of thousands of citizens including 2,500 clergymen and countless professors who placed protest advertisements in leading newspapers—

by innumerable students, many tens of thousands of whom have taken their protest to Washington on several occasions—

by celebrated individuals such as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Robert Lowell, Arthur Miller and Dr. Benjamin Spock—and by leading newspapers, including the New York Times.

We believe that the ordinary channels of protest have been exhausted and that the time has come for Americans of conscience to take more radical action in the hope of averting nuclear war.

Therefore, the undersigned hereby declare that at least as long as U.S. Forces are clearly being used in violation of the U.S. Constitution, International Law and the United Nations Charter . . .

We will refuse to pay our federal income taxes

– WHAT DIFFERENCE?

The repeal of the Connally Amendment is pending and an inevitable policy objective.

What then keeps a president of the United States from being tried in the International Court of Law for dropping 300 tons of bombs a day on North Viet Nam — or for using military forces to defend the country at any time or place?

If convicted would there then not be a demand by the U.N. for a public hanging?

Actually we have become so subjugated to the [illegible] the U.N., the World Court and its "Law" that the president is under continuous trial for his acts. He has two bosses, the U.N. and the people of the United States. Kennedy was assassinated. What are your chances?

In issue No. 1 of "The Florida Patriot," dated April, 1963, Dewey McKinley Taft (157-1310) described "patriots" as those who had fought and/or been thrown in jail for striving to uphold the constitution at Little Rock and in Mississippi, where he said Federal troops had been utilized "to overthrow constitutional government and force mongrelization at the point of a bayonet." He named General Edwin A. Walker as "America's Number 1 patriot of 1962."

It was noted that Taft was publisher of the "The Florida Patriot," a monthly publication of the NSRP made up of the weekly issues of the "Weekly Newsletter," Tampa, which he edited.

On 5/25/64, William McEwan Duff, US Army, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, a primary suspect in the Dallas PD investigation of the attempted shooting of General Walker, advised that Ruby had visited the Walker residence about once a month with two unidentified white males, while he, Duff, was employed as Walker's "batman" during the period December, 1962 to April, 1963. He defined batman as a British military term for an orderly, valet, or personal aide. He also intimated that Walker diverted funds collected for the John Birch Society (JBS) to a personal account at the Highland Park Bank, Dallas. It was noted that Duff had been diagnosed as a pathological liar. During testimony of Ruby before the Warren Commission in Dallas on 6/7/64, he stated that Walker was one of the top men of the JBS.

Mr. William Manchester

Dear Mr. Manchester:

Since you were commissioned by Robert F. Kennedy, who was the U.S. Attorney General and is now Senator, to write the historical record of "The Death of a President," John F. Kennedy-- I am pointing out several inaccuracies in your recording of history in references to the undersigned.

After having sat in on the official investigation and occupied an office in the National Archives, you called and contacted people for interviews as the appointed, entrusted representative commissioned by the Kennedys, as you stated your position to me over the telephone.

Your statements referring to me as retired are false. The truth is officially recorded and was so recorded under the administration of the two Kennedys. I am not "retired." I am "resigned."

You list my name as one of the people whom you interviewed--which alleges my responsibility, in part, for your views and the historical record produced by you and Robert F. Kennedy.

Since you list my name among those with whom you had a face-to-face personal interview (as though I were one of them)-- this listing under this pretext and connotation is false. I have never seen you.

You repeated this falsehood on NBC's "Meet the Press" program Feb. [redacted] 1967, by stating that Marina Oswald "... was the one person who decided to see me."

Your attempt to get an appointment with me through two telephone calls while you were in Dallas was unsuccessful. An appointment was denied by the answer that our interests had too little in common to waste the time.

The importance that you placed upon yourself and your mission [redacted] Kennedy backing and commissioning was immediately recognized as approach so unacceptable that it was foolish and brazen. It was particularly so because of my RESIGNATION, which officially freed me from ever having to deal with any Kennedys or from participating in any of their activities or recordings.

Memorandum

TO : The Dire[redacted]

DATE: 6 22 67

FROM : N. P. Call[redacted]

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Original filed in:

Pages H7637-H7640. Congressman Hartke, (D) Louisiana, spoke concerning the Supreme Court decision of General Edwin A. Walker vs the Associated Press. He included an editorial from the Hammond (Louisiana) Sun of June 16 entitled "Right To Be Upheld" written by Nicholas Russell Murray, and General Walker's statement before the Senate Armed Services Committee on November 11, 1961, in connection with his (Walker) resignation from the Army after removal as commander of the 24th Division. General Walker makes reference to the Communist menace and states "Talk about co-existence is a concession to the timid and the gullible. - - - FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said this: 'It is appalling that some members of our society continue to deplore and criticize those who stress the Communist danger. - - - Has the counsel of this great American fallen on deaf ears? Worse still, is his voice like all others to be muted by political dilettantes with their fingers to their lips?"

In the original of a memorandum captioned and dated as above, the Congressional Record for 6 21 67 was reviewed and pertinent items were marked for the Director's attention. This form has been prepared in order that portions of a copy of the original memorandum may be clipped, mounted, and placed in appropriate Bureau case or subject matter files.

VISIT OF FORMER U. S. ARMY MAJOR
GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER TO JACKSON,
MISSISSIPPI, JANUARY 15-18, 1968,
TO ATTEND MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR's
INAUGURATION JANUARY 16, 1968
RACIAL MATTERS

Edwin A. Walker, a white male from Dallas, Texas, former Major General in the United States Army who on September 30, 1962 attracted national attention when he lead a charge of students against U. S. Marshals at the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Mississippi, during the period that Negro James Meredith was attempting to become the first Negro to enter the University of Mississippi.

On January 16, 1968, John Bell Williams of Raymond, Mississippi, was sworn in as the new Governor of Mississippi at inauguration ceremonies which took place at Jackson, Mississippi on that date.

On January 18, 1968, a confidential source, who has provided reliable information in the past, advised a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that he had learned that former Major General Edwin A. Walker had been in Jackson, Mississippi for the inauguration of Governor John Bell Williams and had departed Jackson at about 4:00 p.m. by commercial airlines enroute to Montgomery, Alabama. The source said he learned that while in Jackson Walker resided at the Sheraton Motor Inn on Highway 55 North and was not accompanied by anyone on his arrival or departure from Jackson.

The source said he determined that while in Jackson, Walker contacted at a minimum the following individuals:

Governor John Bell Williams
Kenneth L. Dean, Director, Mississippi Council on Human Relations
James Ward, Editor of the Jackson Daily News, a local Jackson newspaper, Colonel Henri Franks, a retired Army Officer who presently sells insurance in the Jackson area.

The source advised that he also determined that Walker had had a conversation with the South African Consul from the International Trade Mart in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The source said he determined that Walker came to Jackson primiarily to be in attendance at the inauguration activities. He said also he heard that Walker frequently commented to indicate he was an avid supporter of former Governor George Wallace of Alabama. He said additionally, Walker frequently discussed International affairs and his view points on what he thought American policy should be regarding various aspects of this topic. The source said that Walker gave no indication that he was formerly affiliated with former Governor George Wallace in any political campaign he may be planning. The source said he had had occasion to observe Walker while he was in Jackson and he described Walker as follows:

Race	White
Sex	Male
Age	In his fifties
Height	6'2"
Weight	205 pounds
Build	Medium-stout
Hair	Light grey
Posture	Erect
Characteristics	Wore "Texas ten-gallon hat"

The source said he determined that Walker, while in Jackson, had distributed to some individuals copies of the attached comments of his (Walker's) over the recent past:

Dear Friends. [redacted]mber 20, 1967

It is Christmas. It is Jesus Christ. It is Truth. It is 1967 -- 190 years of CHOICE preceding 1968. We must retain a CHOICE, or we will have nothing -- neither Christmas nor Christ -- the TRUTH. I ask your unity -- if in one thing only -- our prayer. Jesus Christ is the Hope of the World -- our CHOICE.

I cite LBJ, the leader of the revolution -- officially proclaimed and declared, precluding any possibility of a Declaration of War. An orderly country goes to war. A disorderly country goes to revolution. A disorderly country cannot go to war, only to an extension of the revolution.

Neither party has recognized, nor will it, the additional and most important burden on the voter in 1968 -- the election of the new top title in the White House -- the Leader of the Revolution. (1968 is the heart of the revolution.)

The 1968 untouchable Eisenhower-Johnson -- bipartisan republican-democrat platform policy is bound by treaties, charter, agreements, robbery, blackmail and deceit. It is policy bound by the Congress and Supreme Court, that is far beyond the domain and reach of the American voter. John F. Kennedy found that it was even far beyond his domain. (He and Oswald each exposed a communist under the bed, a privilege that the national press -- much to its dismay -- only credited to right-wingers.)

There is only one substitute for treason. It is politics. No one said he liked the substitute, but there has to be one. When assassination, murder and treason are profitable, privileged and protected, there has to be a substitute. It is politics, republican-democrat politics. With the enemy aided, abetted and protected [redacted]ithin -- and supported as the No. 1 ally without [redacted]mind you, to negotiate with over Vietnam -- as an ally -- could you believe it?) -- and there is no treason, there is politics.

There is warfare in Vietnam that the soldiers won't win and the politicians won't lose. Goldberg said it: "We are not fighting for a military solution. We are fighting for a political solution."

The denial of a military victory is the assu[redacted] of a military retreat (Korea and Cuba repeat[redacted] a retreat from the negotiating table. DU[redacted] an "honorable armistice" in Korea. In [redacted] in Korea -- Sept. 1967 -- 20 U.S. soldi[redacted] Korean soldiers were killed and two train[redacted] up -- neither honorable nor an armistice -- and no settlement there by the UNO in 15 years.

150 miles of fence in Viet Nam, 150 miles of fence in Korea and 140 miles of fence in Germany adds up to 440 miles of non-integration barriers -- fence. When are we going to integrate the Greeks and the Turks, the Irish and the British, the Chinese and the Japanese or the Israelis and the Arabs?

Edwin A. Walker

1968 -- HEADS YOU WIN TAILS I LOSE

The secrecy of the success or failure of our Governor's blood-letting safari to Africa -- with no word on his trophies, black or white -- leaves Texans unable to judge his capacity or success in bringing de Gaulle's hide back from France.

ABC's and Jack Valent[illegible]splay of his trophies from France and Africa at the San Antonio International Hemisfair will be a great attraction but a bit late for Texans to help Mr. Johnson decide whether Honest John should assist him again with Box 13 and be his next running-mate, or at least his Texas image.

The contrast of Eisenhower's November, 1967 gift of his farm, another business, to the government and the early announcement of grandson David's 1970 marriage to Julie Nixon, makes one wonder whether the Governor should not have gone to Moscow, where Romney is going and the Soviet has proclaimed its intent of receiving and screening all 1968 US candidates—the job it started at Glassboro.

With Reagan raising hundreds of thousands of dollars in speeches ($100 a plate) for the Republicans and Nixon speaking in NY for Jacob Javits' reelection at a testimonial dinner ($125 a plate) and Romney's visit to Moscow, Connally will need a lot of trophies at the Hemisfair. Certainly no one would discredit the importance of de Gaulle mounted and stuffed and hung on the wall – quite a prize when he has already commenced selling war planes and submarines to South Africa.

However, Mr. Johnson's recent commitment to build three billion dollars worth of naval planes prepared to attack Soviet subs and to establish missile bases in US cities (including Dallas) for attack against Red China leaves Texans bewildered as to which war and attack comes first. The attack on the Soviet, on China or on South Africa.

Since Mr. Johnson said he was doing the "overcomin' ", that "the Cold War is over", and all we k[illegible]bout Glassboro is his "eyeball to eyeball"—[illegible]1968 election won't amount to muc[illegible] from the voter's point of view.

As usual the voter can spend his time going to $100-a-plate dinners or a Hemisfair or wondering what he can give David and Julie for a wedding present in 1970 – if he has any money left.

Any republican-democrat voter trying to unravel "heads you win tails I lose" should [illegible]account that the Israelis, this sam[illegible] November, announced a million-an[illegible] monument being built in Israel to [illegible] their country, H. Solomon Truman [illegible] might suggest to Castro that he do [illegible] D. D. Eisenhower. Sad it is that poor J. F. Kennedy didn't get a chance to father any country. Even his effort to help Ben Bella failed.

The home of the communist, Eugene Debs, was accepted by Udall as a national shrine within a month of his acceptance of Eisenhower's 230-acre farm. Eisenhower does not owe the American people a farm – he gave them Castro.

Edwin A. Walker

1968 – DANGER FEAR – FEA[illegible] DANGER

"It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God." (Hebrews 10:31)

A fearful thing must be dangerous. Only danger produces fear.

A fearful thing to fall into the hands of a living God is a dangerous thing to be in the hands of a dead God.

To fall from the danger[redacted]nds of a dead God into the hands of a living God is a fearful thing.

Witness the inseparable "danger-fear" that has stripped a nation of its virtue -- the fear of danger that prevails in the hands of a dead God.

Witness the danger-fear that prevails in every national election.

Witness the politics of democrat danger and republican fear.

Summitry, war and brinkmanship plague the voter like the craft of witches -- the national campaigns of "danger-fear" and "fear-danger" -- inseparable in any sequence.

Forty-three million voters rushing to the polls to vote for Johnson to save them from his "danger-fear" campaign was no pretty sight. While 27 million, who had a little more faith or a little less hope of Johnson's saving them found all they could do was oppose him under republican-party leadership of fearing the democrat danger -- a danger-and-fear campaign of two parties as inseparable as danger and fear.

With enough danger, there will be enough fear -- enough to assure that a gullible public, classified as unable to govern itself, will prove its case, as the bipartisan gullible mass -- republican-democrat -- of danger and fear -- a Great Society that elected its Great dangerful President, opposed by a fearful party opponent in 1964 -- and in 1968.

A national vote of fearful danger every four years shows little respect, little hope, and extends little assistance to a living God or the future of a nation.

November, 1967

Edwin A. Walker

[redacted] SPLIT

Wallace has been accused of splitting everything but the Sino-Soviet Axis. Someday the gullible and liberal-baited may realize that to have a choice there has to be a split. A choice from no choice is a split. What else? Few people yet understand or put the deserved emphasis on strategy -- th[redacted] a choice -- that all deserve.

The so-called parties only -- and on[redacted] arrange or re-arrange -- to make anyo[redacted] effort advantageous or disadvantageou[redacted] avoided -- the first necessity for a choice. The shocking betrayal -- highest party treason ever -- was performed in the Cow Palace, 1964, and continues in intended disunity in the republican party today as the necessary front and procurer -- for liberalism -- no choice and for the democrat party.

Now we see Kid Kennedy's-McCarthy, well-financed, in the Fulbright nest -- allowable, of course, to keep doves and hawks in the democrat party, as LBJ originally arranged -- and even, to him, worth any cost -- to have the campaign war opponent in the democrat party. No [redacted]e.

Look carefully again and you will see in the republican party, with its Rockefeller, Eisenhower, Nixon, Romney, Goldwater, Reagan, Percy and Thurmond (if he allows himself to be "used") a clever disunited front, as in 1964, providing the political barrier even to a proposal, much less the attempt at -- a choice -- the barrier that protects the democrat party and more -- bipartisan liberalism.

To even think in the terms of the "two-party system" and its protective-procurer system, is chasing butterflies.

December, 1967 Edwin A. Walker

1968–THE UNTOUCHABLE EISENHOWER-JOHNSON PLATFORM

THE PLATFORM:

That the United Nations Organization is the instrument through which the US and USSR solve and control all the world problems and finance the solution and the future.

That two integrated friends, Soviet and US, with one carrying the burden of the revolution inside China and the other the burden of combat in Vietnam, must support each other and continue their operations in Asia -- revolution and combat --as long as there are advantages and gains to the UNO, its concept and Charter.

Neither the Soviet nor the US expects to negotiate until there is mutual agreement that each and both have secured and accomplished all possible gains -- most of which evolve out of Soviet action inside Asia.

That the world must be ruled by "dualism" – the act and process of turning two into one – through the one UNO.

That American voters and office-seekers will have no part at the polls on this overriding bipartisan-platform policy or anything affecting it -- Cuba, Rhodesia, Vietnam, or escalation in Asia versus de-escalation in Europe.

That a Declaration of War in Vietnam would conflict with, and be a complete contradiction of, the process of dualism and its implementation in the UNO.

That Castro-Cuba is no issue. He is the [redacted] mentation of dualism - integration in the [redacted] sphere, providing the base of operations and [redacted] ment of UNO Forces -- Soviet and Cu[redacted] missiles.

The boycott of Rhodesia is a Declaration of War. The war "is necessary" to force integration of whites and/or blacks into the UNO spectrum of submission to "dualism" instead of continued alliances, dependence and protectorate status to various European countries -- Spain, Portugal, France, Germany and England -- which can only be maintained by present white governments.

That negotiation in SE Asia between friends -- Soviet and US -- will be accomplished at the conference table under the concept of UNO-dualism, two as one, allied in the best interests of world control and equality.

This is the 1968 republican-democrat, Eisenhower-Johnson, Bipartisan, Untouchable platform.

Honorable Richard B. Russell

My dear Senator:

Your communication dated March 24, 1970, with enclosures from Edwin A. Walker, former Major General, U. S. Army, resigned, was received.

Based on information contained in Mr. Walker's letter to you dated January 21, 1970, he is probably referring to the attempt made on his life which occurred on April 10, 1963, in Dallas, Texas. This incident was investigated by the Dallas Police Department and remained unsolved until after the assassination of President Kennedy.

Information furnished by Marina Oswald, as well as other evidence obtained during the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy, relating to this incident, was furnished to the President's Commission which concluded Lee Harvey Oswald did attempt to take the life of Mr. Walker. You may desire to refer to "The President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy, Report" beginning on page 183. Additional information is also revealed in Mr. Walker's testimony before Mr. Wesley J. Liebeler, former assistant counsel of the President's Commission, which appears in Volume XI, "Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy" beginning on page 404.

This is submitted for your information in response to your request and Mr. Walker's letters addressed to you dated January 21, 1970, and March 11, 1970, are enclosed.

Walker claims there is a perfect bullet hole through a copper strip in his window that would produce better evidence regarding the gun used than that which the Dallas Police obtained. A number of inquiries were made relative to Oswald's possible involvement in the attempt on Walker's life. The results were furnished to the Warren Commission which concluded Oswald did fire at Walker. No comment is being made concerning Curry's book as it was thoroughly reviewed by our Dallas Office. It was found to contain numerous errors and inaccuracies and it appears Curry's purpose in writing it is to make money.

Since the Senator asked for a copy of our letter in duplicate, it can be assumed one copy will be furnished to Walker and we do not want to give Walker any additional ammunition to carry on his continuing feud with the Dallas Police Department.

Dear Senator Russell:

Mr. Jesse Curry, the Chief of Police of Dallas in November, 1963, now retired, has recently released a book.

The book is entitled "Retired Dallas Police Chief Jesse Curry reveals his personal JFK Assassination File." This book presents to the public that there are no facts upon which to establish that Lee H. Oswald killed the President, and that Curry has never had the proof of it.

I do believe that on such an issue the public deserves nothing that will add to fallacy and contradiction.

Possibly you do not know that in my home window today is the perfect bullet hole through a copper strip in the window that would produce better evidence regarding the gun used, than that which the Dallas police got in the form of a bullet that was so mutilated, it was unrecognizable after having passed through a masonry wall.

It is obvious that law enforcement agents would rather not recognize the need for evidence.

Should you have need for real evidence, I will be glad to consider your need.

Memorandum

TO : Mr. [redacted] DATE: 10/12/70

FROM : G. E. [redacted]

SUBJECT: EDWIN A. WALKER
4011 TURTLE CREEK BOULEVARD
DALLAS, TEXAS

The purpose of this memorandum is to recommend that no acknowledgement be made of a letter received 10/8/70 from captioned individual. Correspondent is former Major General Edwin A. Walker who has been, in the past, the subject of frequent press comment. Walker reportedly resigned from the military service after being critized for methods of indoctrinating troops. His letter is critical of both the Director's comments on campus problems and recent comments of President Nixon. He charges that both commentaries are out of date. He charges that Mr. Nixon as Commander in Chief, should look homeward rather than overseas to find the enemy. His letter is critical of Administration policies.

In the past Walker has reportedly charged that the United Nations is immoral and that its late Secretary Dag Hammarskjold was a "Red Swede" who took instructions from Moscow. He also has alleged that the United Nations is in complete control of U. S. foreign policy and has made other charges concerning United Nations control over the U. S. A. Baltimore psychiatrist has allegedly described Walker as showing signs of grandiosity, confusion and poor judgement.

In view of Walker's background, it is not felt his letter should be acknowledged.

RECOMMENDATION:

That his letter be filed without acknowledgement.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have noted your release regarding students and the way the "ratpack" works among them, with Mosco, Washington and Peking money. Then I got Mr. Nixon's enclosure to the leaders of educational institutions.

I admire both intents. Of course it is my "fixed" opinion that Mr. Tate of SMU wouldn't dare read the correspondence to his student body, nor would his professors do it for him. Unpopularity in association loses friends and jobs.

I began with the idea of extending your effort. But after reading Mr. Nixon's letter, I realized that "reaching as many as possible" means "little and less than nothing to university chiefs.

I was trying to overlook the use of the word dissent and the authorizati of dissent. The ratpack campus professors and clergy and the law-abidin public agree that $43 million worth of campus destruction is quite effec dissent--political dissent.

Robbing stores and banks for funds for the revolution is a "revolutiona legality" and "justifiably legal" their dissent- funding process--if e one should really object. Briefly stated, your definition and that of Mr. Nixon is out of date.

Should Mr. Nixon, Commander in Chief, take a good look at what he and Chief of Staff in the Armed Forces ordered and directed as authori dissent, he will find that authorized dissenters on the campus have an authorized and official pro-enemy "bed" in the soldier's barracks, trai and foxhole--with a gun--right beside the anti-enemy son and soldier.

One can ask, why go to a jungle or a desert to fight an enemy? We ha pretty good fight on the campuses and on the army fighting and trainin grounds--Ft. Benning, Ft. Vietnam, Ft. Hood, Ord and the rest.

Certainly a "progressive" US Senate could not be surprised by one beds of dissent "turning up" another Oswald in the form of a soldi man who has hijacked an airplane loaded with bombs, which could be wel used "to overthrow the US Senate capitol."

Respectfully,

Edwin A. Walker

Dear Senator Mansfield:

As a catholic and head of all official majorities -- church, party and State for 16 years you are aware of the secret briefings of priests, rabbis and preachers, by Billy Graham and Mr. Kissinger in the White House. The briefings cover the secret policies of the U. S. Senate.

Briefings work both ways -- State to church and church to State. Dr. Criswell, from his pulpit, told Graham, Kissinger and the public, after the briefing, that he had changed his position and beliefs on State issues.

The constitution provides for freedom of religion, free beliefs and speech, separate from the State.

You and your majorities with McGovern (supported by Vice-President Humphrey and your coming Whip, Eddie K.) signed the Senate's Tonkin Sea'd Declaration of War, directing the President' action. All signers are well aware of the statement in the document which says, "This resolution shall expire when the President shall determine that the peace and security of the area is reasonably assured by international conditions created by action of the United Nations."

This statement can be correctly paraphrased in a dozen different ways to properly answer all questions about the bloody jungle war in Asia -- its beginning without public and military support and its ending in military retreat and defeat.

If it means what it says and what 80 signatures confirm, all the diatribes and propaganda by senators and their booby tube generals, are hog-wash regarding Vietnam and Israel.

Your explanation would be the official one since four presidents-- dead, assassinated, ditched and rattling on, are too short-termed to be consistent in the public's eye. There are plans and consistency and you would know them. All is not so incredible, but more serious-- with the shooting of a president and two presidential candidate[redacted]

I will be happy to help educate the public -- by distrib[redacted] your reply.

Police States have always briefed their State Pulpiteers. If they did not go along they were, and are, defrocked.

Gen. Walker as a Candidate

Decision to Run for Governor of Texas Seen Unwelcome to Conservatives

Retired Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's candidacy for Governor of Texas is unwelcome to conservatives on two counts.

It materially reduces his effectiveness as a witness before the Stennis subcommittee on the purported muzzling of the military. He was slated to appear as a military hero who forfeited his retirement pay in order to crusade against communism. Now by his own action he has added that overtone of right-wing politics which had been charged against him by his civilian superiors.

The Walker candidacy will drain off funds which the conservatives badly need and will tend to identify them with the John Birch society of which the General admits he is a member. Many of them had taken up his cause aainst the Pentagon and had hoped to use him in various campaigns in and outside Texas.

Gen. Walker refused to take political advice of any kind from his principal sponsor, Senator Thurmond, South Carolina Democrat, and from the two Texas Republican members of Congress, Senator Tower and Representative Alger. Senator Thurmond is particularly embarrassed as he demanded and got the Stennis hearings. Senator Tower and Mr. Alger wanted him to postpone political action and possibly later run as a Republican.

No one here is particularly surprised that the general has chosen a course which seems to his would-be mentors unwise. From the moment he began his public appearances it was clear that he lacked political instinct, either good or bad. The only role possible for him was that of earnest hero.

He told reporters when he filed in the Democratic primary last week end that as Governor he believed he could help stop "the American retreat from victory based on a no-win policy." American voters have still to elect a Governor for foreign policy reasons, a fact of political life with which the very much better known Richard Nixon is wrestling in California.

The Walker candidacy will have meaning, however, in that it will afford some idea of the true pulling power of the issues promoted by the Birchers.

Press surveys indicate that the sentiments they profess are more firmly and more widely rooted in Texas and California than anywhere else. Walker will be running in an impressive field which includes Gov. Price Daniel and former Navy Secretary John Connolly, a protege of Vice President Johnson. If he does at all well, it will be significant.

The Texas primary is May 5. One month later men holding roughly the Walker views will be running in the California primary for the Republican nominations for Governor and Senator. Two incumbent Republican Congressmen who are Birch Society members are also seeking renomination.

If the far right does well for Gen. Walker in Texas, it might mean a last-minute, all-out effort will be forthcoming in California.

The Texas situation is, nationally speaking, a challenge to the Vice President. The Daniel candidacy is a blow to his hopes for Connolly, as incumbent Governors are hard to beat.

'Thunder on Right' Is Walker's Hope

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 3 (UPI).—Ultra-conservative former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker said today that "thunder on the right" will elect him governor of Texas on the single plank of anti-communism.

He refused to say whether he believes a vote against him will be a vote for Communism.

Gen. Walker, 52, who resigned from the Army last Nov. 2 after an uproar over his "pro-blue" anti-Communist program for troops of the 24th Division in Germany, filed as a Democratic candidate for Governor yesterday.

He met reporters today in his first news conference as a political candidate and assailed the "no win policy' of the federal government.

Gen. Walker said the controversial John Birch Society, to which he belongs, "complements the United States military forces in their efforts to expose and indoctrinate troops adequately in combating an enemy like communism."

Gen. Walker joined the Birch Society in 1959. He entered the race for Governor of Texas against the advice of two of the nation's conservative leaders—Sen. John Towert (R.-Tex.) and Sen. Strom Thurmond (D.-S. C.).

He denied that billionaire H. L. Hunt of Dallas, Tex., another ultra-conservative, is backing his campaign.

Gen. Walker's Democratic opponents in a primary in May will be Price Daniel, the present Governor; former Navy Secretary John B. Connally; Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson; Houston lawyer Don Yarlborough and former Highway Commissioner Marshall Formby.

In Noisy Texas Primary

Walker's Plunge to Test the 'Right'

By Chalmers M. Roberts
Staff Reporter

News Analysis

Retired Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's plunge into the Democratic gubernatorial primary in Texas guarantees both a noisy fight in the Lone Star State and a test of national importance of the Radical Right's political pulling power.

From the standpoint of conservatives who have shied away from the extremist groups such as the John Birch Society, to which Walker belongs, the General's candidacy is not exactly welcome.

Walker is too egocentric, too inarticulate, too naive for the political-minded. This was amply indicated by the fruitless pleas to Walker not to run by conservative Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas and conservative Democrat Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the one-time Dixiecrat presidential candidate.

Texas' lone GOP Congressman, Rep. Bruce Alger, asked Walker to "carry his story to the people before adopting a political tag" — and run later on as a Republican. But Walker rejected all such advice.

At an Austin press conference yesterday where, United Press International reported, his hands shook and he smoked cigarettes nervously, the General said he believes that as Governor he could help stop "the American retreat from victory based on a no-win policy that has put this Nation in dire peril."

He also said he had reports that former Mexican President Lazaro Cardenas is getting arms the same way Fidel Castro did before he captured Cuba. Walker added that "it would be well for Texans to know this."

The 52-year-old General's candidacy means he will compete in the May 5 primary, unless some candidates withdraw, with Gov. Price Daniel, seeking an unprecedented fourth term; former Navy Secretary John B. Connally, considered Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's man; Texas Attorney General Will Wilson; Houston attorney Don Yarborough and former Highway Commissioner Marshall Formby.

The two high men in the May primary will enter a runoff on June 2. The winner will face a Republican, probably ultra-conservative former Democrat Jack Cox, in November.

As one observer in Austin told The Washington Post yesterday, Gov. Daniel "is the man to beat." Yarborough is the most liberal of the group but some of the others will have liberal backing. Vice President Johnson also has worked well with Daniel in the past.

Walker said yesterday he could not remember if he had ever voted for a Democrat but that he might have voted for Franklin D. Roosevelt. He said the Birch Society "complements the United States military forces in their effort to expose the enemy and indoctrinate troops adequately in combating an enemy like communism."

Texas is one of the hotbeds of the rightwing extremists and Walker is the hero of a lot of them. Every indication is that he will have plenty of money; indeed, he has been receiving contributions from all over the country ever since he quit the Army after he was reprimanded for his troop indoctrination program. Yesterday he denied he ever recommended a candidate for office to his troops.

Walker denied he was being backed by oil millionaire H. L. Hunt, a Texan who has financed many rightwing organizations.

How many votes Walker can get is any man's guess. Certainly it would startle Texas politicians, and indeed politicians everywhere, if he could make the runoff.

The vote he does receive, however, is likely to be taken as the most significant evidence this year of the political pulling power of the Radical Right in the United States.

Other tests will come in California's June 5 primary where ultra-rightists are running in the Republican primary against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for Governor and Sen. Thomas Kuchel for Senator. Walker's showing in May, if it turned out big, might even have an effect in California.

Walker is one of those convinced that conservatism is sweeping the Nation. Yesterday he said that "the response of the American people to the mounting peril is heard in the so-called thunder on the right."

On May 5 Americans will get a good clue as to the volume of that thunder.

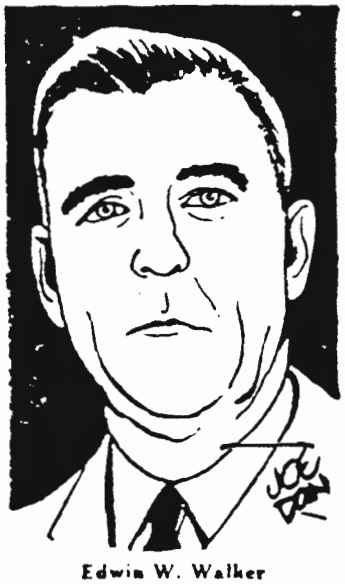
Capital Circus

By TED LEWIS

Washington, Feb. 3.—The Democratic Party's campaign plans for the nationwide fall elections have up to now included an effort to convince voters that the GOP was in cahoots with the John Birch Society and the lunatic right wing fringe generally.

This strategy, of dubious merit anyway, is going to have to be revised in a hurry. Party eggheads who thought up the propaganda line never had any idea that right within their own party was the nation's most outspoken crusader for ultra-conservatism. We refer to former Maj. Gen. Edwin W. Walker, who joined the Birch Society in 1959.



Edwin W. Walker
Democrats' right winger

Democratic Party leaders had assumed until Friday, when Walker filed as a Democratic candidate for governor of Texas, that the distinguished ex-soldier was a no-party man. They figured his party leanings were most uncertain, somewhat like Ike's before 1952.

The individual most embarrassed by finding himself a party bedmate with Gen. Walker is California Gov. Pat Brown. Only a few weeks ago, he charged that Richard Nixon, his probable GOP opponent for reelection, was tied in with all far right organizations and that of course all voters know all ultra-conservatives are Republicans.

Walker's chances of winning the Democratic nomination in Texas are considered far from good, but his candidacy will add spark to a primary fight that is already a brawl. There are five other candidates, including Vice President Johnson's choice, and former Navy Secretary John Connally. Walker is banking on a six-way split of the vote, which would favor him, as one of the two top popular choices to reach the run-off primary.

Walker's decision to get into partisan politics instead comes at the very time that a big controversy within conservative ranks has broken out over whether the John Birch Society as now run hurts or helps the cause.

National Review, the periodical of which William F. Buckley Jr. is editor, almost always expresses the viewpoint of intelligent conservatives. In its latest issue it raises the question of whether the time hasn't come for the John Birch Society to dump its founder, Robert Welch.

Buckley's organ said that Welch "is damaging the cause of anti-Communism" by such statements as one last month to the effect that "Washington's visible will (is) to win this cold war—for the Soviets."

Too Much Smoke from the Typewriter

The indictment of W[illegible] came to this conclusion:

"John Birch chapters [illegible] to forward those aims (involving militant conservative action) but only as they dissipate the fog of confusion that issues from Mr. Welch's smoking typewriter. Mr. Welch has revived in many men the spirit of patriotism, and that same spirit calls now for rejecting, out of a love of truth and country, his false counsels."

Various big shot Republicans, including Sen. Barry Goldwater (Ariz.), would be most happy if Welch would take Buckley's advice. But they are not optimistic.

It is obvious that Goldwater, if he decides to seek the 1964 Presidential nomination, will at some point have to widen his appeal to middle-of-the-road Republicans. He is now the hero of the right wing, thus in an area where Welch and his Birch Society members are operating. Even if Goldwater does not shake hands with them, neither can he wave them away.

Four months ago in Washington there was plenty of evidence that things were going wrong in the operations of the Kennedy Administration. It was a low point. Most of the blame centered on the President. He was over-cautious. Another complaint was that he either lacked leadership qualitites or was refusing to use them. Certain subordinates were messing things up and what was worse, they were neither fired or reprimanded.

There has been a change since, but the planted claim should be discounted that the Administration is now really rolling, because at last there is plenty of Kennedy-directed motion.

Washington observers old enough to know better are finding a transformation occurring of great significance. Yet only one trivial bit of evidence gives any strong support to these favorable assessments.

You Can Tell by the Way He Acts

The evidence concerns the President's present behavior. For two weeks at least he has shown uncommon bounce. There has been a cocky confidence radiating from him. All this suggests that for once he feels on top of all big problems.

How Kennedy looks and acts does not, however, mean that the Administration is rolling in the sense that one big success after another may be expected in this election year. It only means that the President, after many trials and errors, is moving in the direction he promised in his 1960 election campaign.

He has become an activist. He is daring to try out for size some innovations which he had talked about before being elected, but never delivered in his first year in office.

He has dared to try to open a direct line between the Kremlin and the White House. That is the significance of his talks here with Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei. He has also for the first time dared to take on the GOP on a hot political issue, outfoxing them on his proposal for an urban affairs department headed by a Negro. Last year he declined to roil Republicans in the interest of national unity.

A reminder: if the Administration is in forward motion it won't be for long. Congress will be whacking down the President's "must" bills. The new approach to Russia is very risky. Things generally will get worse before they get better as the President himself has prophesied.

STICK TO THE POINT

Statements from two prominent citizens featured the opening yesterday of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee's probe into alleged Administration muzzling of anti-Communist military men.

Eisenhower

Lovett

Ex-Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett issued a long plea for virtually forbidding any officer to discuss politics in public.

Ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower said he thought military men should be encouraged to speak out against Communism, "always under properly established policies and the general—not petty—supervision of their civilian superiors."

Thus, Lovett views the Communist Party as just another political party—which it is not. Gen. Eisenhower, on the other hand, is for treating it as a worldwide criminal conspiracy—which it is.

We hope the Senate subcommittee—chairman, Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.)—will stick to this point through the investigation, which was triggered by the Pentagon's attempt to muzzle Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker when he insisted on telling the troops what Communism is and why it is mankind's current Public Enemy No. 1.

Sen. J. William (Be Kind to Commies) Fulbright (D-Ark.) also is in this picture, as the lawmaker who directed the Pentagon to gag anti-Communist officers. Let's hear plenty about Fulbright from Stennis & Co.

Let's, indeed, have the entire Pentagon censorship setup exposed and evaluated in this investigation. That is what the investigation is for, and no diversionary moves by Lovett or anybody else should be allowed to throw it off course.

ASTS IN PALOS VERDES

Walker Tells Problems Confronting Americans

By FLOYD RINEHART
Daily Breeze Staff Writer

They grow 'em tall down Texas way.

And, Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker is no ex-[illegible]. He's tall in stature and in principle.

Since he resigned his commission as a U.S. army general in November to actively participate in the American struggle against communism, Walker has skyrocketed to national and international prominence.

Following his anti-Communist talk Thursday night before 13,000 Southlanders at Los Angeles Sports Arena, Walker took time out to visit friends living in Palos Verdes Estates.

Walker was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. E. [illegible] Clay, 1404 Granvia Altamira.

Clay served as a major under Walker during World War II when Walker was in command of the 1st Special Service Force, combined Canadian-American paratroop group.

Two other members of the former special service group, James J. Kurzhal, San Francisco, and Dr. George Evashwick, Long Beach, and their wives also were on hand during the Friday night dinner party.

Walker has joined the ranks of other, now famous military men, who were "fired" from their posts for running against administrative political tide, including Gens. Douglas MacArthur and William (Billy) Mitchell.

Walker resigned his commission as a general last November, after he was relieved of his post as commandant of the 24th Infantry Division, stationed in Augsberg, West Germany.

He was relieved following charges he told his troops how to vote and indoctrinated them with John Birch Society anti-Communist materials through a troop education program, the Pro Blue Program.

During an exclusive interview with Walker, at the Clays home, he said the Pro Blue Program was an inspiration to the 24th Division.

Its basic intent was to re-establish sense of determination and inspire responsibility as soldier-citizens, loyalty to the U.S. and make friends with the Germans.

"During my 17 months of command with the 24th, probably 20,000 troops and 15,000 dependents took part in the Pro Blue Program," Walker said.

"However, the program was hampered by high turnover of troops—about 50 per cent annually."

Walker said the program would have taken another year to reach full effectiveness.

He said, although, the Pro Blue Program still exists, "it is a long way from what it was seven months ago."

"The seven persons responsible for its administration have been transferred elsewhere in the Army," said Walker.

Querried about his basic reasons for becoming a member of the John Birch Society, Walker said:

"It began when I served in the Korean War.

"It stems from a determination to find out why the U.S. was not allowed to win the Korean War."

Walker said in 1959 he began an investigation to find out which groups in the U.S. were most effective in carrying on causes of the U.S.

"I found in the John Birch Society a common cause, interest and purpose, directed to recognize and expose the enemy—communism," Walker said.

Walker also said if he were not a member of the society now, he would immediately join in opposition to anti anti-communism in the U.S.

Walker said the effectiveness of the John Birch Society is seen in resistance to it by Communists and left-wingers.

A reawakening of the American spirit is growing tremendously," according to Walker.

An observation made by Walk- is that Mexico is marked by e Communists as the next Lat- American country to go under yoke.

In support of his statement, alker said it is known from reorts inside Mexico and the El so press, arms are being shipd to ex-president of Mexico, rdenas, for revolutionary purses.

"These arms are being landed in Mexico from the same sources which gave arms to Castro," Walker said.

In answer to queries in connection with his anti-Communist talk in the Sports Arena, Walker said popular response was beyond his greatest hopes.

"I didn't think the Sports Arena would be half filled; instead, there was a near capacity audience in attendance. It was tremendous."

Good Group

Walker said audience response to key points he made during the address is indicative Southern Californians have a good grasp of world conditions.

In addition, Walker said he has received similar responses from audiences in Dallas, Amarillo and the Southern states where he has spoken.

His next talk will be given Jan. 20 in Midland, Tex. The speech is planned for nationwide radio hookup and relay to Stuttgart, Germany.

People Dissatisfied

Walker said it is obvious persons throughout America are dissatisfied with present world conditions and government handling of problems in the life-or-death struggle against the Communist menace.

"American military commanders dare not move without first consulting political functionaries," Walker said.

He said it might be three days to a week before the green light is given from Washington to take action.

He severely criticized remarks he attributed to retired Gen. Omar Bradley stating:

"Gen. Bradley holds to a doctrine of 'inevitableism.' He feared a mistake over Berlin between the United States and the Soviet Union. He said the recognition of East Germany is inevitable. He said the recognition of Red China is inevitable.

"I disagree with him on every opinion. I do not agree that it is even inevitable that we remain in the United Nations."

STANDING OVATION

This remark brought the crowd to their feet and roars of approval sounded throughout the arena for a few minutes.

Gen. Walker was introduced to the audience by Dr. L. A. Aleson, director emeritus of the Freedom Club of the First Congregational Church, who held the rally. Dr. James W. Fifield, Jr read the invocation.

At the opening of the rally, an unknown friend of the general presented him with a headquarters command general's standard, which he waved to the plaudits of the crowd.

OWN STANDARDS

The crowd also waved their own standards, which were captioned with many of the ideas and thoughts of the general. Some of them read:

"Unmuzzle the Military," "Clean Out the State Department," "Communism Is Our Enemy," "Freedom at Any Price," "Win With Walker," and many others.

FIGHTING MAN

Describing himself as a soldier without uniform, the 53-year-old fighting man hit his deprecators.

"I spent 20 years fighting for my country and God willing, I will spend 30 years more."

He said his cause is not anti-anything but pro-American—"first, last and always."

"I have been accused of attacking the military," he said. This is false. I am defending the military to defend you.

STATE DEPT.

"I have no regret except one—that the efforts and sacrifice of these military forces have been so badly undermined by the State Department and their leadership that this great nation is in dire peril."

Gen. Walker charged that the government of the United States has allowed a "Frankenstein" to become an evil that has "perpetrated and perpetuated" in this country since 193.

"Now you see subversive efforts in your schools and churches," he remarked, "they are led by Harvard and Columbia, to brainwash our future soldiers."

Gen. Walker further charged collaboration by American forces with the Communists under the United Nations in Korea and in the recent actions in the UN operation in Katanga province. He comemnted:

"The only difference is that in Korea, we fought Communists and in Katanga we are fighting anti-Communists. In Korea we secretly collaborated with the Communists. In Katanga, we openly collaborate."

REBUKES IKE

Gen. Walker also rebuked former Pres. Eisenhower for his celebrated "coexistence" with the Russians. Gen. Walker quoted Eisenhower as having stated that there is no alternative to peace.

"If there is no alternative to peace, there is no need for the U.S. Army. You have been brainwashed.

"If you have listened to Eisenhower's coexistence plan, he truthfully means conversion plan."

Gen. Walker also took a swipe at India's recent "liberation" of Goa, remarking that the United States failure to act on Portugal's part "might well have cost us a very important friend."

A question and answer period followed Walker's talk. Benediction was said by Rabbi Max E. Merritt. It was announced that the admittance charge would go to the educational program of the Freedom Club.

3—He has been a member of the John Birch Society since May of 1959, but even if he weren't he would become one to combat the current "anti-anti-communism."

4—American soldiers will fight but today they must "fight for the right to fight."

5—There are "all sorts of people" in the U.S. government who assist the Communist cause "with or without intent" by reducing individual rights, states rights and national sovereignty.

6—He could, but wouldn't at this time, name a "few" Communist sympathizers in the State Department. But there are many all-out believers in Socialism, which is really no different.

7—The Communists haven't failed to infiltrate anything in America, including the press. And the press has been misrepresenting the situation, this country's image — and himself.

8—He has "never told a soldier who to vote for." It would be difficult even for himself to say whether he is a Democrat or a Republican. And he has made no plans or commitments to run or campaign for anything except America.

Asked about former Vice President Nixon's advice to Republicans to shun extremists on both left and right, Walker said:

"I would hate to see someone start down one of your streets in the middle of the road and see what would happen to him.

Backs Extremists

"If he (Nixon) is indicating middle-of-the-road leadership, we have had enough of it. This country was not established by moderates. If it's superpatriots and extremists we need, I suggest we get them."

As for the Pentagon's announcement this week of a committee to study and advise on indoctrination of military personnel, Walker said:

"It's about time. It's badly needed. It's 15 years behind time."

Walker flew in from Tucson at 12:20 p.m. Wednesday aboard a Continental Airlines Viscount.

"Keep fighting, General," the crowd yelled, waving placards marked "Win With Walker" and "Walker 'Ism' Heap Big Patriot" and "We Want Walker."

"I can't help but fight and win," he shouted back, before wading into the airport crowd to shake hands and sign autographs.

At one point he exchanged his Texas Stetson for a paper Uncle Sam hat and posed for photographers.

He joined the crowd singing "God Bless America."

Dozens of American flags waved in the crowd. As he reached the bottom of the steps from the plane he received a red, white and blue bouquet from Andre Papas, 5.

On hand to greet him were Dr. L. A. Alesen, director emeritus of the Freedom Club; Gerald A. Sheppard, chairman of the executive committee of the Freedom

WELCOME FOR WALKER—Edwin A. Walker wears a paper Uncle Sam hat given to him by someone in a cheering group of about 50 gathered to welcome him at airport. He will speak tonight at Sports Arena.

Club; Wes Cameron on loan from the Ingram Paper Co. to help publicity for the program and Jim Bishop of Bishop and Associates, public relations firm, which has volunteered to handle publicity for the rally.

Uses Caution

In a brief airport interview Walker was cautious, answering questions only after lengthy pauses.

"I have no planned commitment at the moment," he said when asked about his political plans. He has been urged to run for the governorship of Texas and the Presidency of the United States.

"There's quite a bit of time left," he noted when quizzed about the deadline for filing in the gubernatorial race.

He said his topic tonight will be the military cause and its relation to the American people."

He said he had noted on his recent travels a rise in the patriotism of Americans and a demand of the people for their rights under the Constitution.

When pressed for details, he said he was referring to freedom and liberty when he mentioned Constitutional rights, and he mentioned particularly states' rights.

A car full of extra police was on duty at the airport but there was no disturbance.

The crowd gave the cheers and sang "God [illegible] America" as Walker [illegible] off to the downtown conference.

Okinawa Has General Problem

By Drew Pearson

IF FAIR-MINDED Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi goes ahead with the proposed probe of Gen. Edwin Walker and his John Birch activities, he will be urged to broaden the investigation to include some other generals.

Among them probably will be Lt. Gen. Donald Booth who, as commander at San Antonio, permitted reserve officers to get retirement credits for attending a seminar where right-wing extremists blasted Franklin D. Roosevelt and George C. Marshall as pro-Communist.

General Booth has an interesting record. An Army engineer, he became the youngest theater commander in World War II, did a fine job in the Persian Gulf shipping supplies to Russia.

Later as commander on Okinawa, his plans for welcoming President Eisenhower in June 19, 1960, were thwarted by throngs of snake-dancing Okinawans.

When U. S. Marines were ordered to fix bayonets, Okinawan college girls unbuttoned their blouses, bared their breasts and dared the Marines to advance against their naked bosoms. The scene brought more Okinawans into the demonstration. In the main this was not General Booth's fault.

BUT BEHIND the demonstrations was a long record of repressive United States military policy by various military commanders, including the censorship of news and repressive measures against Associated Press and United Press International representatives, and the one American newspaper on the islands, the Okinawa Star.

This column, which reported on General Booth's John Birch type of seminar at San Antonio, has now probed some of his activities on Okinawa. During his command, James E. Roseberry was fired as news editor of the Okinawa Star as the direct result of military pressure because he had written a relatively innocuous editorial criticizing the commander of Kadena Air Force Base for rotating the proper wearing apparel for civilians and military personnel.

Peter Craigmoe was later fired as news editor of the Star and forced to leave the island, where he was also UPI correspondent, because of military pressure.

"My contract as news editor of the Star was terminated," Craigmoe stated, "because General Booth's information officer, Col. William Nelson, threatened the publisher with economic pressure."

"You have been the best thing that's happened to the Star," Craigmoe's editor, Robert Prosser, told him. "What it amounts to is that you have done too good a job for the United Press International, and the Army can't afford to have any publicity sent off this island."

Craigmoe had reported, on instructions from UPI foreign editor Phil Newsom, the "killer commandos" being trained on Okinawa; also the fact that the natives objected to having Nike-Hercules missiles fired from Okinawa.

AS A RESULT, the Army's counter-intelligence launched an investigation of his personal and professional life—exactly the same tactics used by the John Birchers against those they disagree with—and he was called pro-Communist. Actually, Craigmoe has been a long-time Oregon Republican, once helped manage the campaign of GOP Congressman Harris Ellsworth.

When Roseberry and Craigmoe departed, they were replaced by Capt. Dick Williams, a reserve Army captain, and by an Army public relations officer, Sgt. Jerry Heaster.

Usually Army news censorship on Okinawa has taken the form of tax-free liquor, cigarettes, low-cost steak dinners, staff cars and other benefits at the officers clubs for those who cooperate; a blackout on news for those who don't cooperate.

But on occasion, both under General Booth and his predecessor, Lt. Gen. James E. Moore, the Army has got even tougher.

When Jack Rillstone, Reuters correspondent, queried public relations officer Nelson for a statement about the firing of the Army's first Nike-Hercules, Colonel Nelson told him:

"If you print a word about that I'll see that you're thrown off the island."

According to Craigmoe: "Soon after arriving on Okinawa in July, 1957, as news editor of the Okinawa bureau, Pacific Stars and Stripes, I saw one of my reporters unceremoniously thrown off the island for doing his job well. The reporter was Army Specialist Osie Jones, a Negro feature writer who photographed South Viet-Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and wrote an article about his visit to High Commissioner Gen. James E. Moore.

"When the article, published in Stars and Stripes, arrived in Okinawa, Maj. Gordon Knapp, public relations information officer, came into my office and demanded that Jones be put off the island within 12 hours.

"'It is now 9 a. m.,' Knapp told me. 'I want him off the island on the first airplane. He has until 9 p. m.'"

REGARDING Okinawa's most blatant problem, prostitution, [redacted] told me: "We seldom wrote stories about prostitution. We knew the Army disliked it and we wanted to keep our jobs. Several times it was hinted that the Stars and Stripes might be barred from sale in military PXs if it carried stories about prostitution."

American newsmen were under implied orders to soft-pedal not only prostitution, but the Negro segregation problem and Okinawa political rights. "The alternative," according to Craigmoe, "was banishment from Joh, home and friends."

This, incidentally, was what the Overseas Weekly was up against in Germany when it exposed the John Birch activities of General Walker. However, it had the courage to go ahead with the expose anyway and has suffered criticism even from Pentagon higher-ups ever since. Even Secretary McNamara, usually a man of courage, ducked giving credit to the Overseas Weekly for exposing the John Birch-Walker operation.

'News to Me,' Walker Says of Governor Story

AMARILLO, Tex., Jan. 6 (AP). —Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker says a report he will seek the Democratic nomination for Governor of Texas is "news to me."

The Chicago Tribune said last night it had learned that Gen. Walker has begun plans for seeking the nomination and "only some unforeseen important development can induce him to change his mind about running."

Gen. Walker, 52, a native of Texas, resigned from the Army and gave up retirement pay of $12,000 last fall, a year after he had been relieved of command of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany and formally reprimanded for an allegedly improper program of troop indoctrination.

He was in Amarillo last night for one of a series of speeches he has been making. Although he declined further comment on the Chicago Tribune story, he earlier told a news conference he has no plans for any political race.

JACKSON, MISS.--MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER TOLD A CHEERING, FLAG-WAVING CROWD OF 3,500 LAST NIGHT THE UNITED NATIONS IS IMMORAL AND ITS LATE SECRETARY GENERAL, DAG HAMMARSKJOLD, WAS A "RED SWEDE WHO TOOK INSTRUCTIONS FROM MOSCOW."

WALKER, WHO RESIGNED FROM THE ARMY AFTER BEING RELIEVED OF HIS 24TH DIVISION COMMAND FOR TRYING TO INFLUENCE THE VOTES OF HIS TROOPS TOWARD CONSERVATIVE POLITICAL CANDIDATES, READ A 90-MINUTE ADDRESS AT AN "AMERICANISM RALLY" IN CITY AUDITORIUM. IT WAS HIS SECOND SPEECH SINCE HE RESIGNED FROM THE ARMY.

HE TOLD THE AUDIENCE MISSISSIPPI IS LEADING THE FIGHT TO PRESERVE THE UNION.

"THE COMMUNISTS ARE AFRAID OF YOU," HE SAID. "THEY DISTRUST YOU AND THE POWER OF YOUR STATE SOVEREIGNTY AND YOUR GREAT UNITY OF PURPOSE. THEY ARE AWARE OF YOUR LEADERSHIP AND OF YOU AS A GREAT SYMBOL IN THE CAUSE OF FREEDOM EVERYWHERE."

WALKER SAID THE UNITED STATES' NATIONAL POLICY RESULTS IN "BRAZEN LIQUIDATION OF OUR SOVEREIGNTY AND OUR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS."

"THE POTOMAC PRETENDERS DO NOT BELIEVE IN THE SOVEREIGNTY AND INDEPENDENCE OF THE UNITED STATES," SAID WALKER. "THEY HAVE UNDERTAKEN TO DISSOLVE AND DIVERT IT INTO A WORLD-WIDE SUPER GOVERNMENT OF UNITED NATIONS."

HE SAID THE "LEFTIST INTELLIGENTSIA" ARE NOW AIMING AT CONGRESS AND SOME CONGRESSMEN HAVE SUCCUMBED.

HE CITED THE CAREERS OF VICE PRESIDENT JOHNSON AND SEN. J. WILLIAM FULBRIGHT, D-ARK., CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, AS EXAMPLES OF WHAT HE SAID WAS LEFT-WINGERS' PROGRESS IN CONVERTING AMERICAN POLITICIANS.

"HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE AMERICANS TO SEE WHAT IS HAPPENING BEFORE THEIR EYES?" ASKED WALKER.

"I COULD NOT LONGER SERVE IN UNIFORM AND BE A COLLABORATOR WITH THIS RELEASE OF OUR SOVEREIGNTY TO THE U.N.," HE SAID. HE WARNED PARENTS: "YOUR SONS IN UNIFORM ARE NOT SUPPORTED BY OUR NATIONAL POLIC[redacted] AND YOU ARE BEING BRAINWASHED BY YOUR OWN NATIONAL COMMUNIQUES AND MEDIA."

CALLING FOR A COMPLETE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION OF THE "SUBVERSION" OF NATIONAL POLICY DURING THE PAST 16 YEARS, WALKER SAID PARTISAN POLITICS MUST BE FORGOTTEN. HE SAID IT WOULD BE TREASONOUS WITH NATIONAL SECURITY TO "SAVE FACE FOR JOHN F. KENNEDY OR DWIGHT EISENHOWER, FOR EARL WARREN OR HUGO BLACK, FOR LYNDON JOHNSON OR RICHARD NIXON, OR FOR ANY OTHER, FOR PERSONAL OR PURELY POLITICAL REASONS."

ANY POLITICIAN, HE SAID, WHO "HAS SOLD OUT TO THE MINORITY FABIAN SOCIALIST, ONE-WORLD, COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED U.N. CROWD IS DESERVING OF YOUR WRATH AND INDIGNATION."

WALKER SAID MISSISSIPPI'S "RESOLUTE DETERMINATION" TO DEFEND ITS SOVEREIGNTY IS RELATED "TO THE FACT THAT FEW STATES HAVE AS HIGH A PERCENTAGE OF MEN AND WOMEN WHO KNOW HOW TO USE FIREARMS."

"THE MINUTE MEN AT LEXINGTON IN 1775 WERE NOT THE ONLY AMERICANS WHO HAVE BEEN ARMED NOT BY GOVERNMENT ISSUE, BUT BY THEIR OWN ENTERPRISE. THE WIDESPREAD AND FREE DISPERSAL OF FIREARMS IN THIS COUNTY TODAY IS THE GREATEST ASSURANCE OF LIBERTY, NEXT TO THE GRACE OF GOD, THAT CAN POSSIBLY BE IMAGINED."

WALKER CHARGED THE KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION CREATED THE PEACE CORPS AS A "SABOTAGE OF MILITARY FORCES" BECAUSE MILITARY OFFICERS, SWORN TO OPPOSE THIS COUNTRY'S ENEMIES, COULD NOT SUPPORT THE NATIONAL POLICY.

MUCH OF THE ADDRESS WAS AIMED AT THE UNITED NATIONS. HE SAID THIS COUNTRY'S BIG ERROR HAS BEEN "ITS PERSISTENT ATTEMPT TO COOPERATE IN THE UNITED NATIONS, AN ORGANIZATION...INCLUDING AS A SUPER-MEMBER THE MOST RUTHLESS, AGGRESSIVE NATION OF MODERN TIME, THE SOVIET UNION. THERE IS THUS A FUNDAMENTAL IMMORALITY AT THE HEART OF THE UN."

INFIDEL.

GEN. WALKER GIVES 'EM HELL

'No Texan Has Ever Been Inadequate'

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 13 (UPI) — Edwin A. Walker, who gave up an Army general's stars and retirement pay to speak his mind, said last night our youth has been infiltrated by the enemy, our government follows one wrong decision with another, and news media mislead us.

In his first public address since he resigned in October, Gen. Walker attacked large sections of the press, radio and television, the State Department, and particularly Sen. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) for a memorandum on "right-wing radicalism" in the military.

GEN. WALKER

SOVEREIGNTY

He said presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy made a succession of decisions which "have cost us our sovereignty and our security." He said military officers swear an oath of allegiance to a sovereign United States, but find they must "abide by UN decisions."

"You should recognize that the youth of this country is exposed and infiltrated . . . the same youth that enters your Army and that is in it today," he said.

Gen. Walker, 52, was relieved as commander of the 24th Division in Germany because of a "pro-blue" political indoctrination he sponsored among his troops. He was reprimanded, and in October resigned after 30 years' service rather than accept a staff assignment in the Pacific. This cost him his right to retirement pay.

POLITICS?

"I am a Texan," he told an audience of 5500 at Memorial Auditorium last night, "and no Texan has ever been inadequate . . . I welcome the opportunity to stand before you as a symbol of the capability to co-ordinate the inspired and unchallengeable power of the people with the strength of the military forces."

Gen. Walker, who already has disavowed any intention of becoming a "principal spokesman" for the John Birch Society or any other group, gave his audience no indication that he has political ambitions.

He said he expected soon to state his views on censorship of the military before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis (D., Miss.).

". . . A knowing public," Gen. Walker said, "having read Newsweek, Time, Life and Drew Pearson, will see thru their propaganda, and recognize their purpose. Our national security rests on your proper evaluation of the media."

He said the publi cshould be "alert to identify un-Americanism and posible infiltration of the press and other media, such as radio and television."

Walker Denies Command Misconduct

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 9 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker who resigned his commission after he was rebuked by than and relieved of his command, said today he had be of no misconduct.

"I have been charged with nothing, found guil and I have been punished for nothing," he conference he had called.

Gen. Walker was admonished and stripped of his command of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany. The Army said it had found he made "inflammatory and derogatory statements" about prominent Americans and tried to influence the votes of his men and their families in the 1960 congressional elections.

The 51-year-old Texas native will make his first public speech as a civilian in Dallas' Memorial Auditorium. A publicist for the meeting said about 10,000 persons are expected.

Gen. Walker began the press conference by reading answers to questions he prepared himself. He said they were questions he thought would be asked.

Opposes Censorship

One concerned his opinion on the John Birch Society, an organization of which he had said previously he was a member.

"If I were not a member, I certainly should be considering joining in opposition to the anti - anti - Communists," he said.

In answer to another of his own question, Gen. Walker dicated he was opposed to censorship of military personnel.

Gen. Walker declined to elaborate on the answers to his questions, although later he said "censorship has nothing to do with the age-old question of civilian control over the military."

Variety of Actions

He said investigation had shown that hundreds of speeches submitted for review by military personnel had been censored.

"Censorship does not stop with pencil work. It can be done by word of mouth. It can be done by oral or written orders. Any of these can be effective if it is intended in denying a commander, an organization or a soldier the full capability to accomplish his purpose that is the wherewithal for victory," he said.

Gen. Walker said he had never told soldiers for which candidates they should vote.

Walker Defends American Nazis

FORMER MAJOR GENERAL Edwin A. Walker, who resigned from the army Nov. 4, called the ultra-right movements in our country "patriotic," in a TV interview Sunday.

When asked if he saw any harm in right-wing extremists like George Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the American Nazi Party, Walker said:

"I see extremists in all areas basically being inspired by something that will bring us out of the world situation today.... Whether they are right or wrong in their over-all efforts, there seems to me to be a great spirit of patriotism sweeping over the world today in this country."

He put the Minutemen in this category also. The Minutemen are an army of civilians, forming into bands of guerrilla fighters, who are preparing themselves to "defend our country" supposedly against Communists.

Walker was also asked about where he is going to get the money to carry on his political work. He said he does "not worry too much about money."

In attempting to dodge this question, he stated:

"Greater than money is the spirit of our country. And the assistance in the cause, and the support for our cause for America."

When pressured further on the question of money he dropped his evangelical speech and replied that he would have to wait "and see how that develops."

Walker asserted that he would not affiliate with any group or individual in his political days ahead.

His army career came to a close after he had been removed from his command in Germany for indoctrinating his troops with an extremist program he called "pro-Blue."

At the same time Walker was expounding his brand of patriotism," 3,000 miles away in Santa Maria, California, 300 longer-established right-wingers were meeting to discuss the future of the GOP.

Richard M. Nixon and his Republican cohorts met over the weekend and displayed a marked swing to the right.

Referring to liberals, conservatives and extremists, Nixon told the gathering, "There is room in the party for people who differ."

And in a verbal handclasp with the Southern segregationists, the ex-Vice-President said that the Republicans must unite on the principles of individual initiative and state's rights against the federal welfare state.

He informed the throng, most of whom are members of the California State Assembly, that their differences are "infinitesimal compared with those separating Republicans and the Democratic Administration."

Despite his high position in the GOP nationally, it was evident at this meeting that Mr. Nixon is not a shoo-in for the Republican nomination for Governor. As far to the right as Nixon is, the most conservative of the four contenders for the nomination, Joseph Shell, showed the greatest gain at this conference. The other two contenders are former Governor Goodwin J. Knight and former Lieutenant Governor Harold J. Powers. All four have officially thrown their hats in the ring by submitting their arguments to an Assembly committee. The committee will make its endorsement on March 2, the day before the Assembly convention opens.

These right-wing developments have not, however, taken place without voices in opposition. Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, told a gathering of 300 religious and civic leaders that these ultra-right groups "attack political leadeds of greatest eminence, as well as attacking all dissident opinion."

He spoke at the annual awards dinner of the Synagogue Council of America at the Essex House in New York last Sunday. He said that the methods used to fight "Communism" by the ultra-right are "completely un-American, completely destructive of the freedoms which any truly patriotic, truly conservative American must defend with all his being."

Both President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent telegrams to the assembly. Kennedy's telegram said the meeting's "theme of Judaism and World Peace is especially important in these critical days."

Truman Likens Walker To Gen. MacArthur

BEVERLY [redacted] Dec. 7 (AP)—Harry S. Truman, 77, of Independence, Mo., strode into the crowded hotel room.

Staring down the bright TV camera lights the ex-President advised newsmen yesterday: "You fellows give me your name and the outfit you're with and I'll answer any question."

Unsympathetic to Walker

And he did on a variety of subjects, including:

The John Birch Society—"Nothing but the Ku Klux Klan without the nightshirts."

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who resigned from the Army after accusations that he indoctrinated his troops with partican political philosophy: "I think he (Gen. Walker) talked out of turn and he got just what was coming to him, just like MacArthur did." (Mr. Truman relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1951 during the Korean War for publicly opposing administration policies.)

Alleged muzzling of military men—"The military never has been muzzled in the United States . . . The closest it ever came to that was President Lincoln. He had to fire five generals before he got one that would do the job. When a man is in the military service, the President of the United States is his commander-in-chief and he takes orders."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign for California's governorship—"Let's not talk about him . . . Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's a great Governor and I hope you'll re-elect him."

Walker Should Have Day in Court

By Drew Pearson

The office of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, chief defender of Gen. Edwin Walker, has been boasting that the Army is afraid to take its case against Walker to court.

Pearson

"The Army has maligned General Walker," says Harry Dent, Thurmond's chief assistant, "without giving him his day in court."

Sen. Thurmond's office may not know it, but the Army's chief legal officer, Maj. Gen. Robert H. McCaw, has declared flatly and categorically that Gen. Walker not only violated the Hatch Act but the U. S. Criminal Code.

This column has been able to obtain a copy of Gen. McCaw's confidential report which states: "Gen. Walker did violate a criminal statute (18 U. S. C. 595, Tab C) which parallels the Hatch Act and imposes criminal penalties for interfering with or affecting elections."

The text of Gen. McCaw's legal opinion is important. Sen. Thurmond may want to read it; so also Gen. Walker himself. Here are important excerpts of the recommendations to the Chief of Staff:

"Reference is made to your request for an opinion as to whether Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's actions . . . violated the Uniform Code of Military Justice, Federal law, or both. . . . In accordance with your request, the report of investigation has been reviewed in my office.

Hatch Act Violated

"The evidence contained in the report of investigation tends to establish that General Walker, before and during October, 1960, instituted a vigorous program of political indoctrination within the 24th Infantry Division, one of the principal objects of which was to influence voting in the national election in favor of an ultra-conservative point of view both with respect to foreign and domestic issues.

"This was accomplished by means of editorials in the Division newspaper, so-called study groups among both military personnel and dependents, official Division lesson plans and lectures, and the suggested use by all personnel of a rightist voting index in which all United States Senators and Congressmen were rated on a percentage basis in accordance with their adherence or lack of adherence to the views of the compilers of the index . . .

"In instituting and carrying out this program, General Walker violated the Hatch Act (18 U. S. C. 1181, Tab A) and certain Army regulations in implementation thereof which prohibit military personnel from using their official authority or influence to affect the course of an election or to influence a member of the armed forces in his vote for a candidate for election. Although the Hatch Act is not a criminal statute, General Walker did violate a criminal Federal Statute (18 U. S. C. 595, Tab C), which parallels the Hatch Act and imposes criminal penalties for interfering with or affecting elections.

"The violation of the Army regulations is an offense under Article 92 of the Uniform Code, and the violation of 18 U. S. C. 595 is an offense under 134 of that Code.

"In a speech given by General Walker on 24 January 1960 to a group of about 200 military personnel and dependents, the General labeled the following individuals as 'pink' or as otherwise having leftist affiliations with an unfavorable connotation: former President Truman, Eleanor Roosevelt, Dean Acheson, Eric Sevareid, Edward R. Murrow and Walter Cronkite. This could constitute a violation of Article 134 of the Uniform Code depending upon a finding by a court-martial and reviewing authorities that under all the circumstances such conduct was in fact service discrediting or disruptive of military discipline."

Kid-Glove Treatment

Despite this clear opinion that Walker was guilty of violating Federal laws and Army regulations, McCaw recommended handling Walker with

Landon to Washington

A Grand Old Man of the Republican Party, ex-Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas, who ran against Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936, comes to Washington this week.

Despite the fact that he salvaged only Maine and Vermont out of that FDR landslide, Landon has always kept his political equilibrium and his sense of humor. Some men would have retired into their shell, become sour and crusty after such a deluge. Not Landon. He has been a force for clean government in Kansas, has tried to keep the Republicans on a liberal level.

In Washington Alf will spring some surprises—especially to Republicans who still cling to the traditional high-tariff school. Believe it or not, Landon will advise that the United States will have to reduce tariffs and join the European Common Market.

AS FOR WALKER BEING REMOVED FROM COMMAND IN EUROPE FOR ALLEGED RIGHT WING TRAINING OF HIS TROOPS, TRUMAN SAID:

"WALKER TALKED OUT OF TURN AND GOT WHAT WAS COMING TO HIM--JUST LIKE MACARTHUR."

TRUMAN REMOVED GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR FROM COMMAND DURING THE KOREAN WAR WHEN HE PUBLICLY DISAGREED WITH TRUMAN ABOUT BOMBING COMMUNIST AIR BASES BEHIND THE YALU RIVER.

"THE PRESIDENT IS COMMANDER IN CHIEF AND THE MILITARY MUST TAKE [redacted], APPARENTLY REFERRING TO BOTH OFFICERS. "THEY GOT NO BUSINESS INTERFERING IN POLITICS."

NEW YORK--FORMER MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER TODAY CARRIED BEFORE THE PUBLIC THE ANTI-COMMUNIST "TRUTH CRUSADE" THAT COST HIM HIS COMBAT COMMAND. HE DEFENDED RIGHT WING EXTREMISTS AS "INSPIRED" PATRIOTS AND INDICATED HE MIGHT RUN FOR POLITICAL OFFICE TO HELP LEAD THEM.

WALKER CHIDED BOTH PRESIDENT KENNEDY AND FORMER PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER FOR THEIR RECENT ATTACKS ON SO-CALLED "SUPER-PATRIOTS" AND DENOUNCED WHAT HE DESCRIBED AS A "MUZZLING" OF MILITARY OFFICERS "WITH RESPECT TO OUR ENEMIES."

"I SEE EXTREMISTS IN ALL AREAS AS BASICALLY INSPIRED BY SOMETHING THAT WILL BRING US OUT OF THE WORLD SITUATION TODAY," WALKER SAID IN A NATIONAL TELEVISION INTERVIEW (ABC'S "ISSUES AND ANSWERS).

"WHETHER THEY ARE RIGHT OR WRONG IN THEIR OVERALL EFFORTS, THERE SEEMS TO ME TO BE A GREAT SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM SWEEPING OVER...THIS COUNTRY. AND THERE IS GOING TO BE MUCH MORE OF IT AS THE SITUATION GETS MORE DIFFICULT," HE PREDICTED. BUT HE ADDED: "IT NEEDS GUIDANCE."

THE INTERVIEW MARKED WALKER'S FIRST PUBLIC APPEARANCE SINCE HE RESIGNED FROM SERVICE LAST MONTH WITH A LETTER PROTESTING "THE POWER OF LITTLE MEN WHO, IN THE NAME OF THE COUNTRY, PUNISH LOYAL SERVICE TO IT."

THE GENERAL, WHO RENOUNCED ALL RETIREMENT PAY, INDICATED HE HIMSELF MIGHT RUN FOR POLITICAL OFFICE AS PART OF HIS NEW PRIVATE CITIZEN'S "CRUSADE FOR THE TRUTH."

ASKED WHETHER HE MIGHT USE "THE POLITICAL PLATFORM" TO EXECUTE HIS PROGRAM, HE REPLIED: "IT IS WELL TO ANTICIPATE, AS ANY OTHER AMERICAN IN MY OPINION THESE DAYS HAS A VERY DEFINITE OBJECTIVE AND RESPONSIBILITY IN THIS FIELD."

WALKER'S RESIGNATION FOLLOWED HIS CONTROVERSIAL REMOVAL FROM COMMAND OF THE CRACK U.S. 24TH DIVISION IN GERMANY, WHERE HE WAS ACCUSED OF INDOCTRINATING TROOPS IN RIGHT-WING POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY SIMILAR TO THAT [illegible]POUNDED BY THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY AND TRYING TO INFLUENCE THEIR VOTES.

WALKER, IN A PREVIEW OF WHAT HE MAY TELL SENATE INVESTIGATORS IN A HERALDED HEARING NEXT MONTH, DEFENDED HIS "PRO-BLUE" INDOCTRINATION PROGRAM AS "VERY APPROPRIATE." THE HEARING WILL CENTER ON SPEECH RESTRICTIONS IMPOSED ON THE MILITARY IN THE POLITICAL AREA.

"EVERY AMERICAN, IN OR OUT OF UNIFORM, HAS A RESPONSIBILITY TO THE CAUSE TODAY," HE SAID. "THERE IS A RIGHT SIDE AND A WRONG SIDE. EVERY AMERICAN SHOULD DRAW THE LINE...YOU ARE EITHER ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF THAT LINE, WHAT IS RIGHT, OR YOU ARE ON THE WRONG SIDE."

THE 51-YEAR-OLD GENERAL, WHO LED FEDERAL TROOPS TO LITTLE ROCK DURING THE 1957 SCHOOL DESEGREGATION CRISIS, WAS KNOWN AS A STEEL-NERVED "SOLDIER'S SOLDIER" WHO DISTINGUISHED HIMSELF IN COMBAT IN WORLD WAR II AND KOREA.

AN ARMY INVESTIGATION OF HIS ACTIVITIES IN THE 24TH DIVISION DESCRIBED HIM AS "SINCERE AND DEEPLY RELIGIOUS" AND AS AN "ECCENTRIC."

THE PENTAGON ACCUSED HIM OF ATTEMPTING TO INFLUENCE HIS SOLDIERS' VOTES IN THE 1960 CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS, AS WELL AS DESCRIBING CERTAIN U.S. POLITICAL FIGURES AS "LEFTIST-LEANING" AND SOCIALISTIC. HE WAS NEVER BROUGHT TO TRIAL OR COURT MARTIAL BUT WAS REMOVED TO HEADQUARTERS AT HEIDELBERG WITH DUTIES OF A COLONEL.

WALKER IDENTIFIED HIMSELF AT THE PENTAGON INVESTIGATION AS A MEMBER OF THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. BUT HE SAID TODAY THAT IN HIS FUTURE ACTIVITIES, "I WILL NOT BE AFFILIATED WITH ANYONE IN PARTICULAR. I INTEND TO BE MYSELF AND STAY UNASSOCIATED WITH ANY ORGANIZATION."

The Extrem[redacted] Was Eisenhower a Communist?

The Preparedness Subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee has scheduled a hearing under the chairmanship of Sen. John C. Stennis, D., Miss., beginning in about a month, into Right-wing activity in the armed forces. It will take up the case of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who resigned from the Army after being reprimanded for indoctrinating his men with views like those of the John Birch Society. Last week the national Catholic weekly, America, charged that the John Birch Society was "an instrument of division and a threat to the national morale." The following article gives a view of what has been called the extremist-conservative movement in terms of some of the persons involved.

John Birch was a Baptist missionary in China before World War II. When war came, he was commissioned by the Army and assigned to behind-the-lines intelligence work in China during the years of battle against the Japanese. He was killed in China on Aug. 25, 1945, ten days after the war had ended. He was twenty-seven years old when he died.

Little doubt remains that he was shot by a Red Chinese officer heading a patrol of which he ran afoul but, said one of those who served with him, "If he had strong political convictions, they were not in evidence."

Very much in evidence are the political convictions of a retired candy manufacturer by the name of Welch. Robert Welch has called former President Eisenhower a Communist, believes Chief Justice Earl Warren should be impeached for similar ideological tendencies. He finds almost every American institution from churches to newspapers, from Congress to the public schools, Red-infested.

It is not clear when he first heard of young Birch but he hit upon the missionary-Army officer as the first American "martyr" in the cold war and appropriated his name. The John Birch Society was founded on Dec. 9, 1958, at a meeting in Indianapolis with Robert Welch as its leader.

From the very beginning, he announced a position which smacked of totalitarianism almost as much as communism itself.

"The John Birch Society is to be a monolithic body," he declared. "Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of [redacted]gery, and a perennial fraud. . . . The John [redacted] Society will operate under completely authoritative [redacted] at all levels."

Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, expounding his views.

Latest reports are that the semi-secret organization has "cells" (another term used by the Communists) in thirty-four states. Elements of the extreme right have come under attack from both President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower but there are many who feel that there is an internal danger much worse than that outside the borders of the country.

Here is the background of some of the better known of those associated with the society:

ROBERT WELCH—Born in North Carolina sixty-two years ago, he attended his state university, spent two years at the Naval Academy and another two years at Harvard Law School. He then went into the family candy business, retiring in 1957. He was at various times a director and vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers. Headquarters of the John Birch Society are in Belmont, Mass.

COL. LAWRENCE E. BUNKER—A former aide to Gen. MacArthur, he said that the reasons for impeaching Chief Justice Warren are "well documented."

COLA G. PARKER—A former president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

CLARENCE MANION—Former dean of the Notre Dame Law School and onetime chairman of Mr. Eisenhower's special committee on inter-governmental relations.

MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER—A brilliant combat commander, he was relieved of his command in Europe when it appeared that he was "indoctrinating" his troops with Birch Society literature. He resigned from the Army and is reported to be about to become the society's chief spokesman.

SPRUILLE BRADEN—Former Assistant Secretary of State, who is a member of the society's national council, but who doesn't see eye-to-eye with Welch on the matter of "Comsymps" (Communist sympathizers). Braden thinks it's difficult to identify them.

REPS. EDGAR W. HIESTAND and JOHN H. ROUSSELOT—Two Republican Congressmen from California who have acknowledged membership in the Birch Society. They sought an investigation of the organization to "clear the air" but nothing came of it during the last session of Congress.

The John Birch Society is not the only, although probably the largest, organization of its sort to find adherents during the cold-war years which so many have found frustrating. Another is the Minutemen, headed by a former drug salesman by the name of ROBERT BOLIVAR DePUGH. His idea is to establish a "guerrilla" army trained to repel a Communist invasion.

Membership in this outfit is kept secret to avoid embarrassment by public "misunderstanding" and to prevent the Reds from building a file of "prime enemies" in the event of a "take-over." DePugh says that "even a felony record is not a bar to membership."

He claims that there are 25,000 Minutemen across the country but disinterested surveys suggest that they are a "pitifully small group," possibly less than a thousand. The Birch Society, on the other hand, may well have the more than 100,000 members it claims.

One of the frequent characteristics of the far-Right organizations is that they brand as pro-Communist any one who questions their extreme views or their methods. Last week a high school mathematics teacher and a group of students in Wilton, Conn., were criticized as pro-Communist in a mimeographed letter sent to town officials and families by E. J. McCallum jr., president of the Citizens Anti-Communist Committee of Connecticut. They had protested against what they regarded as distortions in a film, "Operation Abolition," shown at the school.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Walker Evasive on Birch Ties

By Drew Pearson

When you read the cross-examination of Gen. Edwin Ted Walker, would-be "man on horseback" of the right-wing extremists, you can easily understand why his chief champion, Sen. Strom Thurmond, didn't want him to testify and why the Senate investigation, scheduled for this week, has been postponed.

Pearson

You can also understand why both President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower went out of their way this week to expose the right-wing sixth columnists who have made Gen. Walker and other military politicians their heroes.

Gen. Walker, when cross-examined by Lt. Gen. Frederic J. Brown, for the Army Inspector General, was so evasive that on one occasion he demanded that questions be repeated to him as many as five times.

Walker even attempted to sidestep responsibility for the purchase of John Birch Society literature which he had made available to his troops, until Gen. Brown reminded him: "I have the vouchers that prove they were paid for and distributed."

Walker did confess, after being confronted with the evidence, that he had joined the John Birch Society in Little Rock, Ark., back in May, 1959. This was after he had commanded U. S. paratroopers who enforced integration at the Little Rock Central High School. He was reluctant to talk about the Birch Society, but finally admitted:

"I had a program going in Little Rock before I ever went to the John Birch Society."

True to the Birch code, he refused to identify any other members.

"Excluding me," he said, "I know of no members of the Birch Society."

'The Pentagon Case'

Among the John Birch literature Gen. Walker circulated throughout his command were copies of a book called "The Pentagon Case," which viciously attacks military leadership. One lieutenant, after reading the book, told the Inspector General: "We would be in a hell of a way if the Pentagon really operates that way."

Referring to this book, Gen. Brown asked Walker:

"'The Pentagon Case' is not factual, it's fictional. Second, it does one of the most destructive things to the morale and challenges by insinuation the top leadership of the Army. Now I have had as much experience leading soldiers as you have, and you don't teach them loyalty by questioning. Now do you think this contributes to the information and education of a soldier? Do you?"

Walker had nothing to say.

Next, Brown took up the book, "Life of John Birch."

"Do you consider," he demanded, "that from page 45 on this is factual. I have spot-checked, and I read nothing but a series of allegations against people, of Government officials, General (George) Marshall, casting aspersions on his character and his motivation. I don't consider it factual. I think it is inflammatory. Now do you consider that this is the proper type of material to indoctrinate troops with, to question the top leadership of their government?"

Again, no answer from Walker.

When he described his anti-Communist program as "psychological warfare," Brown reminded him drily that psychological warfare "is for use against the enemy, not your own troops."

Walker also tried to blame the program upon his staff.

Snapped back Brown: "Troop information, by the regulations, is the voice of the commander."

At one point, Walker exploded with wrath over an overseas weekly editorial which criticized him for indoctrinating troops from the book, "Life of John Birch."

"The insidious and fallacious implications through association reflect unmoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive intent," raged Walker, spewing out a typical mouthful of big words. . . .

Brown quietly offered to read portions from the book to prove the editorial had quoted them correctly.

"I am not interested, General Brown," snorted Walker.

Brown suggested again that he consult the text.

"I have no need for further information," snapped Walker.

Birch House Guests

General Walker not only brought in John Birch leaders to lecture to his troops, but entertained them as his house guests. They attacked everything from the Protestant clergy to the Supreme Court in language that can only be described as "crackpot." They flailed some of America's most respected leaders as "Communists" and "traitors."

With Walker's approval, his soldiers presented a six-hour skit criticizing former President Eisenhower for undertaking negotiations with the Russians. Those in the skit kept referring to summit as "submit" conferences.

As a measure of Walker's distrust of his fellow Americans, he charged that 40 to 60 per cent of the American public is "Communist-influenced." He also charged that 60 per cent of the press and radio-TV industry is "Communist-influenced."

Gen. Walker and the Hatch Act

By Drew Pearson

The military "fifth amendment" that Gen. Edwin Walker invoked when he was being cross-examined by the Army Inspector General's office is Article 31 and states:

Pearson

"No person subject to this chapter may compel any person to incriminate himself or to answer any question the answer to which may tend to incriminate him."

It was refusal of witnesses to answer questions under the Constitutional Fifth Amendment that brought so much acid criticism from the late Sen. Joe McCarthy. Gen. Walker invoked the military equivalent when questioned about the use of his troop newspaper, the Taro Leaf, in influencing the voting of his men.

Gen. Walker's invoking of the military fifth amendment and his ducking of various questions from the Inspector General was what led Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, his No. 1 defender, to maneuver so Walker would not have to testify at the Senate hearings scheduled for that week, which suddenly were called off and rescheduled for January.

Walker had turned the troop newspaper into a partisan political publication, ordering it to reprint John Birch literature including outright attacks on democracy. One reprint charged that the "conversion of our republic into a democracy and the preparatory steps for making it a mobocracy are already far advanced."

The General, who commanded United States troops at Little Rock but has now become the darling of certain Southern segregationists, supplied his troops with an index into the voting records of Congressmen and in the troop newspaper invited his men to consult the index to determine how their Congressmen voted.

"You can phone Flak M-613 to have your representative's record determined before your vote is cast," Walker wrote.

He also promoted the index among dependents. At a meeting attended by officers' wives, Walker declared: "You can look at your Senator's rating and find out what percentage American your Senator is."

'Reflects Conservatism'

When Lt. Gen. Frederick J. Brown, acting for the Inspector General, examined Walker regarding the use of his troop newspaper to influence the actions of his troops, he first read to Walker the Army regulations forbidding Army newspapers to take editorial sides in a political campaign. Then Gen. Brown said: "The editorial calls the attention of the men of the 24th Division to the fact that this (voters index) is one of the easiest ways of determining your Senator's or Congressman's record by consulting this index; that a copy is available to all of them and you can even call on the phone to have your representative's record determined before your vote is cast. Do you consider that this editorial is in compliance with the Army regulations that I have just read to you?"

Walker—"That was obtained through other than military channels. I kept no secret that I used it for what it was worth. I have no further comment, General."

Brown—"My question was: Do you consider that this editorial here complies with the Army regulation that I have just quoted?"

Walker—"I don't refer to this regulation when the decision was made to use . . . . this editorial. I have nothing further to add, sir."

Brown—"Now, do you consider it complies with Army regulations?"

Walker—"I have nothing to add, sir."

Brown—"I asked you a question. You can invoke article 31 if you don't care to answer it."

Walker—"It is not open-and-shut to me even right now, General, in stating one way or the other . . ."

Brown — "Gen. Walker, please, I am not going to put up with quibbling. You have already testified it in an edi-

Walker—"I stand on Article 31, General."

Later, Walker admitted that the voting information he offered his troops was biased, but Gen. Brown had a difficult time pinning him down.

Brown—"Now, do you consider that this (index) is an unbiased publication?"

Walker—"I have no way of knowing, sir. It depends on exactly who reads it and what they think of it. What I know of the people who prepared it, I would say they represented a conservative approach."

Brown—"Now, do you consider that an unbiased publication?"

Walker—"As far as being whether it is conservative or liberal, I would say that it reflects conservatism, sir."

Brown—"Does that mean it has a conservative bias?"

Walker—"Yes, I guess it does."

Brown—"Would you present a liberal index and advise them to study both of them? If so, I would like to know about it."

Walker—"I would say liberal information is certainly available to them."

Brown—"Did you make it equally available with the conservative index?"

Walker—"I know of no such publication General?"

Brown—"Did you make comparable information available to them?"

Walker—"No, sir."

WASHINGTON--DEFENSE SECRETARY MCNAMARA EXPRESSED A MEASURE OF REGRET TODAY THAT MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER RESIGNED FROM THE ARMY AFTER A CONTROVERSY OVER HIS TROOP INDOCTRINATION PROGRAM.

"I HATE TO SEE AN ABLE COMBAT OFFICER RESIGN FROM THE ARMY," MCNAMARA TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE.

WALKER RESIGNED AFTER HE WAS RELIEVED OF HIS 24TH INFANTRY COMMAND IN GERMANY AND ADMONISHED ON CHARGES HE SOUGHT TO INFLUENCE VOTES OF HIS TROOPS AND HAD MADE DEROGATORY REMARKS ABOUT FORMER PRESIDENT HARRY S. TRUMAN AND OTHER PROMINENT AMERICANS.

IN HIS RESIGNATION ANNOUNCEMENT, WALKER SAID HE WAS LEAVING THE ARMY SO HE COULD PARTICIPATE MORE EFFECTIVELY IN ALERTING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TO THE DANGERS OF COMMUNISM.

SEN. J. STROM THURMOND, D-S.C., AND OTHERS HAVE CHARGED THAT WALKER HAD BEEN MUZZLED BY PENTAGON ORDERS. A SENATE HEARING ON THE ENTIRE PROBLEM OF MILITARY POLICY IN SUCH MATTERS IS PENDING.

MCNAMARA, IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION, SAID HE "SHARED THE VIEW OF MANY" THAT WALKER WAS AN ABLE COMBAT COMMANDER.

HE ADDED THAT "IT WILL NEVER BE IMPOSSIBLE" FOR SUCH INCIDENTS AS THE WALKER CASE TO ARISE. "EACH MAN IS RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS OWN BEHAVIOR," MCNAMARA COMMENTED.

Delay Faces Senate Probe of 'Muzzling'

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper

A Senate inquiry into [redacted] censorship policies and charges that it "systematically muzzles" right-wing officers—due to open Nov. 27—faces almost certain delay.

An Armed Services Preparedness sub-committee headed by Sen. John C. Stennis (D., Miss.) has been directed by the full committee to undertake a "study and evaluation" of defense information policies. It refused to call the inquiry an investigation, however, on the ground that word carries some implication of wrong-doing.

James Kendall, sub-committee counsel, said today Nov. 27 still is the "tentative" opening day. Whether the sub-committee will convene then, he said, depends on whether its members can be present. All seven sub-committeemen are presently out of Washington. Mr. Kendall said he probably will have some announcement next week.

The sub-committee previously had "invited" former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker to submit a written statement but has not agreed to hear him testify. Gen. Walker, formerly in command of the 24th Division in Germany, was censured by the Army for allegedly attempting to influence the votes of his men in the last election.

Gen. Walker is a member of the right wing John Birch Society. His case figured prominently in demands by Sen. J. Strom Thurmond (D., S. C.) for a look into Pentagon censorship and information policies.

Racists Rally To Gen. Walker

GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER who recently made a bid to become the fuehrer of the ultra Right forces in the U.S. won the Citizens Councils of America to his cause last week. Their support was unmistakeable even though they did not mention him.

In the first issue of their new monthly publication, The Citizen, published in Jackson, Miss., the segregationists attacked Senator J. W. Fulbright for supporting a policy that would "gag the militant generals."

Fulbright had protested in a memorandum to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara against the attacks of officers in the armed forces on government policy.

The main article in the magazine, entitled "The Shocking Truth About the Fulbright Memorandum," was written by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC), outstanding racist. Supporting Thurmond with comments in the magazine were four Republican senators: Barry Goldwater (Ariz.), Carl T. Curtis (Nebr.) Karl Mundt (S.D.), and Jack Miller (Ia.)

In his article Thurmond said the campaign to gag the military leaders and had been started by the Communist Party and The Worker.

ANTI-ANTI-COMMUNISTS

—In the United States.

Anti-anti-Communists are persons who claim to be against Communism but find fault with anybody who proposes to fight this devil with fire.

Rather often, an anti-anti-Communist was once a Communist himself or herself—which entitles the rest of us to wonder whether he or she ever actually quit the Party of Traitors.

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker (Resigned)

Real anti-Communism is now spreading swiftly throughout the United States.

Americans are coming alive to this menace in large numbers. Anti-Red crusades are building up—some smart, some not so smart, but all sincere. Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, by quitting the Army cold rather than be muzzled in his war on U. S. Communism, has fired the fury and the patriotism of uncounted citizens.

So the anti-anti-Communists are now trying to tell us all that the Communist Party in this country is very small and weak, and therefore no threat to our liberties whatever.

The brassier of these gentry go on to hint broadly that any American who worries about the domestic Reds is some kind of nut.

They urge us to fix our attention on the enemy in the Kremlin and in Peiping, and ignore the enemy who is trying to set fire to our own national home from inside.

Well, as Bishop Fulton J. Sheen sometimes observes, the devil's greatest victory is achieved when he convinces a lot of people that he doesn't exist.

And as FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover notes in his admirable book, "Masters of Deceit":

> When the Communist Party was at its peak in the United States it was stronger in numbers than the Soviet Party was at the time it seized power in Russia.

The fact is that we are faced with two powerful and dangerous foes: (1) the Red Slave Empire, and (2) the criminal Communist conspiracy—strong, devious and determined—in our own country.

The further fact is that we'll underrate either of these enemies only at extreme peril to all we have and are.

The Gen. Walker Case

Who Should Tell Our GIs What?

On Nov. 27, a Senate Armed Services sub-committee begins looking into what we do—or don't do—to "inform and educate Armed Services personnel on the nature and menace of the cold war." The inquiry is an outgrowth of the celebrated Gen. Walker case. In this, the first of three articles, Scripps-Howard Newspapers' top military writer tries to put the record straight.

By JIM G. LUCAS Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

"DIAL FLAK M813 . . ."

That's what Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker told the men of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany.

Dial FLAK M813:

✔ To "determine your senator's or congressman's record."

✔ To learn the "truth" about communism.

✔ So "the cause of freedom can be revitalized."

FLAK M813 was Gen. Walker's office phone.

There, in Augsburg, Germany, he kept a large, spiral-bound document the Army describes as a "carefully researched index to the voting records" of every member of Congress.

It is unlikely the General answered his own phone. But his aides had instructions to check it and inform any GI who asked (and there is no record how many, if any, did) whether the votes of his senator or congressman helped "strengthen or weaken constitutional government."

This index has been compiled [illegible] records revealed, by the right-wing Americans for [illegible] Action.

¶ Not Enough

THE 24th Infantry Division is no ordinary combat unit. It distinguished itself in World War II and in Korea.

Gen. Walker was no ordinary commander. Even his critics admit the 24th, while he commanded it, was a first rate division.

The Defense Department had given it an approved Troop Information Program. It supposedly supplied all that Gen. Walker needed. For most division commanders, it certainly would have been enough. Troop Information usually is considered "ancillary duty" and assigned to a junior lieutenant.

For Gen. Walker, it was not enough. He threw away the Defense Department program and wrote his own.

His superiors warned him that he was treading thin ice, that "historically and traditionally" soldiers "do not extend their activities into politically controversial areas."

Gen. Walker ignored them. He said he found his men had no realization "of the enemy's terms for our existence." Few, he said, understood the enemy's "potentiality and brutality." His job, as he saw it, was to "rectify what their parents may have failed to do."

¶ The Army's View

THE Army felt differently. It said Gen. Walker's program was a "personal" one; It failed to meet Army standards; It violated regulations; It was "non-factual, biased, inflammatory."

Gen. Walker called his program "Pro-Blue." This term is often employed by members of the right-wing John Birch Society of which he is a member. The Birch "bible" is called The Blue Book.

Gen. Walker was officially reprimanded. He has since resigned from the Army.

This situation puzzles some Americans. Just what, they ask, was wrong with Gen. Walker's brand of anti-communism and right about the Pentagon's, or vice versa? Why should Americans fall out about something on which we all should agree?

Unlike the Russians, we have no political commissars. Our military is not integrated into any political party. All the same, Troop Information and Education—not always called that—has been part of our system since the Revolutionary War.

Gen. George Washington told his officers their job was "to impress on the mind of every man, from the first to the lowest, the importance of our cause and what it is we are contending for." But he also cautioned them that the army is "the mere agent of civil power."

We made a stab at troop indoctrination in World War I. But it was not until World War II that we decided officially soldiers fight best if they understand why they fight.

During and after the Korean war, the misconduct of some men in prisoner of war camps shocked us. And that gave new impetus to troop indoctrination. The Soldier's Code of Conduct was one result.

¶ The Walker Plan

GEN. WALKER'S Pro-Blue plan was based on the idea that a major threat to our existence is communism at home. Prominent Amer[illegible] Harry Truman, Dean Acheson and Eleanor R[illegible] told a PTA meeting in Germany, are "pink."

"Communists are not [illegible]," he said in resigning. "They are not even accomplished intriguers. Much of their work is done for them."

He went further. In this country, he wrote, "We employ its (communism's) agents in the teaching professions . . . They infest our entertainment media . . . Have infiltrated our Government . . . Even the free press is exploited."

¶ Defense Curriculum

ON the other hand, the Defense Department's information program is devoted entirely to the threat of international communism in Russia and its satellites.

Defense Secretary Robert MacNamara feels that this is far as it should go. He wants no more mavericks like [illegible]. Walker. New directives give the Defense Department control over all service programs. Until now, services could choose their own, and ask Defense for the material.

The Defense program deals with—and is limited to—"democracy vs. communism," world affairs, "forces for freedom" (the U. S. and its allies), orientation for overseas duty, citizenship and the Code of Conduct.

The man in charge is Edward L. Katzenbach, 42, of Morristown, N. J., Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower and Reserve Resources. Mr. Katzenbach is enthusiastic about his job. A former Princeton, Harvard and Columbia history professor, he comes to it from the Air Forces Electronics Directorate at Bedford, Mass. He was a World War II Marine. His brother is an Assistant Attorney General.

He rejects the notion that the Defense Department is soft on communism. He realizes, however, that many people think so. He speaks whenever he gets a chance.

Mr. Katzenbach has a set speech in which he says "what I shall be telling the Senate Armed Services Committee if they ask me to testify in November."

In it, he develops the idea that wars are "fought best when it's love that makes a man fight, not hatred." He is worked that "many people believe that if somehow or another we come to hate the communists so much nothing else matters, we will then be strong."

He insists men fight "because they are proud they believe in God . . . in their country and its way of life . . . because they love their homes . . ."

TOMORROW: How Dr. Kenneth Colegrove, the Pentagon's anti-communist pamphleteer, goes about it.

Communists infest us.

God or J. Edgar

YOUR more-than-fair editorial comment (Nov. 4) relative to Maj. Gen. Walker's switch-over from the Army to the Birchers, with your expression of regret at seeing him "engage in a name-calling campaign of the sort that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has pointed out helps to divide Americans and soften us up to Communist objectives," again reminds me of something that I've noticed about us USAers quite a number of times these past few months, and which I consider downright laughable.

And that is that both the highly controversial Birchers and we of the opposition often bring Mr. Hoover into the picture in one way or another so as to leave the impression that each feels the director is on his respective side and that each apparently hopes to convince others that such is true.

Also, at times the opposing parties will manage somehow to leave the impression that each feels that God, too, is on his side.

Evidently, we Americans are pretty well sold on the thought that if we can convince both ourselves and others that either God or J. Edgar is for us, we shall soon have many followers, and that if we can convince all concerned that both God and Mr. Hoover are for us, there is no one here in our homeland can be against us and [illegible] succeed.

But wouldn't it be more convincing, as well as more sportsmanlike, if we would all either offer some definite proof or quit putting the FBI director on such an untenable spot?

Quoting Mr. Hoover on general statements is like quoting the Bible in that each one puts his own interpretation on what is quoted. While we can't change that situation as to the Bible, we should be able to ascertain whether or not Mr. Hoover approves the Birchers 100 pct. It's a sure and certain cinch he can't be wholeheartedly for both sides because there's too everlastingly much difference between us.

Gen. Edwin W[illegible] for President

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 13 (UPI)—A committee protesting shipment of U. S. jet planes to Yugoslavia has started a move to persuade former Gen. Edwin Walker to run for the presidency in 1964.

An official of the National Indignation Convention asked Maj. H. G. Knickerbacker of the U. S. Air Force Reserve to act as an intermediary.

"That would be the finest thing that could happen to this country to have that man in the White House, Col. Knickerbacker said Saturday.

Gen. Walker quit the army recently to be free to air his views on anti-communism. He was accused by the Army of using John Birch Society material to indoctrinate his troops in Europe.

GEN. WALKER BIDS FOR FUEHRER ROLE

By DANIEL MASON

MAJOR. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER, a member of the subversive John Birch Society in outright defiance of the U. S. government, made a bid on Oct. 26 to become the fuehrer of the ultra-reactionary forces for a possible fascist march to power.

Walker called for a military-civilian coalition to rule the nation in an allout world war.

He called for the hamstringing of the Presidency and the ouster of Congress if it did not do his and his friends' bidding.

He attacked both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations in all but name as a "fifth column conspiracy" that was keeping him and many like him from doing their duty as "patriots."

And he threatened with suppression the press, the teachers, and any group disagreeing with him.

Using the excuse of a so-called resignation from the army, Walker issued a long manifesto calling on the ultra-reactionaries, the white supremacists and the other hate-groups to unite with him in this crusade.

FUEHRER CANDIDATE

The general thus becomes the first open candidate for leadership of the mass movement which the military-monopoly pro-fascist plotters are now hoping to organize throughout the nation.

In resigning, Walker renounced all ties with the military service, so the government would not be able to call him back for any future service to the country. In addition, Walker rejected all retirement pay and any other benefits accruing to him. Questions are being raised as to who will now be supporting the would-be fuehrer financially, as well as provide the money for his political activity.

When Walker achieved notoriety earlier this year through revelations of his attempts to brainwash soldiers under his command, he was seized upon by white-supremacist senators like Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Herman Talmadge of Georgia and such right wing Republicans as Barry Goldwater of Arizona, and Karl Mundt of South Dakota. They saw in him a possible martyr and front for their cause.

These senators filled the Senate chamber and the Congressional Record with hundreds of thousands of words attacking the the Christian Crusaders, with government and extolling Gen.

16 1961

In recent weeks, the so-called States-Righters in the South and Walker.

their main strength in the West and Mid-west, have been issuing calls for Gen. Walker to quit the army and enter politics.

READY TO ATTACK

Apparently, the ultra-reactionaries, assessing the indecision of the Kennedy administration in the face of previous Rightist attacks and the silence of labor and the liberals, now feel that they are ready for a massive attack on the American people. They have been encouraged by the enlistment of Henry Luce and his magazine empire, which includes Life and Time, and the financial backing of such multi-million dollar corporations as Schick and Technicolor.

Gen Walker's bid for leadership is in itself a reflection of the arrogant confidence of these Rightist groups and underscores the urgency of organized resistence of the American people to circumvent them.

The bid for power by a military man like Walker fits into a worldwide pattern, encouraged and even promoted by certain forces in the U. S. government. For example, the dictatorial rulers of South Korea are a military junta; of Pakistan, a general; of Turkey, a general; of Spain, a general. And Latin America is filled with them. Walker backs these dictators thus:

"Nations that have fundamentally anti-Communist governments too often feel our wrath, directed by those who somehow have managed to rise to such positions of power in our government to be able to claim the right to speak for us."

PUNISHMENT

Unfortunately, the swiftness with which the Army proceeded to accept the would-be dictator's resignation now makes it difficult to punish him and thereby warn the subversive anti-American elements who are boring from within the armed services to destroy their tradition and legal foundations.

It was to protect the American people against the possibility of a military dictatorship that Article II of the Constitution's Bill of Rights declares:

"A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

The peculiar way in which Walker released his "resignation" and manifesto — through the office of white-supremacist Sen. Strom Thurmond — had raised the question as to whether or not he did not thereby engage in mutinous activity violating not only the letter and spirit of the law but also his oath as a soldier to his commander-in-chief, President Kennedy.

Many hours after Walker's "resignation" had been distributed to the press by Thurmond's office, the Army had not yet received the "resignation" from the fascist-minded general. He, therefore, had legally still been bound by directives against meddling in politics issued by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

Some Washington observers had speculated whether Kennedy would assert his authority as commander-in-chief to punish the would-be fuehrer. They asked whether an ordinary soldier would have been permitted to quit his post in this way.

But the Army's quick acceptance of the "resignation" points up the indecisiveness of the Kennedy administration in this dangerous situation. With Sen. Thurmond preparing to use a committee hearing starting Nov. 27 as a sounding board for Walker, firmness is essential.

Acting exactly like the four fascist French generals who recently tried to take power in the name of "saving" their country,

Walker placed himself in direct defiance of the U. S. government in Utopian language. He said:

"One of the [redacted] of history is [redacted] and the [redacted] we do not dare [redacted] decide whether [redacted] authority is to be [redacted] or the Palace Guard [redacted] the Kremlin."

UNDERMINES PRESIDENCY

In an obvious attempt to undermine the authority of the Presidency, he declared:

". . . the application of the Executive power has become so inordinate that members of the armed forces have been subjected to the most arbitrary and ruthless treatment . . ."

Gen Walker calls this an "encroachment upon the responsibility of the Legislative branch to regulate military conduct . . ."

But the would-be fuehrer makes it clear that he wants the legislative branch of the national government destroyed also, asserting:

". . . Are our hands tied, yours and mine? We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it — then the people of these United States are not truly represented."

JUNTA

What Walker is really after, he reveals later in his manifesto, practically calling for a military-civilian coalition to rule the nation. He writes:

"The civilian and military must complement each other in safeguarding power and security. From the vantage of the military, it often appears that some positions of authority are not adequately prepared to coordinate civilian and military security measures."

It was precisely against such men on a white horse that President Eisenhower warned in his farewell television address three days before he left the Presidency, when he declared:

"In the councils of government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists and will persist."

Gen. Walker, in his manifesto, arrogantly asserts his right to rule the nation and his contempt for the civilians in the U. S. government and in the nation who would dare interfere with him or his ilk. He asserts:

". . . I must find other means of serving my country . . ."

"To do this, I must be free from the power of little men who, in the name of my country, punish loyal service to it . . ."

RESIGNATION

How far up the would-be fuehrer's definition of "little men" extends can be seen in the following quotation from a letter of resignation he sent to his superiors on Aug. 4, 1959, attacking President Eisenhower and his administration thus:

"It is fair to say that in my opinion the fifth column conspiracy and influence in the United States minimize or nullify the effectiveness of my ideals and principles, military mission and objectives, and the necessary American public spirit to support sons and soldiers. I have no further desire for military service at this time with this conspiracy and its influences on the home front."

Walker's own words, in his manifesto, indicate that for many years he has arrogantly placed his own judgment above that of his superiors in the army and above the civilian leaders of the government. As Rep. Morris K. Udall (D-Ariz) pointed out in Congress Sept. 21, the Army investigation which had brought a reprimand to the would-be fuehrer for illegal political activity "revealed that General Walker is a member of the John Birch Society, an organization whose leader says former President Eisenhower, John Foster Dulles, Allen Dulles, and other high officials of our government have been Communist agents or dupes. Also, it was revealed that General Walker made public statements which were derogatory of other present and former officials of our government."

ALLY OF HOOVER

As his authority for the accusations of conspiring against the nation, Walker cited, in his manifesto, the words of J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, who, himself, is supposedly under civilian control. The general quotes Hoover thus:

"It is appalling that some members of our society continue to deplore and criticize those who stress the Communist danger. What these misguided 'authorities' fail to realize, etc . . ."

Walker also hails as the source of his accusations against government leaders like Kennedy and Eisenhower such outfits as the House Un-American Committee, charging:

". . . Congressional committees have devoted thousands of pages to sworn testimony on the failure of security within the civilian population such as interlocking subversion in government departments."

LITTLE ROCK

Why Gen. Walker fits so well into the plans of the white-supremacists such as Sen. Thurmond was revealed by the would-be fuehrer himself in his manifesto. In 1957, he had been sent with Federal troops by President Eisenhower, to prevent Little Rock, Ark., mobs from interfering with school integration. Walker writes arrogantly:

". . . Federal troops were used contrary to my personal wishes."

Walker's aim of pushing the nation into war is indicated in such sentences and phrases as:

"We are at war. We are being infiltrated. We are losing that war every day."

"Our objective is not peace, but freedom . . ."

"Talk about co-existence is a concession to the timid and the gullible."

Walker, in his manifesto, seeks suppression of the Bill of Rights, smearing the various media of education and free expression thus:

"We employ its agents in the teaching professions . . ."

". . . They infest our entertainment media . . ."

"Even our free press [redacted] exploited . . ."

"Communist collaborators find rabid and militant defense among certain groups of our citizens, some of whom are sincerely confused and misguided . . ."

And Walker ends his manifesto with these menacing words:

"It will be my purpose now, as a civilian, to attempt to do what I have found it no longer possible to do in uniform."

These Days . . . .

By G[redacted] E. Sokolsky

The Case for General Walker

GENERAL Edwin A. Walker has resigned from the armed services after serving his country as a commissioned officer for 30 years. He has not been given a trial. He has not been court-martialed for any violation of the military regulations of his country. As he stated to the Senate Armed Services Committee:

Sokolsky

"My career has been destroyed in its usefulness to my country. I cannot accept retirement with its emoluments and benefits. To do so would be a compromise with my principle."

Until General Walker has had his day in court, openly, so that all the American people can know exactly what happened, the conclusion must be that he has been unfairly treated, as Gen. Billy" Mitchell was unfairly treated, as Gen. Douglas MacArthur was unfairly treated, as General Patton might have been more unfairly treated but for public opinion. There can be no excuse for improper treatment for men in uniform.

General Walker takes the position:

"We are at war. We are infiltrated. We are losing that war every day. Are our hands tied, yours and mine? We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it—then the people of these United States are not truly represented."

THE THEORY that a military man is silenced by his uniform cannot be substantiated in a free country. A military officer does not lose his mind or his capacity for articulation by the simple act of joining the Army. General Walker quotes George Washington to uphold his own position:

"If men are to be precluded from offering their sentiments on a matter, which may involve the most serious and alarming consequences that can invite the consideration of mankind, reason is of no use to us; the freedom of speech may be taken away, and dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep to the slaughter."

What has been General Walker's crime? He is opposed to communism. He has recognized Soviet Russia as our enemy and in the indoctrination of the troops under his command he said so. Discussing this, General Walker said:

"We have yet to agree among ourselves, and with our allies, to reach a simple definition—communism is the enemy. We employ its agents in the teaching professions, allowing them to work on the fertile minds of youth seeking a champion to pit against a scapegoat. They infest our entertainment media. They long ago have infiltrated our Government so that a scheme of subversion can be traced through three decades.

"Even our free press is exploited by Communist propagandists. Communist collaborators find rabid and militant defense among certain groups of our citizens, some of whom are sincerely confused and misguided. Governments which oppose the leaders of these groups and their purposes often are branded reactionary. In other nations of our hemisphere, we have seen these groups seize absolute power. In Cuba, it was with our help."

THE TIME has come for a public hearing for and against General Walker. Let us get at the facts, whatever they may be. General Walker has already made a statement to the Senate Armed Services Committee, but this has not received the circulation that it deserved. "The Bookmailer, Inc." in New York has issued General Walker's statement in pamphlet form and that is now available to the public. It is reported that this Senate Committee will hold a public hearing late in November, but unless it is fully open, it will serve no constructive purpose.

It will be impossible in an open hearing to avoid calling Adam Yarmolinsky to the stand to testify to the nature and cause of his opposition to General Walker, if any, and the relationship of that opposition to the Fund for the Republic, of which Yarmolinsky was secretary, although he is now Special Assistant to the Secretary of Defense. What part has Yarmolinsky played in the elimination of General Walker from the Army? Who is responsible for the peculiar action that was taken concerning General Walker?

WHEN A PUBLIC hearing has been held, we shall be told who is telling the truth and why those who are not telling the truth are taking the attitude that they are. Also we need to know what is the motivation for this sort of thing. A public hearing may discredit General Walker or it may discredit his superiors, but it cannot discredit the United States.

"The Bookmailer, Inc." in New York has issued General Walker's statement in pamphlet form and that is now available to the public. It is reported that this Senate Committee will hold a public hearing late in November, but unless it is fully open, it will serve no constructive purpose.

It will be impossible in an open hearing to avoid calling Adam Yarmolinsky to the stand to testify to the nature and cause of his opposition to General Walker, if any, and the relationship of that opposition to the Fund for the Republic, of which Yarmolinsky was secretary, although he is now Special Assistant to the Secretary of Defense. What part has Yarmolinsky played in the elimination of General Walker from the Army? Who is responsible for the peculiar action that was taken concerning General Walker?

WHEN A PUBLIC hearing has been held, we shall be told who is telling the truth and why those who are not telling the truth are taking the attitude that they are. Also we need to know what is the motivation for this sort of thing. A public hearing may discredit General Walker or it may discredit his superiors, but it cannot discredit the United States.

LETTERS TO THE STAR

Salutes Gen. W[illegible]

The resignation of Gen. Edwin A. Walker, after more than 30 years of service to his country, will create a void that will not be easy to fill. Here is a dedicated man who is being sacrificed on the altar of censorship because he believes that as an American he has an inherent right to think and to speak. His voice was raised against the forces that seek to destroy us—the forces of international communism. By muzzling such voices we will only speed up this destruction.

After many years of service, Gen. Walker had gained much insight into the present conflict between two ideologies—militant communism on the one hand and free democracy on the other. He attempted to make known to the men under his command, and to all others who would listen, the facts; many of which we are not provided. To keep these facts hidden is a travesty and can only lead to the eventual downfall of the society for which most of us are prepared to give our lives.

Ignorance of what is going on in the world today led to the defections among the American prisoners in Korea. It made turncoats out of young American soldiers.

It has been said that military men should not speak up in regard to national or international problems. Such fallacious thinking plays right into the hands of the Communists. We need more such men to speak up, more such men to point the finger at Communist infiltration, and more men of the caliber of Gen. Walker.

We would not have been [illegible] into a Nation of free-thinking, dedicated men if such censorship and muzzling of voices had occurred in the early days of our history. Men such as Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, and other early patriots had to speak up to make their voices heard. Today when a patriot attempts to speak up for something in which he believes strongly, he is criticized in the newspapers, criticized by members of Congress, criticized by the civilian hierarchy who are in charge of the defense of this Nation. This criticism has led to his resignation and has destroyed his career—a career of dedication. We must become aware of the forces that are attempting to bring on the downfall of American democracy. International communism, in its ruthless, bloody march, will trample us under unless we pay heed to the voices of such men a Gen. Walker who are attempting to bring the light of wisdom into the darkness of ignorance where so many of us walk.

We are justly proud of our freedoms. Is it fair to deny these freedoms to the military leaders who are asked to defend them? Is it just to stifle and throttle men like Gen. Walker who display good old-fashioned American guts? Let's have more of the same. Army Officer.

Walker May Step In As Rightist Champion

By James E. Clayton
Staff Reporter

Is Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker the new man on horseback for America's far political right? Or has his public broadside against the Executive Branch cut short his public, as well as his military career?

News Analysis

These are probably the two biggest and most important questions left unanswered by Walker's resignation from the Army last week. The resignation came three weeks before a special Senate Committee is to inquire into the feud between Walker and the civilian leaders of the Pentagon.

The General's statement explaining his position to the Committee raises the questions.

He said, "I must find other means of serving my country in the time of her great need. . . ."

Does this mean that he intends to leap into politics? A resident of San Antonio, Walker has already received considerable support for his political views there.

Does it mean that he intends to join the lecture circuit on which right-wing speakers are now enjoying their greatest heyday in decades?

It is possible that Walker could find a place in either field, or both. His 6000-word statement outlined a political philosophy that embraces the "get-tough" foreign policy of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R.-Ariz.), the "greatest danger [redacted] internal subversion" policy of the John Birch Society and the "military must teach us" policy of Sen. Strom Thurmond (D.-S.C.).

A Rallying Point

It may be that Walker will provide a rallying point for these and others on the political right. How effective such a grouping could be in American politics still remains to be seen. Walker would [redacted] it with the chairmanship of, say, [redacted].

In [redacted], Walker's account of how he was indoctrinating American troops in Germany with his own brand of anti-communism is a fascinating document.

Its apparent aim is to convince the Senators and the American people that the Executive Branch of Government has been illegally and immorally putting a leash on the military.

That has been the theme Thurmond and others have pounded hard ever since the Defense Department relieved Walker of his command and reprimanded him for telling his troops how to vote in the 1960 elections. They have branded as censorship this and other Pentagon action in limiting what officers may say about foreign and domestic politics.

Walker, in turn, uses the word "censorship" to describe the actions of the Executive Branch in other areas. He says there was "censorship of action" that led to the fall of the Chinese Nationalist Government in the 1940s, "censorship of victory" in the Korean war, and "censorship of execution" in Greece in 1947.

He seems to base his charges on one of two theories, or both. One is that American officials deliberately let the Communists take over large areas of the world. The other is that American political leaders do not understand the Communist threat.

Military Understands

Apparently Walker wants the civilian leadership to turn over the major role in fighting communism to the military, because, he says, the military does understand the threat.

One observer of foreign affairs pointed out last week that [redacted] statement sounds much like those made in years past by Gen. Raoul Salan, the French leader of the military insurrection in Algeria.

Salan said that the generals knew what was wrong in Algeria, that the government in Paris did not really understand the situation, and that if the French people were told the truth, they would back the generals.

It may have been against just such a comparison that Walker said a military coup in this Nation is "patently preposterous."

But he has opened the area of civilian control over the military, an area that the Senate Committee may examine when it meets late this month to look into the Walker-Pentagon feud.

Reason Clear

The reason for that feud is clear. Walker thinks that Communists have infiltrated much of American life, that young men do not understand what communism is, that they must understand it and hate it to be good soldiers and that some men in high places either do not want Americans to know about communism or do not themselves understand the real danger.

The civilians in the Pentagon disagree on every point. In addition, they have said that Walker's program of indoctrination for his troops included material charging that top political leaders are pro-Communist and that America is well on the road toward communism.

That, they say, plus the election advice, is what got Walker into trouble. Walker contends this is all a cover for the real reason—a desire to keep the miliatry from telling the public what it knows.

It may be that Walker's long statement is a first step in building him up as a leader of the right. If it is, an effort will almost certainly be made to use the Senate Committee hearings to the same end.

Walker's Decision to Quit Was Right

MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER was a good soldier, and his decision to quit the Army so he could carry on his John Birch Society version of an anti-Communist campaign was at least a good soldier's decision—straightforward and courageous.

Now his audiences can hear him out on the merits of what he says and take it or leave it as they see fit.

They will hear him and be listening not to their commanding officer but to an ordinary, sincere fellow citizen with a Birch Society member's tragically distorted concept of the real nature of the Communist threat to America.

This is the crux of the Walker affair, which Sen. Strom Thurmond (D) of South Carolina, the former Dixiecrat candidate for president, has been attempting to turn into a smear on the national administration.

This, and the fact that the Army did have a good legal case against General Walker, not because he was anti-Communist—which the U.S. Army top brass obviously is, too—but because he violated the trust the people put in him when he used his position of authority to influence the votes of his troops.

The Judge Advocate General's office of the Army conducted a painstaking investigation of the case and at the end of a scrupulously objective report included the finding that General Walker conducted an intensive campaign of editorials, lectures and "study groups" to influence military personnel and their dependents in behalf of extreme right wing candidates and issues. (Interestingly, not even Sen. Barry Goldwater got a perfect rating in the index used by Walker to guide the troops.)

In doing these things, the Judge Advocate General's report said, General Walker violated Army Regulations as well as federal civil and criminal statutes.

What General Walker did was no more right because he was a major general than it would have if he had been a postmaster general. And it wouldn't have changed matters a bit if he had been trying to influence his men to vote for Republicans, Democrats or Prohibitionists.

THE Army's action against the general was mild, simply transferring him from his position in charge of the 24th Division to other responsibility.

In this, too, we think the Army acted properly, for if Walker misunderstood the rights of Americans in uniform he was at least relentless in his dedication to the nation in which those rights are guaranteed.

In only one particular were we disappointed in General Walker. Announcing his resignation, he seemed to step out of character when he protested that he had been punished by the Army for his "loyal service" to the country. That is just not so.

Be that as it may, Walker will now be free to say whatever he likes—subject only to the laws of libel and slander.

HE MAY wish to pick up where he left off in his statements against former President Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Edward R. Murrow and the "40 to 60 pct." of the American public he seems to think is under Communist influence.

Because we admire the patriotic side of Edwin Walker, we hate to see him engage in a name-calling campaign of the sort that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has pointed out helps to divide Americans and soften us up to Communist objectives.

But that is Walker's choice to make. As for his fellow Americans, their choice is to weigh such a campaign, if it is undertaken, against their own common sense.

THE CASE OF GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER*, by Kent and Phoebe Courtney; Conservative Society of America ($2.00).

Any book published on the case of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker at this time must be premature, the case not having been completed — despite his resignation from the Army.

However, Kent and Phoebe Courtney, the authors of this conservative tract, have not allowed themselves to be restrained by the usual limitations of time and history. They have decided that General Walker was without fault in his "Pro-Blue" troop information program, that Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem., Ark.) was wrong in the critical memorandum he sent to the Defense Department, and that the case is complete.

(The book contains the texts of two resolutions introduced in the House and Senate, both calling for an investigation of the controversy surrounding the Fulbright memorandum. The Courtneys apparently doubt that a congressional investigation could bring to light anything of importance.)

As the Courtneys interpret it, the Walker case is the symbol and culmination of a long struggle between liberal and conservative forces in America. They relate liberalism to socialism and socialism to Communism.

Liberalism is, of course, viewed as satanic, and conservatism and its disciples are regarded as subordinate only to the Second Coming.

Two professional anti-Communists who come in for praise are the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) and Robert H. W. Welch Jr. McCarthy is applauded for having been anti-Communist without a trace of anti-Semitism. Welch, whose principal contribution to American history has been absurdity, is praised for wanting to impeach Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren. Welch, a former Massachusetts candy baron, founded the John Birch Society.

McCarthyite, for instance, is defined as a term "used by the Communists to describe all those who indulge in 'McCarthyism,' or the investigation of Communist subversion within the United States Government."

The summation of the Courtneys' interpretation is this: That Walker was a hapless but patriotic pawn who found himself at the mercy of a "ruling elite of Communist appeasers," and that the Fulbright memorandum was a document to prevent criticism of the Kennedy administration. A recommendation in the memorandum to have military officers study history, foreign policy, and government at universities is labeled a nefarious plot. It would, the Courtneys say, "subjugate the military further."

Do the authors have a solution to what they feel is the problem of liberalism?

Yes, there is a saviour and (lo!) it is Kent Courtney; Kent Courtney has founded the Conservative Society of America. Kent Courtney is its national chairman.

(Since publishing his book, Courtney has decided to give the voters of Louisiana a chance to put a footprint on the road to political salvation. He will oppose Senator Russell B. Long (Dem., La.) in the 1962 senatorial election.)

The real value of a work such as this is that it provides an insight into some of the "conservative" minds which are uniting as States Righters, John Birchists, or Conservative Society of America members—groups which seek not to conserve the present but to regain the past. To them, the future is ominous and uncertain, and the promise of American democracy is already history.

Walker Quits Army, Answers Critics

By [redacted] FEYERHERD
Star Staff Writer

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker [redacted] indoctrinating his soldiers with political material that [redacted] owed the line of the ultra-conservative John Birch Society, has quit the Army while under fire from his critics.

In a statement sent to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, the 51-year-old West Pointer said he was resigning instead of passing up all retirement benefits because "I must be free to oppose the power of little men who, in the name of my country, punish loyal service to it."

The general was relieved of command of the 24th Division in Germany and ordered to a subordinate post in the Fifth Army Command after an investigation of the political indoctrination charges. He now will leave in San Antonio, Tex.

He confirmed his resignation to The Star late yesterday but declined to make any comment beyond the long statement he sent the Senate subcommittee. Later he told the Associated Press: "When my plans develop I suspect I may have some statements to make."

The subcommittee plans to start hearings November 27 on "the case and other reports of censorship" of statements by military men.

In his statement made public today by the office of Senator Thurmond, Democrat of South Carolina, Gen. Walker said:

"My career has been developed in its usefulness to my country. . . . I must find other means of serving my country at the time of her great need in order to pursue the dedication of a lifetime."

The general has served more than 30 years in the Army and is eligible for retirement pay of more than $12,000 a year. But he said, "I cannot accept retirement with its emoluments and benefits. To do so would be a compromise with my principle."

The Army said last night it had not yet received the resignation. When it is received, it was said, the resignation will be acted on promptly."

Gen. Walker has become the center of a storm over the right of military men to speak out against communism, both foreign and domestic. Senator Thurmond has charged that officers are being muzzled in their attempts to alert the country against communism. Senator Fullbright, Democrat of Arkansas, has said that some military men have become involved in politics. The Senate subcommittee decided to study the broad censorship problem.

The general was criticized by Pentagon officials for his 24th Division troop indoctrination [redacted] an Army Inspector General's report said he had [redacted] soldiers on voting in a Congressional election. [redacted] said that there were [redacted] in many areas of [redacted]

Gen. Walker revealed that he had submitted his resignation in 1960 when he was commander of the Army troops that enforced the school integration order in Little Rock, Ark. The resignation, he said, was rejected by the Secretary of the Army.

"I have no further desire for military service at this time," he said in that resignation, "with this (5th column) conspiracy and its influences on the home front."

Hoped for Different Result

The general said he had "hoped and prayed that the Army would not become involved in that non-military issue."

His current resignation request said, in part:

"Cold war efforts, indoctrination and training have been unrealistically suppressed and censored, in spirit and in fact with and without intent, and are not in consonance with the existing state of war, infiltration and aggression, in providing the security and protection of the nation or the soldier from exposure to the enemy."

On the matter of censorship of the military, the general said in his statement to the Senate subcommittee:

"Evn before this subcommittee was directed to study censorship, there had been much public concern reflecting a long period of interest in the terms of censorship vs. the terms for survival. That public interest concerned itself with areas extending back through Gens. Stilwell, Patton, Patch, MacArthur, Gen. Walton Walker, and Gen Van Fleet, to the present date. These are all areas of public and national interest during my time of service, and are properly part of an investigation of censorship of officers, non-commissioned officers, and soldiers in the performance of their missions and duties in behalf of national security on present-day terms.

"Censorship as it pertains to my recent command goes back to October, 1958, in finding within the division a complete lack of realization not only of the enemy's capacity, but of his terms for our existence on this earth. His continuous threats, challenges and tirades, including Moscow Molly's diatribes aimed at our troops on the radio every night, demand our position.

"No member of this Congress who has visited the soldier on the front-line outposts, constantly manned night and day, year after year, failed to respect the realism and seriousness in the situation, and in the soldier's daily life. This we have lived with every hour of the day, and every day of the year. As commanders, we, too, wonder about the enemy and each soldier's preparedness to recognize across miles and miles of barbed wire that enemy's potentiality and brutality.

"My ultimate and daily task has been to achieve effective realism — efficiency in young men in the use of their weapons. They must learn to kill and destroy, to live and protect. Each man is a source of intelligence, morale and comfort. We must talk and he must not talk. He must be alert to see and hear, to shoot and not to shoot. He must live in hope and fear with courage and conviction.

"Even strong men can weaken in these terms for battle preparedness — making men of soldiers and soldiers of men. There are hopes and frustrations—happiness and sadness in the soldier-leader relationship, with every new man under the pressure of an inevitable day of reckoning which is never predictable. These are the burdens of tears and sweat with the thousands of young men from every walk of life, from scholar to delinquent, loyal to unloyal, responsible to irresponsible, appreciative to unappreciative; men from the greatest homes on earth who can be, and will be, the finest soldiers — second to none on earth.

Tried to Give Knowledge

"These and [illegible] I live with, and for, without time to rectify what they or their parents may have failed to do, but to make each a master of the art of warfare with the precision that time allowed and the experience that comes from knowledge of the enemy, and his use of warfare in four dimensions.

"If I had failed in this task, I would be the first to know it, and you would be the first to condemn it.

"We are at war. We are infiltrated. We are losing that war every day. Are our hands tied, yours and mine? We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it—then the people of these United States are not truly represented.

"Failure to know the enemy, failure to understand him on all his fronts, failure to prepare completely to battle him to the ultimate in the defense of the United States, only gives him aid and comfort described in our Constitution as treason.

"There can be no co-existence on the battlefield."

The general also dealt in broader terms with the international picture:

"Our objective is not peace, but freedom. If we are vigilant and strong and willing and worthy to defend our liberty, peace will be at home with us. If the Soviet leaders are made to understand that we will fight, there will be no need to fight.

"The Communists are not fighters. They are not even accomplished intriguers. Much of their work is being done for them.

"We know what misguided powers collaborated to install communism as the overlord of so many people over the world. We know that communism wants the rest of them. The Kremlin knows that the smallest candle of freedom left flickering might ignite the rest of the world. . . .

"We have yet to agree among ourselves, and with our allies, to reach a simple definition—communism is the enemy. We employ its agents in the teaching professions, allowing them to work on the fertile minds of youth seeking a champion to pit against a scapegoat. They infest our entertainment media. They long ago have infiltrated our government so that a scheme of subversion can be traded through three decades.

"Even our free press is exploited by Communist propagandists. Communist collaborators find rabid and militant defense among certain groups of our citizens, some of whom are sincerely confused and misguided. Governments which oppose the leaders of these groups and their purposes often are branded reactionary. In other nations of our hemisphere, we have seen these groups seize absolute power. In Cuba, it was with our help."

On the matter of indoctrination of troops, he said:

"It has been suggested that discussion and consideration of domestic civilian matters are not within the province of the military. I disagree. Soldiers come to us from civilian life and sooner or later will return to civilian life. I submit, therefore, that they should be permitted to know, without interruption, what is going on at home, and abroad, for their interest and the interest of the home they protect."

Texts of Walker's Statement to Senate Panel and Request to Resign From Army

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—Following are the texts of a statement by Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker to the Senate Armed Services Committee and of his request for resignation from the Army:

Statement to Committee

Mr. Chairman, distinguished members of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Upon the invitation of the chairman of the special preparedness subcommittee, Senator John Stennis, I am happy to submit a statement to become a part of the record of this committee.

By God's grace, by action of this Congress, and by appointment to the U. S. Military Academy, by the late Senator Morris Sheppard, it has been my privilege to be a commissioned officer in the United States Army for the past thirty years. My life, my service, my dedication to my troops, their purpose, their hopes, are a matter of record. I hope that the origin and depth of my motivation and intent are credible and clear.

I have been removed from command of the Twenty-fourth Division.

My career has been destroyed in its usefulness to my country. I cannot accept retirement with its emoluments and benefits. To do so would be a compromise with my principle.

I take leave of military duty with a heavy heart. I must find other means of serving my country in the time of her great need, in order to pursue the dedication of a lifetime.

Assails 'Little Men'

To do this, I must be free from the power of little men who, in the name of my country, punish loyal service to it. No man can judge this nation and its emergency but myself. I stand ready to give my recommendations on the field of battle—past or future, my devotion to country, my obligation to this Congress or to the parents of a son.

Even before this subcommittee was directed to study censorship, there had been much public concern reflecting a long period of interest in the terms of censorship vs. the terms for survival. That public interest concerned itself with areas extending back through Generals Stilwell, Patton, Patch, MacArthur, General Walton Walker, and General Van Fleet, to the present date. These are all areas of public and national interest during my time of service, and are properly part of any investigation of censorship of officers, non-commissioned officers, and soldiers in the performance of their missions and duties in behalf of national security on present-day terms.

Censorship as it pertains to my recent command goes back to October, 1959, in finding within the division a complete lack of realization not only of the enemy's capacity, but of his terms for our existence on this earth. His continuous threats, challenges and tirades, including "Moscow Mole's" diatribes aimed at our troops on the radio every night, demand opposition. No member of this Congress who has visited the soldiers on the frontline outposts, continuously manned night and day, year after year, failed to respect the realism and seriousness in the situation, and in the soldier's daily life. This we have lived with every hour of the day and every day of the year. As commanders, we, too, wonder about the enemy and each soldier's preparedness to recognize across miles and miles of barbed wire that enemy's potentiality and brutality.

My ultimate daily task has been to achieve effective realism—efficiency in young men in the use of their weapons. They must learn to kill and destroy, to live and protect. Each man is a source of intelligence, morale and comfort. He must talk and he must not talk. He must be alert to see, and hear, to shoot and not to shoot. He must live in hope and fear with courage and conviction.

'Making Men of Soldiers'

Even strong men can weaken in these terms for battle preparedness—making men of soldiers and soldiers of men. There are hopes and frustrations—happiness and sadness in the soldier-leader relationship, with every new man under the pressure of an inevitable day of reckoning which is never predictable. These are the burdens of tears and sweat with the thousands of young men from every walk of life, from scholar to delinquent, loyal to unloyal, responsible to irresponsible, appreciative and unappreciative; men from the greatest homes on earth who can be, and will be, the finest soldiers—second to none on earth.

These are the men I lived with, and for, without time to rectify what they or their parents may have failed to do, but to make each a master of the art of warfare with the provision that time allowed and the experience that comes from knowledge of the enemy, and his use of warfare in four dimensions.

If I had failed in this task, I would be the first to know it, and you would be the first to condemn it.

We are at war. We are infiltrated. We are losing that war every day. Are our hands tied, yours and mine? We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it—then the people of these United States are not truly represented.

Let me quote to you now from the address of George Washington to the officers of the Army, 15 March, 1933.

"If men are to be prevented from offering their sentiments on a matter, which may involve the most serious and alarming consequences that can invite the consideration of mankind, reason is of no use to us; freedom of speech may be taken away, and dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep to the slaughter."

Quotes a Soldier

Let me quote next from a soldier in Germany, a letter written January 1961, to a member of this Senate:

"For almost eighteen years I have been proud to be what history called me, a 'citizen soldier.' but now I can no longer be a citizen, I can only be a soldier. Are we career soldiers to be relegated to substrata citizenship once again? What a fantastic idea that is!

"Has the pyramid of Government grown so high into the clouds that its foundations can no longer be seen from the starry eyes of our nation's leaders? If this is true, then our task is to divert their eyes earthward and away from the stars."

I agree with Douglas MacArthur, quoted elsewhere in this document, that the application of the Executive power has become so inordinate that members of the armed forces have been subjected to the most arbitrary and ruthless treatment for daring to speak the truth in accordance with conviction and conscience.

The encroachment upon the responsibility of the Legislative branch to regulate the military conduct is the very encroachment now turned upon me.

In defeat, I am in good company.

Cites Need to Know Enemy

Failure to know the enemy, failure to understand him on all his fronts, failure to prepare completely to battle him to the ultimate in the defense of the United States, only gives him aid and comfort described in our Constitution as treason.

There can be no coexistence on the battlefield.

As I rejoin the nation's civilian population, I submit an array of opinion expressed by some of the most illustrious men ever to serve under the flag of the United States. Now that military men may no longer confide in the public, let them speak out of the past:

Admiral C. Turner Joy:

"Let no one think that in negotiating with the Communists we should reject the use of force. On the contrary, it is only through the imminent threat of application of our military power that the Communists can be compelled to negotiate seriously for the alleviation of the basic issues between their world and ours. We must be prepared to accept the risk of war if we hope to avoid war." (1955)

Gen. Mark Clark:

"Having seen the Red Army and Russian diplomacy in action, my own belief is that there is nothing the Soviets would not do to achieve world domination. But I am convinced also that they respect force; they respect nothing in the world except force.

"Whether it was the Soviet High Commissioner Koney in Vienna, Gusev in London at the deputy foreign ministers' meeting, Vishinsky and Molotov at the 1947 council of Foreign Ministers in Moscow or Nam Il at Panmunjom, I found the Communists to be the same breed of bandits. They are ruthless in their exploitation of weakness; they stop, look and listen only when confronted with force . . .

"But peace will be granted us only if we are strong, if the Russians and their followers know we are strong and if they are convinced we have the determination and courage to use that strength to achieve a military victory the next time we are called to war against communism." (1954)

Alludes to MacArthur

Gen. Douglas MacArthur:

"There can be no compromise with atheistic communism – no half-way in the preservation of freedom and religion. It must be all or nothing.

"Without committing a single soldier to battle he has assumed direct or indirect control over a large part of the population of the world. His intrigue has found its success, not so much in his own military strength, nor, indeed, in any overt threat of intent to commit it to battle, but in the moral weakness of the free world." (1952)

Gen. John R. Deane:

"Above all, we must abandon the hopes that go with the weakness of appeasement. We are dealing with people who respond only to strength.

"The chances of attaining our objective by peaceful means will be enhanced immeasurably if we are prepared to defend our position by force at any point where it is threatened. Nothing induces greater restraint on the part of Soviet leaders than a display of strength by their adversaries.

"In my opinion there can no longer be any doubt that Soviet leadership has always been motivated by the belief that communism and capitalism cannot co-exist. Nor is there any doubt in my mind that present-day Soviet leaders have determined upon a program pointed toward creating conditions favorable to a triumph of communism in the war against capitalism which they consider to be inevitable." (1946.)

Applauds Educator's Views

It has fallen to a civilian, Dr. Max Rafferty, California school superintendent, to ask the home front what happened to patriotism. I quote him as follows:

"We educators had better not be caught withholding from the nation's children the wonderful sharp-edged glittering sword of patriotism. In a word, this is its indoctrination. An ugly word? I think not. But if it is ugly to teach children to revere the great Americans of the past, to cherish the traditions of our country, to hate communism and its creatures, then I say let's be ugly."

Let me present the view of Dr. Charles Malik of Lebanon, former President of the United Nations General Assembly as expressed in a speech in Williamsburg:

"Communism started from zero forty-three years ago, and today it rigidly controls one-third of mankind and has penetrated and softened up in varying degrees the remaining two-thirds. Was this phenomenal development inevitable? . . . I warn you therefore against declining to assume full moral-historical responsibility for what happened during the last two decades; for, if you do so, you are already a Marxist, and Marxian communism will have already won in your soul.

"The only hope, therefore, is to believe, on a basis of truth and not of darkness or sentiment or dogmatism, that nothing of what transpired was inevitable, and that everything could have been prevented or reversed. Only on the basis of radical moral responsibility can you overcome the fatalism of the cosmologists and the determinism of the dialectical materialists.

"The future will never redeem the past, and we will only pass from one fiasco to another, from one pathetic drift to another, unless in contemplating the past we can put our finger with certainty on such and such act, and such and such decision, and such and such person, and honestly say this act, or decision, or person, could have been different and therewith the course of events would have taken a radically different turn."

'Accusers Are Persons'

My own accusers are persons—not America.

They separate me from the soldiers and soldiering I know.

My oath is used for and against me.

My case "rests" on the courage of patriots facing present terms for survival.

It might be useful to review what we seek.

Our objective is not peace, but freedom. If we are vigilant and strong and willing and worthy to defend our liberty, peace will be at home with us. If the Soviet leaders are made to understand that we will fight, there will be no need to fight.

The Communists are not fighters. They are not even accomplished intriguers. Much of their work is being done for them.

No people ever has voted in a free election to accept communism as a way of life. From the time Lenin's rabble swooped down upon the Government of Kerenski, on 7 November 1917, destroying Russia's first republican form of government, to the present, the Communists have been destroyers of the right of the peoples to choose their own destiny.

We know what misguided powers collaborated to install communism as the overlord of so many people over the world. We know that communism wants the rest of them. The Kremlin knows that the smallest candle of freedom left flickering might ignite the rest of the world.

Talk about co-existence is a concession to the timid and the gullible.

To keep the other peoples quiet, the Kremlin resorts to other means.

Cites F. B. I. Director

F. B. I. Director J. Edgar Hoover said this:

"It is appalling that [redacted] members of our society [redacted] time to deplore and [redacted] those who stress the C[redacted] ist danger. What these [redacted] guided 'authorities' fail to realize is that the Communist Party, U. S. A., is an integral part of the international communism. As the world-wide menace becomes more powerful, the various Communist parties assume a more dangerous and sinister role in the countries in which they are entrenched. Public indifference to this threat is tantamount to national suicide.

"Lethargy leads only to disaster. The Communists have a savage plan of liquidation for a vanquished America."

Has the counsel of this great American fallen on deaf ears? Worse still, is his voice like all others to be muted by political dilettantes with their fingers to their lips?

If so, we must be prepared to accept a prostitution of language and truth as we have known them since we became a free people. This would be a most devastating brainwash.

One of the great conflicts of history is that between man and the state. An example of how far we have submitted to this new orientation is that, only a short time ago, a liberal was one who believed in protecting individual liberties from usurpation by the state. Yet, all men must have a higher authority. I think we do not dare let these usurpers decide whether the higher authority is to be the President or the Palace Guard—God or the Kremlin.

Recalls Wartime Command

During World War II, I commanded one of the finest ski, mountain, amphibious, and air-borne trained commando units. It was half-American, half-Canadian. Training and combat made soldiers of men, and men of soldiers. Supremacy and victory on the battlefield evolved from the capacity of each individual as a dedicated fighting man, and a player on the team. Night after night, and days on end, leadership kept vigil to evaluate the situation in terms of dead, wounded, replacements, and from the reports of scouts and patrols, shifting supporting fire, seeking to recover lost and wounded.

He had studied our enemy; [redacted] tactics and [redacted] Supremacy was the [redacted] victory: not equality. [redacted] Mont., stands a [redacted] erial to the honored dead [redacted] dian and American soldiers who comprised that [redacted] Special Service Force—volunteers for hazardous duty [redacted] two great countries. It is at the same time a monument to the necessity for engaging the enemy with purpose—the purpose of destroying the enemy.

In Korea, commanding the artillery at Heartbreak Hill, and the infantry at Gibralter, for twenty months, I saw stalemate become a substitute for victory. The monument there became the P. W. cages. Thirty-three thousand American dead, and more than one hundred thousand Koreans lost are the monument to the censorship of victory on the field of battle.

I worked long nights in a hut high in the mountains overlooking the beautiful Sea of Japan, helping my Korean friends to build an army in our image. The result has been an army in which soldiers at every echelon enjoy as satisfactory a relationship as I have known anywhere. That army is the product of the cooperation and coordination between a great anti-Communist patriot, President Rhee, and a great American general, James Van Fleet.

It had been my lot to be assigned to the Greek Operations Desk in the Pentagon during the war in Greece. Dismayed at harassment through censorship of execution, I was happy to arrange another assignment.

Tells of China Incident

Over rice with Korean soldiers, I heard from an American major on my staff the disheartening detail of his experience while serving on the mainland as an advisor to the Nationalist Chinese Army—of shortages of ammunition, and of the sudden recall of all American advisers from China. The Nationalist forces had been in combat readiness, anxious to engage a Communist enemy weakened by long, over-extended supply routes. Here, censorship of action through the control of ammunition, and the recall of advisers upon whom there [redacted] reliance was effective.

In 1951, as a colonel, I explored the Pentagon for a week in preparation for assignment to Korea. I wanted to know particularly if reports in the press that the Korean War might end quickly had any substance. I had no interest in a duty assignment in Korea as part of an "occupation force." If the war was to continue, I wanted the combat assignment. I have to tell you that the general feeling in the Pentagon was that the war might end next week, or next month, which obviously would mean no victory. I watched the return of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to Washington that week. And I watched the enemy increase the fury of his assaults. I decided to go to Korea, knowing that censorship of victory was the prevailing mood. There was the challenge. Possibly the war would be won within the limitations imposed upon the military. I was determined to help. I led my men and fought them to their greatest capacity. Out of their sight, I wept over their predicament.

Did you ever hear of "bug-out"? I have. In Korea. It represented the complete disintegration of morale and confidence. It is the psychology of rout.

You heard it, at times, on every hand. He "bugged out"; they "bugged out"; it was a "bug-out". It was a shocking thing from a soldier.

With firm discipline and snapped out of it. They became what Americans have always been, top-notch soldiers.

As senior adviser to the Chief of Staff of the Chinese Nationalist Army on Formosa [Taiwan] in 1955, I felt the effects of uncertain policy.

There can be no co-existence on the battlefield.

It has been said, perhaps better than I say it now, that political warfare is a sustained effort to seize territory and establish dominion over peoples through acts which, while short of war, nevertheless engage the threat of war. [redacted] fare, not a series of [redacted] relations campaigns.

Its primary purpose [redacted] discredit its opponents, neutralize, if not [redacted] them, with methods that abound predominantly in deception. Its primary object, which wears the mask of coexistence and mutual understanding, is to utterly destroy competing political and economic concepts and reduce the peoples living under these concepts to vassalage, or complete impotence.

Foreign aid, cultural exchanges and technical assistance may be activities related to political warfare, but they do not, of themselves, depreciate the power of an ideological enemy.

We have yet to agree among ourselves, and with our Allies, to reach a simple definition—communism is the enemy. We employ its agents in the teaching professions, allowing them to work on the fertile minds of youth seeking a champion to pit against a scapegoat. They infest our entertainment media. They long ago have infiltrated our Government so that a scheme of subversion can be traced through three decades.

Even our free press is exploited by Communist propagandists. Communist collaborators find rabid and militant defense among certain groups of our citizens, some of whom are sincerely confused and misguided. Governments which oppose the leaders of these groups and their purposes often are branded reactionary. In other nations of our hemisphere, we have seen these groups seize absolute power. In Cuba, it was with our help.

Nations that have fundamentally anti-Communist governments too often feel our wrath, directed by those who somehow have [redacted] to rise to such [redacted] power in our Gover[redacted] to be able to claim [redacted] to speak for us. I [redacted] with sorrow, but I [redacted] conviction.

[redacted] of American Communism [redacted] now pushing into [redacted] on this assignment [redacted] have been [redacted] and we and our Allies [redacted] alert and informed [redacted] alert we would have [redacted] to be informed. To disagree, [redacted] us who [redacted] alert us by informing us [redacted] enemy and thus who do [redacted] nothing, have gone to extremes, [redacted] lengths, but always at the risk of exposing themselves [redacted] going too far.

As a boy on a small Texas [redacted] farm, it was my happy [redacted] to behold daily the glory of God and the wonders of life made more bountiful by the sun and the rain, and sometimes made suddenly awesome by the unleashing of great devastation. In our daily chores and in our annual harvests, we worked amid blessings and challenges.

When Senator Sheppard appointed me to the U. S. Military Academy, I hoped and prayed that I might serve with honor and efficiency; and, if necessary, with sacrifice.

The Cadet Prayer became my prayer:

"Make us to choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong, and never to be content with a half-truth when the whole can be won. Endow us with the courage that is born of loyalty to all that is noble and worthy, that scorns to compromise with vice and injustice and knows no fear when truth and right are in jeopardy . . ."

The Cadet Honor Code became my honor code:

"Lying, quibbling, evasive statements, or technicalities in order to shield guilt or defeat the spirit of justice will not be tolerated. The Code demands courageous and fearless honesty in setting fourth the truth, regardless of consequences.

"A cadet who violates the Code shall resign at once as there is no place in the Corps for anyone who cannot abide by its principles and offenders are never granted immunity. Anything to which a man signs his name means unequivocably what it said both as to letter and spirit."

[redacted] from civilian life [redacted] qualified to the [redacted] them closer ties to home [redacted]

During the past several years, troop commanders have been working under severe handicaps. The young men who came to us from America's schools and homes and churches were uninformed about their enemy. The training and preparation they should have been getting had been sadly neglected. We found it necessary to remedy this deficiency.

The mobilization of the Twenty-fourth Infantry Division cold war effort was superceded by authority from a 1958 directive of the National Security Council, the top advisory board to the President, which called for the mobilization of all arms of government, civilian, diplomatic, military—in the cold war. My efforts became the rationale for my relief.

Fresh from school, or with school delayed, soldiers coming to my command had not had the opportunity to read "The Naked Communist" by Cleon Skousen; nor J. Edgar Hoover's "Masters of Deceit;" nor Edward Hunter's "Brainwashing: Pavlov to Powers;" nor Friedrich Hayek's "The Road to Serfdom;" nor Weaver's "Mainsprings of Human Progress;" nor the tremendously important studies which the committees of this Congress have made on the nature, the capabilities and designs of the Communist enemy. They literally didn't know why they were wearing the uniform of the United States. Their life, the life of the soldier next to them, your life—the life of this Capitol—depends upon their knowing.

The Constitution which you [redacted] and I have taken [redacted] upholds is our greatest [redacted] most dire days of the [redacted] But it is a suspicious document within contents [redacted] of us in our differences, yet [redacted] us together in our [redacted] manner. Our two-party [redacted] political system has not [redacted] a democracy into two [redacted] camps. My task as a commander of troops has been to [redacted] both your sons this fact. Historically our political differences always have evaporated at the water's edge when aggressors threatened. A soldier stands at the water's edge, wherever he may be stationed.

But that soldier needs badly to understand that fact before he comes to me in uniform. He needs to understand, as does every citizen, that we have long ago crossed the beaches and the water's edge and that we are in a death struggle now, on the high seas, in the air, on the land, in outer space, and in every local community where the agents of those who hope to conquer the world seek to undermine us.

Be sure that no American is more nonpartisan than the soldier facing the enemy in the struggle for survival. He does not ask his foxhole mate for his political party card. That his buddy is an American is sufficient. And it is in this very context that our greatest strength lies. Societies and nations which have been defended by mercenaries and professional armies have withered and died across the centuries; but a nation defended by its citizenry will find strength to fend off oppressors, if that citizenry is informed of its peril.

When the soldier understands his heritage and its jeopardy—that soldier sees the enemy and his designs; he then becomes an American. He shoulders his responsibility to himself, to his fellow-soldiers, and to his nation.

If it is now to be the case that commanders are restricted, or constrained by censorship, to certain limited areas of communication in their indoctrination of their soldiers, then the deficiency in training will go unremedied.

Our defense is based on the concept of a civilian military establishment with regular Army support. Our armed might is civilian: it is a son, a nephew, or a husband who answers the call to serve his country. It is a civilian business man, teacher, mechanic, union member, farmer, who retains his status in a reserve force, trains and studies regularly so that he may effectively defend us if the need arises. [redacted] the United States Army. It is our civilian neighbors who rally, when an enemy threatens, to protect our heritage. To pronounce a military coup by such an army is patently preposterous.

One of the [redacted] for day military [redacted] security. Our [redacted] fixed battle [redacted] reason to [redacted] son, security [redacted] the posting of [redacted] operation of [redacted]

In the new four-dimensional warfare, the problem is entirety different, equally vital, and it concerns the civilian population. Congressional committees have devoted thousands of pages to sworn testimony on the failure of security within the civilian population such as interlocking subversion in Government departments, in thirty parts, and the thousands of pages on the Institute of Pacific Relations, to name only two. Unfortunately, the full significance of these are not widely known to the people who, under our Constitution, are the "ultimate respository of all national power."

The civilian and military must complement each other in safeguarding power and security. From the vantage of the military, it often appears that some positions of authority are not adequately prepared to coordinate civilian and military security measures.

It has been suggested that discussion and consideration of domestic civilian matters are not within the province of the military. I disagree. Soldiers come to us from civilian life and sooner or later will return to civilian life. I submit therefore, that they should be permitted to know, without interruption, what is going on at home, an dabroad, for their interest and the interest of the home they protect.

In recent years, special interest groups have prevailed upon civilian [redacted] employ our military [redacted] non-military [redacted]

In 1957, [redacted] higher authority [redacted] such an operation [redacted] mander of the [redacted] tary District, I was [redacted] to receive and command Federal troops in what has come to be known as "Operation Little Rock." Federal troops were used, contrary to my personal wishes. I had hoped and prayed that the Army would not become involved in that non-military [redacted]. It was my hope that Federal [redacted] would be used. Failing this, it was his expressed desire [illegible] Army participation. If [illegible] be limited to the use of military police units.

Through appropriate military channels, I requested urged that responsibility be restored to the state's National Guard, whose loyalty and dedication to their obligations, however unpleasant, neither I, nor any other U. S. Army officer, has ever had reason to question.

I submitted my resignation from the United States Army on 4 August 1959—Headquarters, Arkansas military district.

The letter said:

"1. I am in receipt of assignment to command the twenty-fourth Infantry Division, Europe to which I have looked forward to for many years.

"2. It is fair to say that in my opinion the fifth column conspiracy and influence is the United States minimize or nullify the effectiveness of my ideals and principles, military mission and objectives, and the necessary American public spirit to support sons and soldiers. I have no further desire for military service at this with this conspiracy and its influences on the home front.

"3. I respectfully request that this, my resignation from the United States Army, be accepted and become effective immediately."

My request was denied by order of the Secretary of the Army.

I quote to you the words of General MacArthur, referred to earlier:

"While for the purpose of administration and command the armed forces are within the Executive branch of the Government, they are accountable as well to the Congress, charged with the policy-making responsibility, and to the people, ultimate repository of all national power. Yet so inordinate has been the application of the Executive power that members of the armed services have been subjected to the most arbitrary and ruthless treatment for daring to speak the truth in accordance with conviction and conscience."

These are words that should ring through the land but do not—counsel that should have been heeded but was not.

To what voice, then, do we hearken?

The people, the truly militant voice in a republic, can and will be heard. Once unleashed — I have faith that from their fury constitutional power will prevail, rededicating this nation and its sons in uniform to the will and power of the people for freedom and justice under the sun.

I have now completed more than thirty years in service under your commission. I am proud of that service and the honors that I wear on behalf of the men I have served. No man of my humble beginnings could be less than proud, but still humble and deeply concerned for the survival of his country.

Censorship Probers Plan to See Walker

By the Associated Press

Two key figures in the coming Senate inquiry into charges that Pentagon officers have been muzzled in making anti-Communist speeches said today they hope to confer with Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Both Senator Thurmond, Democrat of South Carolina, who forced the investigation, and Senator Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, who will direct it as chairman, said they expect Gen. Walker to get in touch with them.

But both said in interviews that they have not heard from Gen. Walker, who arrived in this country from Germany last week end on a 20-day leave.

Gen. Walker was removed from command of the 24th Army Division in West Germany and reprimanded after Army leaders found he had violated regulations by trying to influence his troops on the 1960 congressional elections and by remarking that former President Truman and other public figures had been soft on communism. He was reassigned to a staff job at Army European headquarters at Heidelberg, Germany.

18,000 Write, Wire

Meanwhile, aides of Senator Russell, Democrat of Georgia, said they had received some 18,000 telegrams, letters and postcards urging prompt inquiry into Senator Thurmond's charges that military officers had been muzzled and censored in anti-Communist speeches, statements and training by Defense Department policies and officials.

It appears that the formal hearing and investigation will get under way late next month or in December.

Senator Stennis heads a special committee of five Democrats and three Republicans appointed by Senator Russell to conduct the study for the Armed Services Committee, of which Senator Russell is chairman. The staff is organized and at work. It must sift through a huge volume of evidence, charges and counter-charges.

Senator Thurmond, a major general in the Army Reserve, plans his annual 15-day active duty tour as assistant chief of civil affairs later this month. He will be subject to Pentagon policies during this period but said he plans no speeches or other actions as tests.

Senator Stennis and other Senators named to conduct the inquiry now are busy clearing up post-session office work. Most of them will be out of the Capital for the next several weeks.

Three Broad Phases

Senator Thurmond said through an aide he expects the probe to deal with three broad phases of his repeated charges that the military has been hampered in attempts to expose communism.

1. A survey of troop information and education programs on communism, including films which have been censored or dropped.

2. Examples of censorship of anti-Communist speeches and articles by military officers.

3. Defense Department actions and policies on "cold war seminars" intended to alert Reserve officers and key civilian leaders on the dangers and tactics of international communism.

The inquiry was authorized by a 15-1 vote of the Armed Services Committee after two days of testimony by Secretary of Defense McNamara early last month.

Mr. McNamara emphatically denied that any of his policies or subordinates intended to impede any expose of a Communist threat. He promised full co-operation in the inquiry.

He Called Gen. Walker Crazy, Says Reporter

Augsburg, Germany, Sept. 21 (UPI).—A reporter for the Overseas Weekly testified today he called Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker "crazy" but refused to elaborate for fear he might be "tried as a traitor."

Siegfried Naujocks, a German, also told a German court trying him on three counts of slander that the public information officer in Walker's former division asked him not to write a story about a controversial speech by the general.

Naujocks testified that in the speech Jan. 24 in Augsburg, Walker called Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and former President Truman "definitely pink."

(Walker was reported flying from Germany to Washington, where a Senate committee voted yesterday to probe Defense Department policies restricting military personnel from airing anti-Communist views.)

Walker ordered Naujocks off the base in December for spreading rumors about his mental capability, and later refused to permit him to return.

Pledged to Secrecy

The story of the Walker speech appeared in April. It asserted Walker's troop information program was based on the philosophy of the John Birch Society. Walker, 51, was suspended shortly thereafter.

Naujocks told the court he promised Lt. Gen. Frederic Brown, who investigated the Walker case, not to reveal information he had about Walker on grounds it would be detrimental to the security and morale of Allied troops in Germany.

Lt. Col. J. W. Peterson, information officer of the 24th Division, testified he had a private talk with Naujocks and tried to talks him out of printing a story on Walker's speech. He said Walker did not know of his talk with Naujocks.

Transfer of Gen. Walker Held Blow to Troop Morale

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON.

What is more important than the morale of the American Army? If there is a war in which "conventional forces" are to carry the principal burden, what are the troops going to fight for?

No army is worth anything unless it has a fighting spirit—unless it is motivated by a deep feeling as to the righteousness of its cause. This applies both to officers and to men.

Yet we read from the pen of Hanson Baldwin, military expert of "The New York Times," as he writes from Augsburg in West Germany: "From high command to private first class, the army in Europe has been deeply disturbed by the case of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker. Officers of all ranks, particularly the senior ones, deplore the manner in which the case was handled and feel that some fundamental elements of military justice and fair play were violated. . . .

"At the direction of the Pentagon, prior plans to transfer Gen. Walker to a corps command in Texas with promotion to lieutenant general were canceled. Since April, Gen. Walker has been filling a colonel's billet as an assistant operations officer on the staff of Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, commander-in-chief, United States Army Europe, with headquarters at Heidelberg."

'Too Much of a Zealot'

Mr. Baldwin goes on to say that the reasons why many officers and men are dismayed "have nothing to do with the materials Gen. Walker used or things he said in his anti-Communist program." Indeed, many officers said the general had become "too much of a single-minded zealot in his fight against communism." But the Army is reported to have been "shocked first, by what it feels is the summary treatment given to a man who is generally regarded as an outstanding leader and soldier.

He made a distinguished record in both World War II and the Korean war, and has been awarded many decorations. Under his leadership, the 24th Infantry Division had come to be judged as one of the two best divisions in the European area, if not in the whole army.

The original press release from the Pentagon, announcing Gen. Walker's relief and transfer, was couched in such extreme terms that, Mr. Baldwin was told, one senior commander refused to publish it. He felt it was an interference with the normal processes of military law and an interference with the chain of command. The wording of the release was subsequently altered.

But the records of the inspector general's investigation—which, like the minutes of a grand jury hearing, are confidential—were made public by the Pentagon. This is unprecedented. Gen. Walker was not even given the right to read first the transcript of the testimony.

The records of such investigations are traditionally for use only in a military court, where evidence is taken under oath and witnesses are subject to cross-examination. Supposing that the testimony of some "liberal" before a grand jury had been improperly disclosed and the individual then publicly censured by some government department or committee of Congress? Doubtless a drive for an "operation abolition" against such a department or agency head would have been promptly initiated.

Sign of Incompetence?

But isn't all this a sign of the utter incompetence of those people in the Kennedy administration who trifle with the morale of officers and troops of the United States Army? Isn't the Pentagon aware that it is ordering thousands of American citizens into the armed forces and is not just running a department to suit the politics or ideologies of different groups which bombard the government whenever anyone wants to speak out against Communist infiltration in the

Thus, the Pentagon now virtually has barred the showing to American troops of the film—titled "Operation Abolition" — which exposed Communist participation in the riotous demonstrations in San Francisco last year against the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The South Carolina senator has succeeded in getting the Senate Armed Services Committee to authorize a special study by a subcommittee into the whole problem of the "muzzling" of military personnel who seek to expose communism. It is an inquiry long overdue, but unfortunately the administration itself has not taken the steps it should take to boost the morale of the military forces themselves and inspire them with the feeling that, if they have to fight communism on the battlefield, it is a righteous cause worthy of their maximum sacrifice.

A National Issue

What Kind of Man Is General Walker?

By JIM G. LUCAS Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's sharpest critics describe him as "a sincere, deeply religious, patriotic soldier, dedicated to the nation and the Army."

(NOTE: A boiling controversy has been centered on Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker. His defenders say he is the victim of a "smear campaign." The Defense Department, which has reprimanded him and relegated him to an unimportant post, brands him an "eccentric." Here Jim Lucas puts the whole argument in perspective.)

Yet these admirable qualities have conspired to blight his military career. Because of them, at 51, he has been officially reprimanded, removed from command of a division, denied a corps commander's job to which he had been ordered, and shunted to an obscure staff job in Germany.

Gen. Walker thus finds himself the vortex of a dispute in the Pentagon, Congress and the press which runs the gamut of controversy—freedom of speech, censorship, communist infiltration, appeasement and what Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee terms "the radicalism of the right."

Official Army reports call Gen. Walker an "eccentric." The Army charges he violated the Hatch Act and military regulations by trying to influence the vote of his troops in last November's elections. It says he falsely called former President Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and USIA Director Edward R. Murrow "left-wing inclined." He told a P-TA meeting in Germany, that most of the American press was "soft" on communism.

"It is regrettable," the Army's official rebuke said, "that an officer of your outstanding record . . . has become so involved in an improper course of conduct."

DIFFERENT LIGHT

Gen. Walker's defenders see him in an entirely different light. Sen. J. Strom Thurmond (D., S. C.) says he is the victim of a "smear campaign." Sen. Thurmond says Gen. Walker has "been crucified for his patriotism and devotion to the best interests of his country." The Walker case, he recently told the Senate, is "an example of what happens to any officer who candidly teaches his troops the facts about the total nature of the insidious cancer of communism."

The Walker investigation was conducted by Lt. Gen. Frederic J. Brown, a corps commander, after overseas Weekly, a tabloid with wide GI circulation, had published an "expose." (Overseas Weekly is now under investigation. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara was so shocked by its sensational nature he now seeks to keep it off GI newsstands.)

It was Gen. Brown who described Gen. Walker as [redacted], deeply religious, [redacted] but also as "eccentric." Gen. Walker declined to answer some questions put to him by Gen. Brown, but did admit membership in the controversial John Birch Society. Gen. Brown said he was convinced Gen. Walker "regards (Robert Welch (Birch Society founder) as a moving in the field of anti-communism."

THE INCIDENT

The Walker case became a national issue almost by accident.

Early this year, Sen. Fulbright sent a 22-page memorandum to Mr. McNamara calling for a "review" of cold war seminars sponsored by the armed forces.

The Senator found "no doubt . . . their theme is that the primary, if not the exclusive, danger to this country is internal communist infiltration. International difficulties are often attributed to this, or ascribed to 'softness,' 'sell-outs,' 'appeasement,' etc. Radical right-wing speakers dominate the programs."

Sen. Fulbright said that at these forums "the thesis of the communist threat often developed by equating social legislation with socialism and the latter with communism. Much of the Administration's domestic program, including graduated income taxes expansion of social security, Federal aid to education (are) characterized as steps toward communism."

LETTER EXCHANGE

Sen. Thurmond reacted swiftly, and in an exchange of "Dear Bill" and "Dear Strom" letters the issue was joined. Altho Sen. Fulbright refused Sen. Thurmond a copy of his memo on the ground it was confidential, the South Carolinian, an Army reserve major general, obtained one and on July 26 inserted it in the Congressional Record.

It was, he told the Senate, "one of the most shocking documents I have read since coming to Washington."

Sen. Thurmond insisted military officers were best equipped to "give their men and the public all the facts about communism." Sen. Fulbright argued just the opposite.

Weeks ago Sen. Thurmond demanded an investigation by the Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member, and on Sept. 6 the committee began hearings on his proposal.

Mr. McNamara, in two days of testimony, defended his policies. He said he "had not done anything my predecessors have not done."

"I do not regard this as censorship," he said. "I look on it as a form of protection for officers. . . . Without (it) they run the risk of violating the constitutional concept of civilian control over the military."

Mr. McNamara said many deletions were made while we were negotiating for return of two RB-47 fliers then held in Moscow, or while President Kennedy was preparing to go to Vienna to meet Khrushchev and it was advisable not to rock the boat.

"Today, with one or two exceptions, I would not delete any of them," he said, "But tomorrow, or six months from now, my answer might be different."

Mr. McNamara made public the report on Gen. Walker, including his reprimand. Gen. Walker reportedly asked to come home and testify but was turned down. He also was denied leave to come home on his own. In Germany, Gen. Walker complained his file was bared without his having seen it, and said he wanted to talk to a lawyer.

Sen. Thurmond's office said today Gen. Walker since has been granted leave, and will return at the conclusion of a civil suit in German courts against Overseas Weekly. However, Congress probably will adjourn before he gets home.)

The Armed Services Committee has not yet voted on Sen. Thurmond's resolution for a full investigation of alleged Pentagon censorship. It may do so this week.

These Days . . . . By George E. Sokolsky

It Starts Again

THERE CAN be little doubt but a strong investigation into anti-communism is developing in the United States Senate. The General Walker case will be cut down and either the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee or a public court-martial is essential to clean it up. Secretary of Defense McNamara's defense of the removal of General Walker from his post was insufficient because it avoided the central issue which is that pro-Communists are beginning to move about freely again.

Sokolsky

It is interesting that the leader in the present battle against the pro-Communists is Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. Sen. Karl Mundt has joined but that is to have been expected because he has been active in anti-Communist movements since he has been in the Congress.

The General Walker case is arousing interest because he has been accused of a crime which is not recognizable as such. The accusation is that his Pro-Blue Program of patriotic indoctrination was excessive. It is impossible to define why he should have been accused of impropriety without being given a public hearing.

By avoiding a public hearing, the Defense Department has got itself into an untenable position. An organization, "The Friends of General Walker," has come into being which is circulating publications, mimeographed and printed, on the subject. Although generally, the press has not paid too much attention to the General Walker case, the pamphleteers have been busy and they note the silence of the press.

IT IS my experience that the suppression of a story can build it up to explosive proportions. This seems to be best pointed up in Senator Mundt's weekly report. Mundt is a Republican; Thurmond is a Democrat. Nevertheless, Mundt uses Thurmond as his authority when he says:

"In the August 17th discussion on the Senate floor concerning the memorandum submitted by Senator Fulbright to the Defense Department and the subsequent directive aimed at stopping anti - Communist seminars, Sen. Strom Thurmond said: 'I think our people in uniform should not speak promiscuously on all subjects, but they are entitled to tell the civilian population the aims, the methods of operation, and the dangers of the enemy. The enemy today is communism. I feel there is a censorship now being placed upon our military people with regard to expressing themselves concerning our enemy, 'communism.'"

Sen. Mundt attacks the censorship of public speeches by military men:

"Thus, the full impact of the recent Pentagon directive is now being felt. The 'muzzling of the military,' first appearing as an 'innocent' attempt to 'stop-war talk' by such distinguished military leaders as Adm. Arleigh Burke, becomes an all-out attack to discredit highly successful anti-Communist seminars and to eliminate any reference to the menace of communism because it is interpreted as being of a 'political' nature."

THIS IS the beginning of a movement and those who ignore it do not understand the strength and depth of popular movements. It is easy to ridicule the John Birch Society, but it is not easy to justify the removal of General Walker from his post in Germany on the grounds of excessive patriotism.

The excuse can be that the balance between the United States and Soviet Russia, between war and peace, is so fine that only the most elevated officials should speak on policy matters. That would be President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. But we listen to others on lower levels discuss policy questions and they are not muzzled.

There seems to be a misunderstanding of roles and responsibilities. If no one but the President and the Secretary of State are to speak on policy, then let everybody else be silent. It is doubtful if the country would long tolerate such a one-sided silence.

The Army Way

By Lyle C. Wilson

"IT was not by mere chance that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was deprived of his day in court along with his command in Germany.

Depriving Gen. Walker of his command was a simple matter for the Pentagon. He was ordered home and then ordered back to Germany in an obscure and subordinate position. That was that. Moreover, that is the Army way, sustained by tradition and Army regulations.

But where is the tradition behind depriving a man of his day in court? Gen. Walker was busted from command on charges of forbidden political activity and of improper methods of indoctrinating his troops against communism. These charges are in general terms.

Maj. Gen. Robert H. McCaw, acting Judge Advocate General of the Army, reported in more precise terms to his superiors that Gen. Walker was accused of:

- Violating the Hatch Act which forbids certain political activity to persons in the Federal service.
- Violating another Federal statute which parallels the Hatch Act.
- Violations (two) of Army regulations.

Thus, Gen. Walker stands charged with a criminal act which has neither been proved nor disproved—nor even is likely to be—in a court of law. Gen. McCaw reported, in part:

"Altho the Hatch Act is not a criminal statute, Gen. Walker did violate a criminal Federal statute which parallels the Hatch Act and imposes criminal penalties for interfering with or affecting elections."

A fair question is this: If Gen. Walker committed a criminal act, why was he not indicted and tried? Gen. McCaw did not believe the charge could be proved. This is what he reported:

"Altho the file does, as stated above, contain an overall indication of Hatch Act and related violations, the detailed evidence in this respect is not developed, and it is noticed that many of the witnesses, at the time of the investigation, (last spring) were already claiming recollection difficulties.

"It is obvious that any trial for such violations would be a most difficult and prolonged undertaking, fraught with intense and emotional publicity, certainly unfavorable to the Government at least in part.

"A conviction would by no means be a certain result, and even if a conviction were obtained the sentence would probably amount to no more than a reprimand in view of Gen. Walker's brilliant combat record and sincerity of purpose in attempting to fight communism."

When Gen. McCaw wrote that a trial of Gen. Walker would be long, difficult, intense, a focus of emotional publicity and unfavorable to the Government, he probably was right. But how about charging a man in one paragraph with having committed a criminal act and in another conceding that the charge cannot be proved?

"Gen. Walker," said Gen. McCaw, "did violate a criminal statute."

Army's Version of 5th Was Invoked by Walker

A-sociated Press

The official record of testimony shows Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker invoked the military version of the Fifth Amendment on a question in the Army investigation which led to his being admonished last April and relieved of his command.

Article 31 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice allows a witness to refuse in military proceedings to answer a question if the answers might be self-incriminating — equivalent to the Fifth Amendment protection provided in civilian proceedings.

The transcript quotes Walker as invoking Article 31 when asked whether, as commander of the 24th Division in Germany, he had acted contrary to an Army regulation by advising his men on political matters through an article published in the Division's weekly newspaper, "Taro Leaf."

The Defense Department last week made public a condensed report of the Army's findings that Walker was a patriotic, sincere, dedicated anti-Communist, and a deeply religious man who had infringed on Army rules.

The Pentagon followed up yesterday by releasing the 873-page transcript which led to its findings.

The bulky report was made available through the Senate Armed Services Committee. The Committee is considering whether to conduct a full-scale investigation of charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.) that anti-Communist military personnel are being "muzzled."

The investigation was based on allegations published against Walker by the civilian-owned newspaper Overseas Weekly.

Chance to Defend Self Demanded for Walker

By the Associated Press

Senator Tower, Republican of Texas, has demanded that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker be given a chance to defend himself against charges contained in documents made public by the Pentagon.

Gen. Walker was relieved of his command and admonished by the Army last April. The Army said he had made derogatory remarks about prominent Americans and engaged in partisan political activity.

His case jumped back into the public spotlight last week as a result of efforts by some members of Congress to force a full-scale investigation of Pentagon policies on outside activities of military officers.

As a result of these efforts, the Pentagon released yesterday the official record of the investigation which led to disciplinary action against Gen. Walker.

Senator Tower, in a telegram to Secretary of Defense McNamara, charged Gen. Walker is being tried in the newspapers without being given a chance to defend himself.

The Senator asked whether the general "is free to answer the additional charges you have leveled against him without benefit of trial." Specifically, Senator Tower asked whether Gen. Walker could have a public court of inquiry if he wants one.

There was no immediate reply from the Pentagon.

The transcript released yesterday showed that Gen. Walker invoked the military version of the Fifth Amendment on a key question during the investigation.

Invoked Article 31

Article 31 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice allows a witness to refuse in military proceedings to answer a question if the answer might be self-incriminating. This is the function of the Fifth Amendment in civilian proceedings.

When asked whether, as commander of the 24th Division in Germany, he had acted contrary to an Army regulation by advising his men on political matters through an article published in the division's weekly newspaper, the transcript said Gen. Walker invoked Article 31.

The Defense Department last week made public a condensed report of the Army's findings in response to the Senate Armed Services Committee's hearings on charges by Senator Thurmond, Democrat of South Carolina, that officers wishing to make anti-Communist speeches were being muzzled.

The Pentagon released yesterday the full 973-page transcript of the investigation which led to the finding that Gen. Walker was a patriotic, sincere, dedicated anti-Communist, and a deeply religious man who had violated Army rules.

Gen. Walker Hits 'Unusual' Steps In His Inquiry

HEILDELBERG, Germany, Sept 11 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker yesterday expressed surprise at the way a United States Army investigation was conducted into his activities while commanding the 24th Infantry Divisio stationed in West Germany.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told a Senate hearing in Washington last week that investigators found Gen. Walker had tried to influence the 1960 congressional election.

In a statement yesterday Gen. Walker said until he can return to the United States he is unable to say that he can appear before any committee.

"The release of a military investigation is very unusual," he added. "I have read in the papers that it is being released. I have not been given or shown a copy but have been told I would receive one."

Gen. Walker said terms used in reports on the case "bring up many questions" and could "only be evaluated by American civil legal counsel."

The general now is assigned to the Army's European headquarters here.

Walker Hints Pentagon Court Battle

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was at odds with the Pentagon again today, this time over release of the military report of the investigation of his indoctrination program.

Walker, described in the report released in Washington last Thursday as a member of the secret extreme right-wing John Birch Society, said in Heidelberg, Germany that the terms used in the report "could only be evaluated by American civil counsel."

He would not expand on this hint that he might take action in the courts.

Silent on Senate Quiz

Neither would he say whether he would appear before the Senate Armed Services Committee which held hearing on his case last week.

It was Defense Secretary McNamara who authorized release of the 80 page report after he appeared before the committee.

The report, by Lt. Gen. Frederic J. Brown as acting Inspector General described Walker as "an eccentric."

Walker was relieved of his command of the 24th Infantry Division in West Germany last spring after complaints that he was indoctrinating his troops with Birch Society ideas.

McNamara testified last week that Walker had violated the law by trying to influence the votes of his men and their relatives in last year's Congressional election. But, McNamara said, Walker was let off with a reprimand.

It was reported that Walker when questioned about this, invoked the Army equivalent of the Fifth Amendment.

Walker Too[illegible] Army 'Fifth'

Pentagon Source Tells of Transcript

By DAVID S. BRODER
Star Staff Writer

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker pleaded the military equivalent of the Fifth Amendment during the Army investigation of his anti-Communist indoctrination program for 24th Infantry Division members and their families, an authoritative Pentagon source said today.

The source, who refused to be identified by name, said the still-secret, 992-page transcript of testimony on the Walker case shows the general became "evasive" during questioning about his efforts to influence voting of his troops in the 1960 Congressional election.

Finally, the source said, the interrogator told Gen. Walker to answer directly or invoke Article 31 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, which says "no person subject to this code shall compel any person to incriminate himself or to answer any question . . . which may tend to incriminate him."

Gen. Walker then pleaded the protection of the guarantee against self-incrimination, the source said.

Birch Society Member

This latest disclosure followed release last night of the full text of last May's official report on the Walker investigation, in which the Army for the first time identified him as a member of the controversial right-wing John Birch Society. The general was removed from command of the 24th Division in Germany and received an official "admonishment" as a result of the inquiry.

Secretary of Defense McNamara revealed Wednesday that the rebuke was based in part on the finding that Gen. Walker sought to induce members of his command to support conservative candidates for Congress.

In the report released last night on orders from Mr. McNamara, Lt. Gen. Frederic J. Brown, who conducted the investigation, characterized Gen. Walker as "a sincere, deeply religious, patriotic soldier," but an "eccentric" who is so "violently anti-Communist" that he believes "no holds are barred" in the struggle against the Reds.

The report said Gen. Walker based the "Pro-Blue" indoctrination program for his command on his own convictions, and not on any directive of the John Birch Society. The similarity of contents, it said, "was coincidental but remarkably identical."

Gen. Walker, in the judgment of the investigating officer, joined the Birch Society at an unspecified date because of "a basic similarity in approach to anti-communism. He only takes from the Birch Society literature . . . those things that he agrees with or which would prove useful in his original program."

Gen. Brown added his opinion that Gen. Walker regards Robert Welch, the founder of the Birch Society, "as a novice in the field of anti-communism."

Gen. Brown's report added considerable supporting evidence to that cited by Mr. McNamara on Wednesday for the charge that Gen. Walker, "acting in an official capacity, attempted to influence the members of the 24th Infantry Division and their dependents in their selection of senatorial and congressional candidates."

Voter Checks Urged

The Defense Secretary referred only to an article cleared by the general for the division newspaper, urging voters to check the records of their Congressmen against a scorecard prepared by Americans for Conservative Action, a right-wing political education committee.

The report also quoted a Mrs. Arnette, an officer's wife, on the contents of a talk Gen. Walker gave at an officers' club in Munich:

"He was in civilian clothes and said he was speaking as a civilian and not as a major general in the Army. During his talk, he referred to a book he had with him . . . (and) said that 'You could look at your Senator's rating and find out what percentage American your Senator was in this book.' Gen. Walker said his idea of a good Senator was Senator Goldwater, who was '98 per cent American.'"

Gen. Brown commented that "the circumstances of the meeting, the composition of the audience and Gen. Walker's relationship toward those attending, established that he, at least to those present, was speaking as the commanding general . . . despite his announced statement to the contrary."

Comment on Ratings

Gen. Brown also found evidence of one instance in which use of the Americans for Constitutional Action ratings was commented on in a troop information lecture to a company under Gen. Walker's command. "The material as to the ACA-Index was obtained by the lecturer at an information seminar pertaining to the 'Pro-Blue' program at which Gen. Walker was present," the report said.

Other parts of the report presented evidence that "Gen. Walker did make derogatory remarks on the leftist influence or affiliation" of former President Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, U. S. Information Agency Director Edward R. Murrow and Radio Commentators Eric Sevareid and Walter Cronkite.

The investigation found that Gen. Walker "did state that 60 per cent of the press and radio were Communist-influenced."

[illegible] Patriotic Soldier

In attempting to explain the character of Gen. Walker's indoctrination program, Gen. Brown drew this picture:

"Maj. Gen. Walker is a sincere, deeply religious, patriotic soldier, dedicated to the Nation and the Army. He is an eccentric and is not only violently anti-Communist but has been for years, working at it with a passion, studying, lecturing and reading all literature available on the subject.

"He is not only convinced that 'the hour is late' but also that the progress of communism is so marked in the past few years that it requires drastic and immediate action on everyone's part, in or out of the Army.

"To him, it is even to the point that 'peacetime' restrictions such as Army regulations only apply as, or should be interpreted, to not interfere with the commander's most urgent mission—'the defeat of communism,' either foreign or domestic.

No Holds Barred

"He sees all aspects of American life in relation to communism—citizenship, politics, relations between States and United States Government, social welfare, civil rights, religion and the conduct of a soldier. The fight against communism is epitomized in his mind as 'psychological warfare' applied equally urgently within or without the Army.

"The situation is so urgent that 'no holds are barred' in which, whether a soldier is motivated or impressed by facts, propaganda or inspiration, is immaterial as long as he is impressed with a hatred of communism and knowledge (suspicion) of communistic influence in every aspect of the soldier's life."

Gen. Walker, whose scheduled reassignment to command the VIII Corps, with headquarters in Austin, Tex., was revoked after the investigation, is serving on the staff of the Heidelberg (Germany) headquarters of the U. S. Army in Europe.

Secretary McNamara said Wednesday that after reading the report on the Walker investigation last week end, he has asked his general counsel to review the legal issues involved in the general's conduct.

The Army's acting judge advocate general stated in the report that Gen. Walker's activity in connection with the election violated the Uniform Code of Military Justice, the Hatch Act and a Federal criminal statute paralleling the Hatch Act.

Walker Reprimanded For Political Activity

By Jerry T. Baulch
Associated Press

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress yesterday one reason the Army reprimanded Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was that the General tried to influence the votes of his men and their families in the 1960 congressional elections.

The officer who handled the case, McNamara said, considered but rejected the idea of urging Walker's prosecution on criminal charges of violating the Hatch Act. This prohibits political activity by Government employes.

The Secretary quoted the officer, Lt. Gen. Frederick J. Brown, as saying it might be difficult to gain a conviction because key witnesses already were having "recollection difficulties."

But McNamara hinted in testimony to the Senate Armed Services Committee that further action yet may be taken against Walker. The Secretary said he had read the case record over the weekend and found new information which he referred to his general counsel.

The Defense Secretary discussed the Walker case in replying to protests by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D- S. C.), that anti-Communist pronouncements by military officers are being censored and "muzzled." Thurmond had accused the Army of crucifying Walker because the General was zealously anti-Communist.

Thurmond has called for an investigation of the whole question. McNamara refused under questioning by Thurmond and other Senators to recommend outright either for or against such an inquiry.

"This is a matter the Committee must decide," he said.

But McNamara told Thurmond: "I would be less than frank if I failed to point out that we are facing a time of very, very serious military and political crisis.

"My only concern is one of time," McNamara added. "I hope it will not be necessary to dilute the effort of military and civilian personnel" by diverting them from their work.

The Senators quizzed McNamara all day, with Thurmond asking most of the questions. The Secretary defended the Pentagon against "soft-on-communism" charges and told the Senators:

at Thurmond's demand, the subordinates who had made text changes in speeches of military men — changes the Senator had denouced in Senate speeches.

The Defense Secretary said whatever was done is his own reponsibility and that speeches from the Pentagon "have been anything but soft on communism."

As the Committee prepared to recess for the day, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) asked Thurmond how much longer he thought the "interrogation" would continue. Symington suggested that McNamara had other important chores to attend to.

Thurmond replied "I have a good many more questions to propound." So McNamara agreed to return today.

Walker was relieved of his command of the 24th Infantry Division in West Germany last April after there were charges that he had made derogatory remarks about some prominent Americans and had used material of the militantly conservative John Birch Society in his division's troop information program.

The Army admonished Walker "for taking injudicious actions and for making derogatory public statement about prominent Americans." He was rebuked also for participating in certain activities about which the Army refused at the time to give details.

No Tie with Birch

But the Army upheld Walker's contention that there was no tie between the John Birch Society and his division's troop information program.

McNamara, in his testimony, quoted freely from the 992-page report of the Walker case and promised to make it public after a quick security check.

"Inflammatory and derogatory statements," McNamara said, "were made by Walker against former President Harry S. Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

McNamara recited as Walker's involvement in the 1960 congressional elections the following account:

On Oct. 8, 1960, a 24th Division publication called the "Taro Leaf," the Division newspaper contained an article entitled "The Commanding General's Notebook." This urged the division's troops, before voting for Senate or House members in their districts back home, to consult an appraisal of congressional records prepared by Americans for Constitutional Action.

Readers were given a phone number which they could call to find out how the ACA appraised the voting record of any member of Congress. This index, McNamara said, was based on selected issues related to communism, national defense, local vs. Federal Government, private vs. Government enterprise and others.

The ACA describes itself as a non-partisan political action and educational organization formed in 1958 to promote the election to Congress of candidates who "believe in constitutional conservatism."

McNamara said it was a violation of Army policy for Walker to refer the troops to the ACA guide.

DALLAS--EDWIN A. WALKER, CONTROVERSIAL FORMER ARMY GENERAL WHO HAS DECIDED TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR OF TEXAS, TODAY ACCUSED DEFENSE SECRETARY MCNAMARA OF "OUTRAGEOUS" ACTION BEFORE A SENATE SUBCOMMITTEE.

"IT IS OUTRAGEOUS WHEN EXECUTIVE PRIVILEGE IS INVOKED BY A RANKING CABINET OFFICER TO PREVENT FULL INVESTIGATION OF PRO-COMMUNIST ACTIVITY," WALKER SAID.

ALTHOUGH HE DID NOT CALL MCNAMARA BY NAME, THE REFERENCE WAS OBVIOUS.

WALKER CHARGED THAT SUCH CENSORSHIP HELPS RUSSIA.

"A CENSOR WHO PREVENTS THE AMERICAN PEOPLE AND THE WORLD FROM HEARINGS (SIC) EXPOSURES IS WORTH AT LEAST A REGIMENT TO THE KREMLIN AND THE MAN WHO ORDERS SUCH CENSORSHIP IS WORTH A CORPS AT LEAST TO KHRUSHCHEV," WALKER SAID.

"JUST AS IT USED TO MUZZLE ME, EXECUTIVE PRIVILEGE IS BEING EMPLOYED TO ASSIST THE REDS.

HUNGER FOR LEADERSHIP

By PAUL HARVEY

All about us is the familiar "clamor of the people for a ki[redacted]

They hoist a Robert Welch or a General Walker on their shoulders, attaching to the man a deification which he cannot deserve until, disillusioned, they seek elsewhere.

I hear them say as they turn away disappointed, discouraged, "There is no leadership any more."

It has been so since Old Testament times.

Then, as now, time and again the people waited and watched and prayed for a king.

When God granted their prayers, they were usually sorry. For the people had figured the king would somehow make everything all right.

MOST OF those who collaborated in one degree or another in Korea were captured in the first year. They were green, ill-trained for war and wholly ignorant about how to resist interrogation, evade capture or reorganize for self-help in a compound. Yet they had been stuffed with I & E programs which did them no good when familiar organization collapsed.

Had they been more extensively schooled to "hate" communism while remaining halfbaked warriors, they would have been no less vulnerable to the seductive methods of their captors. They failed because they had failed in the hard school of soldiering.

Troop indoctrination about the nature of the enemy or any other subject will never of itself harden an army. There is no substitute for the methodology and the relentless grind of technical instruction and exhausting exercise afield, which gives the individual confidence in his role as a fighter and the unit a feeling of superiority in its military task.

THE PRIMARY aim of all indoctrination should be building stronger military character in forces; indoctrination designed to enlighten the soldier on the nature of the world struggle and the virtue of his own cause is purely secondary.

The World War II guidance reads: "Information which does not inform, counsel, warn, stimulate, remind or instruct with the purpose of training the mind for war is innocuous and of no value to the military service."

Men are not easily fooled. When an organization feels sound within itself and fitted for its mission, it becomes open-minded to instruction on any subject by its own leaders. But when command is slack and soldiers doubt that their collective power has been sedulously developed, I & E lectures on tangential topics are an additional affront, resented and brushed off because they are time-wasting.

IT FOLLOWS, then, that how troops should be indoctrinated is not to be answered by philosophers and pedants. The result would be the wrong emphasis and the downgrading of the primary object.

True, the services will sometimes blunder and wander far afield, especially when they are so close-ridden that they endeavor to look like all things to all people. But once their authority over indoctrination is taken away, their right to dispose all training time toward the all-around upgrading of military power is invaded.

And when institutions are treated as if they were inferior, they are on the road to becoming inferior.

Edwin A. Walker announcing his resignation as a major general . . . "When he opens his mouth his emotions run away with his judgment."

on the subject, has felt the [redacted] hand of official [redacted] present. It doesn't stop [redacted] does; it does intimidate [redacted] average general.

One Army commander said: "I no longer [redacted] a political opinion even [redacted] my home. I will not [redacted] trinate troops if ordered. It isn't safe."

HIS CAUTION is widespread. As never before, U. S. senior officers feel pressured into know nothingism. Sen. Thurmond isn't raising a false alarm when he says this. Generals, after all, are men; when part of their freedom of thought and speech is arbitrarily restricted, they [redacted] less apt to be forceful [redacted] councils where their voices [redacted] judgments should dominate.

Without the Walker case, the recent directive by Defense Sercetary McNamara, which rammed the already over-padded gag on the American military right back to their brass tonsils, would never have been written.

McNamara didn't start this trend; it began in the Eisenhower years. But he has doubletimed it with notable help from Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs Arthur Sylvester, who, like most publicists in their first fling at a security job, quakes at the shadow of an imagined danger.

THE McNAMARA memo proscribed political discussion at troop formations. Politics is a kimono-like word, though, covering everything and touching nothing. Taken in its broadest sense, the ban means that a troop leader or the Army itself cannot talk to soldiers about the virtues of their own cause or the vices of the enemy's.

Having thus dampered military interest in the subject, McNamara next named 13 civilian VIPs in early January to determine how troops should be indoctrinated. He thereby pre-empted what always has been a soldier's task, and inflated and dignified beyond absurdity what was previously a small issue.

Troop indoctrination is not [redacted] task. In our past, [redacted] the inspired sweat [redacted] few working staff of- [redacted] it has been successfully conducted without [redacted] guidance. White [redacted] Congress and the [redacted] were content to [redacted] it that way, knowing it was no real brain-twister of fateful consequence to the Nation.

Now how different—a Senate committee holds ponderous hearings on the subject. Suddenly, it is as vital as space conquest, made so by Walker's folly and McNamara's signature.

ALTHOUGH THERE must have been vague passes at it earlier in our history, World War II initiated our first formal experience with troop indoctrination. Ideological cross-currents as they had to be put to troops, what with Russia an ally and other tyrannies stamped enemy, were more confounding than today's.

The sea was uncharted, the pilots utterly green. Yet the guidance (manual) controlling indoctrination was written in 13½ hours by a major and, having proved suitable, lasted the war.

Policy, plans and programs were shaped by a half dozen relatively junior staff officers. The executed plan for the indoctrination of enemy POWs was drafted by a lone field officer during one lost weekend. There were no assists from political commissars; no person of high rank ever interfered.

Still World War II ended O.K. for our side, and troop indoctrination, despite its crudeness and some late-day infiltration by Communists, was never blamed for the "sell out of China" or the intransigence of the Soviets.

FROM THE beginning, the troop information program had a position on the U. S. S. R. and emphasized the need for resistance to penetration by Communist propaganda. It anticipated by three years the formation of the United Nations and urged support of this ideal.

The guidance written by the Army for the Army was also picked up by the Navy and some sections of the Office of War Information (OWI), which never developed a doctrine of its own. Army materials, such as the Frank Capra "Why We Fight" films, got multi-service use.

Had there then existed the same barriers to information flow and resolution of official positions which now choke the Pentagon, the operation wouldn't have gotten off the ground. Yes, there was red tape. It had been directed that what the Army wished to publish would require clearance from the OWI and the Office of Strategic Service.

[redacted] strangulation threaten[ed]. However, the Army chose to ignore the order and clear materials on its own. It was not subsequently proved too stupid or naive, as a function which today is allegedly too sensitive for soldierly handling.

THAT, at any rate, was the implication of Sen. Fulbright's July memo. Its slurring tone made a cause célèbre of the Walker case which, left alone, would have cooled.

McNamara asked for guidance, and he certainly got it. Fulbright, in effect, instructed him that when Americans put on military suits they lose perspective on all else, especially foreign policy. That is really the point Fulbright made and McNamara accepted.

The irony is that the Senator was advising on the management and mentality of soldiers when he himself has never spent a day in uniform.

THE MEMO should have been attacked, but when Thurmond, bridling at it, instead championed Walker as the perfect figure of a modern major general, a good cause began bobbling along on clay feet. (Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) joined him briefly, then lost interest.)

So it is hardly remarkable that the Nation feels forced to make a choice between two equally untenable extreme positions. Nothing could be more [redacted] than to make a hero of a [redacted] or cite his case as [redacted] institution is [redacted] of greater trust and [redacted] freedom of action [redacted] given.

In eight press releases in January styled "Muzzling the Military," Sen. Thurmond charged that Pentagon censorship has become oppressive and frivolous, that troop Information and Education programs are compelled to take a limp line against communism, and that suppression of service-sponsored public seminars on this subject are part of a widespread insidious plot to soften the American fiber. If there were no choice between swallowing this package whole or rejecting it, it would be unfortunate.

THERE IS, however, a difference between conspiracy and bureaucratic arrogance. The censorship is insensibly constrictive. Official attitudes are conducive to making the officer body wary about communism as a topic for troop discussion.

On the other hand, public seminars are obviously a dubious outlay of officer time and taxpayer money. And it is not the Army's task to evangelize the country.

According to Thurmond, American POWs in the North Korean camps were the dupes of their Communist captors because they hadn't been schooled to hate communism. This is cited as a horrible example, along with the inevitable it-can-happen-again moral. It happens to be wholly misleading.

Walker Miscast Catalyst In 'Muzzling' Controversy

By S. L. A. Marshall

Marshall was chief historian of the European Theater of Operations in World War II and is now military analyst for the Detroit News. His article is reprinted with permission from the current issue of the New Leader magazine.

LAST SPRING when Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker made news by being relieved as commander of the 26th Airborne Division in Germany for breaking tradition, custom and regulation in the way he indoctrinated his troops, it was inconceivable that before year's end his case would fill the sky like the murk of the genie released from the bottle.

The sinner and his transgression had no great intrinsic importance. The hard issue for which he was disciplined was too narrow and local to have national significance.

Walker was relieved and admonished (1) for trying to influence his soldiers as voters, and (2) for villifying prominent Americans whose politics he execrates.

His actions were scatterbrained, unofficer-like and contemptuous of the best interests of the Army. But they were not unprecedented or criminal. While they called for some punishment, they did not justify a convulsion in Washington.

UNLIKE Continental armies, freedom of expression in the U. S. armed forces has always operated on a rather loose rein. Taboos and off-limits areas are not delineated absolutely; they are defined more by usage and common sense than by letter. Indeed, if the boundaries were not rather flexible, Gens. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur could not have indicated their party leanings while serving in the field.

Implying a large trust in the judgment of the officer corps, this system, while not foolproof, is congenially American. For the greater part of two centuries, it has proved safe enough without censorship.

There have been occasional jars, of course. But the assumption has always been that it is better to risk the mischief of some chump or firebrand than to stultify the whole armed establishment by suppressions which questioned both its patriotism and institutional discipline.

This approach has been periodically challenged by Nervous Nellies from the outside. Until recently, however, civilian authority never encroached on a soldier's freedom of speech as defined by custom.

IT IS IRONIC in the extreme that Walker should become the central figure in a national debate about whether the curb on the whole military is not senselessly restrictive and damaging. For Walker is an odd one; when he opens his mouth, his emotions run away with his judgment.

When he led the troops at the Little Rock affair, for example, he consistently answered the wrong questions and replied "no comment" to harmless queries. His swan song to the Congress when resigning was maudlin, inaccurate and peculiarly unmilitary in its self-pitying tone.

But for Walker's flannel mouth, there would be no national controversy over serious issues which he hardly personifies. He is the accidental and miscast catalyst. He was off range in his crudities against communism, indoctrinating his troops as aggressively as he might hit a bunker line.

WERE IT NOT for his indiscretions he might be indoctrinating yet, with no opposition. When he got called down, attention focused on his legitimate activities because politicians insisted on making Walker what he is not.

To Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.) and to Birchites he is a martyr crucified for the purest patriotism. To Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) he is the personification of a devious effort by the military to mould and harden U. S. foreign policy. To Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara he is a walking argument why soldiers should be seen and not heard until civilians put words in their mouths.

These contrasting and equally oblique attitudes give vast dimension to problems by nature one-quarter inch high.

COMMANDERS have never been forbidden to indoctrinate against communism. Both the National Security Council and the post-Korean commission on prisoner-of-war conduct, in fact, recommended such activity. In a cogent and well-reasoned confidential directive to his senior commanders in December, Gen. Decker, Army Chief of Staff, reaffirmed their duty to do so.

Nevertheless, such a stalwart as Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, for speaking long and eloquently to the public

Edwin Walker Calls on Kennedy To Oust Castro

SAVANNAH, Ga., Mar. 6 (AP). —Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker has called on President Kennedy to oust Fidel Castro from Cuba.

"I challenge the Commander-in-Chief of the United States of America to take one United States Army division, the 82d Airborne Division of Fort Bragg, N. C., properly supported and joined by Cubans who want to be free, and liquidate the scourge that has descended upon the island of Cuba," Mr. Walker said in an address last night.

Mr. Walker received a standing ovation when he appeared with Evangelist Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, Okla., his companion on a Nation-wide speaking tour.

The former general criticized the administrations of Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, declaring that their parties had "amalgamated . . . to be sure the United Nations takes over your military forces."

Mr. Walker was charged with insurrection after the riots accompanying the admission of James H. Meredith, a Negro, into the University of Mississipi. However, a Federal grand jury did not indict Mr. Walker and charges against him later were dismissed.

PRESSED BY SEN. STUART SYMINGTON, D-MO., TO NAME SOME OF THE INDIVIDUALS IN THE COLLUSION POLICY TO WHICH HE HAD SAID HE WAS A SCAPEGOAT, WALKER SAID HE HAD A NUMBER OF PEOPLE IN MIND. HE SAID HE DISAGREED "ONE HUNDRED PERCENT" WITH THE POLICIES OF ADAM YARMOLINSKY (SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE DEFENSE SECRETARY) AND WOULD FIRE HIM IF HE WERE MCNAMARA.

ASKED ABOUT MCNAMARA HIMSELF, BY SYMINGTON, WALKER SAID HE WAS IN NO POSITION TO MAKE A JUDGMENT, OTHER THAN NOTING THAT MCNAMARA HAD BROAD RESPONSIBILITY.

SYMINGTON REFERRED TO WALKER'S STATEMENT HAD "OUR ARMED FORCES ARE PARALYZED BY OUR NATIONAL POLICY OF 'NO WIN' AND RETREAT FROM VICTORY." THE SENATOR ASKED WHETHER WALKER MEANT THE TROOPS HE LEFT IN EUROPE.

WALKER SAID HE DID NOT. BUT HE SAID THAT, AFTER THE GREAT SACRIFICES MADE BY THE SERVICES OVER THE LAST 20 YEARS, "THIS WHOLE WORLD SHOULD BE IN TIP-TOP SHAPE...WITHOUT A THREAT TO ANYBODY."

"WE DIDN'T GET A CHANCE TO FIRE A SHOT IN CUBA, IF A SHOT WAS NEEDED TO KEEP COMMUNISM OUT," WALKER SAID. HE ADDED THAT "BASICALLY" NO AMERICAN SHOT HAS BEEN FIRED IN VIET NAM.

SYMINGTON ASKED WALKER WHERE, IN ADDITION TO CUBA, HE WOULD FAVOR MILITARY ACTION. WALKER SAID HE "WOULDN'T ANNOUNCE IT" BUT THOUGHT "WE CERTAINLY COULD PLAN SOME MILITARY ACTIONS" THAT WOULD PUT THE U.S. IN A WINNING POSTURE IN THE COLD WAR.

WALKER SAID IT HAS LONG BEEN RUMORED IN ARMY CIRCLES THAT THERE ARE FOUR MISSILE BASES IN CUBA, SO FAR UNARMED, BUT SUPERVISED BY A MOSCOW TRAINED MISSILE EXPERT.

WALKER, WHO RESIGNED FROM THE ARMY AND NOW IS SEEKING THE DEMOCRATIC GUBERNATORIAL NOMINATION IN TEXAS, MADE THE CHARGES IN A STATEMENT WHICH HE READ AT THE START OF HIS TESTIMONY IN THE SENATE MUZZLING STUDY.

THE GENERAL'S REMOVAL FROM COMMAND IN GERMANY, FOLLOWING A CONTROVERSY OVER HIS "PRO-BLUE" TROOP INDOCTRINATION PROGRAM, SPARKED DEMANDS FOR THE SENATE STUDY. THE SENATORS CURENTLY ARE LOOKING INTO MILITARY TROOP INDOCTRINATION PROGRAMS.

WALKER WAS GIVEN A FREE HAND BY SUBCOMMITTEE CHAIRMAN JOHN C. STENNIS TO SAY WHAT HE WANTED IN HIS OPENING STATEMENT.

THE GENERAL DEVOTED ABOUT HALF HIS STATEMENT TO A REVIEW OF WHAT HE CALLED "THE WALKER CASE." HE HAD SHARP CRITICISM FOR DEFENSE SECRETARY ROBERT S. MCNAMARA AND OF THE PUBLICATION, OVERSEAS WEEKLY, WHICH FIRST CRITICIZED WALKER'S PRO-BLUE PROGRAM.

IN HIS OPENING REMARKS, WALKER CALLED HIMSELF A VICTIM OF A "NO-WIN" POLICY IN THE COLD WAR. THE TERM IS ONE WHICH HAS BEEN WIDELY USED BY SEN. STROM THURMOND, D-S. C., PRINCIPAL SPONSOR OF THE SBUCOMMITTEE STUDY.

"I WAS CHARGED WITH NOTHING. I HAVE BEEN FOUND GUILTY OF NOTHING, I HAVE BEEN PUNISHED FOR NOTHING," WALKER SAID.

HE IDENTIFIED HIMSELF TO THE COMMITTEE AS "MR. EDWIN A. WALKER," HEAVILY EMPHASIZING THE "MISTER" AND STATING THAT HE WOULD BE GLAD TO BE ADDRESSED THIS WAY BY THE SUBCOMMITTEE.

ON HIS ARRIVAL HERE LAST NIGHT, THE TALL, STETSON-WEARING TEXAN ANNOUNCED HE WANTED TO TEST THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF PATRIOTIC AMERICANS IN WHAT HE CALLED "THIS INSOLVENT, SUMMITIZED, PUNY 10-MILE SQUARE AREA" OF WASHINGTON.

WALKER TESTIFIED THAT GEN. LYMAN L. LEMNITZER, NOW CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF, THANKED HIM FOR SUPPLYING A COPY OF THE SAME VOTING DATA WHICH CAUSED HIS ADMONISHMENT WHEN HE SUGGESTED IT TO HIS TROOPS.

THE GENERAL MADE THE STATEMENT AS HE FLATLY DENIED THAT HE ATTEMPTED TO INFLUENCE THE VOTES OF TROOPS UNDER HIS COMMAND. AS TO THE SUGGESTION THAT HE MIGHT HAVE VIOLATED THE INJUNCTION OF THE HATCH ACT AGAINST PARTICIPATION BY GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES IN POLITICS, THE FORMER GENERAL SAID:.

"I DEFINITELY DID NOT VIOLATE THE HATCH ACT. IF I DID SOME ONE IS CRIMINALLY NEGLIGENT IN NOT HAVING TRIED ME."

I WALKER'S REFERENCE TO LEMNITZER CAME WHEN SUBCOMMITTEE COUNSEL JAMES KENDALL WAS QUESTIONING HIM ABOUT AN EDITORIAL IN THE 24TH DIVISION'S NEWSPAPER "TARO LEAF" IN WHICH TROOPS WERE REFERRED TO THE VOTING INDEX OF THE AMERICANS FOR CONSTITUTIONAL ACTION. WALKER FINALLY AGREED THAT ACA WAS GENERALLY CONSERVATIVE.

HE DEFENDED HIS RIGHT TO MAKE THE INFORMATION AVAILABLE HOWEVER, AND SAID HE USED IT "TO GIVE A SOLDIER INFORMATION EITHER WAY... PRO OR CON."

WALKER SAID HE SENT COPIES OF THE INDEX TO SEVERAL OFFICERS INCLUDING SOME OF HIS SUPERIORS IN THE CHAIRMAN OF COMMAND. THERE WAS LAUGHTER IN THE HEARING ROOM WHEN WALKER READ A NOTE OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT DESCRIBING THE ACT AS "EXTREMELY THOUGHTFUL" AND THE MATERIAL AS "MOST INTERESTING AND USEFUL" AND THEN NOTED THAT IT WAS SIGNED BY LEMNITZER.

HE SAID HIS CORPS COMMANDER, WHOM HE DID NOT IDENTIFY, ALSO THANKED HIM FOR A COPY OF THE INDEX.

UNDER QUESTIONING BY SEN. HENRY M. JACKSON, D-WASH., WALKER SAID A COMMANDER HAS A RIGHT TO MAKE SUCH INFORMATION AVAILABLE TO THE TROOPS EVEN IF IT IS ONE SIDED, ESPECIALLY "WHEN THE WHOLE DISTRIBUTION TO THE TROOPS IS ONE THE OTHER SIDE...MOST OF IT."

TO ANOTHER JACKSON QUESTION, WALKER AGREED THAT MANY PEOPLE FALL BETWEEN WHAT HE HAD CALLED THE "INTERNATIONALIST LEFT" AND THE "NATIONALIST RIGHT." HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT "WHEN YOU'RE FIGHTING COMMUNISM AND THERE'S A COLD WAR ON, THERE ARE ONLY TWO SIDES OF A LINE."

Walker Proudly Cites Constitution as Guide

Edwin A. Walker, the [redacted] general turned crusader, arrived here last night proudly proclaiming the Constitution as his badge of conservatism.

The Constitution, said the hero of the radical right in an interview in his downtown hotel, has become "the greatest weapon in the fight against the international Communist conspiracy."

The 51-year-old officer, here to appear before Senate "muzzling" investigators, said he was trying to give practical meaning to this in the political arena. He has entered the Texas political fray as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor against five other hopefuls.

Optimistic on Race

He reflected the politician's eternal outward optimism. Asked how his campaign was going, Mr. Walker said:

"Very strong and enthusiastic all over the State."

The "thunder from the right," he declared, will be heard increasingly in the Lone Star State this year.

He said it is rather rare to find conservatism blooming in the Democratic Party which, he added, has been marked by ultra liberal leadership "in the past and present."

He saw in the party in Texas and across the South, as well as in many parts of the country, "the greatest potential for conservatism" which can be tapped "with proper leadership."

Sees Big Support

Asked if he is trying to provide that leadership as a sort of man on horseback, Mr. Walker said:

"I appeal for support to the conservatists of both parties. I have great support in the Republican Party which represents a drift from the Democratic Party."

The former general, who resigned from the Army last November, said he had no crusading organization of his own.

"But I am completing and discussing where I can the people that stand for the principles of our heritage," he said.

The general said he has taken no active part in the controversial, rightwing John Birch Society, which he joined in 1959, since leaving the Army.

"But I may at any time," he added.

Is Birch Life Member

He revealed that he became a life member of the society with a contribution of $1,000 which he considers as a memorial to the troops he has led. He is a member of the society's home chapter, it was explained, and he considers that he and the organization have a common purpose in "exposing the enemy."

The enemy, as Mr. Walker has said repeatedly is international communism.

Mr. Walker, asked about finances for his crusade and his political campaign, replied noncommitally that he has been appealing to the grass roots.

"The response is growing," he added, "even though it is not yet equal to all the requirements."

The 6-foot, 185-pound former officer revealed a disdain for the Washington scene where he once played polo in Potomac Park as a member of a crack Army team. On his arrival by plane from Dallas, where he lives, he issued a cryptic statement which said:

"I am here to test the constitutional rights of millions of patriotic Americans and thousands of soldiers in this insolvent and puny 10-mile square."

He said he and the [redacted] "recognized each other [redacted] the start as natural enemies." After he had banned an Overseas Weekly report from his command, the former general said the publication's news editor told 7th Army staff officers, "well gentlemen, we have the choice of firing my reporter or of firing Gen. Walker."

The Pentagon recently upheld Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, in a decision saying the weekly could continue to be distributed on military bases. Privately published, it is distributed through the facilities of Stars and Stripes.

Hits McNamara

Mr. Walker said that Secretary McNamara's action in disclosing the Army report on its investigation had the effect of giving a preliminary inquiry the status of a trial. He said the President not only ordered the investigation but also reviewed and approved the findings.

He also took Mr. McNamara to task for reading into the Senate record at the September hearings an oral admonition which had been ordered. Normally, he said, such matters are not disclosed and copies are destroyed.

"Even though I knew the Overseas Weekly was against me," the former general said, "I had little reason in the spring of 1961 to anticipate civilian control would go to unilateral and excessive lengths to attempt public humiliation of a senior commander, or that there would be enough evidence to result in an extensive hearing such as this, involving the censorship and muzzling of the entire military establishment and most of its officers.

"I have no personal grievance in this matter, since my personal fate is insignificant beside the fate of a Nation in dire peril, and since I have been so fortunate in finding an [redacted] of my career and [redacted], without change, and [redacted] among a host of friends and a new freedom. Yet the handling of my case was shocking, and deserves most thoughtful consideration of its meaning."

The Senate inquiry resumed yesterday after a 10-day recess with Navy witnesses explaining that it teaches its sailors and Marines to be good Americans so that "thus motivated they will not be susceptible to communism."

Rear Admiral A. S. Heyward, jr., assistant chief of Naval Personnel, testified that an anti-Communist program urging use by Navy flight officers of the publications of the John Birch Society was "not in accord" with the Navy's program.

James Kendall, counsel of the subcommittee, said this was included in a "cold war packet" issued by Vice Admiral Robert Goldthwaite while he was in charge of all Naval flight training in 1960.

Admiral Heyward won praise from Senator Thurmond, Democrat of South Carolina, critic of armed forces indoctrination programs, for what the Navy is doing. "With minor exceptions," the Senator said, "I think your programs are worthy of the highest praise."

Walker Tells Probers Of Pentagon 'Slander'

'Shocking' Treatment Laid to McNamara As Ex-General Testifies on 'Muzzling'

By CECIL HOLLAND
Star Staff Writer

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker today charged high Government officials with "shocking" treatment which led him to resign from the Army.

"The whole proceedings against me," he declared, "was a masterpiece of pretense at justice coupled with a total disregard of real justice."

In testimony prepared for the Senate "muzzling" investigation, the 52-year-old former officer, who is closely identified with the ultraconservative movement, said President Kennedy was both "prosecutor and judge."

Walker Proudly Cites Constitution As Guide. Page A-9.

"Slander" Charged

He accused Secretary of Defense McNamara of misusing the report of an Army investigation which said he had sought to influence the outcome of the 1960 congressional elections "to create in the public mind the false impression that I had been found guilty of violating the Hatch Act."

Mr. Walker charged that it was "slander and defamation of my character" when Mr. McNamara declassified and made public the report at a Senate Armed Services Committee hearing last September. The release of the preliminary report, Mr. Walker said, was "unprecedented, flagrant interference with due process of military justice."

He also singled out Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester and Adam Yarmolinsky, one of Mr. McNamara's chief assistants, as having a part in the actions which led to his resignation from the Army last November after more than 30 years of service.

In a 28-page statement, the former general gave the detailed statement of the events which led up to his resignation and also criticized the lack of a strong anti-Communist program in the Government.

"The Walker case," he said, "can be recognized as basically a fight between the 'internationalist left' and the 'nationalist right,' with control of part of the United States military establishment at stake."

Seeks Governorship

The former general, who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Texas, spoke darkly of some "control apparatus" exercising influence in the Government which "will not tolerate militant anti-Communist leadership by a division commander."

In other highlights of a wide-ranging statement, Mr. Walker charged:

1. There is "a lack of responsibility and purpose in any national effort or policy" to meet the attacks of the Communist conspiracy.

2. Troop indoctrination programs are "unorganized, improperly manned, unfinanced, and uneo-ordinated for an adequate effort to provide the necessary cold-war training and front in our armed forces."

3. The "pro blue" information program which he instituted while commanding the 24th Infantry Division in Germany from 1959 until he was removed from command last year represented "realistic combat in the fourth dimension—the psychological" and was based on a 1958 directive issued by the National Security Council.

"Not to Be Implemented"

"When my program was cleared by submission to higher authority in the fall of 1960," the former general said, "I did not fully realize that there was an unwritten policy established by unknown persons at a high level in the Defense and State Departments by which the cold war directive was to be regarded as for American consumption, but was not to be implemented."

Mr. Walker blamed most of his difficulties while in Europe on the activities of the Overseas Weekly and devoted a large part of his statement to a recital of his running battle with that newspaper.

He described the weekly as a sensational publication which long has been capable "of making command assignments in Europe untenable.

The former general said he was relieved of his command before any allegations against him that had been made by the Overseas Weekly had been investigated. But, he added, it was not before "the hard anti-Communist line of the pro-blue program had been recognized with praise by American officer and civilian patriots, and 'exposed' to censure by the Overseas Weekly."

Would Ban Weekly

He said he and other commanders had recommended banning the publication from Army posts as detrimental to troop morale. But the weekly, he added, exercised influence in high places in Washington and the banning orders were reversed.

ATTACKING WHAT HE CALLED A HIDDEN "SOFT LINE" POLICY ON COMMUNISM, WALKER ALSO WAS CRITICAL OF WALT W. ROSTOW, HEAD OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S POLICY PLANNING STAFF.
HE SAID ROSTOW HAD BEEN CONTROLLING THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY'S "OPERATING ARM" SINCE 1954.
WALKER, CURRENTLY CAMPAIGNING FOR THE DEMOCRATIC GUBERNOATORIAL CAMPAIGN IN TEXAS, WAS QUESTIONED BY SEN. E. L. (BOB) BARTLETT, D-ALASKA, SHORTLY AFTER HE BEGAN HIS SECOND DAY OF TESTIMONY BEFORE A SENATE SUBCOMMITTEE STUDYING ALLEGED MILITARY MUZZLING.
BARTLETT SAKED WALKER WHAT HE MEANT YESTERDAY WHEN HE COMPLAINED THAT "THE REAL CONTROL APPARATUS WILL NOT TOLERATE MILITANT ANTI-COMMUNIST LEADERSHIP BY A DIVISION COMMANDER."
WALKER, WHO RESIGNED FROM THE ARMY AFTER BEING REMOVED AS COMMANDER OF THE 24TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN GERMANY, TOLD BARTLETT HE COULD NOT IDENTIFY THOSE IN "COMPLETE CONTROL OF THE APPARATUS."
HE SAID THE APPARATUS COULD BE IDENTIFIED, HOWEVER, "BY ITS EFFECTS--WHAT IT DID IN CUBA--WHAT IT IS DOING IN THE CONGO--WHAT ID DID IN KOREA."
WALKER TESTIFIED, HOWEVER, THAT HE COULD NAME SOME OF THOSE WHO SEEMED TO THINK ALONG THE SAME LINES AS THOSE IN THE APPARATUS WHO, HE SAID, SELL OUT THE CONSTITUTION, NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY AND NATIONAL INDEPENDENCE.

ASKED BY BARTLETT TO NAME OTHERS, WALKER REPLIED: "WALTER ROSTOW WHO HAS BEEN IN CONTROL OF THE OPERATING ARM OF CIA [redacted] SINCE 1954."
ASKED FOR ADDITIONAL NAMES, WALKER SAID HE THOUGHT THE CITING OF THE TWO "WILL COVER ALL THE OTHERS--NOT ALL, BUT ENOUGH OF THE OTHERS."
RUSK AND ROSTOW, HE SAID, "ARE VERY INFLUENTIAL" IN FRAMING POLICIES FOLLOWED BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT, WHICH ARE NOT TOUGH ENOUGH AGAINST COMMUNISM.
POINTING TO SUCH EVENTS AS KOREA, THE CONGO AND CUBA, WALKER SAID "THIS COUNTRY IS TOO GREAT FOR THESE THINGS JUST TO HAPPEND." HE SUGGESTED THAT THE PEOPLE IN "THE APPARATUS" WANTED THESE THINGS TO HAPPEN.

REC-69

The World of Gen. Walker

By MARY McGROR[illegible]
Star Staff Writer

The world of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker is a world where only he identifies the enemy, where the Secretary of Defense is a slanderer and where the press runs the Army.

Things are seldom what they seem in the world of Mr. Walker. For instance, those who attack the John Birch Society are really striking at the military establishment. The Bermuda talks is a cover-up for what is going on in Cuba.

In the world of Mr. Walker, sentences have no beginnings, no endings, no verbs. As yesterday wore on, the "muzzled" martyr's answers got longer and longer. No matter where they started, they always ended with his declaration that what is wrong with the world is the "no-win" policy of the administration, a policy of which he and the country are victims. He said it over and over again.

Aids Supply Ammunition

Mr. Walker is not completely alone in this world of his. Yesterday he was flanked by two aides who kept him supplied with ammunition. On his right was his counsel, C. J. Watts of Oklahoma City; on his left, his consultant, Medford Evans of Dallas. They scribbled prompt-cards for him, whispered in his ear, furiously marked up booklets and pamphlets for his attention.

One member of the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee, Senator Jackson, Democrat of Washington, was able to elicit a yes-or-no answer from Mr. Walker, who is now a candidate for governor of Texas.

Senator Jackson mildly suggested that the former general's zealous political activities while he was a division commander in Germany had been excessive. Possibly, the Senator said, Mr. Walker had made a mistake—everyone does from time to time.

"No, sir," replied the witness with an uncharacteristic lapse into military briskness. "I made no mistake. If you think what I did was a mistake, we will lose the cold war."

Combat Record Praised

Mr. Walker is a tall, dark-haired, erect man with an outthrust underlip and a long chin that might tempt caricaturists. He seemed nervous in the Caucus Room, although he was treated with great respect by the Senators, who praised his combat record but could not always agree with or even fathom his psychological warfare tactics.

Senator Symington, Democrat of Missouri, asked him, for instance, what he had against "What You Should Know About Communism," a book by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet which was recommended by former President Eisenhower.

"President Eisenhower got help in writing 'Crusade for Europe' from Joseph Barnes," said Mr. Walker with one of the lightning-quick non-sequiturs which were characteristic of his testimony.

"I'm afraid you've lost me, General," said Senator Symington.

Hasn't Read Book

The Senator returned to the Overstreet book, pressing the witness for his objections to such a generally admired study of the enemy. Mr. Walker, it developed, had not read the book, but had "heard it discussed many times," and understood it had "insinuations of pacificism."

It was Senator Symington who indicated that Mr. Walker was perhaps a pathetic, rather than a sinister figure.

"I find it rather sad in some ways we are having this hearing," he said.

Mr. Walker, having given Washington a glimpse of his world, did not appear downcast. On the way out, he exchanged V-for-Victory signs with some of his fans.

Mentions Stilwell

Mr. Walker, discussing the Secretary of State, said it was his understanding that Mr. Rusk served on the staff of the late Gen. Joseph (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell at the time of what he called "the agrarian reformist highlights" in China. He also said that Mr. Rusk had been connected with the Institute of Pacific Relations, which he described as being "greatly influenced" by Owen Lattimore.

Mr. Walker described Mr. Rostow as having "been in control of the operation arm" of the Central Intelligence Agency since 1954.

Before taking his present State Department position, Mr. Rostow was deputy special assistant to President Kennedy for national security affairs. What connection, if any, he has had with the CIA was not pursued by the subcommittee. Before joining the Kennedy administration, Mr. Rostow was a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Wants Unity

In discussing the role of the military in warning about the menace of communism Mr. Walker said:

"The only reason that we are threatened with war and dire peril is that we have been infiltrated, disunified and our causes and purposes intentionally headed in many and various directions."

He said he wanted "a unified cause and country" and added that this is "the only circumvention of war."

The 52-year-old infantry officer climaxed seven hours as a witness yesterday with an attack on Mr. Yarmolinsky reminiscent of the days of the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Mr. Walker charged Mr. Yarmolinsky with having close connections with the Communists and said his activities have aided the Communist movement.

Parents Named

The former general also named Mr. Yarmolinsky's father and mother as having been active in left wing movements.

Mr. Yarmolinsky told the Associated Press he had nothing to do with the Walker case and that Mr. Walker's charges were irresponsible. "It happens that I have a public record as an anti-Communist," he said. "My whole public record goes in the opposite direction from these charges."

He said it was true, as Mr. Walker charged, that he had attended some Young Communist League meetings.

He was a junior in high school at the time, he said, and went—against his parents advice—because "I was curious."

"I went to a couple of meetings and saw what it was, and I didn't go again," said Mr. Yarmolinsky.

Attacks Sylvester

The former general, who resigned from the Army after being admonished on allegations that he had sought to influence the outcome of the 1960 congressional elections, also leveled an attack on Arthur Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs. He named Mr. Sylvester as one who had taken a part in actions that led to his resignation from the Army.

The former officer identified Mr. Sylvester as a reporter who had worked with a New Jersey newspaper. Mr. Sylvester was Washington correspondent of the Newark News before he was named to his Pentagon post.

Mr. Walker's charges against Mr. Sylvester fell far short of those he leveled against Mr. Yarmolinsky. He said that the Assistant Defense Secretary, as a reporter, had taken the position of "down with the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

McNamara Statement

In his statement defending Mr. Yarmolinski, Secretay of Defense McNamara said:

"Prior to his employment, I reviewed the security file of Mr. Yarmolinski as I did the files of others holding positions of trust and confidence in this department. Mr. Yarmolinski's record is one of strong and active anti-Communist activity. I have no question about his loyalty to the United States.

"The basis, if any, for Mr. Walker's charges against Arthur Sylvester is wholly unclear to me from the record. Lest there be any doubt on this issue, however, I wish to state that I have complete trust and confidence in him."

Mr. Walker's accusation against Mr. Yarmolinsky came near the end of the long days of hearings.

Mr. Walker contended files would show that Mr. Yarmolinsky's father, Avrahm, has had Communist connections and that his mother, Babette Deutsch, belonged to many Communist front groups.

Parents Deny Charge

In New York, Mr. Yarmolinsky's parents categorically denied Mr. Walker's charges. The father said "there's not a particle of truth in these allegations," the Associated Press reported.

Mr. Yarmolinsky himself said of his parents that "their anti-Communist position in the literary world is well known."

Mr. Yarmolinsky said his own record includes a 1948 fight against Communist efforts to "move in" on the American Veterans Committee. He said he worked for the committee for six months after he got out of the Army.

ATTACK FROM RIGHT

Walker Says Rusk Aids Soft-on-Reds 'Apparatus'

By CECIL HOLLAND
Star Staff Writer

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker told Senators today he considers Secretary of State Rusk aligned with a mysterious "control apparatus" be held responsible for a "soft line on communism."

Mr. Walker also said Walt W. Rostow, chief of the State Department's policy planning staff, was influential in the "apparatus" which he said is following a "no-win" policy.

The former general flung out the names in the second day of his appearance in the Senate's inquiry into whether military officials are being "muzzled" in their speeches about communism. The subject arose when Mr. Walker was challenged by Senator Bartlett, Democrat of Alaska, to identify members of a "control apparatus" he alluded to in the course of his seven hours of testimony yesterday.

"Apparatus" Is at Fault

In his testimony before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee, he blamed the "apparatus" for his removal as a combat commander in Europe and his subsequent resignation from the Army. It all came about, he said, because he was following "a hard line on communism."

Mr. Walker said he could not identify those completely in control of the "apparatus." But he testified that they can be identified by what has been done in Cuba, the Congo, Korea and other places. He added:

"I question the following with respect to our constitutional system, our sovereignty, our security and our independence."

Then he named Mr. Rusk and Mr. Rostow. Asked to identify others, Mr. Walker replied:

"I believe their responsibilities will cover all the others."

He said the "apparatus" uses the United Nations as its propaganda front. He described the U. N. as "the nearest thing to a Tower of Babel that has ever been built."

May Call Rusk

Subcommittee Chairman Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, said it appeared to him that the Walker charges were "very general in nature." He said he would look at the record before determining weather Mr. Rusk and Mr. Rostow should be called as witnesses.

"It is a matter of judgment on how revealing this testimony is," said Senator Stennis in referring to the Walker statements.

He emphasized that any person whose name is mentioned in the hearing would be given an opportunity to testify if he desires.

He said his remarks also applied to Adam Yarmolinsky, one of Secretary of Defense McNamara's top assistants, who was attacked by Mr. Walker in testimony yesterday.

The State Department said it would have no comment on Mr. Walker's charges.

Mr. Rusk was testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the foreign aid bill, and Mr. Walker's assertions were called to his attention there.

Senator Symington, Democrat of Missouri, told Mr. Rusk he understood Mr. Walker had declared in effect that "you did not have the best interests of the United States entirely at heart."

Senator Symington expressed regret at Mr. Walker's assertions, and told Mr. Rusk he had "a very high opinion of your character and your devotion to the country."

Mr. Rusk made no comment except to thank Senator Symington for his remarks.

Story Called "Mess"

Retired Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former commander of U. N. forces in Korea, said to Senator Symington later in the presence of reporters that he thought Mr. Walker was "completely out of line" with his charges against Mr. Rusk and Mr. Rostow.

Gen. Van Fleet added a comment that Mr. Walker had made a complete mess of the thing.

At the Pentagon, Secretary McNamara issued a statement saying, "I have complete trust and confidence" in Mr. Yarmolinsky.

gress seemed yesterday to be pitiful as much as anything else. It turned out that only a handful had bothered to pay any attention to his heavy handed advice.

The General's performance naturally raises the question of whether there are any more like him still on active duty. The letter of commendation for the right wing voting list which Walker produced yesterday, a letter from the current Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, was not very encouraging.

Maybe Khrushchev worries too much when he talks about the possibility of some individual American general going haywire and starting a nuclear war. Probably General Walker, for all his "hard-line" talk, is so imbued with the military chain of command that he would never fire a shot unless ordered. He did stick to his orders in Korea despite his frustrations there.

Still, there was nothing in Walker's performance yesterday to make anyone want to see him back in uniform. Indeed, there was much to make one hope anybody else like him will follow his example and resign, too.

Walker an Inarticulate Leader . . .

By Chalmers M. Roberts

Senators Patient but Unenlightened

At the end of a long day in the Senate caucus room yesterday it was evident that the best thing that retired Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker has yet done was to resign from the Army and submit himself to the voters in his home state of Texas.

Roberts

The Senators who listened patiently for long hours seemed uniformly frustrated save perhaps Sen. Strom Thurmond, the one-time Dixiecrat Presidential candidate who was responsible for the hearings at which the General appeared.

To put it bluntly, Walker was inarticulate, his speech was fumbling. His sentences did not parse; his thoughts ran wild; he could not seem to answer a question. Trying to pin him down was like trying to pick up quicksilver. Even Chairman John [illegible], whose patience was monumental, never was able to come to grips with the General.

That Walker has some firm ideas, at least, was evident. He said he favors "military actions" but would not say where. He certainly left the impression he would send the troops into Cuba, for instance, if he did not make his points well. The fact is that Walker is an exceedingly poor spokesman for the Radical Right. Certainly he is not the man on horseback the Right has been hoping would turn up. Yesterday his two aides spent so much time prompting him that Senators began to ask him to answer for himself.

Still, it is useful that his views, however confused, should be put to the test of the electorate. Walker is a candidate in the current free-for-all for the Democratic nomination in Texas for Governor. Texas polls uniformly now make him an also-ran but yesterday he told reporters he was doing so well there might not even have to be a runoff; he might very well capture the necessary 50 per cent plus in the May 5 primary.

If he loses, Walker doubtless will rack it up to the never named higher-ups who, he thinks, conspired to get him relieved of his command in Germany and who are always trying to sell out the country.

It is too bad, in fact, that Walker is so inarticulate. It would be useful to have some public debate about some of the things in which he so deeply and so passionately believes. He is for what he calls "the hard anti-Communist line"; he wants to inculcate the troops with "a hard-line program."

People who vote for him in Texas, and for men like him who are running in the California Republican primary on June 5, will be voting for action—against Cuba, against Nikita Khrushchev, against some Communist somewhere, anywhere.

Yet at the same time Walker was testifying, most other Senators were sitting in a joint session of Congress to hear the President of Brazil say that the East-West conflict "cannot and must not be decided by military action." This is what the argument is all about: Walker and those who think like him see military action as the only real way to resolve our troubles; the Administration and a lot of people in the Free World such as the Brazilian President believe that would lead to nothing less than incineration of the Northern Hemisphere at the least. Fight if challenged, yes, but first negotiate.

Unhappily, the senatorial questions yesterday never really got at this fundamental question. Nor has debate in either house of Congress done much to illuminate it.

Walker's efforts to proselyte his troops by suggesting they check a right-wing rating of members of Con-

Walker Ca... Self Policy Scapegoat

Charges Collusion With International Red Conspiracy

By Julius Duscha
Staff Reporter

Edwin A. Walker declared yesterday that he was a "scapegoat" of an "unwritten" American policy of "collaboration and collusion with the international Communist conspiracy."

The former major general told a Senate Armed Services subcommittee that "our armed forces are paralyzed by our national policy of 'no win' and retreat from victory."

He also said that "iniquities" committed by Government officials had led the United States to "dire peril."

Communists, Walker added, have "infiltrated this country in every profession."

When asked to identify the persons who made him a scapegoat and are endangering the country Walker named Adam Yarmolinsky, a special assistant to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Arthur G. Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs.

Walker was also asked whether he included McNamara in the group of what he called conspirators.

The former general never answered the question directly, but he did say that McNamara was responsible for following "this kind of thinking" to be followed by Yarmolinsky and Sylvester.

Walker, who resigned from the Army last November after he was admonished for allegedly seeking to influence the votes of solders and is a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary in Texas, testified for more than six hours.

His long-awaited appearance before the subcommittee, which is investigating charges of military "muzzling," filled the Senate caucus room with spectators.

A trim, taciturn man, Walker took more than an hour to read a 31-page prepared statement. Then, in measured, often halting tones, he answered questions through the afternoon and into the evening.

Walker's hands shook as he began his testimony and he nervously smoked cigarettes as he answered questions. Many of his answers took five to ten minutes and frequently were rambling.

Seated beside him at the witness table were his lawyer, Clyde J. Watts of Oklahoma City, a retired Army general, and Medford Evans of Dallas, who described himself as a consultant to Walker.

Watts and Evans frequently conferred with Walker before he answered questions and at times handed him comments which they hurriedly wrote out on file cards and sheets of yellow lined paper.

Throughout his testimony Walker continually came back to two basic points:

- The United States has a "no-win" foreign policy which has been dictated by a conspiracy of public officials and other influential Americans.
- He was treated unfairly in the investigation of the charges made against him when he was an Army commander in Germany.

Walker defended all his activities, maintaining throughout his testimony that he was merely seeking to carry out established Army policies to train men to know their enemy.

"With this Nation's survival at stake," he declared, his deep, resonant voice rising in anger, "our armed forces are paralyzed by our national policy of 'no win' and retreat from victory.

"I, myself, am a victim of this 'no win' policy," he added. "I was charged with nothing. I have been found guilty of nothing. I have been punished for nothing."

He went on to say that as a result of the investigation of his activities "there is today no effective program of psychological warfare training in the United States armed services."

"The traditional civilian control of the military," he asserted, "has been perverted and extended into a commissar-like system of control at all major echelons of command.

"Our will to resist communism is fast being sapped . . . behind this unprecedented move to undermine our American way and convince the military that they must support collusion, are individuals whose actions endanger the security of our country."

Sen. Stuart W. Symington (D-Mo.) questioned Walker closely about the persons he had in mind, but the former general mentioned ... molinsky and Sylv...

Sylvester's name ... quently come up ... committee investig... testified early in the ... which began in January. Critics of Pentagon efforts to censor speeches by the military have blamed Sylvester for a more rigid censorship policy.

In amplifying his remarks about Sylvester, Walker said that Sylvester used to work for the Newark Evening News, which, the former General added, has criticized the House Un-American Activities Committee, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee and the FBI. Sylvester is a former Washington correspondent for the Newark paper.

This is the first time Yarmolinsky's name has figured in the hearings. He helped recruit talent for the Kennedy Administration and also aided in the establishment of the new civil defense program in the Pentagon.

In answer to a question from Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.) Walker said that Yarmolinsky's "connection with the Communists has certainly been close and his activities have certainly aided communism."

Walker said that Yarmolinsky had admitted attending meetings of the Young Communist League as a guest, but had never been a member.

Yarmolinsky told The Washington Post that he "had nothing to do with the Walker case" and that his "entire public record points in the opposite direction" from communism.

Other questioning by Symington showed that Walker had not read a book which he had denounced in his prepared statement for encouraging coexistence with communism.

The book is, "What ... Should Know About C... munism" by Henry and ... naro Overstreet.

Symington noted that ... he and his wife had read the book and found it to be a valuable discussion of communism.

But when Symington asked ... tly what was wrong with ... book, Walker said, "My knowledge of the book is hear... y, sir. I have not read it."

He promised Symington that he would read it.

Nearly all of Walker's lengthy prepared statement was devoted to a resume of the charges made against him by the Overseas Weekly, a private publication distributed to American servicemen overseas, and the way the Defense Department handled the charges against him.

Walker was particularly bitter in his comments about the Overseas Weekly, which he said was "subversive" as well as "immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive."

In defending his recommendation to his troops in October, 1960, that they consult a voting guide published by the right-wing Americans for Constitutional Action, Walker noted that he had sent a copy of the guide to Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, who is now Army Chief of Staff.

Lemnitzer told him, Walker said, that the guide was "most interesting and useful."

Walker will return to the witness stand at 10 a. m. today for further questioning. The hearing will be in the Senate Caucus Room.

George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the so-called "American Nazi Party," in Arlington, left, was asked to leave the Senate Caucus room by Capitol Police Lieut. Louis Disney during the Edwin Walker muzzling hearing, because he was wearing his swastika in his lapel. Rockwell said he would leave only if he was breaking a law wearing the emblem and when Lieut. Disney couldn't convince him the Senate Rules Committee forbids such emblems, he took him by the arm and led him out.

The General Was Quite Unmuzzled

By TOM KELLY

Gen. Edwin A. Walker, quite unmuzzled, took the stand before the Senate's Preparedness sub-committee yesterday and gave his adverse and often bewildering opinion of "a conspiracy" against the armed forces.

The General appeared, purposely or not, to be one of the most evasive witnesses ever to sit in the Senate's big caucus room.

His answers often appeared to have alight connection with the questions asked, and his questioners sometimes found themselves saying over and over things like "That was not my question, General."

Occasionally, they'd try to help him along with interpretations, beginning ". . . What you're saying is . . ."

But sometimes the flow staggered the listener.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.), as gentle and patient as Travelers Aid on Ellis Island, said on one occasion: "I want to be frank, General. You're losing me."

CLEAREST

The General was at his clearest in an hour-and-fifteen-minute opening statement which he read and in which he said: ". . . our armed forces are paralyzed by our national policy of 'no win' and retreat from victory. I, myself, am a victim of this 'no win' policy. I was charged with nothing. I have been found guilty of nothing. I have been punished for nothing . . . The result of what happened to me is that there is today no effective program of psychological warfare training in the United States Armed Forces.

"The traditional civilian control of the military has been perverted and extended into a commissar-like system of control at all major echelons of command . . . I was a scapegoat of an unwritten policy of collaboration and collusion with the international communist conspiracy which had superseded all written directives . . ."

RAPS McNAMARA

He also attacked with vigor Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, a publication called Overseas Weekly, the press in general and the "unwritten policy established by unknown persons at a high level in the Defense and State Departments."

Sub-committee counsel James Kendall opened the questions with a resume of the General's alleged partisan political activities as Commanding Officer of the 24th Infantry Division in Western Germany and his resignation after he was officially admonished for them.

Mr. Kendall introduced an editorial which was printed in the Division paper, the Taro-Leaf, which Gen. Walker admitted was approved by him and reflected his opinion. The editorial, printed just before the 1960 general election, told troops "one of the easiest ways of determining your senator's or congressman's record is by consulting the ACA index . . . A copy of this is available to you all. You can phone Flak Military 813 to have your representative's record determined before your vote is cast."

The General admitted after some persistent questioning that the Americans for Constitution Action Index had a "conservative bias." But he insisted thruout the afternoon that his action was not in violation of Army Regulations forbidding attempts to influence soldiers' voting.

"That is not voting material," he said of the editorial.

IN AFTERNOON

In the afternoon session Sen. John Stennis (D., Miss.), the chairman, took over the questioning and asked the General if he "could point out the more grave subversive threats to which our troops are exposed in Western Europe."

The General replied in part: "The most vital are the cause and purpose of the implementation of a national policy which has been losing for 15 years . . . this is obvious when we wind up in Korea in 1955 . . . this is true thruout, a retreat from victory. Someone said we sit 3000 miles away and look backward at Cuba . . . Maybe someone decided here, you have Cuba without a shot fired. My point is it is going to take a lot of indoctrination."

Sen. Stennis said, pleasantly, "General your time is not limited but my time is limited. I'd like to get your opinion on Western Europe. What ideologies the troops may be exposed to there."

REPLY

The General replied: "We know the communists have infiltrated every country in the world. Our people are exposed to them. They are also exposed to the Overseas Weekly . . . I have asked many senior officers if they had heard 'Moscow Molly!' Thirty per cent of them hadn't . . . My driver listened every night . . . There are great influences coming from the United States, to what we're standing for. It doesn't have to be communistic . . ."

Sen. Stennis said, "We will come back to that and spell it out if we may."

Sen. Stennis and several other questioners tried thru the afternoon to get the General to admit that Commanding Officers should not suggest that troops consult ANY partisan voting index at election time. The General refused to admit it.

AN EYE-WITNESS ACCOUNT

The General Led From the Right

By TOM KELLY

Gen. Edwin A. Walker yesterday hit me in the eye.

It was the high point of his appearance before the Senate Preparedness sub-committee, for me. Maybe not for him.

To use one of the General's own favorite words, I'll try to clarify what happened.

The General who'd been testifying all day Wednesday, returned yesterday to add a few words.

INFINITE PATIENCE

The sub-committee members also tried to clear up a few questions that had occurred to them overnight. Gen. Walker had, for example, denounced a number of books which can be found in Army libraries as being in accord with "competitive coexistence, which is fundamentally the communist line."

Sen. Howard Cannon (Dem., Nev.) asked, one by one, if the General had read any of them. The General said he had not.

"I've had discussions about certain ones of them," he said.

Sen. E. L. Bartlett (D., Ala.) asked who belonged to the "apparatus" that the General said controlled the policy of the United States and which would "not tolerate militant anti-communist leadership by a Division Commander."

TWO TARGETS

The General said he would name people "who are opposite to my line of thinking regarding the Constitution" and after some rambling he named Dean Rusk and Walt Rostow, "head of CIA operations."

The General then took over all by himself. He said he would like to make a statement "to clarify" some of his statements yesterday.

He talked at great length—not notably any more clearly than he had talked the day before.

"I was framed in a den of iniquity represented by a 'no-win' hidden policy of the State Department," he said at one point, a statement he'd made repeatedly before.

TOOK HIS BOWS

When the General was finished and allowed to step down he shook hands with the sub-committee members and several friends in the audience.

I tried to approach him with a question but he walked away.

A few minutes later when he was scribbling on a paper, apparently polishing a statement for the TV cameras, I approached him again.

I told him George Lincoln Rockwell, the head of the so-called American Nazi Party, had been quoted on the radio, praising him, and I asked the General if he'd like to disavow Rockwell.

"Go away. Can't you see I'm busy," he said, so I went away. A few minutes later he came out, read his statement for the TV cameras and walked off. I walked beside him and started to ask him once more about disavowing Rockwell. He turned and hit me in the left eye with his right fist.

His lawyer grabbed him and hustled him off.

And that, for whatever it means, is that.

DORIS FLEESON

Gen. Walker's Day in Court

Long, Hard Look at Army System That Elevated Him Is Favored

Ex-Major General Edwin A. Walker has had his day in court. About all that he managed to make really clear is that the Army system which made him a major general needs a long, hard look.

Mr. Walker is not a menace. He will not even do as a man on horseback despite a fine record for daring in World War II. He wants to talk at length, not be a figurehead, but he is confused in his thinking and inarticulate in expression.

He was on the stand because he insisted upon it. His sponsors drew back after his limitations had been brought home to them in private talks during which they vainly tried to persuade him not to run for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Texas. The Senate subcommittee deliberately delayed his appearance so a Walker rescue operation could be attempted, but he waved it aside and demanded to be heard.

Opponents of his views could hardly get a handhold on him; actually they thought it unnecessary to attack. He got free rein and it was sufficient.

The big question now is how representative is he of today's Army. It is unlikely that Congress will want to explore it in any public way, but it is a pressing job for Defense Secretary McNamara.

It is known that Mr. McNamara is aware of the problem and has set in motion reforms of the system of organization which floated Mr. Walker to an important command and showed every evidence of being willing to cover up for him. If this is true, the command officers themselves are due for scrutiny.

Mr. Walker produced at the hearing a letter commending him for his famous right-wing voting list, signed by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. This could have been routine; if so, Gen. Lemnitzer should do some office-cleaning on his own.

President Eisenhower nominated Gen. Lemnitzer for his high post last summer, and the then Democratic nominee for President, having much else on his mind, let it slide through. Mr. Kennedy has had other reasons for wishing he had not; the letter to Mr. Walker Amendment restricts American participation in the World Court.

Questioned on Authors

Under questioning by Sen. Howard W. Cannon (D-Nev.) Walker admitted that he had read no books by five authors whom he had accused of "encouraging accomodation with the enemy." They are Walter Millis, John Gunther, Max Lerner and Harry and Bonaro Overstreet.

Walker was praised by Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), chairman of the subcommittee that is investigating charges of "muzzling" of the military, as a soldier with a fine record.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.), whose "muzzling" charges led to the hearings, said that "while I may not agree with Gen. Walker on all of his statements . . . he is a great American."

Thurmond began calling for an investigation last summer after Walker was relieved of his command in West Germany. Walker was admonished by the Army for trying to influence the votes of his soldiers in the 1960 elections. In November Walker resigned his commission.

When the hearing ended Walker nervously paced in the Senate Caucus Room, where the subcommitte met, before going out to face the television cameras. Stennis has refused to allow cameras or microphones in the hearing room.

After being questioned by television reporters, Walker was reminded by reporter Kelly that George Lincoln Rockwell of Arlington, Va., leader of the American Nazi Party, had said on Wednesday that Walker was the only man in the United States who would defend him. Rockwell and some of his followers were ejected from the hearing Wednesday.

When Kelly asked Walker for comment on Rockwell's statement, Walker answered with a punch.

On Wednesday Walker had said that Adam Yarmolinsky, a special assistant to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Arthur G. Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs, had made him a "scapegoat" for an unwritten American policy of "collaboration and collusion with the international Communist conspiracy."

Yesterday McNamara issued a statement saying that he had "complete trust and confidence" in both Yarmolinsky and Sylvester.

The Armed Services subcommittee is not expected to call Rusk, Rostow, Yarmolinsky or Sylvester to question them about Walker's charges unless any of the officials demands a hearing. None of the four is expected to do so.

the former general said. "I believe their responsibility (a reference to Rusk and Rostow) will cover all the others."

Throughout two days of testimony Walker maintained that a secret "apparatus" has led the Nation to "dire peril" by following a "soft-line policy" toward communism.

Walker went on to charge that the CIA determines national policy through its estimates of the capabilities of the Soviet Union.

"The CIA," he said, "figures [illegible] estimates in conformance with the soft-line policy already determined by the State Department."

Without "a complete reversal of the 'no-win' policy," Walker stated, the United States will be digging its own grave.

He said that the grave is now three feet deep, that approval of the purchase of United Nations bonds will aid "six more inches," repeal of the Connally Amendment "another foot," and the State Department program for disarmament "three more feet—all that is necessary." The Cardinal Wednesday.

Walker Ac... Rusk to Hi... 'Sell-out' List

Ex-General Names Rostow as Another 'Apparatus' Member

By Julius Duscha
Staff Reporter

Edwin A. Walker charged ...rday that Secretary of ... Dean Rusk is a member of a mysterious "apparatus" seeking to "sell out" the United States.

Walker also said that Walt W. Rostow, State Department counselor and chairman of the Department's policy planning staff, is part of the apparatus.

The former Army major general made his charges in a final appearance before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

After testifying for 90 minutes, Walker repeated some of his statements before television cameras outside the hearing room and then struck a reporter who sought to question him.

Then Walker, who at 52 still looks to be in fighting trim, strode from the Old Senate Office Building to return to Texas to resume his uphill campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

While Walker was testifying Rusk was across the street in the New Senate Office Building at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on foreign aid.

When reporters informed ... of Walker's charges he ... that it was "not worthy ... comment" and that he was ... happy to be linked to Mr. ... Walker."

Neither the State Department nor Rostow had any further comment on Walker's testimony.

Walker appeared somewhat haggard as he resumed his testimony after spending more than six hours before the subcommittee on Wednesday. He was again accompanied by Medford Evans, his principal campaign adviser, and Clyde J. Watts, his lawyer.

Relies on Advisers

Once again Walker relied heavily on both Evans and Watts, who sat at his elbows, for answers to questions from subcommittee members.

Sen. E. L. (Bob) Bartlett (D-Alaska) asked Walker to identify the persons who make up what the former general called "the real control apparatus."

This apparatus, Walker alleged, is seeking "a sellout of our traditions, our independence, our sovereignty."

"I cannot identify those that are completely in control of the apparatus," Walker began. Then, speaking slowly and deliberately, he went on to say:

"Mr. Dean Rusk. It's my understanding he was on Stillwell's staff during the agrarian reformer highlights of that day. He was a member and supporter of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which was greatly influenced by Owen Lattimore."

The late Joseph (Vinegar Joe) Stillwell was a controversial Army general who served in China during World War II. In the 1920s and 1930s, Chinese Communists sometimes were referred to as agrarian reformers.

Both the Institute of Pacific Relations and Lattimore ... Senate Internal Security subcommittee investigations of a decade ago. Lattimore was once a target of the late Sen. Joe McCarthy.

Bartlett pressed Walker for additional names. Walker looked at Evans, who pushed a card in front of him.

Rostow Mentioned

Like Walker, Evans is a member of the John Birch Society. He is also active in other right-wing groups.

Walker glanced at the card and said, "Mr. Walter — Walter, I believe it is—Rostow, who has been in control of the operating arm of the CIA I believe since 1954."

Rostow, who was named after the poet Walt Whitman, is a former professor of economic history at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He became a White House adviser on foreign policy to President Kennedy in Jan., 1961.

Since November Rostow has been in the State Department. He has never worked for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Gen. Walker's 'Case'

After two days of testimony by former Major General [redacted], we are inclined to [redacted] Senator Symington that it [redacted] some ways that the hearing [redacted]

It is too bad because of the adverse effect which General Walker's own testimony will have on his own standing. General Walker believes that Secretary of State Dean Rusk is aligned with an unidentified "control apparatus" responsible for a "soft line on communism." He thinks the United States has a "no-win" foreign policy dictated by a conspiracy of public officials, and that our armed forces have been "paralyzed" by this policy. He thinks that he himself is a "scapegoat" and a victim of "an unwritten policy of collaboration and collusion with the international Communist conspiracy."

There is much more of the same throughout the pages of General Walker's testimony, but none of it helps his case. For all of these extravagant charges are singularly lacking in proof, and the inescapable conclusion is that the conspiracies exist, not in fact, but in General Walker's overwrought imagination.

It is too bad to have to say this of a man with his distinguished military record. But it is better to have the picture brought into the open, through General Walker's own words, than to leave any basis for belief that he has been gagged or denied opportunity to air his charges. At least the American people now are in a position to judge for themselves, and we have no doubt what the judgment of most of them will be.

Walker Reports Murder Attempt

DALLAS, Tex., April 10 (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker said tonight he was the victim of an attempted rifle assassination while he sat at a desk before a window of his home.

Walker said he was working on his income tax report when a rifle bullet slammed through the window.

Asked if he had any idea who shot at him, the former General replied: "There are plenty of people on the other side. You don't have to go overseas to earn a Purple Heart."

He added: "I've been saying the front was right here at home."

Walker Says Shot to Spur His Crusade

DALLAS, April 12 (AP). — [redacted]er Maj. Gen. Edwin A. [redacted] says that Wednesday [redacted]'s attempt to kill him will spur on his anti-Communist crusade.

Police, meanwhile, say they are without important clues in the shooting at Mr. Walker's home.

"Whoever shot at the general was playing for keeps," said Detective D. E. McElroy. "The sniper wasn't trying to scare him. He was shooting to kill."

Mr. Walker was sitting in a room at the rear of his home working on his income tax when the bullet missed him by an inch. It sprayed him with slivers of glass and metal from the window, causing some cuts on his right forearm.

A youngster told police he saw several men jump into a car and speed away from the area in a swank part of Dallas.

"The shooting here is going to speed me up," said Mr. Walker. "You know I said when I came back home that the front lines were right here at home—in Dallas."

I've been thinking, instead, of the people who support him, including the 50 or so loyal Walker disciples who took pen in clenched first to drop me obscene, incoherent or hysterical lines.

Most Pleasant.

Most of the letters that came in about the incident were pleasant. Many praised me, as if being unexpectedly poked in the eye were a virtue, which it isn't. (Many thought there was a gleam of slapstick comedy in the affair. I share this feeling.)

However, while a few defending the general and his works presented their arguments well and intelligibly, most of the mail sympathetic to him simply spewed filth. It was easy to see that the writing of them brought a kind of mean joy to many of the authors.

Sick People.

I wonder how many sick people like these there are throughout the land? How many frustrated sadists? How many with the souls of storm troopers? How many who feel lost without a master, and unsure without a brainless slogan on their lips? How many who, simply and instinctively, fear the personal responsibility of freedom?

It seems to me that the question which should be worrying average, do-nothing loyal Americans like me is this: Which should dominate our actions—tolerance or morality—when bands of political garbage distributors shout that every man who becomes Secretary of State or President—even the man who led our country in war to victory—is either traitorous or a spy?

Decent Americans all will agree it is not patriotic to say, without a splinter of proof, that a man whose name you have to be helped to remember is part of some kind of sinister "apparatus."

Well then, what is it?

Abolish Symbols?

Nor is it patriotism to insist that real and living symbols of America — free speech, a free press, equal justice under the law and equality of opportunity—are treacherous schemes and, by inference, ought to be abolished.

If not patriotism, what, then, is it? And what, if anything, should the rest of us do about it?

Do we do nothing? Do we grant them the freedom to mutilate the face of freedom? If so, how far do we let them go? Do we let them cripple her, or merely disfigure her? Do we stand up and get counted only when she is about to be murdered? By that time, will it be too late? It seems to me we need to be thinking about the line that divides tolerance from complaisance, or morality from criminal negligence.

America is still, of course, a great barrel of good things; full of liberty, riches and health and still the hope of a troubled world.

The question is: What do we do about the rotten apples in the barrel?

The reporter who took a jab in the eye the other day from former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker has been getting a lot of mail about it. In the following story, Tom Kelly of the Washington Daily News, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, does an analysis of the specimens.

By TOM KELLY,
Scripps-Howard Newspapers

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Since Gen. Walker poked me in the eye, at the end of one of the Congressional "muzzling" hearings, I've been brooding a bit about the political-mental health of the nation.

I haven't been thinking about the general himself; one confused man is not significant.

His explanation, which took him several days to make, was that I had elbowed him in the ribs before he threw his dainty jab. The timing of his explanation merely bolsters my impression that the general simply says whatever pops into the minds of his advisers.

Walker Sa... U.N. Helps Reds In Cuba

"The United Nations supported Khrushchev in taking Cuba," former Major Gen. Edwin A. Walker charged in an interview in Salt Lake City Tuesday evening.

Gen. Walker, who is in Salt Lake City on an anti-Communist speaking tour, said that if we made any overt acts toward Cuba we would be opposing U.N. policy."

In regard to his controversial stand in the integration problem at the University of Mississippi last fall, Gen. Walker said that the rioting was "communist-inspired."

"Kennedy troops attacked the sovereignty of Mississippi and the constitutional rights of one million Mississipians," he claimed.

When asked if he felt Negroes were denied their rights, Gen. Walker replied: "There are places in the United States where white people are denied their rights."

"I oppose integration by force," he said. "They should let it develop from a community level."

Gen. Walker and evangelist Billy James Hargis will lecture at Highland High auditorium Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. in an "Operation Alert" campaign.

Sponsor of the tour is the American Christian Crusade Committee, chairmaned locally by Dr. Reese Hunter.

Gen. Walker Flies 'Distress Signal'

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker flew a group of American flags upside down in front of his home in Dallas, Tex., this week to protest the apologies of Dallas city officials for the manhandling received by Adlai E. Stevenson, Ambassador to the United Nations, in the city last week. "Flying the flag upside down is a distress signal—a distress signal which is certainly warranted when any other flag takes precedent over the flag of the United States," Walker said.

THE GENERAL IS DISTRESSED—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker flies distress signal at Dallas home. He said he was flying this and four other upside down flags to indicate his shame over the apologies by the city of Dallas to UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, who was spat upon by the anti-UN demonstrators there recently.

around," he said. "They asked for this by sending demonstrators into the South.

"I say they deserve the protests of the country, when they come down here to represent the UN as falsely as it was represented. And it's not only heredid you hear about that procession in Michigan, 100 cars covered with crepe?"

This, said Mr. Walker, all stemmed from American anger at the fact that "Mr. K controls the UN."

"I've got a students' map of the world right here that they had printed and it shows China, right in the UN."

The statements that stirred the pickets, he said, were sponsored by "the invisible government, that same invisible government that is running Dallas."

As a matter of fact, he said, right at this moment the UN influence was reaching into his city.

"The way the Communists do with the kids, all these kids are running around collecting money for UNICEF, and you can read in the papers about that money going to Castro.

"Communism isn't in Cuba. It's right here in Dallas and in every city in the nation."

Did he have any personal Hallowe'en plans?

"Oh, we'll just give the youngster some candy, what holiday's supposed to be. You know Adam Clayton Po said the other day there's no such Santa Claus anymore."

As for himself, Mr. Walker said, he'd devote the day to "keeping the little ones happy."

"I'm all for Hallowe'en," he said. "I'm all for Santa Claus."

Why Gen. Walker Flies Our Flag Upside Down

DALLAS, Texas.

At the sprawling, gabled house with the mailbox out front that still says "General Edwin A. Walker," there were five American flags flying upside down yesterday.

Somebody had said this was because the former general was ashamed of the way pickets here had manhandled Adlai Stevenson last week.

"That's an absolute lie," said Mr. Walker.

What he was ashamed of, he said, was the fact that city officials were ashamed of what had happened.

"Adlai," he said, "got what was coming to him."

"He represents the UN, and since the people can't get to the UN, they got to him. He shouldn't be so small as to take it personally. After all, we don't just go around whacking each other with signs in this country.

"You know what that sign said, don't you? It said 'Get us out of the UN.'"

Mr. Walker, the man who left the Army in 1961 after he came under fire for his Right-wing oriented "troop education" program, the man who subsequently turned up at the University of Mississippi during the tense and bloody attempts to integrate the school, the man who was seized by Federal authorities and sent for a mental test, only to be freed and officially certified as not insane or incompetent, had an intricate explanation for his upside-down flags:

"I see these headlines saying 'Texas City Ashamed.'

"Well, the nation ought to be ashamed because we've given away Cuba and because of this wheat sale and because things are falling apart in Viet Nam and we've already lost Laos.

"It's all because of the UN. I'm flying the flags upside down in line with the shame of the city which is in line with the shame of the nation because people are beginning to realize, now with Cuba and Madame Nhu's visit, that we are in dire peril."

Mr. Walker expressed a minimum of sympathy for Mr. Stevenson's trouble with the pickets here last Thursday night.

"The Administration asks for it whenever it comes

Ex-Gen. Walker Awarded $3 Million in Libel Suit

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 28 (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was awarded a $3-million libel judgment today against the Associated Press and the New Orleans Times - Picayune Publishing Corp.

A Caddo Parish (county) civil court jury said Walker was libeled in an AP account of his activities during the 1962 desegregation riots at the University of Mississippi.

Defense lawyers immediately moved to have the jury's verdict set aside and also moved for a mistrial, on the ground that the award exceeded damages alleged in Walker's complaint.

District Judge William Woods reserved decision on the motions and discharged the jury.

The AP said any judgment lodged against it will be appealed.

It was the second award Walker has won as an outgrowth of the University of Mississippi riots. The Associated Press, currently is appealing a $500,000 libel judgment outstanding in Fort Worth, Tex., in favor of Walker.

Walker, 55, claimed the Associated Press falsely described him as assuming command of Ole Miss rioters and leading them on a charge against U.S. marshals.

Examination requested by: FBI, Dallas

Reference: Letter 12/2/63

Examination requested: Firearms - Spectrographic

Specimens:

Q188 Bullet from Edwin A. Walker's residence

Results of examination:

The remaining physical characteristics of the bullet, Q188, are the same as those of the bullet and bullet fragments recovered in connection with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the same as those of 6.5 millimeter Mannlicher-Carcano bullets manufactured by the Western Cartridge Company. The mutilation of Q188 prevents stating that it is of Western manufacture to the exclusion of all other sources.

Specimen Q188 was fired from a barrel rifled with four lands and grooves, right twist. Mannlicher-Carcano rifles of the type used in the assassination of President Kennedy (described as specimen K1 in Laboratory report PC-78243 BX) are among those which produce general rifling impressions such as were found on specimen Q188.

Because of the extreme mutilation and distortion of Q188 and because the individual microscopic marks left on bullets by the barrel of the K1 rifle could have changed subsequent to the time Q188 was fired, it was not possible to determine whether or not Q188 was fired from K1.

There are no specimens presently being maintained in the National Unidentified Ammunition File which could have been fired from the K1 rifle or which logically should be compared with Q188. Further, no bullets or rifles which logically should be compared with specimen Q188 have come to the attention of the FBI Laboratory since March, 1963.

The copper jacket and the lead core of the Q188 bullet were determined to be slightly different in compositions from the copper jackets and lead cores of the Q1 and Q2 bullets.

Although the differences in composition between the Q188 and the Q1 and Q2 bullets were small and do not indicate that these bullets represent two different types of bullets, it was not possible to determine if these bullets came from the same box. It is to be noted that there is no assurance in the fabrication of ammunition that all the ammunition ending up in one box possesses bullets from the same batch of metal, that is, with the same composition.

The bullet, Q188, is being temporarily retained in the Laboratory for comparison with any additional bullets which may be received.

ADDENDUM TO DALLAS

This report confirms the teletype to the Dallas Office on 12/4/63.

Dallas should endeavor to locate and forward to the Laboratory any bullets determined to have been fired by Oswald's rifle from the time of purchase until the time of its recovery. In this connection, it is pointed out that if any area is located where such bullets may have been fired, cartridge cases recovered at this area should be forwarded to assist in determining whether Oswald's rifle was fired.

You may wish to alert the Dallas Police Department to the possibility of recovering bullets previously fired in Oswald's rifle.

Gentlemen: [redacted] Dallas, [redacted] cancelled her account with E. M. Kahn and Co. because of the advertisement the store ran welcoming the President to Dallas. She notified them to close her account and enclosed a copy of the ad.

I think this display of animosity by one who accompanied the General to Oxford, Miss., should be called to your attention. I have this information from an authoritative source. Resenting the store welcoming the President is a little unreasonable--did she cancel the account in the few hours between the publication of the ad and the President's murder? Or did she carry her hatred over and cancel after his murder? I think this is just another facet of the General Walker story that could be of some significance.

I am sorry I must be anonymous, but I have a job to hold.

Walker Claims Communist Cell Active in Dallas

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI) — Former Gen. Edwin A. Walker said today there was a "Communist cell" in Dallas and government investigators know about it.

He said "it is perfectly clear" that Lee Harvey Oswald, who was charged with assassinating President John F. Kennedy, "was working with a Communist cell in Dallas."

Walker said he did not know if Oswald was questioned or arrested in connection with an attempted shooting of the former Army general.

In an interview on Radio Station KWKH last night, Walker said he had never been questioned by a federal officer in connection with the attempt on his life. He said no other law enforcement agent had contacted him since he called them and had them remove a bullet from a wall at his home.

We understand that after the death of the President none of the right wingers could be located. Its natural for cowards to hide at a time like this but you arnt going to hide from us much longer walker.

You got just 6 more months to live as of the date you got this letter. Some time after that 6 months, maybe a day, maybe 3 months you are going to get yours too.

That nut could want capable of the crime he committed. It took bigger nuts than him to do it and the only other nuts in the Dallas area are the right wingers incuding you.

Dont waste any time thinking this is a crank letter and there aint no use in wiggling and squirming and going to the cops they aint going to help you.

Its garbage like you and your so called right wingers who were either directly involved in the murder of the President or if not directly involved assisted in pulling the trig or with your hate-mongering.

Dont forget walker you got 6 more months to go so tidy up your affairs and say a few prayers not that it will help any. You aint going quick like the President did. You going to have 6 more months to sweat it out.

And you stay the hell away from the garden city hotel or the rest of your family will get it too.

EDWIN A. WALKER

On June 6, 1963, WILLIAM M. DUFF, 5420 Lewis Street, Apartment 123, Dallas, Texas, advised that he is a British citizen, born January 4, 1931, in Scotland, who entered the United States on May 11, 1957, at New York City, Alien Registration No. A11330675. DUFF advised he was employed by former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER for about four months as a driver and aide and that he resigned this position about three months ago due to a misunderstanding with MRS. ALTA EDMONDSON, WALKER's secretary. DUFF stated that following an attempt to shoot EDWIN A. WALKER, he was questioned at length by the Dallas Police Department as a suspect.

DUFF stated that last night, June 5, 1963, he was approached by two individuals from Oklahoma City who reside at the same address as he does, Apartment 115, concerning a possible attempt to assassinate EDWIN A. WALKER. These two individuals asked DUFF to give them a diagram of WALKER's house and to assist them on Tuesday, June 11, 1963, in an attempt to assassinate EDWIN A. WALKER. DUFF stated that one of these individuals showed him a 30.06 rifle. One of these individuals was named BILL, last name unknown, who drove a Chevrolet Corvair, Oklahoma license AE 3502, the other was named CLIFF, last name unknown, who drove an Oldsmobile, Oklahoma license XE9530. These two men indicated that unknown individuals from New York City wished to kill WALKER.

The above facts were immediately furnished to Lieutenant E. L. CUNNINGHAM, Dallas Police Department, who is investigating the attempted assassination of EDWIN A. WALKER, and he advised that the above named individuals from Oklahoma are known to him to be private detectives hired by EDWIN A. WALKER to investigate the alleged attempt to kill WALKER. Lieutenant CUNNINGHAM advised that on this date these two individuals advised him that DUFF whom they consider to be a

Assistant Director W. C. SULLIVAN called at 3:10 AM and instructed he receive a return telephone call and be filled in on the details relating to the alleged bullet being shot into the home of General EDWIN A. WALKER.

I returned the call and advised Mr. SULLIVAN that the General WALKER shooting details are not contained within the Dallas files. However, I mentioned that a slug obtained from the Dallas Police Department had been sent to the Laboratory for examination, and the transmittal letter reflects the slug was recovered from WALKER's home on 4/10/63 by the Dallas Police Department. Reportedly, the bullet was fired into WALKER's home through a window and that no one has been identified as firing the bullet.

Mr. SULLIVAN then instructed that Agents review Dallas newspaper morgues first thing Wednesday morning, 11/4/63, and the details be obtained and furnished him by teletype. Mr. SULLIVAN cautioned this be done discreetly since no one knows of OSWALD's possible involvement in the shooting.

LEAD (AM, 11/4/63)

Immediately review morgues for news articles on or about 4/10/63 relating to General WALKER shooting. Prepare detailed teletype, attention: Assistant Director W. C. SULLIVAN.

ATTN: FBI LABORATORY

SAC, DALLAS (157-218) (P)

EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

Enclosed under separate cover for the Laboratory is a rifle slug obtained by SA BARDWELL D. ODUM on 12/2/63 from Lieutenant CARL DAY, Dallas Police Department.

It is requested that an immediate comparison be made between this slug and the test slugs fired from the rifle used to assassinate President JOHN F. KENNEDY on 11/22/63 at Dallas, Texas.

In the event that the slug is battered to the extent that no adequate comparison of the rifling marks can be made, it is requested that an analysis be made of the metal in this slug with the metal in the slugs involved in the assassination of President KENNEDY, unless such analysis would destroy this slug or the other slugs involved.

For your information, this slug was recovered from the home of EDWIN A. WALKER, Retired Major General, U. S. Army, on 4/10/63, by the Dallas Police Department, following a report of a bullet being fired into WALKER's home through a window. No one has ever been identified as firing the bullet.

WALKER is a well-known controversial figure, generally associated with Right-Wing Activities in Dallas, Texas, and other points, since his retirement from the U. S. Army.

Investigation in the matter entitled "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka.; ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY, 11/22/63, Dallas, Texas, AFO", discloses that the rifle used in that case was shipped to OSWALD at Dallas, Texas, on 3/20/63. OSWALD continued to reside in Dallas until 4/29/63, when he left Dallas reportedly going to New Orleans, Louisiana. He did not return until 10/3/63. Major WALKER's name appears in the address book taken from the person of OSWALD at the time he was arrested.

It is requested that the slug be returned when the examination is completed, so that it can be returned to the Dallas Police Department, contributor.

Assistant Director SULLIVAN has cautioned case should be handled discreetly.

ADDENDUM:
INSPECTOR JAMES R. MALLEY

At approximately 7:00 AM, I talked to DON MOORE, Domestic Intelligence Division, concerning the foregoing. MOORE was advised that in connection with the above, I wanted to make sure that he was aware of developments that occurred yesterday before going off on any tangent and doing unnecessary work.

MOORE was told that at approximately noon yesterday, we received a note in Russian which had been translated by a Secret Service representative and that this note was dictated to Mrs. HENLEY, Secretary in Mr. BELMONT's office. MOORE advised he did not see any memorandum concerning this, but would make arrangements to get a copy.

I advised MOORE that at some time between 3:30 and 5:00 PM yesterday, a memorandum was dictated to a secretary in General Investigative Divisinn, which was prepared from ROSEN to BELMONT, convering information obtained from Mrs. OSWALD wherein she stated that she had been shown this note by Secret Service and had said that it was a note which she had retained in her possession that her husband had prepared sometime last April and that this memorandum covered in some detail the fact that Mrs. OSWALD was aware that her husband had shot at General WALKER on the night of April 10th for the purpose of trying to kill him and missed.

MOORE was also advised that the rifle slug found at General WALKER's residence had been submitted to the Bureau Laboratory for examination on Dec. 3rd.

In connection with newspaper publicity on the General WALKER shooting in April, I advised MOORE that this office did have some newspaper clippings and that in all probability if any inquiry of any nature were made of the newspaper morgue, immediate publicity would follow.

MOORE was told that Secret Service was aware of possible connection of OSWALD with the General WALKER shooting, and that the Arlington, Texas P olice Department had inquired of one of the Dallas Agents on the evening of Dec. 3rd if he was aware that OSWALD might be tied in with the shooting of General WALKER, and that the Dallas Police Department was aware that we were trying to tie it up, inasmuch as we had picked up the rifle slug from the Police Department for examination purposes. He was also advised that the Dallas Police Department stated that they had been considering turning the slug over for examination inasmuch as they felt that there was some possibility that OSWALD might have shot at General WALKER.

MOORE was told that Agent BOGUSLAV was translating the note written in Russian to see if his translation would compare favorably with that of the Secret Service Agent, that the note would be shown to Mrs. OSWALD today by Bureau Agents for further identification by her, following which the note would be transmitted to the Bureau for fingerprint examination, as well as handwriting examination.

MOORE was told that until we heard from him, nothing further would be done relative to the General WALKER angle.

up in Dallas, Texas, on August [illegible], 1963, with the appearance of numerous "Wanted for Murder - Khrushchev" posters on downtown business windows. It stated the posters imitated the police and FBI wanted persons posters and described the Soviet Premier as "an extremely vicious criminal who should under no circumstances be trusted," which the article stated was a pointed attack on the proposed nuclear ban treaty. The article stated the militant "Minutemen" group in 1961 gained national recognition when it conducted guerrilla field maneuvers near Collinsville, Illinois. The leader of that organization in 1961 was identified as ROBERT BOLIVAR DE PUGH, of Norborne, Missouri. It stated that the "Minutemen" have dropped out of sight since 1961, and said the posters taped to several downtown Dallas business windows on August 31, 1963, constituted the first indication that organization, or one using that name, had made any appearance in Dallas. The article quoted Lieutenant JACK REVILL, head of the Dallas Police Department, Intelligence Bureau, as knowing of no "Minutemen" organization in Dallas, although said "there might be some sympathizers." Dear Fellow American:

This letter presents to you an urgent appeal for personal financial assistance.

The necessity for such an appeal arises from the fact that during the time which elapsed between October 13, 1961 and November 15, 1963 I voluntarily assumed financial obligations the cumulative total of which exceeds fifty thousand dollars ($ 50,000.00.) This money is either due now or in the immediate future; therefore as the situation now stands fifty thousand dollars is the price which I personally must pay for accepting the responsibility of operating the National Indignation Convention and for assuming the responsibility of traveling the length and breadth of our Republic in an attempt to establish at the precinct level political coordinating committees manned by politically astute American patriots regardless of their political party affiliation.

In all of this work I have never asked anyone for personal assistance. I have been generous to a fault with everything I have because I love our people, our Way of Life, and our Republic. Now I need your help. Won't you please be generous with me? If you give, let us say, ten dollars ($ 10.00), then raising the amount of money needed will be individually painless.

If your contribution is by check please make it payable to the Frank Mc Gehee Fund, 3737 Van Ness Lane, Dallas 20, Texas. All who contribute will be notified of the success of the drive which will close when the money is raised or when it becomes apparent that it cannot be raised.

Please assume the responsibility for showing this letter to all interested persons.

Yours for God and Country,

Frank P. Mc Gehee

P. S. The outcome of the greatest struggle ever engaged in by free men for the preservation of individual liberty and in defense of the dignity of the human person is not yet determined. Since a dedicated Marxist-Communist has now assassinated the Chief Executive of our Republic we must realize that the battle for survival is not only being waged in every corner of the free world but now is being fought WITHIN the borders of the United States as well. Obviously it is not a "Cold War." That is a phony expression. It is World War III, the hottest war in which we ever have engaged! It is my sincere prayer that our Lord Jesus Christ will protect and sustain you and yours now and always as the battle rages around us.

WARREN REYNOLDS, part owner, Johnny Renolds Used Car Lot, 500 East Jefferson Boulevard, who was previously interviewed by FBI Agents on January 21, 1964, telephonically advised as follows:

After being interviewed by FBI Agents on January 21, 1964, concerning his having observed certain activities immediately after the shooting of Dallas police officer J. W. TIPPIT on November 22, 1963, he (REYNOLDS) was shot on the night of January 23, 1964.

REYNOLDS stated that he was contacting the FBI to determine if the FBI investigation had determined anything that would indicate that his being shot was connected in any way with the OSWALD case.

Mr. REYNOLDS was asked if he had any such information to indicate such was the case and he stated he did not, but wanted to advise the FBI that on the afternoon of March 2, 1964, General EDWIN A. WALKER had telephonically contacted him at his place of business, at which time General WALKER read an article from some Boston newspaper to him. According to REYNOLDS, this newspaper article was written by BOB CONSIDINE and indicated that it was unusual that REYNOLDS had been shot because he had "fingered" OSWALD. REYNOLDS stated that actually he did not "finger" OSWALD.

REYNOLDS stated that General WALKER asked REYNOLDS if he would come to see General WALKER because General WALKER did not want to talk on the telephone. REYNOLDS stated that he does not know whether he will contact General WALKER or not, but that in the event he does he will advise the FBI of the results of such contact.

REYNOLDS added that in connection with his having been shot, that a man known only as "DAGO" had been picked up by the Dallas Police Department as a suspect in the

FD-302 (Rev. 3-3-59) FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

1 Date February 20, 1964

General EDWIN A. WALKER was interviewed in the presence of his attorney, JOE MATTHEWS, at 812 Fidelity Union Life Building, Dallas, Texas. This interview was based on a United Press International Release captioned "WALKER Claims Communist Cell Active in Dallas", appearing in the February 13, 1964 issue of the "Dallas Times Herald" newspaper. In response to a question concerning the alleged Communist cell active in Dallas, WALKER stated that people's definition of Communism differs. He then mentioned the Fair Play for Cuba Committee as possible Communist activity. He stated there must be Communists in Dallas and stated people will know about Communism and indicated he will tell them about it. In connection with a question concerning the alleged Communist Party activity of LEE HARVEY OSWALD, WALKER stated in substance that MRS. OSWALD was bound to be a Communist as she came from Russia but it would take a lot of investigation in Minsk, Russia to establish this.

WALKER mentioned that he had been unable to obtain any information regarding his case, meaning the attempt on his life and that he had had no report from the authorities regarding this matter. He said according to news accounts all of this information had been turned over to the FBI and the President's Commission. He said he had been unable to get information from the Dallas Police concerning their investigation of the matter as he had sent a representative there for this purpose. He said that since he could not get the information from the FBI, the Commission, or local authorities, he would have to conduct his own personal investigation of this matter. WALKER then mentioned three other deaths which he stated had occurred in Dallas since April, 1963, and said he would like to see someone investigate these deaths. He referred to one as a Southern Methodist University law professor name not recalled, a Dr. DEEN, a doctor at Timberlawn and the owner of a used car lot in Dallas, not further identified. In connection with the used car lot owner, he stated a Mexican had been seen running away from the lot.

At this point during the interview, attorney JOE MATTHEWS interrupted the interview, and requested he be allowed to consult with his client before continuing the interview. After a brief consultation with WALKER, MATTHEWS advised that WALKER would review his files and papers and discuss the matter with CLYDE WATTS, his attorney in Oklahoma City and thereafter would contact the FBI if he was able to furnish any information.

[redacted] Dallas, a few days previously engaged in a discussion with Dr. ELIZABETH LIVERMAN, also known as Dr. ELIZABETH L. RHODIFER, 1220 Brook Valley Lane, Dallas, while [redacted] was on a business call to that address. LIVERMAN had in her possession at her residence a book entitled "Assassination of President Kennedy", and after he noticed same, several comments were made. The book was published by American Eagle Publishing Company, the president of which company was said by her to be R. A. SURRY. She commented that DEAN RUSK, U. S. Secretary of State, is "one of the top Communists in the country". She claimed she learned about that from reading that book. She also said the common people do not know much about how the Communists are taking over the government. She said a Secret Service man was shot in the Texas Book Depository Building on the day of the assassination but that "this was hushed up". She said President KENNEDY had a lot of information he was going to tell about top Communists in government but that a conspiracy existed and the conspirators decided to "bump off KENNEDY" and after that OSWALD was "bumped off" too "shut him up". In the book appeared a photostatic copy of the diary in which OSWALD said he had shot at General WALKER.

LIVERMAN claimed she had on a previous occasion made a record of ADLAI STEVENSON's speech in Dallas. She showed SCHUTTE a part of a "Daily Worker", Communist newspaper, which

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY,
NOVEMBER 22, 1963, DALLAS, TEXAS
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

On May 14, 1964, FORREST V. SORRELS, U. S. Secret Service, Dallas, Texas, advised that investigation by his agency had established that ROBERT A. SURREY, described as a right-hand man of retired Major-General EDWIN A. WALKER and a salesman for the Johnston Printing Company, 2700 N. Haskell, Dallas, Texas, had been established as having placed the order and printed the "Wanted for Treason" pamphlets which were distributed, immediately prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY, in the Dallas vicinity.

Mr. SORRELS stated his agency was going to interview SURREY, results of which would be made known to the Dallas FBI Office.

In view of the fact that no active investigation was conducted by the FBI to establish the source of such posters, and the fact that the U. S. Secret Service has conducted investigation in this regard and is reporting same, no reporting of this information is being made in any FBI report.

[redacted] on 5/24/64, furnished an oral report to SA EDWIN D. KUYKENDALL. It was dictated on 5/26/64, to steno EVALYN MIDDLETON. It was typed on 6/1/64, and was authenticated on 6/3/64, by source in presence of SA EDWIN D. KUYKENDALL. The original is filed as [redacted] Source

Source in this report advised that at about 7:30 PM, Saturday, 5/23/64, approximately 40 persons were present at the Central Baptist Church, Plano, Texas. The pastor of the church, name unknown, introduced the first speaker, Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS. Some patriotic songs were sung. As persons entered the building literature of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade was distributed.

HARGIS was the first speaker, reviewing material contained in leaflets distributed to those present. His discussion indicated objection to CASTRO in Cuba and indicated his anti-communist sympathies. HARGIS introduced CARLOS BRINGUIER as the person who debated LEE HARVEY OSWALD in 1963, on a radio program in Louisiana. HARGIS told about BRINGUIER finding out OSWALD was a "Communist Agent working with CASTRO," and said BRINGUIER has turned all of his information over to proper investigating authorities. He said this was two or three months prior to the day of President KENNEDY'S assassination.

CARLOS BRINGUIER then took the floor as the next speaker. He said his uncle, name unknown, was some kind of an official in Cuba before BATISTA was President in Cuba.

BRINGUIER said he was in Cuba at the time of the overthrow of the Batista Government by CASTRO and told how FIDEL CASTRO personally assassinated a relative of BRINGUIER by shooting him. BRINGUIER, in broken English, spoke about his leaving Cuba and coming to New Orleans, Louisiana, where he got into a store business with his brother-in-law. Then in the middle of 1963, LEE HARVEY OSWALD walked into his place of business and told him he was against FIDEL CASTRO and was interested in helping CARLOS BRINGUIER train exiled Cubans in a nearby training camp near New Orleans. BRINGUIER said he was suspicious of OSWALD already because a few days before that incident BRINGUIER and his friends had received information from someone in Mexico who was connected with Cuban activities, that there was a spy in the New Orleans area (pro-CASTRO). He said OSWALD, from his conversation, already knew about the existence of the secret training camp for exiled Cubans near New Orleans, where Cubans in exile were being trained to be returned to Cuba to fight the CASTRO Government. BRINGUIER stated he felt sure OSWALD was the CASTRO spy who had been reported to be in the New Orleans area. He claimed he told OSWALD his only interest inthe organization known as "Cuban Student Directorate" was for the propaganda angle and not actually to help train people at the camp; that BRINGUIER'S associates would not need OSWALD. BRINGUIER claimed he was suspicious of OSWALD and did not want his services. OSWALD then left that store.

A few days later a friend of BRINGUIER told BRINGUIER he had seen OSWALD a few blocks away carrying a sign announcing he was for CASTRO. BRINGUIER went to the place where OSWALD was carrying the sign and both recognized each other. He said OSWALD seemed surprised to see BRINGUIER there. BRINGUIER added he got mad and called OSWALD a traitor and communist; whereupon, OSWALD turned his face to him and told him to go ahead and "hit him." BRINGUIER claimed he then realized OSWALD was trying to be a martyr and wanted BRINGUIER to hit him in order to gain sympathy. By that time a crowd had gathered. BRINGUIER claimed he told OSWALD he was through and might as well leave New Orleans. This occurred in about August, 1963, according to BRINGUIER.

A few days after the above incident OSWALD sent a Marine training book to BRINGUIER by some other individual as a present. He said that inside the cover was the same name that reportedly was the name in which a rifle was purchased by OSWALD that was used to assassinate President KENNEDY. That name was HIDELL (phonetic). BRINGUIER claimed he turned this book over to investigative authorities and that he has told his full story to authorities about his associations with OSWALD. He said that just before OSWALD left New Orleans, he challenged OSWALD to a debate on radio concerning CASTRO. They thereafter debated on a radio program, with OSWALD being for CASTRO and BRINGUIER being in favor of overthrowing CASTRO'S Government. Following that radio program OSWALD departed from New Orleans and BRINGUIER claimed he has not had any contact with him since. BRINGUIER suspected that OSWALD had entered Mexico shortly thereafter.

BRINGUIER talked about having helped train exiled Cubans in the New Orleans area. He said "we" and "our people" had recently burned some sugar cane fields or mills in Cuba. He said the exiled Cubans are still planning to slip back into Cuba and burn and blow up things. He said "they" are now ready to revolt against CASTRO and are awaiting the command to go ahead, but said August 1, 1964, is the deadline by which time this action would take place. He said the Cuban exiles are all prepared, ready and willing. He talked as if this training program is still being carried on, although, was not specific in stating where it is carried on presently. He said it was quite a program.

BRINGUIER had a record for sale for $4.00, which allegedly contained a conversation between himself and LEE HARVEY OSWALD, in which OSWALD allegedly admitted being a Marxist or Communist and admitted working as an agent for CASTRO in the United States. BRINGUIER was also selling leaflets for 25 cents per copy. He did not specify any efforts toward recruiting anyone to help overthrow CASTRO'S Government, but was selling the above described items in an effort to raise money.

BILLY JAMES HARGIS then took the floor and talked more. He criticized the civil rights bill that was up before Congress.

He spoke about four books he had written that were for sale. He took up a collection from the group with contributors placing the names, addresses, and amounts of contributions on envelopes enclosing same. HARGIS said the money being raised by him was to begin 100 new radio broadcasts with the object of having 1,000 radio broadcasts regularly in Texas dealing with his Christian Anti-Communist Crusade activities. HARGIS mentioned that CARLOS BRINGUIER works for him on a salary basis. HARGIS said nothing about recruiting persons for activities in Cuba. HARGIS said BRINGUIER was there for the purpose of telling the story about communists being right "on top of us" and how communism was responsible for killing President KENNEDY. HARGIS said BRINGUIER and their group were trying to awaken the public to the communist menace. He said his organization was working in Florida a great deal pushing for contributions and selling his material. Several persons apparently made contributions.

BILLY JAMES HARGIS and CARLOS BRINGUIER appeared to have one or two other persons traveling with them in a Dodge Mobile Home (truck and house trailer combination). One young American looking man 19 or 20 years of age served as usher at the meeting. Another Spanish or Cuban looking young man about 30 lead the singing of patriotic songs at the beginning of the meeting, after which he sat down in the audience with a female who did not appear to be Cuban or Spanish. A man named G. P. or T. P. COMER, who claims to have a radio broadcast on station KSKY (Dallas) every Sunday morning, and a male individual named (_____) RUSHING from South Dakota were present at the meeting. It is not known whether they were traveling with the HARGIS group. Also present was one Reverend BURKET (phonetic) of Dallas who was identified by HARGIS as his advance man in Dallas who served to set up his appearance prior to HARGIS' arrival. He did not indicate that BURKET was his advance man elsewhere.

Announcements were made that HARGIS's group next day would make appearance in Garland, Texas, and thereafter would be in Dallas a few days. In early 1964, the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade is to have a national convention at the Baker Hotel, Dallas, with Governor GEORGE WALLACE of Alabama, being one of the speakers, according to an announcement. The meeting adjourned at about 10:00 PM.

Informant further advised that one J. B. DENNIS, 1012 West Saner Street, Dallas, Texas, recently received by mail a copy of "The Thunderbolt" for April, 1964, a publication issued by the National States Rights Party. That publication contains an article that is substantially the same information that was given in the above meeting in Plano. In the article appeared a photograph of CARLOS BRINGUIER which was shown therein as CARLOS BOINGUIES, and under his name appeared the words "Cuban Student Directorate." That photograph is of the person named CARLOS BRINGUIER, who spoke at the HARGIS meeting at Plano on May 23, 1964.

Source on 6/3/64, furnished to SA EDWIN D. KUYKENDALL a copy of the April, 1964, issue of "The Thunderbolt." Pages three and four of that publication issued by the National States Rights Party contains an article entitled "Proof OSWALD a Communist Agent" by CARLOS BOINGUIES of the "Cuban Student Directorate." (Pages three and four of that publication have been placed in the 1A section of Dallas file 105-1354. The remainder of that publication has been destroyed.)

Source also furnished to SA EDWIN D. KUYKENDALL on 6/3/64, a copy of the May, 1964 issue of a magazine entitled "Christian Crusade" published by BILLY JAMES HARGIS, which publication was distributed at the above described meeting at Plano, Texas, on 5/23/64. (Pages 3, 18, 19, 30, 31, 32, 33 and 34 of that publication are being placed in the 1A section of 105-1354).

It is to be noted that pages 18 and 19 of the above described issue of "Christian Crusade" states that the Christian Crusade Anti-Communist Youth University will have on its faculty, Summer, 1964, eleven individuals including Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS, Dr. CARLOS BRINGUIER, New Orleans, Louisiana, and General EDWIN A. WALKER of Dallas, Texas. Page 27 of that publication furnishes data concerning the forthcoming national convention of the Christian Crusade, August 7 - 9, 1964, Baker Hotel, Dallas, Texas. Pages 30 - 34 contain an article entitled "OSWALD; A CASTRO Agent in the United States" by Dr. CARLOS BRINGUIER. Page 32 of that article contains an advertisement about a phonograph album entitled "The President's Assassin Speaks", which is for sale for $4.00 by the Christian Crusade, Box 977, Tulsa, Oklahoma. It states this is a recording of the radio debate between OSWALD and Cuban Freedom Fighter CARLOS BRINGUIER with introductory remarks by BILLY JAMES HARGIS. Photographs of BRINGUIER appear on pages 33, 31, and 19 of that publication. General EDWIN WALKER appears on page 19 of that publication.

He stated he arrived in Los Angeles May 1, 1963, to take charge of the party's headquarters in the Los Angeles area, which has control over party activities in the Southwestern United States.

GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL arrived in Los Angeles on May 6, 1963, and was photographed by the local press with RALPH PERRY FORBES. ROCKWELL was quoted by the press as saying he came to Los Angeles because of the arrest of five members of the ANP as a result of an altercation at the Shrine Auditorium on April 28, 1963, where a Salute to Israel rally was being held. NATION OF ISLAM, formerly referred to as the Muslim Cult of Islam, also known as Muhammad's Temples of Islam

In January, 1957, a source advised Elijah Muhammad has described his organization on a nationwide basis as the "Nation of Islam," (NOI) and "Muhammad's Temples of Islam."

On May 8, 1964, a second source advised Elijah Muhammad is the national leader of the NOI; Muhammad's Temple of Islam No. 2, 5335 South Greenwood Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, is the national headquarters of the NOI; and in mid-1960, Muhammad and other NOI officials, when referring to Muhammad's organization on a nationwide basis, commenced using either "Mosque" or "Temple" when mentioning one of "Muhammad's Temples of Islam."

The NOI is an all-Negro organization which was originally organized in 1930 in Detroit, Michigan. Muhammad claims to have been selected by Allah, the Supreme Being, to lead the so-called Negro race out of slavery in the wilderness of North America by establishing an independent black nation in the United States. Members following Muhammad's teachings and his interpretation of the "Koran" believe there is no such thing as a Negro; that the so-called Negroes are slaves of the white race, referred to as "white devils," in the United States; and that the white race, because of its exploitation of the so-called Negroes, must and will be destroyed in the approaching "War of Armageddon."

In the past, officials and members of the NOI, including Muhammad, have refused to register under the provision of the Selective Service Acts and have declared that members owe no allegiance to the United States.

On May 5, 1958, the first source advised Muhammad had, upon advice of legal counsel, tempered his personal statements and instructions to his ministers concerning the principles of his organization in order to avoid possible prosecution by the United States Government; however, he did not indicate any fundamental changes in the teachings of his organization.

On May 7, 1964, a third source advised Muhammad had, early in July, 1958, decided to de-emphasize the religious aspects of the teachings of Islam and to stress the economic benefits to be derived by those Negroes who joined the NOI. This policy change, according to Muhammad, would help him acquire additional followers and create more interest in his programs.

AMERICAN NAZI PARTY OF THE WORLD UNION OF
FREE ENTERPRISE NATIONAL SOCIALISTS, ALSO KNOWN AS THE GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL PARTY

In his book "This Time The World," copyrighted in 1961, George Lincoln Rockwell identified himself as Commander, American Nazi Party of the World Union of Free Enterprise National Socialists (ANP - WUFENS), Arlington, Virginia.

The April 4, 1963, issue of "The Richmond News Leader," a Richmond, Virginia, daily newspaper, reported that George Lincoln Rockwell had, on the previous day, again applied for the American Nazi Party to be chartered in the State of Virginia, but this request was turned down by the Virginia State Corporation Commission. This action was taken pursuant to an act of the 1962 Virginia Assembly which prohibits use of "Nazi" or "National Socialism" in a Virginia charter. This article further pointed out that Rockwell's party is presently chartered in the State of Virginia as the George Lincoln Rockwell Party.

On August 14, 1964, a source advised that the ANP - WUFENS was organized by George Lincoln Rockwell at his residence in Arlington, Virginia, on February 26, 1959, as an international "National Socialist" movement based on the German Nazi Party headed by Adolf Hitler. He added that Rockwell is the dominant force and personality in this party; that he is espousing a "line" of hatred against the Jews and Negroes; and that he is seeking, through speeches, distribution of literature and picketing, to establish a cohesive and dominant political party in the United States and in foreign countries.

According to the "Stormtrooper's Manual," an official publication of the ANP, the phases of ANP struggle for power are fourfold, namely, first "to make ourselves known to the masses;" second "the dissemination of our program and the truth about the Party;" third "organizing

"the people who have been converted to our propaganda;" and fourth "the attainment of power through the votes of the newly-won masses."

On February 17, 1964 [redacted] advised that George Lincoln Rockwell believes that he has completed the first two phases in his struggle for power and is now well into the third phase [redacted] said, however, in his opinion, Rockwell has only completed phase one.

Warren Report Is 'Fraud', Says Gen. Walker In Pasco Address

"The Warren Commission Report on the assassination of Pres. John Kennedy is false, a sham, a fraud and an insult to the American people."

With allegations such as that Gen. Edwin A. Walker, controversial national figure, kept an audience of more than 300 persons attentive Saturday night when he made a public address in the auditorium of the agriculture building at the Pasco County Fairgrounds, Dade City.

Almost half of the audience, a survey would have indicated, was from Zephyrhills and surrounding rural community.

The appearance of Gen. Walker, who recently resigned his military commission and sacrificed his pension in order to be able to speak out on controversial matters, was sponsored here by the Pasco County Supporters of Constitutional Government.

"While you may read about my speech in your local papers, I venture there won't be a word about it in the big dailies of your area; the liberal blackout of my remarks is complete, and nationwide," Walker said.

Ranging over a variety of topics in a 90-minute talk, the general covered such items as:

● His lawsuits against the Associated Press and various newspapers (more than $20 million worth, none of which has been settled either in or out of court; in the only case to have come to trial, Walker was awarded an $800,000 judgement against the AP, reduced to $500,000 by an appellate court and now appealed by the AP to the Texas Supreme Court.

● The United Nations (he asserted that American soldiers fighting in Vietnam are doing so for the UN, and that Pres. Kennedy sent two divisions of troops to Oxford, Miss., during the James Meredith enrollment incident at the behest of the UN and to prove to the One Worlders that the US is loyal to the UN).

● Racial integration (he said the US is following orders of the UN as expressed in an 11-article statement adopted in 1963 which says the whole world will "integrate or else" regardless of race, color or ethnic origin, which Walker defined as "our common everyday culture." He said: "If LBJ is so all-fired eager to integrate, why doesn't this great, ridiculous, corny president integrate the Greeks and the Turks, or the Jews and the Arabs, or the Chinese and Japanese?")

● The Ku Klux Klan (Walker was greeted by applause when he charged that Pres. Johnson lied when he said his father and grandfather had always fought the KKK. "We have heard his relatives back in Texas state that LBJ's folks were always first at Klan meetings," Walker said. "I'll tell you one thing; the Klan will outlast the Great Society.")

● The Vietnam war (Ambassador Lodge directs our activity in Vietnam, not in our interest, but for the interest of the UN, Walker said. He asserted efforts by Lodge over the past three years to form a coalition government in Vietnam and bring a halt to fighting there are secretly designed "to sell out" Vietnam to the Communists.)

● The National Council of Churches (Walker charged, and his remarks brought heavy applause, that "instead of a revolution for morality led by the clergy we are confronted by preachers in our pulpits who are members of the National Council of Churches selling out your religion; it's all part of the master plan," he said).

● The US State Department ("The most disgraceful thing about Vietnam, and this is not to belittle our boys who have died there, is the fight between the Vietnam generals, patriotic men about 35 years of age who want to save their nation from the Reds, and our own State Department, wanting us to surrender." Walker asserted that hundreds of CIA men, hundreds of USIA men and hundreds of State Department "meddlers" are like a swarm of bees, each with a direct line to his agency back in Washington, and each trying to end the war by surrender, while our generals are trying to win it. "The boy coming home in a box represents our fight to surrender, not a fight for victory," Walker said.)

On the Warren Report

The speaker said the Warren Commission Report "is one big lie from cover to cover." He charged that the report bases its conclusions on a belief that Ruby and Oswald did not know each other, "but this is false, as hundreds of Dallas people will tell you the two were known pals and were seen together regularly."

He said Oswald is termed "a loner" and "an eccentric", yet Oswald knew more national and international figures personally, particularly leftist ones, than any other man his age.

Walker implied that a conspiracy exists to play down the role of the Communists in the assassination, and noted that Sen. Robert Kennedy has never visited Dallas.

"We're still waiting for him to come to Dallas to view the scene of his brother's murder," Walker said, "as any of us would do. I would leave no stone unturned to pin the exact guilt on my brother's murderer, but Bobby has never even come to Dallas as we have expected him to do."

"President Johnson's Revolution" was the title of the general's address, and on this subject he charged that history will record the current revolution as "the greatest ever known; JFK already is being acclaimed the hero of the revolution, and scrapping for leadership of it are an assortment of headline hunters."

"But LBJ is the real leader, and even he is a puppet," Walker asserted. He said LBJ is "deliberately corny at times so you will laugh at him and not notice him steal another of your freedoms away."

"I don't say you should arm yourselves for the revolution," the speaker said, "but you'd better keep the guns you have cleaned and oiled; you might need them."

The general concluded his speech with an appeal for a revival of patriotism:

"Let me tell you one thing sure. If every third home in this nation would have been flying the American flag on Nov. 22, no one would have dared to shoot your president.

"We need to show these trouble makers around the world, and on our own street corners, that there is still some patriotism left in our once-great nation," Walker said.

APPENDIX

UNITED KLANS OF AMERICA, INC., KNIGHTS OF THE KU KLUX KLAN

Records of Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia, reflect that this Klan organization was granted a corporate charter on February 21, 1961, at Atlanta, Georgia, under the name United Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of America, Inc.

A source advised on February 27, 1961, that United Klans was formed as a result of a split in U.S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc. According to the source, the split resulted from a leadership dispute and United Klans has the same aims and objectives as the parent group. These are the promotion of Americanism, white supremacy, and segregation of the races.

The first source and a second source advised in July, 1961, that United Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of America, Inc., merged with Alabama Knights, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. The merged organization established headquarters in Suite 401, the Alston Building, Tuscaloosa, Alabama. (The organization is directed by Robert Shelton, Imperial Wizard, and is the dominant Klan group in the South, with units in several Southern states.)

Second source advised that at a meeting at Prattville, Alabama, on October 22, 1961, the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, merged with the United Klans of America, Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Third source advised on August 4, 1965, that the United Klans of America, Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, is currently an active organization, with Klaverns in several Southern states. This source said that Robert M. Shelton is the Imperial Wizard of this organization, and was last elected to this position on September 5, 1964, at a National Klonvocation in Birmingham, Alabama. Source said that the activity of the UKA is increasing and that the national office remains in Suite 401, Alston Building, Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Importance Of Report Downgraded

Police "long ago" downgraded the importance of reports that men fled in cars from the vicinity of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's home the night of April 10 after a sniper shot at the former military commander, police sources agreed Saturday.

A newspaper story Saturday recounted a young boy's account last April of seeing three men leaving hurriedly after the shot was fired. That report clouded a possibility that the Walker sniper was Lee Harvey Oswald, pro-Marxist accused of murdering President Kennedy.

A high-powered rifle bullet, fired from the alley, slammed into the wall barely an inch above the ex-general's head as he sat at a desk.

Renewed interest in the case was stirred Thursday by a federal source's disclosure that Oswald's Russian-born widow had told the FBI her husband boasted of trying to kill Walker.

The attempt on Walker's life came two days after he had returned to his home at 4011 Turtle Creek from a cross-country "Crusade Against Communism" tour with evangelist Billy Hargis.

One investigator, on the Walker case from the beginning, said Saturday he doubted the accuracy of reports by persons who related seeing men dash off in cars the night of the sniper attack.

The investigator said the youth's version was discarded, along with others, mainly because all reports failed to agree on the facts, such as color of the cars.

ALSO, A DALLAS man said Saturday the FBI has recently taken pounds of expended shells from his public gun range in an attempt to determine whether Lee Harvey Oswald practiced firing there prior to the presidential assassination.

Floyd Davis, operator of the Sportsdrome Gun Range near Grand Prairie, said three different individuals had informed him they had seen Oswald at the range as recently as five days before the assassination.

Davis said, however, that neither he nor his wife, Virginia, had ever seen the accused slayer.

The Dallas FBI office refused comment.

Walker's Friend To Testify

A close friend of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was in Washington Tuesday to testify before the Warren Commission investigating the death of President Kennedy.

He is Robert A. Surrey, a printing salesman who lives at 2926 Lindenwood. He left for the nation's capital Monday afternoon after being subpoenaed to appear before the commission at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Surrey said Tuesday morning she had "not the vaguest idea" what her husband would be questioned about.

However, it is presumed Mr. Surrey will be asked questions in connection with the April 10, 1963, incident when a sniper fired at Gen. Walker through the window of his home on Turtle Creek Drive.

Mrs. Surrey said the former general telephoned her husband immediately after the shooting and asked him to come over. Mr. Surrey told police at that time he had seen two men in a car in the alley behind Gen. Walker's house two nights before the shooting.

Accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was suspected of firing the bullet at Walker as the former general sat working on his income tax. Police ballistics tests showed the bullet came from a rifle like that owned by Oswald, but the tests were not conclusive.

Oswald's widow, Marina, has said her husband talked about shooting at Gen. Walker.

Walker Sees U.S. Tyranny In Mississippi

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker charged Monday in a speech to Southern Methodist University law students that the U.S. Department of Justice is engaged in a "continuing tyranny" in Mississippi civil rights activities.

In a talk before the SMU Student Bar Association, Mr. Walker linked the department with what he called an illegal attempt by the Freedom Democratic Party to unseat congressmen in Mississippi.

The Freedom Democratic party, predominantly Negro, seeks to gain control of the party machinery in Mississippi, he said.

Mr. Walker said Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach's position is "indefensible."

"In his close association with Robert Kennedy (former attorney general and now U.S. senator from New York) Mr. Katzenbach is a handicap to the administration," Mr. Walker said.

"He is a temporary administrator who will go the route of his predecessors," Mr. Walker said.

He said that while the attorney general is in Dallas this week "he might look into the background of the conspiracy of the assassination of John F. Kennedy, which has been completely whitewashed by the Warren Commission report."

He was introduced by Ronald Clowers, secretary of the Student Bar Association.

The original envelope and letter received in this case have been forwarded to the Bureau for examination.

On 12/1/63, victim was interviewed, at which time he advised that he had mailed copies of this letter to the FBI, the Mayor, the Chief of Police, and to both newspapers (The Dallas Morning News and The Dallas Times Herald), in Dallas, Texas. He reported he has no suspects in this matter. He said that on November 9, 1963, he had a speaking engagement scheduled for the Garden City Hotel in New York City, but this speech had been cancelled by the sponsoring organization. General WALKER declined to furnish the name of the individual or group who invited him to deliver this speech, or the name of the individual or group who cancelled the speech.

The Sheriff and the Chief of Police of Dallas, Texas, have been advised of the receipt of this letter by General WALKER, and of the contents of this letter. Victim has been advised that the FBI cannot afford him protection, and that he should, if not already done, notify the Police Department or Sheriff, or both, in Dallas, Texas. He stated at this time that he had furnished a copy of this letter to the Chief of Police in Dallas.

On 12/2/63, AUSA D. H. TIMMINS, JR., Dallas, Northern District of Texas, was contacted, and after reading this letter he advised that in his opinion, the language and tenor of the letter may convey a possible threat to injure or kill the person of the addressee, Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, within the meaning of Title 18, Section 876, U.S. Code. MR. TIMMINS was of the opinion that an investigation should be conducted to attempt to determine the identity of the person depositing the letter in the U.S. Mail; and the intent of such person with regard to whether it was his intent to convey a direct, unqualified, and unequivocal threat to injure or kill EDWIN A. WALKER, rather than an attempt to place EDWIN A. WALKER in fear and apprehension of his welfare for a period of time.

A UPI news dispatch in the Dallas Times Herald newspapor, 12/2/63, indicated that L. W. OSTERSTOCK, manager of the Garden City Hotel, Garden City, New York, reported that hotel had received several threatening telephone calls about WALKER's scheduled appearance, and the address had been cancelled for "security" reasons, as the matter had become "too controversial" and the hotel could not guarantee the "proper security" for its permanent guests or WALKER himself. OSTERSTOCK's remarks were contained in a telegram to EDWARD WERNER, chairman of a group called the Long Island Friends of General WALKER, which had sponsored the address. WERNER report about 1,200 persons had been expected for the talk.

Date 12/6/63

On December 1, 1963, Major General EDWIN A. WALKER was interviewed at his residence, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas. His attorney, Mr. JOE MATTHEWS, Dallas, Texas, was present during the interview. General WALKER furnished an envelope and letter, which were typewritten, as follows:

Envelope bearing an eight cent air mail stamp, postmarked New York, New York, November 27, 1963, at 10:00 p.m. The envelope was addressed to '"Major General" Edwin A. Walker, 4011 Turtle Creek Byld., Dallas, Texas.'

One sheet of paper came in the envelope, with a typewritten message as follows:

"We understand that after the death of the President none of the right wingers could be located. Its natural for cowards to hide at a time like this but you arnt going to hide from us much longer walker.

"You got just 6 more months to live as of the date you get this letter. Some time after that 6 months, maybe a day, maybe 3 months you are going to get yours too.

"That nut oswald wasnt capable of the crime he committed. It took bigger nuts than him to figure and the only other nuts in the Dallas area are the right wingers including you.

"Dont waste any time thinking this is a crank letter and there aint no use in wiggling and squirming and going to the caps they aint going to help you.

"Its garbage like you and your so called right wingers who were either directly involved in the murder of the President of if not directly involved assisted in pulling the trigger with your hate-mongering.

by SAS [redacted] & [redacted] jt Date dictated 12/2/63

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

"Dont forget walker you got 6 more months to go so tidy up your affairs and say a few prayers not that it will help any. You aint going quick like the President did. You going to have 6 more months to sweat it out.

"And you stay the hell away from the garden city hotel or the rest of your family will get it too."

General WALKER stated this letter was received at his residence, opened, and delivered to him by his secretary, Mrs. TED (JULIA) KNECHT. After he read the letter, it was handled and read by six or eight other people. General WALKER said he did not desire to disclose the identity of the other people who had handled and read this letter.

With reference to the mention in the letter of the Garden City Hotel, General WALKER stated that he had been scheduled to deliver a speech at this hotel in Garden City, New York on December 9, 1963, but the speech had been cancelled. He said he knows no one personally in New York who arranged for this speaking engagement, and he did not desire to disclose the name of the organization sponsoring this speaking engagement or the names of any persons connected with it.

General WALKER stated he has no idea who may have sent this letter to him, and knows of no one who might have any idea who may have sent the letter.

After the letter was received, he had copies of it made, and in addition to notifying the FBI, he sent copies of the letter to Chief of Police JESSE CURRY, Dallas, Texas, the Mayor of Dallas, Texas, and to both of the Dallas newspapers, The Dallas Morning News and The Dallas Times Herald.

The following description was obtained:

Name	EDWIN A. WALKER

Height	6 feet

Weight	190 pounds

General WALKER was advised by SA [redacted] b7c that the FBI could not afford him protection, and it was suggested that even though he had mailed copies of this letter to the Chief of Police in Dallas, he might wish to personally discuss the matter with someone with the Police Department, Dallas Sheriff's Office, or both. General WALKER stated he was aware that the FBI could not afford him protection.

DL 9-1692

On December 1, 1963, SAC J. GORDON SHANKLIN telephonically advised Sheriff BILL DECKER, Dallas, Texas of the report from General WALKER, that he had received the letter in this case, and furnished Sheriff DECKER the details of the letter.

b7C

[redacted] On December 2, 1963, Special Agent [redacted] contacted Chief of Police JESSE CURRY, Dallas, Texas, who advised that he had received a copy of this letter from General WALKER, and was aware of its contents.

On December 2, 1963, a copy of the envelope and letter received by General WALKER was shown to Assistant U. S. Attorney B. H. TIMMINS, Jr., Northern District of Texas, Dallas, Texas. Mr. TIMMINS advised that, in his opinion, the language and tenor of the letter may convey a possible threat to injure or kill the person of the addressee, General WALKER, within the meaning of Title 18, Section 876, U. S. Code. He was of the opinion that an investigation should be conducted to attempt to determine the identity of the person depositing the letter in the U. S. mail, and the intent of such person with regard to whether it was his intent to convey a direct, unqualified, and unequivocal threat to injure or kill EDWIN A. WALKER, rather than an attempt to place him in fear and apprehension of his welfare for a period of time.

The December 2, 1963, issue of The Dallas Times Herald has an article, a UPI dispatch from Garden City, New York, as follows:

"The hotel here where Maj. Gen. EDWIN WALKER was to have spoken Dec. 9 has canceled the reservation for his address for 'security' reasons.

"L. W. OSTERSTOCK, manager of the Garden City Hotel, said that since President KENNEDY's assassination the hotel had received several threatening telephone calls about WALKER's scheduled appearance.

"OSTERSTOCK said the matter had become 'too controversial' and that the hotel could not guarantee the 'propor security' for its permanent guests or WALKER himself.

"His remarks were contained in a telegram Saturday to EDWARD WERNER, chairman of a group called the Long Island Friends of General WALKER, which had sponsored the address.

"WERNER, who said about 1,200 persons had been expected for the talk, was not certain what arrangements would be made for other facilities."

By letter dated December 3, 1963, the original letter and envelope were forwarded to the Bureau for fingerprint and Laboratory examination.

Synopsis: Three latent fingerprints located on letter received by victim. Typewriting on letter and envelope corresponds to a standard for Underwood Distinctive Pica style of type, spaced ten letters to the inch.

DETAILS:

The Latent Fingerprint Section of the Identification Division, FBI, examined the envelope and letter received by victim in this case. Three latent fingerprints of value, one of which is an impression made by the joint area of a finger, developed on the letter received by victim. No latent prints were developed on the envelope. The latent fingerprints are not identical with the fingerprints of EDWIN A. WALKER, FBI No. 299 052E, or with the fingerprints of three persons having used the name JULIA KNECHT. Two of the latent fingerprints were searched through single fingerprint file, but no identification effected. The joint impression was deemed not feasible for a search through single fingerprint file.

The FBI Laboratory searched instant letter and envelope in the Anonymous Letter File without effecting an identification. An examination of the typewriting on the letter and envelope corresponds to a standard for Underwood Distinctive Pica style of type, spaced ten letters to the inch. The standard for this style of type indicates that this style of type is used on all models. The letter and envelope were examined for watermarks and indented writing, with negative results.

Title: UNKNOWN SUBJECT;
Major General EDWIN A WALKER - VICTIM

Character: EXTORTION

Synopsis: No suspects developed in New York, where instant letter mailed.

DETAILS:

The New York Office furnished the FBI Laboratory, fifty pieces of miscellaneous items of correspondence, made available by Mr. WALTER OSTERSTOCK, Manager, Garden City Hotel, Garden City, New York, concerning the talk which Major General EDWIN A. WALKER was to have given at the Garden City Hotel on December 9, 1963.

An examination of the typewritten material was conducted by the Laboratory, and it was concluded that the typewriting on the threatening letter and envelope received by victim in this case was not prepared on any of the typewriters used to prepare any of the typewritten messages obtained from Mr. WALTER OSTERSTOCK.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Mr. [illegible] Osterstock, Manager, Garden City Hotel, 7th Street and Park Avenue, Garden City, New York advised that Edward [illegible], 1 [illegible] Sydney R. [illegible], New York, telephone numbers [illegible] and CV [illegible] made the arrangements for Major General Edwin A. Walker to speak at the hotel [illegible] December [illegible], 1963. Mr. Osterstock stated that after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy the hotel received many telephone calls concerning the fact that Major General Walker was going to speak at the hotel. He said that he made no record of the telephone calls or the names of people [illegible] who called the hotel with regard to this matter. He informed that some of the telephone calls were in favor of the speech to be given by Walker and others were against the speech. He advised that a lot of the telephone calls were from people [illegible] apparently were just angry at Texas or the city of Dallas, Texas. Mr. Osterstock stated that there were articles in the newspapers concerning Walker giving a speech at the hotel and a considerable amount of controversy arose concerning the speech. Mr. Osterstock advised that he had the understanding that the New York Times newspaper quoted him with regard to the speech and he never spoke to that particular newspaper with regard to Walker. He advised that he cancelled the talk by Walker out of courtesy to the guests of the hotel, many of whom have been at the hotel for many years, and he did not desire to have any incident arise that would upset the decorum and routine of the hotel. He said that he did not have any system established at the hotel or security force with which to combat any incident that could arise and place embarrassment to the hotel and its guests.

Osterstock stated that the hotel received letters both of a pro and con nature concerning the speech to be given by Walker. He said that many persons have perused the letters and he never made a count of the number received nor can he associate the letters with the envelopes they came in. He said that he would make available the correspondence received and he did not when they returned. He could think of no suspects who could have written threatening letters to anyone involved in this matter.

Mr. Edward Werner [178 West Drive, Massapequa, New York], advised that he has been active for many years in anti-Communist activities and is a member of the John Birch Society. He related that this has caused many people to know him and to disagree with him, some very strongly. He stated that he was chairman of a committee which was a group of people who called themselves the "Long Island friends of General Walker". He related that these people desired to hear Major General Edwin A. Walker talk on the United Nations. Mr. Werner said that he made the arrangements at the Garden City Hotel, Garden City, New York, for Major General Walker to talk on December 9, 1963. He said that this meeting for the talk was cancelled by the Garden City Hotel, but it is still his desire to have Walker give a talk. He advised that it is extremely difficult for him to get a place for Walker to give a speech.

Werner stated that he feels that a threatening letter to Major General Walker could have been written by about anyone of the numerous Communist and Non-Communist Liberals in this area, because of their intense feelings about Major General Walker. He said that beyond this he could not hazard a guess as to the writer of such a letter. He advised that he, himself, received three anonymous telephone calls and a crank letter, which were of an obscene, derogatory and implied threatening nature, when Major General Walker was scheduled to speak at the Garden City Hotel.

DETAILS:

This investigation was predicated upon information received by the Dallas Office from [redacted], Dallas, Texas, who advised at 9:20 p.m. on December 20, 1963, that his department had received a telephone call from one CARROLL CARLTER, aide to General WALKER, that WALKER was at that time receiving a call in which his life was being threatened. Attempts to trace the call revealed the call was made from a town near Lafayette, La., and the caller gave his name as CARPENTER.

Lieutenant General EDWIN A. WALKER, U. S. Army (ret.), 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, furnished the following information concerning a threatening telephone call he received during the evening of December 20, 1963:

Sometime during the evening hours of December 20, 19[illegible] a long distance telephone call was received at WALKER's residence. The telephone was answered by WALKER's aide, CARROLL COLLIER, who in turn advised WALKER of the call. Upon answering the telephone the caller asked several times if he was talking to "General WALKER", and when WALKER identified himself, the caller said "If you're General WALKER, I'm coming up there to kill you." The caller threatened to kill WALKER only once, but according to WALKER, the caller also called WALKER a "bastard" and a "dirty skunk" and his tone of voice was threatening. The caller once stated "I intend to get you" and once or twice said "You killed the President - you know you did it." The caller was quite repetitious and sounded as if he were a white male, about 25 to 30 years of age. WALKER also advised that from the tone of the caller's voice, the caller sounded as if he had been drinking, and did not sound like an educated person. The call sounded like it was coming from a residence, rather than a business establishment, and twice during the call WALKER heard another stronger male voice in the background say words to the effect "Get off the phone - you've said enough" and "Quit it."

The caller once referred to his mother during the conversation.

WALKER was of the opinion he could identify the voice if he heard it again.

WALKER advised that during the call, he had COLLIER call the police department and tell them of the threatening call being received, so that they might trace it. Because of this, WALKER tried to keep the caller on the telephone by "egging him on". WALKER believed the call lasted about five minutes, but was vague as to the time the call was received, as well as the length.

WALKER stated he knew no one in Kaplan, Louisiana, and had not received any other threats of any kind from Louisiana.

Kaplan, Louisiana, was advised that he did not have to make any statement, that any statement he made could be used against him in a court of law, and he had the right of an attorney represent him. He was advised of the identity of the interviewing agents.

[redacted] advised that he has a telephone company credit card number [redacted] which he obtained when he was working in [redacted] He advised that he recalled on the night of December 20, 1963, that he had made a telephone call to General WALKER in Dallas, Texas, and had on that occasion accused him of paying men to shoot President KENNEDY. [redacted] advised that although he had been drinking and did not specifically recall exactly what was said, he was sure that he did not threaten General WALKER's life. He stated that he recalled asking WALKER how much he paid to have President KENNEDY shot and believed he told him that he hoped he would die [redacted] said that he did not believe, however, that he made a specific threat on the life of WALKER and did not say anything about going to Dallas.

[redacted] advised that he had been a great admirer of President JOHN F. KENNEDY and felt that he was one of the greatest men who had ever been president of the United States. He stated that he had listened to the "Conservative Goldwater Element" and that everything he heard only attacked President KENNEDY and his family and he felt that they were responsible for KENNEDY's assassination. [redacted] advised that he considered WALKER a leader of the "Goldwater Conservative" and felt that [redacted] he was possibly responsible for KENNEDY's death. [redacted] advised that he had been quite bitter because of the continuing criticism of President KENNEDY and felt that the "Goldwater Conservative' did not try to help the country but only found fault with the President and the Government. He advised that he realized it was wrong to call WALKER and to express his criticism of WALKER's actions and would not have done so if he had not been drinking. He said he would apologize to General WALKER

He advised that he and his brother had drunk about 8 cans of beer between 3 p.m. and the time the telephone call was made, and they were both somewhat intoxicated at the time. He advised he attempted to discourage his brother from making the telephone call but was unsuccessful in doing so. He related that he was present at the time his brother made the telephone call as he was in the same room watching television and added that he did not hear his brother threaten General WALKER although he did hear his brother tell General WALKER that he and his followers were responsible for the death of President KENNEDY.

[redacted] advised that his brother very seldom leaves the house when he is working and usually reads or watches television. [redacted]

[redacted] stated that his brother had always been a great admirer of President JOHN F. KENNEDY and when KENNEDY was killed he became upset and cried a lot for several days. [redacted] said his brother went "haywire" as a result of President KENNEDY's assassination.

On December 21, 1963, the facts of this case were discussed with Assistant U. S. Attorney EDWARD V. BOAGNI, Shreveport, Louisiana. Mr. BOAGNI advised that as the subject denied making threat to do bodily harm to General WALKER and as his brother and sister-in-law substantiate this, he believes that the statements made by the subject were "drunken mouthings" rather than a bonafide threat and as there was no specific evidence of a threat to do bodily harm, he did not believe any further investigation was necessary and he would decline prosecution.

Serviceman's Wife Raps Walker Attack As 'False, Malicious'

The wife of a serviceman serving under Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in Europe charged in a letter to the Democrat yesterday that the controversial Overseas Weekly publication was presenting a "false and malicious picture of Gen. Walker and the patriotic Pro-Blue and Citizenship in Services programs."

The letter, signed by Ann Flynn, care of M-Sgt. R. T. Flynn of the Headquarters Company, 24th Division, also said:

"Many of us here are deeply concerned lest General Walker become the latest victim of an organized smear and that any patriotic educational programs within our armed services will be abandoned for fear of censure from obscure, if powerful, forces."

Gen. Walker — former commander of the Arkansas Military District — was relieved of his command in Germany pending an investigation of charges in the April 16, issue of Overseas Weekly, a private publication, that he subjected men under his to a "barrage of propaganda" based on John Birch Society publications and that in January 1960 he had termed former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt — among others — as "definitely pink."

In an accompanying document, Ann Flynn linked the publication's charges to a post ban against a reporter for the publication and implied that the John Birch Society — currently under charges from certain quarters in this country — gave the publication an excuse for what she termed "smear-charges."

Mrs. Flynn wrote:

"In recent months one reporter from the Overseas Weekly has been banned from all military installations in the 24th Division for attempts to purchase inside information or smear-material from military personnel. Since this reporter was banned and his successor permitted on military reserves only under military escort, the Overseas Weekly has waged a vendetta against Gen. Walker and his division."

She added:

"The Overseas Weekly is a sensational type of magazine which features the crimes, scandals ...

gripes of American servicemen in Europe . . . is irreverently tagged the 'Over-sexed Weekly' by GI readers here."

Mrs. Flynn sent with her letter and her estimate of the current situation and its background, copies of the Taro Leaf, "authorized army newspaper published by and for the men of the 24th Infantry Division" in Augsburg, Germany. The materials were mailed through the Army Air Force Postal Service and bore eight air mail stamps.

"As a dependent," Mrs. Flynn wrote, "I have the right to correct the false and malicious picture of Gen. Walker and the patriotic pro-Blue and Citizenship in Service Programs without fear of official censure.

"It might interest your readers to know that the men of the 24th Division are not so 'confused' by General Walker's programs as has been alleged. As a matter of fact, the 24th Division has the highest re-enlistment rate in Europe, the lowest number of incidents, the championship marksmanship and boxing teams, and the Taro Leaf won the latest Army award for editorship of its paper.

"Enclosed, you will find . . . some general background material on General Walker written by me which you may feel free to use as you see fit."

Gen. Walker became commander of the 24th Division in November 1959. On April 25, 1960, according to Mrs. Flynn, a 30-man team of officers and enlisted men introduced Citizenship in Service, a six-hour series of lectures supported by skits, charts and tape recordings. Intent of the program, she wrote, is "to inculcate moral and legal responsibility, to teach fundamental principles of citizenship and patriotism, and to motivate members of this command so as to reduce sociological stress in service and generate a desire for the awards of self-discipline and public service."

At the same time, she added, the general began a troop physical training program for conditioning the men to maximum combat readiness.

"Despite gripes about the PT program, it is probable that the men today could stand up to physical stress far better than troops who can't adjust to climatic and weather conditions," wrote Mrs. Flynn. "Much unnecessary loss of life in the Korean war was due to this one factor. Last year the 24th Division chalked up the lowest accident rate for respiratory ailments during rugged training [illegible]

Walker introduced parallel informative programs for dependents of the servicemen and 'those interested dependents' asked the USAREUR libraries to provide special reading shelves on communism for both military and civilians.

"Library books, publications of the U.S. government investigating committees and various periodicals are usually discussed and analyzed at weekly or semi-monthly meetings of study groups," Mrs. Flynn continued. "The paperbound edition of J. Edgar Hoover's 'Masters of Deceit' and the government publication 'Handbook for Americans' are key source books for such groups. There was also much interest in Alan Drury's 'Advise and Consent' and Victor J. Fox's 'The Pentagon Case'."

In autumn of 1960 a series of books was introduced to all company and battery sized units throughout the division including such titles as the Hoover book, "A Guide to Anti-Communist Action" by Anthony Buscarey, "In Every War But One" by Eugene Kinkead, "The Techniques of Communism" by Louis Budenz, "The Techniques of Soviet Propaganda" by U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee, "The Life of John Birch" by Robert Welch Jr., Fox's "Pentagon Case" and "The Story of Mary Liz" by Edward Hunter.

The Blue Program derived its name from maps which showed the free world in blue and the Communist world in red with General Walker saying:

"It is in all aspects a pro-freedom cause. This program is a positive approach towards the defeat of open Communist subversion of the American way of life based on the Constitution, belief in God and freedom of man."

The Taro Leaf featured writings by Hoover, Cardinal Spellman, George Washington and Theodore Roosevelt. Mrs. Flynn added that one issue of the Taro Leaf carried "a direct excerpt of an article by Robert Welch, the Birch Society's head."

The division sponsored showings of the film, "Operation Abolition," the film "Man on a String" which, Mrs. Flynn wrote, "is a dramatization of Soviet espionage methods exposed by American counter-espionage." There was also publicity on the radio series, "If Freedom Falls," described by Mrs. Flynn as "dramatizing what happens to a free and democratic country when the Communists seize power."

Mrs. Flynn said this was the general background leading up to now with "General Walker . . . under fire, both from political and newspaper channels."

In speaking of the Overseas Weekly and its "vendetta against Gen. Walker and his division" she wrote:

"In their issue of April 16 this vendetta reached new heights of retaliation. They accused Gen. Walker of pushing a 'propaganda barrage on the philosophy of the controversial John Birch Society' within the 24th Division. The paper attempted to link the general's Pro-Blue program with the Birch society's book of principles called, they allege, 'The Blue Book.'

"The availability of the 'Life of John Birch' on company bookshelves is interpreted as evidence of a link between the Pro-Blue program and the John Birch Society. (They read no comparable meaning into the availability of other books, such as J. Edgar Hoover's 'Master of Deceit', Kinkaid's 'In Every War but One' etc.)

"The newspaper equated Pro-Blue concern with Communist infiltration and propaganda techniques, the appearance of Edgar C. Bundy (a critic of Communist infiltration in our churches) as a speaker within the division, and the showing of 'Operation Abolition' with parallel interests of the John Birch Society."

Mrs. Flynn added:

"The Overseas Weekly erroneously reported the sale of 'American Opinion' (a magazine edited by Robert Welch) on division newsstands, falsely quoted from a speech that Gen. Walker made in June 1960, inferred opposition to the Pro-Blue program from a general officer on his staff and alleged that the Special Warfare office bears a resemblance to a 'cell taking secret orders to promote front organizations that do [illegible]

Mrs. Flynn said that the current investigation of charges was ordered before his relief from command was ordered and expressed the fear:

"Much of what happens as a result of this investigation will determine whether or not the armed services will be permitted to continue with educational programs that build dedication to American political, religious and moral values and understanding of the aims and activities of organized communism against our dedicated leaders and our way of life."

She declared that Walker is "carrying the ball for a lot of others, both in Europe and in the United States (yet) there are those who would silence such a man as this and damn all such Pro-Blue programs to oblivion."

According to material submitted to the Democrat by Mrs. Flynn, Gen. Walker's program extended to the men, their wives and children in high school. It emphasized value of American citizenship, how to recognize "overt and covert Communist methodology in the Communist attempt to subvert military morals, esprit, prestige and leadership," a working knowledge of the "reciprocal legal obligations and areas of responsibility' of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and to identify NATO "as a disciplined force for freedom . . . and the accomplishment of NATO members in halting Communist aggression."

The program enlisted and urged the support of chaplains in "helping the officers, non-commissioned officers, the men, their wives and children to 'Put on the whole armor of God' (Ephesians 6:11)."

It included classes in discipline and order, traffic safety, morale, physical fitness and community relations with the German nationals.

WASHINGTON--THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE HAS BECOME THE TARGET FOR A TELEGRAPHIC CAMPAIGN IN SUPPORT OF MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER, ACCUSED BY AN OVERSEAS NEWSPAPER OF INDOCTRINATING HIS TROOPS WITH THE VIEWS OF THE CONTROVERSIAL JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY.

THE COMMITTEE HAS BEEN RECEIVING 15 TO 25 TELEGRAMS DAILY, PLUS A SPRINKLING OF LETTERS. SOME HAVE SUGGESTED THAT THE COMMITTEE ACT IN BEHALF OF WALKER, WHO HAS BEEN SUSPENDED FROM HIS POST. THE COMMITTEE HAS SAID NOTHING ABOUT ANY INTERVENTION IN THE CASE.

SO FAR THE TELEGRAPHIC CAMPAIGN APPEARS TO BE CENTERED IN THE SHREVEPORT, LA., AND NEW YORK CITY AREAS. IT APPEARS TO BE ORGANIZED TO SOME EXTENT BUT THERE IS NOTHING TO LINK IT TO THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY.

WALKER WAS RELIEVED AS COMMANDER OF THE 24TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN GERMANY BY ARMY SECRETARY ELVIS STAHR "PENDING THE OUTCOME OF AN OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION OF CERTAIN PUBLIC STATEMENTS AND ACTIONS OF GEN. WALKER."

THE ACTION CAME AFTER THE NEWSPAPER, OVERSEAS WEEKLY, SAID WALKER'S TROOP INDOCTRINATION PROGRAM WAS BASED ON THE "PHILOSOPHY OF THE CONTROVERSIAL JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY."

WALKER REPLIED THAT HIS PROGRAM WAS NOT AFFILIATED OR ASSOCIATED WITH ANY ORGANIZATION OR SOCEITY.

FOR THE MOST PART, THE MESSAGES RECEIVED BY THE SENATE COMMITTEE URGE WALKER'S REINSTATEMENT. ALL ARE SIGNED AND ARE ADDRESSED TO SEN. RICHARD B. RUSSELL, D-GA., AS CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE.

THE MESSAGES COMING FROM THE SHREVEPORT AREA STRESS WALKER'S PATRIOTISM. THE NEW YORK AREA MESSAGES HAVE A SIMILAR THEME, BUT SEVERAL SUGGEST IN ADDITION THAT WALKER WAS PREPARING HIS MEN FOR THE SORT OF "BRAINWASHING" ENCOUNTERED BY U.S. TROOPS TAKEN PRISONER IN THE KOREAN WAR.

CAPITAL REPORT: BY FULTON LEWIS, JR.

Pro-Blue General Gets the Boot

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Maj. General Edwin A. Walker is a genuine war hero, decorated many times at Anzio, Cassino and Heartbreak Hill.

As commander of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany, he has proved a superb administrator. All sources report that the performance of his troops is excellent, their morale high, their reenlistment percentage the highest of any division in Europe.

And yet today Ted Walker stands removed from his post, thanks to an article in a sensationalist European publication called "The Overseas Weekly."

The American press has given the story passing notice, picking up "The Overseas Weekly" charge that Walker indoctrinated his troops with the teachings of the John Birch Society.

What the press did not report is that "The Overseas Weekly" is a lurid rag that specializes in stories of sex and crime. Notorious for its treatment of the news, the publication has won the nickname "The Oversexed Weekly."

Once removed by Army brass from service newsstands for being "almost lewd and pornographic," "The Overseas Weekly" has changed little.

The paper's charge that Gen. Walker was a front for the John Birch Society resulted in his immediate suspension. However,

To date there has been no outside corroboration of the charges found in "The Overseas Weekly." These charges centered on General Walker's "Pro-Blue" educational program, designed to teach the American soldier the values of U. S. citizenship and the evils inherent in the Communist threat.

Critics charge that the general called his program "Pro-Blue" to link it with the so-called Blue Book of the John Birch Society. The allegation is ridiculous. The name was selected as a positive alternative to the negative concept of "anti-Red."

Recognized, responsible books on communism were recommended reading. Lectures to troops on American history were scheduled.

One final clue to "The Overseas Weekly" comes from the Dallas News.

During his time as commander of the 24th, General Walker expelled an "Overseas Weekly" reporter named Siegfried Naujocks, who had sought a pipeline into Walker's headquarters to establish a report that Walker was mentally ill.

Naujocks is still a reporter for "The Overseas Weekly." Report is that Naujocks was an aide in the Nazi Propaganda Ministry before being shipped by the Hitlerites to the Eastern front.

Walker Probe Is Completed By President

By the Associated Press

President Kennedy has finished reviewing the Army's investigation of charges that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker exposed his troops in Germany to propaganda of the militantly conservative John Birch Society.

Indications are that Gen. Walker will be dealt what amounts to a reprimand in the report, which is expected to be made public Monday.

There was speculation that Gen. Walker will ask to retire. Though only 51, the Texas-born General has completed 30 years of Army service and is entitled to retire if he wishes.

It could not be learned whether Mr. Kennedy made any changes in the report before he left yesterday for Palm Beach, Fla.

Results of the investigation had reached him from Army probers in Germany by way of Secretary of the Army Stahr, Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, and Secretary of Defense McNamara. The report was understood to have gone back to Army chiefs.

The investigation was ordered by Mr. Kennedy in mid-April after the Overseas Weekly, a privately owned tabloid widely read by American soldiers in Europe, charged that Gen. Walker used a troop information program to subject men of his 24th Infantry Division to "a propaganda barrage" of John Birch Society material. The society is strongly anti-Communist.

The paper also alleged that Gen. Walker, in a speech to a PTA meeting in Augsburg, described as "definitely pink" former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. This charge, too, was investigated by the Army.

Gen. Walker has denied both charges. He said the division's information program was linked with no society or organization, but was designed to inform the men of what he called "enemies who would destroy us."

And he denounced the tabloid as "immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive."

Gen. Walker and the tabloid have filed slander suits against each other in the German courts.

ADD 2 WALKER, WASHINGTON

PROMPTED BY THE WHITE HOUSE, AN INVESTIGATION OF WALKER'S ACTIONS WAS ORDERED BY THE ARMY AFTER THE OVERSEAS WEEKLY CHARGES. PRESIDENT KENNEDY PRESUMABLY READ THE REPORT ON THE ARMY'S INVESTIGATION BEFORE TODAY'S ANNOUNCEMENT. DEFENSE SECRETARY ROBERT S. MCNAMARA APPROVED THE ACTION.

WALKER'S FUTURE WAS LEFT IN DOUBT. THE ARMY SAID HE "WILL REMAIN ASSIGNED TO HEADQUARTERS U.S. ARMY EUROPE, PENDING EVENTUAL REASSIGNMENT WITHIN THE UNITED STATES."

THE ARMY'S INVESTIGATION, AN ANNOUNCEMENT SAID, PRODUCED THESE TWO CONCLUSIONS:

--WALKER IN A SPEECH TO ABOUT 200 TROOPS AND THEIR FAMILIES "MADE DEROGATORY REMARKS OF A SERIOUS NATURE ABOUT CERTAIN PROMINENT AMERICANS, THE AMERICAN PRESS, AND TV INDUSTRY AND CERTAIN COMMENTATORS." THE REMARKS LINKED "THE PERSONS AND INSTITUTIONS WITH COMMUNISM AND COMMUNIST INFLUENCE."

--THE GENERAL FAILED TO HEED SUPERIOR OFFICERS' CAUTIONS TO REFRAIN FROM PARTICIPATING IN CONTROVERSIAL ACTIVITIES WHICH WERE BEYOND HIS PERQGATIVES AND WERE CONTRARY TO CUSTOMS OF THE MILITARY SERVICE.

THE ARMY SAID, HOWEVER, THAT ITS INVESTIGATION SHOWED WALKER'S "PRO-BLUE" PROGRAM WAS "NOT ATTRIBUTAL TO ANY PROGRAM OF THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY." IT SAID THE "PRO-BLUE" PROGRAM WAS A TROOP EDUCATION PLAN OF WALKERS COVERING COMMUNISM AND PATRIOTISM.

IN REBUKING WALKER FOR HIS "INJUDICIOUS ACTIONS," GEN. CLARKE (CORRECT) SAID HE TOOK INTO ACCOUNT HIS SUBORDINATE'S 30-YEAR PROFESSIONAL RECORD, WHICH HE CALLED "COMMENDABLE."

"NO ONE CAN QUESTION GEN. WALKER'S SINCERITY OF PURPOSE," CLARKE SAID, "BUT HIS ACTIONS EXCEEDED THE LIMITS OF PROPRIETY FOR AN OFFICER OF THE ARMY."

THE ARMY SAID THAT ADMINISTRATIVE REPRIMANDS AND ADMINISTRATIVE ADMONITIONS ARE NOT GIVEN AS PUNISHMENT OR PENALTY FOR A MILITARY OFFENSE.

John Birch Society File #62-104401

UPI-103

(WALKER) U.S. Germany

WASHINGTON--THE SENATE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE REPORTED TODAY THAT A NEW SWARM OF MAIL HAS BEEN STIRRED UP ON BEHALF OF MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER WHO WAS REBUKED BY THE ARMY FOR ACCUSING FORMER PRESIDENT HARRY S. TRUMAN AND OTHERS OF BEING PRO-COMMUNIST.

CHAIRMAN RICHARD

CHAIRMAN RICHARD B. RUSSELL, D-GA., HAS RECEIVED ABOUT 750 LETTERS -- AND PERHAPS 500 TELEGRAMS -- PRAISING WALKER WHO RECEIVED AN "ADMONITION" FOR HIS CHARGES.

THE ARMY'S ACTION WAS THE CULMINATION OF AN INQUIRY WHICH BEGAN WHEN THE TABLOID, OVERSEAS WEEKLY, CHARGED THAT WALKER HAD ACCUSED TRUMAN AND OTHERS OF BEING "DEFINITELY PINK" AND HAD LABELED SOME NEWSMEN, INCLUDING EDWARD R. MURROW, WHO NOW HEADS THE U.S. INFORMATION AGENCY, AS CONFIRMED COMMUNISTS.

THE TABLOID ALSO CHARGED THAT THE "PRO BLUE" ANTI-COMMUNIST INDOCTRINATION PROGRAM EMPLOYED BY WALKER IN THE 24TH ARMY DIVISION WAS DRAWN FROM THE CONTROVERSIAL JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. THE INVESTIGATION REPORT FOUND NO SUBSTANCE TO THAT ASPECT OF THE PUBLICATION'S CHARGE.

WALKER'S PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED ASSIGNMENT TO HEAD THE 8TH ARMY CORPS WAS ALSO CANCELED. THE ARMY IS SEEKING A NEW ASSIGNMENT FOR HIM.

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL REPORTED SHORTLY AFTER WALKER WAS RELIEVED OF HIS DIVISIONAL COMMAND IN GERMANY THAT A PRESENT OF TELEGRAMS -- ORIGINATING FOR THE MOST PART IN LOUISIANA AND SUBURBAN NEW YORK CITY -- WAS POURING IN. IT DWINDLED, HOWEVER, TO A STEADY FLOW OF MAIL FROM ALL OVER THE NATION.

LATEST OUTPOURING WAS APPARENTLY TIMED TO HEAD OFF THE ARMY'S ANNOUNCEMENT OF WALKER'S "ADMONITION" -- AN OFFICIAL REBUKE WHICH CARRIES NO PUNISHMENT.

ABOUT 350 TELEGRAMS, RECEIVED BY RUSSELL EARLY THIS WEEK WHEN THE ARMY ANNOUNCED ITS ACTION, URGED THAT NO STATEMENT BE MADE ON WALKER'S CASE PENDING A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION BY THE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE. THOSE MESSAGES CAME ALMOST ENTIRELY FROM NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WISCONSIN AND ILLINOIS.

SOME SUGGESTED THAT WALKER BE PROMOTED, NOT REBUKED. ALL WERE SIGNED BY INDIVIDUALS. SOME OF THE SIGNERS IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES AS OFFICIALS OF PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATIONS. THOUGH THE DEMAND FOR A "THOROUGH INVESTIGATION" WAS INCLUDED IN ALMOST ALL OF THE TELEGRAMS, THE MESSAGES WERE NOT IDENTICAL AS IS THE CASE WITH SOME TELEGRAPHIC CAMPAIGNS IN CONGRESS.

EX-116 REC-26 62-104401

RUSSELL HAS DIRECTED THAT THE MESSAGES BE ANSWERED WITH A NOTE TO THE EFFECT THAT WALKER HAS SAID ARMY INVESTIGATORS GAVE HIM A FULL OPPORTUNITY TO PRESENT HIS CASE AND THAT NO PURPOSE WOULD BE SERVED BY A CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY.

Army Investigates Gen. Walker

In relieving Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker of his command pending an investigation of charges he indoctrinated his troops with the ideas of the John Birch Society, Secretary of the Army Stahr has taken a sensible and reasonable step. No one is condemning the general in advance; he is entitled to a hearing and will get it, after which any further necessary action can be considered.

Also, needless to say, the general is entitled to hold any ideas he may wish to hold; it's a free country for generals no less than for privates, and the personal opinions of the one are equally inviolate as the other. The question is, rather, whether the general attempted to shape the political thinking of his troops along the lines of the John Birch Society—or, for that matter, along any other lines. For it is repugnant to our democratic heritage—or, if anybody prefers, republican heritage—that a military officer should attempt to impose his own political or economic philosophy upon citizens entrusted to his command. And this is equally true whether that philosophy is pro-blue or pro-red.

So the investigation into what has been going on in the 24th Infantry Division in Germany is very much in order, and among those welcoming it should be Gen. Walker himself.

GENERAL'S REWARD

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, a hero of World War II and the Korean War, and capable commander of federal troops at the 1957 Little Rock school crisis, has been abruptly relieved of his command in West Germany.

His Army superiors are investigating a charge made by The Overseas Weekly, a privately-owned paper for European GIs, that Walker exposed his troops to the views of the rightwing John Birch Society.

He Doesn't Like Reds

We wonder: couldn't the Army have checked this eminent commander's conduct without such crude humiliation—and also asked the FBI to probe the background of The Overseas Weekly? The Army's action looks pretty one-sided at this point.

Also, we recall a general named Ralph Zwicker, who was accused by Sen. Joe McCarthy of covering up some leftwing hanky-panky. Shortly thereafter he got an extra star. By the way, who did promote Maj. Peress?

Gen. Walker Relieved Pending Birch Probe

By the Associated Press

The Army announced today that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker has been relieved of command of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany pending an investigation of allegations that he gave his troops material from the right wing John Birch Society.

The Army said Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr has ordered Gen. Walker transferred immediately to United States Army headquarters at Heidelberg, Germany, "pending the outcome of an official investigation of certain public statements and actions of Gen. Walker."

Although the statement did not mention the Birch Society, officials acknowledged that this was the matter involved.

The investigation is now being made by Gen. Bruce Clarke, commander-in-chief of Army forces in Europe.

The controversy arose last week when the Overseas Weekly, a privately owned servicemen's newspaper, charged that Gen. Walker used Army facilities to disseminate to his troops what it called propaganda of the anti-Communist John Birch Society.

The paper reported that publications and material of the Society were distributed among 24th Division soldiers under programs set up by Gen. Walker.

Overseas Weekly also said the society's material had been reprinted in the division's weekly newspaper.

Gen. Walker has denied his division's information program is tied with any organization and said it is intended to inform soldiers of "enemies who would destroy us."

Gen. Walker also has been reported by the paper as having said at a PTA meeting in Augsburg that former President Harry S. Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt are "definitely pink."

He also was quoted by the paper as saying that 80 per cent of the American press, radio and TV industry is Communist.

Gen. Walker issued a statement yesterday using the terms "immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive" in talking about the Overseas Weekly.

The paper in reply called Gen. Walker a foe of freedom of the press.

Walker Controversy in Name-Calling Stage

General and Service Paper Swap Some Unkind Words in Germany

FRANKFURT, Apr. 16 (AP) —A controversy between a United States general and a privately owned service-men's newspaper turned into a mutual name-calling contest today. At the root of the argument is the controversial John Birch Society.

Gen. Edwin A. Walker, commander of the 24th division, issued a statement saying "immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive are terms which could be applied" to the newspaper, "The Overseas Weekly." The paper charged last week that Gen. Walker used Army facilities to disseminate to his troops "a propaganda barrage on the philosophy" of the militantly anti-Communist society.

In response to today's statement by Gen. Walker the paper called him an opponent of freedom of the press and commented: "As regards Gen. Walker's attempts to slander this newspaper, it appears to us to fit in with the General's attitude in the past year in Europe to pin labels on everything with which he personally disagrees."

Denies Such a Link

Gen. Walker denied last week his division's information program is linked with any society or organization and said it is designed to inform his men of "enemies who would destroy us."

In his further statement today, Gen. Walker said, "We have Communists and we have 'The Overseas Weekly.' Neither one is one of God's blessings to the American people and their soldier sons overseas."

In his reply, John Dornberg, news editor of "The Overseas Weekly," said the eleven-year-old paper is published by loyal Americans and "has consistently followed a policy of courageous, fair and objective reporting." He added:

"By his actions in the past sixteen months, Gen. Walker has demonstrated that he does not wholly approve of having his troops have access to a free and uncensored newspaper."

"We Stand by the Article"

"As regards the story in our April 16 issue, we stand by the article wholeheartedly and can document all our allegations."

The paper had reported that John Birch publications and material were distributed among 24th Division soldiers under programs set up by Gen. Walker. It also said the society's material had been reprinted in the division's weekly newspaper.

[illegible] reported by the paper to have said at a P. T. A. meeting in Augsburg that former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt are "definitely pink" and that 80 per cent of the American press, radio and TV industry is Communist.

Calls Statements Untrue

Commenting on this report, Gen. Walker said: "Statements in 'The Overseas Weekly' of 16 April, 1961, alleged to have been made by me on 24 January 1960, are untrue." He did not deny making the statements.

The tabloid "Overseas Weekly," which offers a combination of sensation and news of interest to United States troops abroad, is widely read among American soldiers in Europe. In 1953 Army authorities ordered it banned from troop newsstands, but the order was rescinded.

U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg has decline to take any stand on the current squabble. Asked if the Army would support Gen. Walker's complaint and ban the paper again, a spokesman said no such steps had been taken. He explained that publications can be banned only if they are proved lewd or subverive.

Says Weekly Acclaimed

Mr. Dornberg says "Overseas Weekly" has been acclaimed by military commanders abroad and by government officials and members of Congress in the United States. He added:

"It is, next to 'Stars and Stripes' (the Army-sponsored newspaper), the largest-selling medium on 'Stars and Stripes' newsstands in the overseas command. The editors feel the paper is one of the few free and uncensored voices available to American military personnel in Europe."

Gen. Walker Is Named Birch Society Backer

REC- 46

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 14 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker could not be reached for comment today on a report he promoted the ideas of John Birch Society among American troops under his command in Germany.

The report appeared in the Overseas Weekly, a privately owned newspaper published in Frankfurt for circulation among United States servicemen in Europe.

The society's tactics in campaigning against communism have aroused controversy in the United States.

The Overseas Weekly said Gen. Walker, commander of the 24th Infantry Division in Augsburg, set up a "special warfare" office that distributed literature of the society throughout the division and that the division newspaper "Taro Leaf" reprinted material put out by the organization.

The service newspaper, which has no official connection with the Army, also reported that Gen. Walker had charged in a speech before an American GI PTA group in Augsburg that 91 per cent of the American press and radio-television industry were Communists and that former President Truman, Dean Acheson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt were "definitely pink."

A Pentagon spokesman in Washington said the Army had "no knowledge of any such activity" by Gen. Walker, who is a combat veteran of World War II and Korea.

The Army announced last Sunday that Gen. Walker is being shifted to the United States in August to take over the 8th Corps in Texas. An Army spokesman said yesterday the move was routine and any idea that it was connected with the story in the Overseas Weekly was "absolutely false and without foundation."

Gen. Walker Denies Birch Society Link

In Augsburg, Germany, today Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, former commander of the Arkansas Military District, denied that his division information program is connected with the controversial John Birch Society, according to The Associated Press.

Gen. Walker also declared that statements attributed to him alleging prominent American political leaders are "pink" or Communist were untrue.

Gen. Walker's alleged comments were attributed to him by [illegible] Weekly, a privately owned servicemen's newspaper, which claimed that his division was "exposed to a propaganda barrage on The Philosophy of the controversial John Birch Society."

The service newspaper, which has no official connection with the Army, reported that Gen. Walker had charged in a speech before an American PTA group in Augsburg that 80 per cent of the American press and radio-TV industry were infiltrated by Communists and that former President Harry Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt were "definitely pink."

The newspaper—published by International Media Co., Inc., a Delaware Corporation—said the propaganda barrage was run by "special warfare" programs set up by Gen. Walker. Asked to comment, the general stated: "The special warfare section of the headquarters staff of the 24th Infantry Division coordinated the pro-blue program, which is original and extensive in source material. The program is not associated or affiliated with any organization or society. It is designed to develop the understanding of American military and civil heritage, responsibility toward that heritage, and the tactics and objectives of those enemies who would destroy it."

During his last year as commander of the Arkansas Military District, Gen. Walker made some hard-hitting speeches before civic clubs throughout Arkansas, warning of the continuing threat of communism to the United States and what remains of the free world. Pointing out that "there is not [illegible] like the Russians" the [illegible] general sought to

...more public interest...the threat of communism within this country.)

The John Birch Society is a conservative organization which has recently come under fire from certain quarters in this country. According to The Associated Press, books and magazines sponsored by the society have been made available to troops in Walker's Division and the division newspaper has reprinted material from publications of the Society which is anti-Communist.

Referring to the reports by the Overseas Weekly, Gen. Walker said:

"Statements by the Overseas Weekly of 26 April 1961 alleged to have been made by me on 24 Jan. 1961 are untrue."

A Pentagon spokesman in Washington said the Army had "no knowledge of any such activity" by Walker.

The Army announced last Sunday that Gen. Walker is being alerted to the United States in August to take over the 5th Corps in Texas. An Army spokesman said yesterday the move was routine and any idea that it was connected with the story in the Overseas Weekly was "absolutely false and without foundation."

Gen. Walker has been commander of the 24th Infantry Division, headquartered at Augsburg, since Oct. 1958.

He was probably the most widely publicized commander the Arkansas Military District ever had. A native of Center Point, Texas, he is one of the most highly honored commanders who served in Europe in World War II and in Korea. He accomplished the difficult task of reorganizing the Army reserve units within Arkansas into groups more adaptable to the national mobilization requirements.

However, due to the events of 1957-58, many people will probably remember his name because he ordered [illegible] component of the 101st Airborne paratroopers and the federalized Arkansas National Guard to Central High School.

Gen. Walker [illegible] in Little Rock on Aug. 1, 1957, and [illegible] three months later — on Sept. 24, 1957 — 1,000 Army paratroopers and [illegible] of the federalized guardsmen detailed to escort nine Negro students into Central High School and to maintain order inside the building and around the school.

When first the paratroopers and later the federalized guardsmen were withdrawn at the end of the 1957-58 school year and Gen. Walker no longer had this duty, the general turned his full attention to the 1,800 officers and men in the reserve units and to the administrative work involving 30,000 Army Reservists in the state.

He reorganized the 77 Reserve Units into 41 with a reduction in Reserves of less than 300 men. The smaller number of units fit more neatly into the nationwide requirements of the defense program.

The West Point graduate has spent most of his 30-year Army career in the command field with services in both the Aleutians and Europe during World War II. He participated in the Anzio attack, the battle for Cassino and the attack on Southern France. He later commanded an infantry regiment in the Rhineland and Central European campaigns.

Gen. Walker also was commander of Task Force "A" which accepted the surrender of the German Army in Norway. During the Korean engagement he commanded the 2nd Infantry Division Artillery and later the 7th Infantry Regiment of the 3rd Division.

At the time of his assignment to the 7th Army in Germany a year and a half ago, Gen. Walker was cited "for his work on the reorganization of the Arkansas Military District by Lt. Gen. Edward T. Williams, 4th U.S. Army commander.

Gen. Walker also received Harding College's highest civilian award shortly before he left for Germany. The presentation was made at a farewell banquet in Little Rock by Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding College in Searcy.

The college's "Distinguished American Citizen" award is presented annually to two outstanding citizens of the United States for their achievements and accomplishments in keeping with American traditions.

The general was made an honorary citizen of Little Rock.

Ex-Governor to Speak

Anti-Red Parley Slated at Beach

By DAVE REHRENS
Herald Staff Writer

Former Gov. George Earle of Pennsylvania will join in a protest against U.S. aid to Communist countries Nov. 14 at a National Indignation Convention in Miami Beach Convention Hall.

The convention, patterned after a Dallas session Oct. 14, will hit specifically the present training program of Yugoslav pilots at Perrin Air Force Base at Sherman, Tex., and the sale of aircraft to the Tito government.

Confirmation is now being awaited from other dignitaries, according to Fred Walker, a retired investment broker and program chairman for the convention.

They include Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who announced his retirement from the Army Thursday; World War I flying ace Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, Adm. Arleigh Burke and Gen. Albert Coady Wedemeyer.

They were invited by Convention Chairman Paul D. Rust Jr., former owner of the Miami Beach Flamingo baseball team and a member of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade group which unsuccessfully campaigned against Marxist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan in the recent political race in British Guiana.

The convention will concentrate on three resolutions:

REMOVAL of all military personnel from Red countries training here.

CANCELLATION of all government pacts for the sale of military goods to Communist countries.

REMOVAL from office of U.S. government officials responsible for the sale and training policies.

A petition backing the resolutions is now being circulated among Florida civic groups and 250,000 names is the target, Walker said.

Admission to the convention will be free, but voluntary contributions will be sought, according to Rust.

No hope for peace'—
Walker says U. S. should demand U.N. expel Reds—

BY DON BROWN
News staff writer

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker said Saturday night the United States should issue this ultimatum to the United Nations:

"Either the Soviet Union and satellites get out, or we get out."

"The United Nations is not a hope for peace," he said, "but a trap for tyranny.

"No organization in which Red participation can by anything but an agency for the advancement of Russia," he said.

Walker, former commander of the U. S. 24th Division in Germany, resigned recently when he was called down by Washington in a feud over charges that Walker was engaging in political activity.

HE SPOKE Saturday night from the National Indignation Convention in Odessa, Tex., via special long-distance telephone to a meeting of the Jefferson County Information Committee, at Jefferson County Courthouse. About 150 persons attended.

His speech was picked up at other meetings in Montgomery and Tuscumbia in Alabama, and in other cities across the nation. Walker told his audiences the "planned president" of the U. S. have sided in an ally of Russia "for nearly 20 years, since the Teheran Conference of [illegible]. We have confused and misled Stalin and Khrushchev," he said. "And unless U. S. policy [illegible] our plan will never have victory in fact."

HE APPEALED for the dissolution of the United Nations.

"The U.N. Building is our own Tower of Babel," said Walker. "Nations there do not speak the same language, even with the best translators.

"The U.N. has been morally bankrupt from the beginning."

Walker also called the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance a tool of the Reds.

"NATO exists on Communist succor and will be liquidated on Communist signal," he said. "It is an army of occupation for Western Europe in an area where Russia is replacing the U. S. as power."

Communism, he said, neutralized the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), and it has disappeared.

FOR THE U. S. to disarm and turn its weapons over to a U.N. "world army" would be suicide, he said.

Walker said if this nation "does not survive, it will be because our national administration does not plan for us to survive."

But he said he was optimistic about this country's chances, because the people have awakened to Communist infiltration and danger.

"The National Indignation Convention proves citizens who want to be heard will make themselves heard," he said. "[illegible] part you're doing is tremendous."

THE NATIONAL Indignation movement was formed last fall when it was reported nationally that Communist Yugoslavia airmen were being trained at Perrin Air Base, Tex.

Objectives of the Indignation Convention are:

Stop Americans from training Communist pilots and technicians in America.

Stop sale of planes and military equipment to Communists.

Determine those responsible and secure their removal from office.

Local speakers at the meeting here included Rep. Rush Brooks Jr. the Rev. [illegible] Barker and Edward D. Welch.

Faubus' Hands Tied by Move

Now Has No Control Over State Militia

By JOHN A. GILES

It appeared today that one reason the administration called the entire Arkansas Army and Air National Guard into Federal service was to take the Guardsmen out of the hands of Gov. Orval Faubus.

Battle-equipped troops from the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky., were on the scene at strife-torn Central High School almost before the nearly 10,000 Guardsmen had received their Federal duty orders.

The double-barrelled action means that the orders of the Federal courts to integrate the schools will be carried out by Regular Army troops and that Gov. Faubus—who previously had used the Air Guardsmen at the school—will not have command of the State Militiamen.

Bolsters Regular Force

Under the law, a governor is commander of the National Guard in his State unless the guard is Federalized.

There was some speculation here that the administration had some fears that Gov. Faubus might call out the guard to oppose the use of Federal troops if they were not brought into Federal service.

Under the arrangement now, Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, Texas-born chief of the Arkansas Military District, may call on any guard units to bolster his regular force if he feels it necessary.

The guardsmen will draw active-duty military pay at a cost estimated at about $50,000 a day. They were told to report immediately to their armories and stand by for further orders from Gen. Walker.

Defections Considered

The possibility of defections among segregation-minded Guardsmen also was a consideration in the decision to use Federal troops.

Robert Dechert, Defense Department counsel, said he knew of no precedent for federalizing the Guard in a civil dispute against the wishes of a Governor, but that the statutes authorizing President Eisenhower's action do not require a Governor's approval.

Gen. Walker was sent some classified orders which were not disclosed. However, Brig. Gen. Chester V. Clifton, acting chief of information, said he was told to take the "absolute minimum demonstration of force and if he can get by with just standing there, so much the better."

He added that "what will be required we don't know."

The announcement of the dispatch of the paratroopers to Little Rock by Army Secretary Brucker followed an earlier order by Defense Secretary Wilson Federalizing the guard.

Telegram Sent to Faubus

Mr. Brucker said that "it is anticipated that only selected units of the Arkansas National Guard will be needed for immediate duty although it is made clear that all units of the Arkansas Army and Air National Guard are now in Federal service and are ordered to report to their armories."

His telegram to Gov. Faubus and Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon follows:

"In order to enforce the laws of the Union and to enforce any orders of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Arkansas for the removal of obstruction of justice in the State of Arkansas with respect to matters relating to enrollment and attendance at public schools in the Little Rock school district, Little Rock, Ark., the President has exercised the authority vested in him by the Constitution and laws to authorize the Secretary of Defense to call out the National Guard necessary for that purpose.

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY--ARMY SECRETARY ELVIS J. STAHR JR. SAID TODAY AN INVESTIGATION OF AN ARMY GENERAL'S COMMENTS ABOUT AN AMERICAN-OWNED NEWSPAPER IN EUROPE WAS COMPLETE.

HE TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THE RESULTS OF THE INVESTIGATION HAD BEEN SENT TO WASHINGTON. ANY ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE REPORT'S CONTENTS WOULD HAVE TO COME FROM THERE, HE SAID.

THE INVESTIGATION WAS ORDERED FROM WASHINGTON AFTER A DISPUTE BETWEEN MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER, 24TH INFANTRY DIVISION COMMANDER, AND THE OVERSEAS WEEKLY, PUBLISHED IN FRANKFURT FOR AMERICAN TROOPS.

WALKER WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT NEITHER THE OVERSEAS WEEKLY NOR THE COMMUNIST PARTY ARE AMONG "GOD'S BLESSINGS." THE PAPER HAD ACCUSED WALKER OF EXPOSING HIS TROOPS TO THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE EXTREME RIGHT-WING JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY.

IN FRANKFURT A GERMAN CIVIL COURT HAS DEFERRED A DECISION ON WHETHER WALKER CAN BE SUED BY OVERSEAS WEEKLY. A DECISION ON WHETHER SUCH A SUIT IS VALID WILL BE HANDED DOWN BY THE COURT ON JUNE 23.

ON OTHER MATTERS, STAHR SAID THAT PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S ARMY MODERNIZATION PROGRAM ANNOUNCED THURSDAY MEANT ONLY THAT "A BETTER BALANCE" IS SOUGHT BETWEEN NUCLEAR FORCES AND THOSE OF LIMITED WAR TYPE.

MOST INFANTRY DIVISIONS IN EUROPE "NO DOUBT" WOULD BE MECHANIZED, HE SAID. "THAT IS NOT NECESSARILY SO WITH OUR ARMY FORCES IN OTHER PARTS OF THE WORLD," THE ARMY SECRETARY ADDED.

WASHINGTON--DEPUTY DEFENSE SECRETARY ROSWELL L. GILPATRIC SAID WITH A LAUGH TODAY THAT MAYBE MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER WOULD DO "VERY WELL" IN TEXAS.
WALKER IS THE ARMY GENERAL RELIEVED OF HIS DIVISION COMMAND IN GERMANY AFTER GETTING INTO A CONTROVERSY OVER HIS ALLEGED PREACHING OF JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY DOCTRINES. THE KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION HAS ORDERED AN INJUIRY.
AT THE TIME HE WAS RELIEVED OF HIS COMMAND, WALKER HAD ORDERS TO TAKE OVER THE EIGHTH CORPS AT AUSTIN, TEXAS. THE CORPS SUPERVISES RESERVE TRAINING.
GILPATRIC WAS ASKED WHETHER WALKER WOULD STILL GET THE TEXAS ASSIGNMENT. HE SAID PRESIDENT KENNEDY NOW HAS A REPORT ON WALKER AND HE, THE DEPUTY DEFENSE CHIEF, DID NOT KNOW WHERE THE GENERAL WAS AT THE MOMENT.
PRESSED AGAIN, HE ASKED THE INQUIRING REPORTER, "DO YOU WANT HIM THERE?" THE REPORTER SAID SHE THOUGHT WALKER WOULD BE WELCOMED IN TEXAS.
"CONSIDERING RECENT EVENTS IN TEXAS," GILPATRIC SAID WITH A BROAD GRIN, "IT MAY BE HE WOULD DO VERY WELL DOWN THERE."
THE DEMOCRATIC DEPUTY DEFENSE SECRETARY WAS ASKED IF HE REFERRED TO THE RECENT ELECTION OF A TEXAN REPUBLICAN SENATOR, JOHN TOWER. HE REPLIED ONLY THAT HE REFERRED TO "THE CLIMATE."

Walker Assails Policy, U.N., Press, Bobby

By WILLIAM TUCKER
[illegible] of The Miami News

Rightwing Gen. Edwin A. Walker took his "Midnight Ride" to West Palm Beach today after warning a crowd of 1,700 here that the State Department is concealing the nation's dire peril.

Walker broadened his attack to include the United Nations and the nation's press as he opened a coast-to-coast crusade with evangelist Billy James Hargis.

Hargis for his part attacked Communist efforts to wreck the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and the crowd, which paid $1 admission and contributed when the hat was passed, whooped it up for both speakers.

Metro police, both in uniform and plainclothes, were sprinkled liberally about the Dade County Auditorium at last night's speaking but there were no incidents.

Walker charged the State Department had so covered up the Soviet drift into the Western Hemisphere that the Monroe Doctrine was surrendered before Americans realized it.

"When you give up the Monroe Doctrine, you are giving up the sovereignty of the United States right up to your front yard," the 53-year-old resigned officer shouted.

More and more, he added, U.S. policy is directed toward turning Berlin over to the United Nations and "when you do that, you might as well give it directly to the Communists."

He urged freedom-loving Americans never to agree to fight in the uniform of the "atheistic" United Nations and surrender the U.S. uniform and the Christian ideals for which it stands.

The world will not know, Walker said, that "there is one audience here tonight standing up to the cause of freedom," because an "Iron Curtain" on free news has been drawn down the middle of the Atlantic — "our own Iron Curtain."

"Your sons today, serving in the armed forces around the globe, wonder where freedom is at home," he said.

"Nothing but controlled news is permitted to get to Europe. Your sons, who were only 12 years old at the time of Korea, can't even find out about history.

Walker dwelt at length on "Why I went to Mississippi," referring to his arrest by U. S. agents for allegedly inciting protest riots over the admission of a Negro to the state university.

He said he went there when he heard the town of Oxford and the university had been "occupied" by 26,000 United States troops.

"I wanted to see the story first-hand, not second-hand through the press, and I saw it," Walker said. "Those 26,000 troops were there because the United Nations liked them there."

"Mr. Meredith (Negro student James Meredith), as he is called by the press, could have been integrated by less than 50 people," Walker said. "But what happened was the forced destruction of the sovereignty of the State of Mississippi."

Walker said a lot of the incidents happened before he got there. Then, he said, the students asked him a number of times to speak to them and finally he told them: "Boys and girls, this is not the way to Cuba."

When he was picked up, Walker said, he was whisked to a Missouri federal hospital, which he called a "prison," where he was held 6 days so he could not tell the true story of Oxford.

"I had Bobby Kennedy's indoctrination course for 6 days in Springfield prison and it didn't take," the general said.

In the opening speech, Hargis accused the National Council of Churches of lobbying to get rid of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and he joined Walker in attacks on the newspapers in Miami and elsewhere.

"If we lose this country it will be largely due to the fact that the reporters of the liberal press failed to tell the truth about the Communist conspiracy," Hargis said.

EXTREMISTS LIVING IN PAST, AJC CHIEF SAYS

WILL MASLOW
"Resist Loudmouths"

By DON BRANNING
[illegible] of The Miami News

The executive director of the militantly liberal American Jewish Congress declared here last night the supporters of ex-Gen. Edwin Walker represent a type of mind that is unhappy because it cannot return to 19th Century America.

People of radical rightwing political thinking are so far to the right that they almost join hands with the Communists: they use many of the same conspiratorial techniques as the Communists and they hate many of the same things the Communists hate, said Will Maslow, American Jewish Congress director, who spoke to a meeting of the local chapter at the McAllister Hotel.

Maslow was making his talk at the same time Gen. Walker was speaking with evangelist Billy James Hargis, of Tulsa, at a "Midnight Ride" rally at Dade County Auditorium.

"The radical right is a label that doesn't adequately describe what's in the bottle," said Maslow. "They are so far to the right that they almost clasp hands with the Communists.

"They are not conservatives. They do not want to conserve the values of America. Their suspicion, hatred and distrust dissolve the cement that holds America together."

Maslow said, "Their idea is that if we could only get back to the days of 1870, if we could only get back to the 19th Century, everything would be fine.

"Fortunately, our government doesn't see things in the simple black and white terms of the 19th Century.

"Everything the radical right-wingers suggest would weaken us in the fight against the Communists. They hate NATO, U.N. and foreign aid. So does Khrushchev.

"They have adopted many techniques which are like communism. They behave in a conspiratorial manner, they form front groups. They start a petition campaign and follow it with letters to the editor.

"They try to get control of a local PTA, using the same techniques as the Communists, and then they will start a campaign against a liberal teacher, or against books they do not feel are virulent enough against communism.

"Essentially, they have a basic distrust of the world around them. They live in a world which is a jungle to them."

"The answer is always counter-pulling pressure. Don't give up the fight to the loudmouths," Maslow urged.

Walker, Right, Stays To Talk With Some Of Crowd

CRUSADE BEGINS

A Point Of View

The rightwingers took over at Dade County Auditorium last night and had their full say. Two of their leading national spokesmen, Ex-Gen. Edwin Walker and Evangelist Billy James Hargis, held the rostrum.

A crowd of 1,700 enthusiastically paid $1 each to get in, and clapped and cheered and even stood up at the proper intervals in the speeches.

For more than 2 hours Hargis "preached" and Walker thundered out the ultra-conservative philosophy that the Communists are upon us and the State Department is beckoning them on.

They included the nation's press, the National Council of Churches and the United Nations as partners in bowing to the Red conspiracy.

It was a big night at Dade County Auditorium for the right.

Controversial Anti-Communists

Edwin Walker, Dr. Hargis To Speak Here March 10

Two controversial anti-Communists—retired Army Gen. Edwin A. Walker and Dr. Billy James Hargis—will be here next month, speaking from the same platform.

The two men will speak on "Operation Midnight Ride" at 2:30 p.m. March 10 at the Civic Auditorium. Their appearance here is sponsored by the Greater Knoxville Christian Crusade Committee, Dr. Cecil E. Pitard, chairman.

Dr. Pitard said there will be no admission charge, but those attending will be asked to donate $1 each to defray expenses. The local committee was organized last spring in an effort to get Dr. Hargis' "Christian Crusade" program aired here.

Gen. Walker broke into the news when he was relieved of his European command for his "Pro Blue" troop indoctrination program, which accused several American leaders of being "pink." He resigned from the Army, kicking off a spectacular "muzzling the military" investigation that finally died a quiet death in Congress.

Dr. Hargis

Later, he was present at the University of Mississippi integration riots, and was taken into Federal custody on charges of leading rioters against Federal troops. He was cleared of the charge after undergoing psychiatric examination.

Dr. Hargis, an exponent of conservatism in religion, economics and government, has charged that Communists and "liberal, left-wing tendencies" are infiltrating all walks of American life. He heads the Christian Crusade, with headquarters in Tulsa, Okla. He spoke here last July.

Radical Right Lets Off Its Steam But Fails to Launch Third Party

By Paul Gapp
Chicago Daily News Staff Writer

CHICAGO — The Congress of Conservatives here last week was not merely the platform for launching a third political party—which, it turned out, did not get launched—but a rare opportunity to observe the radical right.

Again and again, speakers ticked off the sins and purportedly treasonous activities of the enemy, at home and abroad: unilateral disarmament, civil rights marching, foreign aid, sex perversion, urban renewal, relief programs and the dozens of other familiar targets of the arch-conservative crusade.

And with the same regularity, the listeners in the rows of chairs and around the banquet tables reacted.

"Mercy," "My God," "Oh, Lord," "No, no!," and "Treason!" they said aloud when the men behind the lectern shocked or dismayed them.

Beneath all this lies an overriding fear that the Communist conspiracy already has progressed so far that America may be doomed; that all may be destined to imprisonment behind barbed wire, or be slaughtered.

Of equal concern to the ultra right is the Negro: he has gone too far, wants too much. Love of fellow man cannot be legislated. Civil rights are unconstitutional.

There is a huge disparity between the kinds of men blamed—obliquely or directly—for this state of affairs. At one end stands Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.). At the other, Norman Mailer. Both are in favor of civil rights. Both were condemned in speeches at the Congress of Conservatives.

There were 17 leaders at the conference, but five deserve special attention.

Kent Courtney, the New Orleans publisher who organized the conference, is an affable, red-haired former Minnesotan with a reputation as a highly skillful entrepreneur, a packager of conservative goods.

The "Freedom Fair," a hotel exhibit hall filled with commercial right-wing sales booths, was Courtney's idea. On sale were conservative books, pamphlets, phonograph records, auto license plates that read "Impeach Earl Warren."

Edwin A. Walker, the former major general, turned in the most spectacular, if near-grotesque, performance at the meeting.

Walker began at a press conference where he spent half of the time castigating the press.

The former general wandered, wavered, repeated himself, paused, adjourned the press session, reconvened it, tossed off a final string of run-on sentences, then graciously thanked the "Communist-controlled" reporters for coming. When he gave his main address that evening, one desperate newsman brought along a hired expert to take down Walker's irregular torrent of words on a shorthand machine.

Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, was more concise. He said the entire Nation is "one vast lunatic asylum."

Welch made several allusions to sexual subjects (a dance for homosexuals, interracial intimacy, sex stimulants, pornography). Ultra conservatives blame the Communists for all sexual activity that in their judgment is aberrant.

The Birch Society leader, however, is at bottom a colorless speaker, no matter how titillating his subject matter.

The man who really excited the crowd, who variously tongue-whipped them into anger and adulation, was Lester Maddox.

He is the former Atlanta restaurant operator who pulled a gun on a sit-in participant, who closed up shop rather than serve Negroes, who blamed President Johnson for "the theft of my business."

"You know why I pulled a gun when I was threatened?" said Maddox, in a roar that roughened his Dixie drawl.

"Because the Constitution gives me the right to keep and bear arms."

But the man who appeared to emerge from the conference with the greatest power potential is not a shouter, nor is he equipped with anything approaching the common touch.

He is Medford Evans, a Yale Ph.D., who lives in Jackson, Miss. Evans, a genuine intellectual in a movement that generally despises and often heaps ridicule on intellectuality, was named chairman of the five-man committee responsible for creating a third party.

Informant stated he had heard of no new organization being formed in the Shreveport area, nor was he aware of any individuals from the Houston area having travelled to Shreveport in recent weeks in connection with the possible formation of a new organization.

Informant pointed out [redacted] a meeting at Houston on 5/11/65 which turned out to be an organizational meeting for a group at Houston tentatively adopting the name Dixie Council. All of the persons present were described by this source as being "extreme right-wingers." Informant understood the purpose of this organization was to establish some type of front organization which would possibly be used to screen prospective members for the Klan or for the organization known as "Minutemen" to which informant belongs. At this meeting it was announced that Gen. EDWIN WALKER would appear at Houston for a speech on the following week, and all persons were urged to attend. It was also announced that arrangements were being made for ROY HARRIS, prominent right-wing leader from Augusta, Georgia, and prominently identified with the White Citizens Council movement, to make a speech at Houston on 5/27/65.

7D

It is pointed out that the organizing activity referred to above is not known to be related to the new organization described in referenced New Orleans communication but this information is being furnished for future consideration inasmuch as the two organizations appear to be of the same general type.

ALLEGED KLAN PARTICIPATION
IN INSURRECTION PLOT

Information was received by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Jacksonville, Florida, that a klansman in Meridian, Mississippi, stated that Major General EDWIN WALKER had approximately one hundred thousand followers in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Arizona. These followers were storing ammunition and weapons and planned insurrectionary action if President LYNDON B. JOHNSON is re-elected.

The same source stated that another klansman in Mississippi had heard of General WALKER's plan and that rumors in klan circles in Alabama and Mississippi reflected that the klan groups in these two states will precipitate action after President JOHNSON's re-election, and, if martial law results, General WALKER's followers plan to start a revolution the latter part of December, 1964, or early January, 1965.

RE: ALLEGED KLAN PARTICIPATION

RACIAL MATTERS

Information has been received from a confidential source of known reliability who reported that [redacted] 7D stated that he has been working with Major General EDWIN WALKER and his assistants for some time [redacted] said that General WALKER has approximately 100,000 followers in Texas and an unknown number of members in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, and possibly New Mexico and Arizona. [redacted] stated that these followers have been storing ammunition and weapons over a period of time. He indicated that General WALKER was to lead an insurrection if President LYNDON B. JOHNSON is re-elected in the November election [redacted] stated that he told source this information inasmuch as he desired the source to lead a battalion of the Mississippi followers.

Source further advised [redacted] 7D that he was cognizant of a plan allegedly developed by General EDWIN WALKER.

[redacted] told source that stories in Klan circles in Alabama and Mississippi indicate if President JOHNSON is re-elected then action by Klan groups in these two states would probably bring martial law shortly after the election. 7D [redacted] advised the source that if martial law is effected, then WALKER's followers are allegedly to start a revolution in the latter part of December, 1964, or the first part of January, 1965.

On September 30, 1964, a confidential source of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that a "Klansman" in Meridian, Mississippi, had been overheard to say that Major General Edwin A. Walker had approximately 100,000 followers in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Arizona, who were storing ammunition and weapons and planned insurrectionary action if President Lyndon B. The same source advised on November 2, 1964, that another Klansman in Mississippi had been heard to say that rumors in "Klan" circles in Alabama and Mississippi are that "Klan" groups in these two states will precipitate action after President Johnson's re-election and that if martial law results, General Walker's followers plan to start a revolution in the latter part of December, 1964 or early in January, 1965.

On November 4, 1964, the above information was telephonically furnished to [redacted] 111th INTC, Birmingham, [redacted] OSI, Birmingham, and [redacted] U. S. Secret Service, Birmingham.

Confidential informants of the Birmingham Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation familiar with racial and similar activity were contacted on November 4, 1964, and could furnish no information concerning the rumors described above.

RE: ALLEGED KLAN PARTICIPATION
IN INSURRECTION PLOT

Reference is made to the letterhead memorandum of the Birmingham Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation dated November 6, 1964, captioned as above.

Referenced communication set forth information that a "Klansman" in Meridian, Mississippi, had been overheard to say that Major General Edwin A. Walker had approximately 100,000 followers in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Arizona, who were storing ammunition and weapons and planned insurrectionary action if President Lyndon B. Johnson were re-elected.

It was also stated that another Klansman in Mississippi had been heard to say that rumors in "Klan" circles in Alabama and Mississippi are that "Klan" groups in these two states will precipitate action after President Johnson's re-election and that if martial law results, General Walker's followers plan to start a revolution in the latter part of December 1964, or early in January 1965.

During early January 1965, confidential informants of the Birmingham Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who are familiar with racial and similar activities, were contacted concerning the rumors described above and each advised that they could furnish no information concerning the rumors.

ALLEGED KLAN PARTICIPATION IN INSURRECTION PLOT
RACIAL MATTERS

A source who has furnished reliable information in the past has previously advised that a member of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi (WKKKKOM), Lauderdale County Klavern, Meridian, Mississippi, stated that he had been working with Major General Edwin Walker and his assistants. The source advised at that time that Major General Walker has approximately 100,000 followers in several Southern and Western states and that these followers have been storing ammunition over a period of time. The source indicated that General Walker was allegedly going to lead an insurrection if President Lyndon B. Johnson was re-elected in the November, 1964, election.

The above source subsequently advised on November 11, 1964, that he had contacted the Klansman from whom he had first learned of the information regarding General Walker and it was the opinion of the source that there was no direct knowledge of such a plan and the Klansman who had told him originally had merely heard some rumors.

A second source who has furnished reliable information in the past and who is in a position to know of practically all general plans of the principal Klan organization in Mississippi, the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi, advised on November 18, 1964, that he has heard of no talk and knows of no plans of the Klan or any right wing group to conduct any acts of violence as a result of the election of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

ENCLOSURE

ALLEGED KLAN PARTICIPATION
IN INSURRECTION PLOT

The source mentioned above was recontacted on February 17, 1965, and stated he has been unable to learn of any additional information concerning the alleged insurrection plot which was to take place if President Johnson was re-elected. This source said he does not know if this was a bonafide plot or just "Klan talk". The source said that the inquiries regarding this plot from the source from whom he originally heard it have met with negative results.

Title: ALLEGED KLAN PARTICIPATION IN INSURRECTION PLOT

Character: RACIAL MATTERS

Synopsis: On September 30, 1964, a Confidential Informant advised that a member of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi (WKKKKOM), Lauderdale County Klavern, Meridian, Mississippi, stated that he had been working with Major General EDWIN WALKER and his assistants and that WALKER had approximately 100,000 followers in several Southern and Western States and allegedly was going to lead an insurrection if President LYNDON B. JOHNSON was re-elected in the November, 1964 Election. On 11/11/64, the same Informant advised that he had contacted the Klansman from whom he first learned of the information regarding General Walker and it was the opinion of the Informant that there was no direct knowledge of such a plan and the Klansman who had told him originally had merely heard some rumors. Results of extensive investigation conducted during late 1964 and early 1965 to resolve this matter are being set out.

DETAILS:

PREDICATION

This investigation is predicated upon the fact that on September 30, 1964, Birmingham Confidential Informant T-1 advised that a member of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi (WKKKKOM), Lauderdale County Klavern, Meridian, Mississippi, stated that he had been working with Major General EDWIN WALKER and his assistants and that General WALKER had approximately 100,000 followers in several Southern and Western States and allegedly was going to lead an insurrection if President LYNDON B. JOHNSON was re-elected in the November, 1964 Election. On November 11, 1964, the same Informant advised that he had contacted the Klansman from whom he first learned of the information regarding General WALKER and it was the opinion of the Informant that there was no direct knowledge of such a plan and the Klansman who had told him originally had merely heard some rumors.

[redacted] also advised that these followers of General WALKER reportedly had been storing ammunition over a period of time prior to September 30, 1964.

Characterizations of the WKKKKOM and the Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan (OKKKK) are being set out in the Appendix section of this report.

On September 30, 1964, [redacted] also stated that General WALKER's 100,000 followers were in Texas, Arizona, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, and New Mexico, and that they were storing arms and weapons and planned the insurrectionary action if President JOHNSON was re-elected. [redacted] advised that another Klansman in Mississippi had also heard of General WALKER's plan and that rumors in Klan circles in Alabama and Mississippi were that these Klan members in these two states were precipitating action against President JOHNSON's re-election and, if marshal law resulted, General WALKER's followers plan to start a revolution in the latter part of December, 1964, or early 1965.

RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION

[redacted] both of whom are familiar with Klan and similar type activity in Southeastern Louisiana, and New Orleans areas respectively, advised that they had no information concerning the above-mentioned rumors or plans of General WALKER.

[redacted] advised that he had contacted the Klansman from whom he had first learned of the above information regarding General WALKER and it was his opinion that there was no direct knowledge of such a plan and that the Klansman who had told him originally had merely heard some rumors.

7D

[redacted] advised that he had heard of no discussions and knew of no plans of the Klan or any right wing group to conduct any acts of violence as a result of the election of President LYNDON B. JOHNSON.

7D

[redacted] advised that he had personal knowledge as to General WALKER's presence in Dallas, Texas, as of November 4, 1964, and that to the best of his knowledge, WALKER had no plans to leave Dallas in the immediate or near future. [redacted] stated that WALKER had a strong following in Mississippi but had no organization backing him. [redacted] stated it would not be characteristic of WALKER to be a part of any organizational activity as he is very much a "loner [redacted] described General WALKER as being very much an egotis[redacted] who would do almost anything for publicity, but he did not believe WALKER would be capable of, or interested in leading an insurrection or participating in a similar activity.

[redacted] advised that in discussing the elections held on November 3, 1964, General WALKER was heard to make a comment on November 4, 1964, to the effect that "Well, we'll have another chance to get them in four years." [redacted] General WALKER did not indicate any violent reaction or joint disagreement in the results of the election. [redacted] stated he believed WALKER to be too much of an individualist to get messed up with the Klan and that although WALKER was very much against the administration of President JOHNSON, he was also in disagreement with most of those other individuals and organizations who violently opposed the present administration.

[redacted], each of whom is familiar with racial and similar activity in the Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas, areas, advised that they could furnish no information concerning the rumors of General WALKER's presence.

[redacted] said there was a rumor that [redacted] associates were members of the John Birch Society. He said he knows [redacted] listened to a radio program originating in Louisiana, name unrecalled by him, which came on at about 6:00 p.m. in the evening and had General WALKER as a speaker on several occasions. He [redacted] tried to get him to listen to that program, and as he recalled the program was strong for states' rights. [redacted]

[redacted] the meeting of the Americans for the Preservation of the White Race (APWR) at Brookhaven, Mississippi, on November 19, 1964, when General EDWIN WALKER was the speaker. The meeting was held at Whitworth College at Brookhaven, Mississippi. This source advised the following persons were on the speakers' stand with General WALKER:

MEDFORD EVANS, Jackson, Mississippi

Mr. (First name unknown) SIMMONS, Jackson, Mississippi

TELLY BRADY, brother of Judge TOM BRADY, who is reported to be the President of the APWR at Natchez, Mississippi

MR. (First name unknown) DICK, who is second or third Vice President of the APWR, and is from Summit, Mississippi

The Dean of Whitworth College, name not given, and a teacher from Whitworth College, Mr. PACE, Mr. HUGH, Mr. CRAIG, and Mr. PATRICK, whose first names are unknown but who are believed to be from Jackson, Mississippi.

[redacted] advised that Major General WALKER talked about the past incidents in the United States, including the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY; the treatment of the students and others at the University of Mississippi during the "riots" when JAMES MEREDITH, a Negro, registered at the University of Mississippi. General WALKER denied that he had brought a group to the University campus. WALKER talked about the BOBBY BAKER case, BILLY SOL ESTES, and just where he thought President JOHNSON fits into this picture. General WALKER also talked about the events in the racial field which happened during the Summer of 1964. WALKER mentioned the recent case where a cabinet member was arrested and remarked that "With things like that going on, it's no wonder they wanted the lights turned off in the White House," or a statement similar to that, apparently referring to the JENKINS incident, where a White House aide was dismissed on a morals charge.

[redacted] stated that nothing was said by General WALKER about the future, insofar as any of his plans are concerned, and no information was given out as to what could be done about any given situation. The source said there was nothing in General Walker's speech to indicate that he would again become involved in racial activities in the State of Mississippi, or elsewhere.

[redacted] advised that a collection was taken up at the doors during the above meeting on November 19, 1964, and as the source passed out the door, he noticed there was very little money in the hat.

7D

[redacted] estimated that there were from 700 to 800 people in attendance at this meeting.

[redacted] each of whom is familiar with klan and similar type activity in Southern Louisiana and the New Orleans, Louisiana, area, advised that they had no information that any klan groups would precipitate action following the election of President JOHNSON or that these klan members were to be joined in by the followers of General EDWIN A. WALKER.

[redacted] advised that a meeting of the Americans for the Preservation of the White Race (APWR) began at 8:00 p.m on November 19, 1964, at Brookhaven, Mississippi, and former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER was the main speaker. The invocation was offered at this meeting by Minister HARDIN (phonetic) of the Methodist Church in Jackson, Mississippi. Introductions included the President of Whitworth College, Brookhaven, Mississippi, the President of the APWR, THE Vice-president of the APWR, and the secretary of the APWR. The source was unable to hear the names as they were introduced. The editor of the "Southern Review,"a newspaper published at Jackson, Mississippi, was also seated on the stage at Whitworth College, where the meeting was held and was introduced to the audience. TULLOS BRADY, brother of Judge TOM BRADY, introduced General WALKER with the statement that General WALKER was the number one man in America that could not be dictated to. BRADY went on to praise the Editor of the "Southern Review" claiming this was the only true news of what was happening in the State of Mississippi and the nation without being censured.

[redacted] furnished the following information concerning General WALKER's speech: 7D

The opening remarks of General EDWIN A. WALKER were directed towards the Federal Government, stating that he was well aware that some FBI Agents were in the auditorium and, therefore, the audience was segregated. His second point was directed towards President JOHNSON and his appointing CARL ROWEN as Head of the Vital United States Information Agency which resulted in a black stamp on what news would be sent to other countries will be censured by ROWEN and not given the true picture. His comments converning the press,in general, was that it was strictly a one-sided reporting of what happened, particularly in Oxford, Mississippi. He said the only way a clear picture will ever be given concerning the Oxford, Mississippi, situation is for the people of Mississippi themselves, each person, to spread the true word to their hundreds of friends in other states.

WALKER included in his speech the fact that the State of Mississippi had the fortitude to show the world that they could not be intimidated by the present Government, in that, they gave such a large vote against the present Government. WALKER said the other states' eyes were opened to the way Mississippi responded in the election and that these states had a lot of respect for Mississippi.

WALKER told about his law suit in Fort Worth, Texas, and how the students from Ole Miss at Oxford, Mississippi, came to Fort Worth to testify in his behalf. He expressed his appreciation for their coming such a great distance to help him and remarked that the students seemed to enjoy what they did because they were telling the Mississippi side of the story.

WALKER spoke of the assassination of President KENNEDY and made the claim that the FBI and the Justice Department knew that OSWALD was in Dallas and the Department of Justice had no reason to blame the FBI because they had the information in their desk drawer in Washington. WALKER said the people of Dallas did not believe the Warren Report, stating that RUBY was a man who knew OSWALD well but that the people of Texas knew that the Government of Texas would never prove anything against RUBY since President JOHNSON and RUBY were like two peas in a pod. While WALKER was speaking, an individual passed by the source and made the comment that "he is nothing but a nut" and left the room.

The following literature was made available to the public at the above-mentioned APWR meeting:

1. An address by EDWIN A. WALKER, Jackson, Mississippi, December 29, 1961, captioned "The American Eagle Weapons for Freedom."

2. A leaflet captioned "The Law of the Land" by R. A. SURREY.

RALLY OF SEGREGATION GROUPS,
BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA
JULY 4, 1965

On July 4, 1965, Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation observed a rally of segregation groups in the State of Louisiana. The rally began at approximately 1:00 PM with the group meeting in front of the Louisiana State Capitol Building. The main speakers at the rally were John Barick, Judge, 20th Judicial District, St. Francisville, Louisiana, and General Edwin A. Walker, Dallas, Texas. Also speaking were Jerry Brown, New Orleans, Louisiana, Ned Touchstone, Editor, Counselor, Shreveport, Louisiana, Courtney Smith, Shreveport, Louisiana, and Reverend Billy Reed. Upon completion of the speeches, a march was made by the group from the capitol to the Governor's Mansion and back by approximately 1,000 persons carrying Confederate Flags and signs, some of which read, "Impeach LBJ", "Why Does Welfare Cost 4½ Times as Much as Police and Fire Protection - That's Easy - More Votes", "White People Pay for Welfare - Negroes Collect Welfare", "We are Governed by Animals - 12 Jackasses and a Flock of Red Birds", "Send Them Back to Africa" and "The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan Ride Again". The group upon their return to the capitol dispersed at approximately 4:45 PM. No incidents or pickets were observed at the rally.

On July 4, 1965, [redacted], Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Police Department, advised the group did not march to the capitol on 3rd Street as planned as they did not officially notify the Police Department prior to the march, therefore, permission was not granted to the group to march. He advised the group did obtain permission to march to the Governor's Mansion. He advised he knew of no incidents, but this could be verified through [redacted] the Baton Rouge Police Department, who was in charge of the Police Officers on the scene of the rally.

[redacted] Lafayette County, Oxford, Mississippi, advised on March 7, 1966, that he had discussed the security situation with the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol (MHSP) at Oxford in order to formulate plans for the visit of U. S. Senator Robert F. Kennedy. He stated it had been decided that a patrol car with two officers would be placed at each entrance to the University of Mississippi during the early hours of March 18, 1966. They would maintain that post throughout the day.

On March 9, 1966, [redacted] advised that Dick Calloway, a member of the Citizens Council of America at Oxford, Mississippi, and a resident of Oxford, appeared before the Board of County Supervisors at Oxford seeking permission for the use of the courthouse at Oxford on the evening of March 18, 1966. [redacted] had stated that former Major General Edwin A. Walker (retired) would speak at the courthouse and his speech would be sponsored by the Citizens Council of America. Calloway indicated that Walker's speech was being arranged to off set Senator Kennedy's speech scheduled earlier that afternoon. [redacted] stated that Calloway's request was denied. He pointed out that Calloway had indicated Walker would still come to Oxford to speak and the Citizens Council could always use the court yard lawn without seeking the permission of county officials.

ENCLOSURE

VISIT TO CAMPUS OF UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI, OXFORD, MISSISSIPPI,
BY SENATOR ROBERT F. KENNEDY,
MARCH 18, 1966
RACIAL MATTERS

[redacted] stated he had no positive information that Walker planned to come to Mississippi and Calloway is the only person who has mentioned the possibility of Walker's trip. 7D

[redacted] the Security Department, University of Mississippi, Oxford, advised on March 8,1966, that Senator Kennedy is tentatively scheduled to arrive at Memphis, Tennessee, at 11:47 a.m., on March 18, 1966, and thereafter take a private plane to the air port at Oxford. From the air port he will be driven to the campus of the University either by the Security Patrol of the campus or by a Sheriff's Department car. He said final plans will be worked out when the complete schedule is known. 7D

[redacted] stated that Senator Kennedy was first scheduled to speak to the Law School class at the University but is now scheduled to have lunch and to speak to the Young Democrats, an organization on the campus prior to his speech to the Law School class. 7D

He said Kennedy would deliver his address in the Fulton Chapel and the chapel will seat approximately 1200 people and that 600 of these seats will go to the Law School class. Arrangements have been made to set aside 100 seats for special visitors and 50 seats will be provided for the press. The remainder of the seats will be made available to the students at the University. Every student who obtains a ticket to Fulton Chapel will be requested to show his identification card and have his activity card punched.

Concerning the press it has been decided that the news media will be requested to identify their reporters in advance so that appropriate press passes can be issued.

[redacted] advised that Rust College had written to the University Law School and submitted a list of 50 names of individuals that desired to have tickets to attend Senator Kennedy's speech. He advised that the Law School, without clearing with him, had answered this letter stating that 12 of the individuals from Rust College would be admitted. He then met with the committee and 7D they have agreed to limit the number of individuals to four that will be granted tickets. He advised that he does not know what effect this would have on either the Rust College students or students at the University of Mississippi, if it becomes public knowledge that the University of Mississippi students could not obtain tickets whereby tickets were made available to Negro students at Rust College.

He advised that Rust College is a Negro college located at Holly Springs, Mississippi, near Oxford and in his opinion the college has been the center of civil rights activities in the past few years.

NEGRO DEMONSTRATORS ARRESTED LEVITTOWN, PENNSYLVANIA

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has been conducting picketing demonstrations at the Bristol Township Building in Levittown, Pennsylvania, during the past week protesting the failure of the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners to employ Negroes. On March 5, 1966, five of the demonstrators were arrested when they attempted a "lie-in" demonstration at the Bristol Township Building. All were charged with disorderly conduct and in addition three were charged with resisting arrest. The picketing demonstrations have continued each day at either the township building, the residence of the president of the Board of Commissioners, or at the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School where the Bristol Township Zoning Board meets. These demonstrations have been peaceful and there have been no arrests.

NEGRO COLLEGE IN LORMAN, MISSISSIPPI, SCENE OF PROTEST MARCH

Charles Evers, Field Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Mississippi, began a series of demonstrations on March 4, 1966, at the all-Negro Alcorn Agricultural and Mechanical College at Lorman, Mississippi, a state-supported institution, by leading a group of approximately 225 Negroes on a march to the college administration building. The purpose of the demonstrations, according to Evers, is to force the college to increase the salaries of unskilled laborers employed at the college and to demand the dismissal of J. D. Boyd, the Negro president of the college, because of his "dictatorial attitude."

REC-108 157-6-[illegible]

The entire group of marchers were arrested when they refused to move from the public highway adjoining the college after the college president refused to meet with Evers.

They were subsequently released on bond. Evers announced that the demonstrations will continue until the demands of the Negroes are met. He said he expects to lead 1,000 people in a march to the college on Saturday, March 12, 1966.

NEGROES BOYCOTT ADAMS COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, SCHOOLS

Charles Evers, Field Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Mississippi, led a march of approximately 275 individuals to the Adams County Courthouse in Natchez, Mississippi, on March 7, 1966, to protest the failure of the Adams County officials to appoint a Negro to the Natchez-Adams County School Board. At the courthouse Evers announced to the group that more marches will be held and he urged all Negro parents to keep their children out of local schools for at least a week to emphasize their demands for the appointment of a Negro to the school board.

Mr. Brent Forman, President of the Natchez-Adams County School Board, has advised that the apparent boycott of the schools began on March 8, 1966, with approximately 80 per cent of the Negro students remaining away from classes.

On March 10, 1966, Evers led another march to the Education Center Building in Natchez. More than 700 Negroes, the majority of whom were of high school age or younger, participated in the demonstration. The Negroes completely blocked the sidewalks and portions of the street in front of the Education Center Building. Evers delivered a speech, which appeared to be directed to white persons in the area, in which he stated that the Negroes greatly outnumber the white people and that at any time the Negroes can kill all of the white people if they so desire. He also said that if the school situation does not change he will lead a march of Negro children on the white schools at a future date. Evers announced that all of the Negro students will return to classes on March 14, 1966. Although a crowd of about 150 white spectators gathered near the scene of the demonstration, there were no incidents. A large number of local police assisted by officers of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol were on the scene to maintain order.

VIOLENCE ACCOMPANIES DEMONSTRATION AT HERTFORD, NORTH CAROLINA

In a demonstration to emphasize the demands of Negroes for more jobs, Golden A. Frinks, Field Secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in North Carolina, and Reverend F. L. Andrews, President of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Hertford, North Carolina, led a group of approximately 150 Negroes in an attempted march to the center of Hertford on the night of March 9, 1966. The marchers were halted by troopers of the North Carolina Highway Patrol about one-half mile from the starting point of the march and thirty of the adult participants, including the two leaders, were arrested and charged with marching without a permit.

The state troopers ordered the remaining demonstrators to disperse and when this order was ignored fire hoses were turned on them. The marchers scattered but immediately regrouped and began throwing rocks, bottles, and other objects at the troopers. Tear gas was then used against the marchers and they left the area. All of those arrested were released on bond.

On the night of March 10, 1966, Captain S. H. Mitchell, North Carolina Highway Patrol, and Daniel Coltraine, State Human Relations Committee Chairman, with four squads of troopers from the North Carolina Highway Patrol, met a large group of Negroes as they departed from the First Baptist Church in Hertford and started marching to the courthouse in Hertford. After a discussion with Captain Mitchell and Mr. Coltraine the leaders of the march agreed to a compromise. They held a short prayer meeting and sang one song at the point of confrontation and then returned to the church without further incident.

Earlier in the day Golden Frinks stated that he plans to take demonstrators by bus on Saturday night, March 12, 1966, to within five miles of Elizabeth City, North Carolina, and march the remaining distance to a scheduled United Klans of America rally being held in Elizabeth City. Frinks said it is the intention of the civil rights leaders to develop a crisis so that their problems will be brought to the attention of the necessary people.

DEMONSTRATIONS OPPOSING APPEARANCE OF SENATOR ROBERT F. KENNEDY AT UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI PLANNED

The scheduled speech of Senator Robert F. Kennedy at the University of Mississippi in Oxford, Mississippi, on March 18, 1966, is reportedly drawing opposition from several prosegregation groups. The Americans for the Preservation of the White Race plans to sponsor a rally in Jackson, Mississippi, several days prior to Senator Kennedy's appearance to demonstrate its opposition. This group had originally planned a "ride-in" demonstration at the University of Mississippi, on the day of Senator Kennedy's appearance but canceled it because of a fear that it would be blamed if any violence erupted.

The members of the Knights of the Green Forest, Incorporated, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, plan to stage a picketing demonstration at the University of Mississippi at the time Senator Kennedy is speaking. A source of this Bureau has advised that the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi are encouraging Klansmen and their friends to drive to Oxford on March 18, 1966, to join in the protest of his appearance.

The Citizens Council of America, a prosegregation group, was denied permission to use the courthouse at Oxford, Mississippi, on the evening of March 18, 1966, for an appearance of Edwin A. Walker, former Major General, United States Army, who was to speak in an effort to offset Senator Kennedy's speech earlier that day. Walker reportedly still intends to speak in Oxford, probably on the courthouse lawn. A source has advised that Charles Evers will lead members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in a demonstration at the University of Mississippi on March 18, 1966, in support of Senator Kennedy's visit.

He stated that when they are called they will not plead the Fifth Amendment. He stated they had land leased in the Washington area "across the river" and it was possible to see the Capitol dome from this land. He indicated the UKA would conduct rallies every night on this land while UKA members were testifying in Washington.

7D

[redacted] also said General Edwin Walker would probably be there, since he is being appointed Grand Dragon of Texas.

7D

[redacted] then told those present that they did not have any problem, and they should return to Florida and follow the UKA Constitution until the state election.

SUBJECT: NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY
RACIAL MATTERS

Our Tampa Office received information from a confidential source that Dewey M. Taft, Florida State Chairman of the National States Rights Party (NSRP) at a recent meeting indicated he was in the process of preparing an issue of the "American Digest" which would "headline the fact that Bobby Kennedy had his brother, John F. Kennedy, shot, that Ruby and Oswald were in on the deal, that they tried to kill Retired General Walker before assassinating the President."

The "American Digest" is the NSRP publication printed by Dewey M. Taft at Tampa, Florida.

The NSRP is an anti-Semitic and anti-integration hate group.

ACTION:

The information concerning Robert F. Kennedy is set forth in a report on the NSRP. Tampa has been instructed to immediately furnish that information in a letterhead memorandum in order that it may be disseminated to the President's Commission, investigating the assassination of former President Kennedy. The report containing the above information has already been furnished to the Department.

Dallas, Texas
October 27, 1964

DL T-1, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on April 24, 1963, [redacted] planned to arrive in New York City on April 24, 1963, with former Major General Edwin A. Walker, who was scheduled to address a meeting of the National Society of New England Women at the Hotel Waldorf Astoria, New York City, on April 24, 1963.

On January 2, 1964, the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation received an anonymous letter dated December 28, 1963, in which the writer stated that Mrs. R. A. Surrey, 3506 Lindenwood, Dallas, secretary to Edwin A. Walker, cancelled an account with a Dallas store because of an advertisement that store ran welcoming President Kennedy to Dallas. The anonymous writer also said that Mrs. Surrey also accompanied the General to Oxford, Mississippi.

On November 22, 1963, [redacted] 7D Parkland Hospital, Dallas, to which President Kennedy was taken after he had been shot, furnished the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation a piece of paper containing a number of names and comments which was found near the scene where newspaper reporters were making notes at the hospital. Included on this paper was the following: "Robert Surrey has been Walker's top aide. He went with him to Mississippi and has accompanied him on other trips."

[redacted] 7D was interviewed by Special Agents of the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning his knowledge of the attempt on Edwin A. Walker's life on April 10, 1963. He stated he had visited General Walker on April 8, 1963, and again on April 10, 1963, after Walker called him on the telephone following the shooting incident.

"Report - The President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy" published by Government

ENCLOSURE

Printing Office, Washington, 1964, describes the appearance of a "Wanted for Treason" handbill on the streets of Dallas one or two days before President Kennedy's arrival. These handbills bore a reproduction of a front and profile photograph of the President and set forth a series of inflammatory charges against him. Robert A. Surrey was eventually identified as the author of the handbill. Surrey, a 38 year old printing salesman, employed by the Johnson Printing Company of Dallas, Texas, has been closely associated with General Walker for several years in his political and business activities. He is President of American Eagle Publishing Company of Dallas, in which he is a partner with General Walker. Its office and address is the post office box of Johnson Printing Company. Its assets consist of cash and various printed materials composed chiefly of General Walker's political and promotional literature, all of which is storedat General Walker's headquarters.

Surrey prepared the text for the handbill and apparently used Johnson Printing Company facilities to set the type and print a proof.

A news story concerning the above excerpt from the report issued by the President's Commission appeared in "The Dallas Times Herald" for September 28, 1964.

7D

[redacted], advised Special Agents of the Richmond Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that in order to write an article exposing George Lincoln Rockwell, National Commander of the American Nazi Party, (see appendix) he joined that organization in 1963. In addition to other information [redacted] said that in July, 1964, Rockwell conceived the idea of forming a new "front group" at a conference to be held from July 24 through July 27, 1964. He mailed a letter to approximately 27 persons requesting them to meet at a "secret" city. The new "front group" was to appeal to the "frustrated middle-class, newly-awakened, worried and responsible white people." It was to obtain money and make members of people who are afraid of the Nazi Party and/or "no longer panty-waist Birchers."

[redacted] 7D

[redacted] an invitation had been sent to General Edwin Walker to attend the above meeting, but he did not attend. [redacted] conceived the above organization to obtain funds for the American Nazi Party and will attempt to manipulate the leaders of the "United White Christians Majority" for his own purposes. He said that the latter organization issued a brochure which will contain a petition. The petitions will be for the purpose of raising funds, and recipients who are asked to contribute money will not know that this organization is being operated by the American Nazi Party. [redacted] characterized General Walker as the retired U. S. Army General who has, in the past, been very active in anti-integration movements in the Southern United States.

[redacted]

On October 20, 1964 [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised the Dallas Office that Robert A. Surrey has been very close to General Edwin A. Walker for a considerable length of time and that Surrey's wife, Mary Surrey, has been a long-time volunteer office worker for Walker. Source advised that Mrs. Surrey is one of the founders of the John Birch Society in Dallas. Source stated that Surrey's daughter, Karen Surrey, then age 15, had presented Madam Ngo Dinh Nhu of Viet Nam, a bouquet of roses upon the occasion of the latter's visit to Dallas on October 23, 1963.

This source stated he did not believe Surrey to be in a financial position to contribute any large sum of money to any organization with which he might be in sympathy and that if he had made such a contribution, General Walker, whose financial condition is excellent, was probably the real contributor of such money in Surrey's name.

II. AFFILIATION WITH KLAN-TYPE OR HATE-TYPE ORGANIZATIONS

[redacted] He indicated it was to be a militent type of organization with its stated purpose being to combat Communism. The organization would go into towns where there is trouble to back up police and civil defense, that the police officers would be the first to be eliminated by the trouble makers, that civil defense workers do not amount to anything in controlling trouble makers, and it would, therefore, be eventually up to this organization to step in. He indicated that they would work secretly.

He explained that the ARR will be opened to all races and creeds and remarked that they put that in the charter for the benefit of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Federal Government, and they would let Negroes in the organization providing they put up $5,000. He stated members would have uniforms and the organization would be run in a military manner with trials held for members who violate the oath. He said General EDWIND WALKER will have jurisdiction over the entire organization, but will remain in the background and will not be openly connected with it.

The Congress of Conservatives is holding a three-day convention at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel, Chicago, Illinois, commencing at 7:00 PM, April 29, 1965, and ending on May 1, 1965, Arrangements for this convention were made by Kent Courtney of New Orleans who is the Publisher of the "Independent American" and Chairman of the Congress of Conservatives.

Among those scheduled to appear at this convention are General Edwin Walker, retired, and Lester Maddox, a former restaurant owner from Atlanta, Georgia.

The purpose of this convention is to lay the groundwork for a third political party.

No information had been developed by the Chicago Police Department indicating there would be any demonstrations or picketing in connection with this convention, however, the Chicago Police Department had scheduled additional patrols in the vicinity of the convention in the event pickets or demonstrators would appear.

The Chicago "Daily News" issue of April 29, 1965, contains an article relating that General Walker called a press conference in Chicago, Illinois, on April 29, 1965, in which Walker was generally critical of news media as "infested with Communists and controled from Washington".

This news article indicates that attendance at the above conference was expected to be approximately four hundred.

Paris 62-148

Re Paris letter 3-20-64.

There is enclosed for the Bureau a copy of the latest article in the series by THOMAS GITTINGS BUCHANAN, JR., which appeared in "L'Express" on 3-26-64.

In this article BUCHANAN discusses the people "in power" in Dallas and states that they used gangsters as "front men" in assisting and protecting OSWALD in that city. Without their concurrence, according to BUCHANAN, OSWALD would never have been able to have obtained employment in Dallas. BUCHANAN describes the members of the Dallas Council as being the wealthy and influential people behind the scenes in that community and states that seven members of the Council represent the "cream" of the influential citizens of Dallas. In the latter group he mentions H. L. HUNT, his son LAMAR HUNT, as well as CLINTON and JOHN CHURCHILL. Thereafter, BUCHANAN discusses the background and business dealings of HUNT as well as his relations with General EDWIN WALKER and the John Birch Society. BUCHANAN also goes into some detail concerning the unsuccessful financial dealings of the HURCHISON brothers in their attempt to win control of the Allegheny Corporation from ALLAN P. KIRBY, one of its principal stockholders.

In commenting on the attempted slaying of General WALKER attributed to OSWALD, BUCHANAN expresses some surprise that in this case using the same rifle OSWALD fired at a stationary target, did not re-load, and missed his target, whereas in the case of the assassination of the President, he successfully fired several shots at a moving target.

In addition, BUCHANAN comments that OSWALD was reported to have hated WALKER as well as President KENNEDY, WALKER's political enemy, whose foreign policy and politics the General had criticized severely. BUCHANAN expresses his surprise that OSWALD would have planned and attempted the assassination of General WALKER as well as that of the man who represented a completely opposite school of thought.

The above represents a general summary of BUCHANAN's latest article. There is no indication that there will be further articles in this series although we will follow this matter and report any additional information of pertinence. In the case of this article, as has been recommended in the case of the others, it is suggested that a translation be made and it is requested that a copy be furnished to the Paris Office.

TRANSLATION FROM FRENCH

The Report of Thomas Buchanan. STRUGGLE TO THE DEATH BETWEEN WALL STREET AND TEXAS

(L'Express, March 26, 1964)

Last week we interrupted the publication of the report of Thomas Buchanan (started in "L'Express" on February 20) to permit him to communicate the results, which he considers encouraging and positive, of his contacts with American authorities charged with the investigation of the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

That which he has to tell us now no longer falls under the heading of mathematical analysis of material circumstances of the assassination.

But if, as he believed to have demonstrated, this assassination was a result of a plot, of which Lee Oswald and Jack Ruby have been instruments, what interests or what passions could create such a plot?

This is what Thomas Buchanan tells us now.

The gang which Oswald joined upon his return from Russia was unlike any other. Oswald could not know at that time what kind of a hornet's nest he stepped into. He knew only the "front men" of the gang ready to give him a new start, to protect him, and to procure employment for him. These men were gangsters. But the group for which they worked was not an association of criminals: this group governed Dallas.

In fact, no one would have been able to procure municipal employment for Oswald and to keep him there without the approval of the city government; better still, without a decided willingness of the rulers of Dallas to use Oswald later on.

Which one of these rulers, then? All of them, except criminals. There are some American cities where gangsters hold real power: Galveston, among others, where pirate Jean Laffitte lived not so very long ago and where piracy, adapted to this century, continues to flourish. Dallas, however, does not resemble Galveston: it is, according to "Fortune" magazine "one of the cleanest and best administered cities in the United States."

The Ruby gang has never succeeded in putting its hand upon Dallas. On the contrary: it was the police which put its hand upon the Ruby gang and sent two of his accomplices to prison, after which Ruby understood and kept quiet.

More exactly, he was careful not to go beyond the limit of that which was tolerated, i. e., to play horses, manage brothels, entertain respectable citizens, in brief, provide them with what the Romans called "play." The organizers of this "play" fight to the death among themselves but do not fight (at least, not normally), with the police, who are their secret partners.

The Most Subversive Citizen

Thus, gangsters do not rule Dallas; neither does the police; nor the District Attorney; nor the mayor, who complained that someone threatened to kill him if he went to Kennedy's funeral in Washington; nor the citizens or their elected representatives. No, Dallas is governed by a Council which "The U. S. News and World Report" (economic weekly with right-wing tendencies) of February 3, 1964, described in these terms:

"The Council is composed of about 250 persons. They are the richest citizens of the city. Their group was formed in 1936, for the good of the city. One does not enter it except by cooptation. Members of the group are the managing personnel of important companies. They are used to making decisions and executing them."

In a recent book, "The Decision Makers," a daughter of a Dallas judge supplies these additional details: the Council itself is headed by a group of seven members, the "cream" of the city. These seven men, all of them possessing immense fortunes and powers, approve or reject all the important decisions regarding this city of millionaires. They are too important to deal with officials directly; their orders are relayed through the Council.

A decision to give municipal employment to Lee Harvey Oswald, the most "subversive" citizen of Dallas, on the list of all the police authorities - this decision assuredly was not within the competence of some functionary of the "Anti-Red Squad." The Seven Great Ones of Dallas would have certainly put through a very bad quarter of an hour anyone who would permit, without consulting them, school books of Dallas to pass through the corrupting hands of a "Red." They were of necessity aware of the hiring of Oswald. What was their ulterior motive in authorizing it?

The Seven Anonymous Great

Although the identity of the Seven Great Ones has not yet been revealed by any of the authors who wrote about Dallas, it is not too difficult to establish it. A group of the richest and most powerful citizens of the city should automatically include H. L. Hunt, an oilman with a world reputation, whose fortune is without equal in Texas. His income was estimated at 200,000 dollars a day and his capital at 2 billion dollars. Lamar, son of H. L. Hunt, whose personal fortune reaches 150 million dollars likewise ought to be a member of the Group of Seven.

After the Hunts, the most powerful family in Dallas are the Murchisons. Private fortunes of brothers Clinton W. and John D. Murchison have been evaluated in 1961 at 150 million dollars. Together they possess or manage some hundred companies with a capital totaling one billion dollars.

Dallas certainly is not the only city in the United States or in the industrial world governed by businessmen.

The singularity of Texas, however, lies in the fact that its oligarchy is not composed of the level-headed, rational, far-sighted businessmen such as one finds elsewhere; it is dominated by adventurers and gamblers.

Of course, we are not speaking of professional gamblers, although Hunt started his fabulous career in a gambling house of El Dorado, Arkansas, and won his first oil well at poker (1).

(1) Footnote: The career of Hunt and, more generally, Texas, made a subject of a brilliant book written by John Bainbridge which has just been published in French under the title "Stupefiant Texas" (Amazing Texas).

The gambling to which multimillionaires of Texas are addicted (and in which they lose sometimes) is an industry which appears more serious at first sight, namely, petroleum. Its rules are very different from those of steel, coal, banking or insurance industry. As a consequence the men whom petroleum industry attracts, are, too, of a very different type.

Few people are aware of the dominant position which petroleum occupies in the American economy. A majority undoubtedly consider that steel, automobile, or chemical industry are the most important branches. But the capital - over 50 billion dollars - invested in the petroleum industry exceeds that of the three above-mentioned industries put together. Almost half of this immense wealth is owned by the Texans.

On Exorbitant Prices

Profits which Texas gets from its petroleum are so substantial that this State has no income tax. Its citizens grumblingly pay only the federal tax (imposed by Washington). As a consequence, the oilmen are undisputed masters of Texas. In theory, their industry is regulated by the Texas Railroad Commission which decides upon the quantity which each producer has the right to extract every month. The commission determines first the tonnage which the companies, who own the pipelines, are disposed to buy; then each Texan oil company is allocated a quota of this tonnage.

The overproduction as well as competition and the lowering of prices is thus being avoided. It follows from this that no Texas oilman would tolerate a commission acting in the public interest (which would want prices to be as low as possible) rather than in the interest of producers (who want prices to be as high as possible). Thus, members of the commission are chosen with care. From time to time, when the oilmen's decisions threaten the economy as a whole, efforts are made to moderate their appetites.

Such was the case, for example, in May, 1958, when a federal commission accused twenty-two companies of an agreement to impose exorbitant prices. Was there any shortage (of oil)? None whatever: the resources were so great that from nine to thirteen days of extraction a month would be sufficient to meet the demand. And yet, the Humble Oil Co. raised its prices and 28 other companies imitated it.

H. Carmical (sic), financial expert of the "New York Times," estimated that this increase would cost half a billion dollars to consumers. Public indignation was so strong that companies were brought to court for a violation of the antitrust law. But an understanding judge decided that "proofs were insufficient" and concluded: "Personally, I am absolutely convinced that defendants are not guilty."

Traditionally, the "defendants" argued that oil prospecting is such a risky game that only a hope for more than ordinary profits can induce one to engage in it. In the newly explored regions only one drill-hole out of eight proves to be productive. Moreover, even when one is lucky, a small independent oilman cannot be sure that this luck will hold out; his well may be exhausted before he discovers another one.

Oilmen thus feel that their fiscal privileges are justified, permitting them to deduct 27.5% of "amortization" from their gross income. In 1926, when taxes were very low in the United States, these fiscal advantages did not matter too much. But fiscal revenue has risen by 35 times since then; in relation to other industries, the oilmen's privilege increased in the same proportion, to say nothing about numerous additional favors which oilmen were able to obtain.

Thanks to this special status, prospecting for and extraction of petroleum became practically a business without risks, at least for large companies.

The only ones who remain vulnerable are small businessmen who go into debt to accomplish one single operation. They have seven chances out of eight to end up by being ruined. On the contrary, a man like Hunt, who carries on a great number of operations at the same time, cannot lose. He cannot keep his millions from bringing in more millions for him. And, curiously enough, Hunt is broken-hearted about it.

It is not that he wants to lose his entire fortune; far from it. However, when one has made his first billion, the facility with which one acquires the second one deprives the whole adventure of its attraction and freshness. Especially when one like Hunt is "in love" with the game. The worst that could happen to a gambler is, in fact, either to lose everything or to win for sure, to the point where the game becomes monotonous.

Ideas of Juan Achala

When Hunt realized that he would be unable to keep himself from making money, he went to look for risks elsewhere. No one ever gambled like him in history of the United States. During the baseball world series of 1956, he bet 300,000 dollars on the Yankee team in the first game and lost. His office has direct telephone connection with the majority of American race courses. But, on the whole, Hunt is doomed to win, even at the races: he declared recently that he won there a million dollars in one year.

Finally, Hunt looked to politics for risks which he was no longer able to run in business. He became for extreme-right groups what Thyssen was for Hitler. It was Hunt who enlisted Texas millionaires to finance the campaigns of Senator McCarthy. After the death of the latter, Hunt spent a fortune to maintain anticommunist passions which McCarthy inflamed. He acquired a radio-television chain and launched a series of publications of extreme-right tendency which he called "Facts Forum," parallel with another enterprise of the same sort ("Life Line").

In 1960, Hunt started to write himself. His novel was rejected by editors. Hunt finally had it published by a firm which prints telephone directories and sells them for half a dollar. His book is amply worth this price.

Entitled "Alpaca" and presented as a love story, Hunt's novel takes place in a small imaginary country, and its hero, Juan Achala, a profound thinker, studies the "past misfortunes and unpredictable future." For the benefit of his admirers and friends, Juan Achala sets forth a program which would cure his country of the misdeeds of democracy. He shows how stupid it is to allow a vote to anyone indiscriminately. It would be much better if ordinary citizens delegate their right to vote to rich people, and 10% of the wealthiest citizens dispose of seven votes each. By paying a special tax, these 10% should have a chance to still increase the weight of their votes.

The society, according to Achala, should be governed in the manner of corporations: "The greatest shareholder should have the greatest number of votes." Court juries obviously should be abolished and taxation of large incomes limited to 25%. As to those who exploit natural resources of the country, they should enjoy more extensive fiscal privileges.

We may note that Juan Achala has already realized a good portion of his program in Dallas itself.

Hunt described his hero as a man of "athletic build, proud, but with innate courtesy, with burning eyes surmounted by finely outlined eyebrows, and whose magnificent white and regular teeth, emphasizing a quick smile, exercised a magnetic attraction even upon strangers."

Life was kind to Hunt: shortly after the publication of his first novel, he met the living incarnation of Juan Achala in the person of General Edwin Anderson Walker, a member of the John Birch Society, a new extreme-right group for which Hunt provided money.

The Night of April 10

Walker caused pamphlets to be distributed in the unit he commanded in West Germany which were furnished by the John Birch Society and which vehemently denounced President Kennedy and his foreign policy. A scandal broke out; the general was censured and finally relieved of his command. Recalled to the United States, he resigned, launching a particularly bitter attack against the President, whom he has not ceased to insult since then, in terms which would have caused his imprisonment in a majority of other countries.

Walker did not hesitate to call citizens to violence against representatives of John F. Kennedy. He was arrested for organizing armed resistance against federal troops, in order to prevent Negro children from going to public schools in Mississippi.

It is thus highly significant that this most bitter enemy of John F. Kennedy, residing at Turtle Creek Boulevard in Dallas, the favorite section of the Seven Great Ones, had a direct contact with Lee Oswald. In fact, the FBI made it known that on the night of April 10, 1963, it was Oswald who took a shot with a rifle through a window of a study where Walker, military chief of John Birch Society, was working. This was the first use made by Oswald of his Carcano rifle which was delivered to him a few weeks earlier.

In An Address Book

Surely, the FBI was not mistaken. There is only one question; why did it delay so long in making this revelation? This first mission of Oswald contains, in fact, some interesting elements. The same marksman, employing the same rifle, already furnished with its telescopic sight, shot at a short distance leaning his rifle upon a fence (assures the FBI) at a man who was seated and well illuminated. He shot and missed. And despite the great celerity supposedly proved later, Oswald was incapable on that evening of recharging his rifle quickly enough for making a second shot. The same man who denied all the time that he shot Kennedy, came home that evening to tell everything to his wife (with whom he was not on very intimate terms) and boast about his exploit.

Better still: the same man is supposed to have hated at the same time the President and his worst enemy. Or, perhaps, he did not really try to kill Walker? This is a legitimate question: if Oswald's attempt against Walker was a serious undertaking, we cannot understand why he was not arrested and questioned. Even in Europe it happens that a man exposes himself to a fake attempt (on his life) to enhance his popularity.

In saying this I am not advancing an unfounded theory: relations between Oswald and Walker have been proved. In fact, after the assassination of Kennedy, police found an address book at the home of Oswald. It contained a private telephone number of an FBI Agent and the number of his car (license). Moreover, it also contained, according to the "Dallas Morning Post," General Walker's name and telephone number.

But it is evident that a man who seeks to assassinate another has no need to write the name of his victim in his notebook. And when one preserves someone's telephone number, it is to telephone him, not only once but also in the future (1).

(1) Footnote: It would be interesting to know if Walker's number appeared in the telephone directory. If so, Oswald must have intended to use it frequently. If not, it remains to be determined how he obtained it.

Now we have all the necessary elements for identifying the gang of which Oswald became a member.

All the oilmen of Texas are gamblers. It is appropriate to recall here the disdainful words of an aristocratic southerner who refused to associate with the newly-rich of Texas: "For us, money made in oil is the same as money won in gambling. And we have no desire to associate with gamblers."

All the Texan oilmen are obsessed by the desire for power. Money is important to them above all because of the power which it confers. This is particularly obvious in the case of the Murchisons who, in distinction from Hunt, inherited their fortune from their father and received the best possible education. One of the brothers, nevertheless had a room built for him with eight beds, "so we can talk oil all through the night."

Oil is not, however, the principal preoccupation of the Murchisons. They represent a new Texan generation which seeks to annex other domains to their empire.

They threw themselves into the most ambitious enterprise ever attempted by a Texan: to dominate the United States by taking control of Wall Street. This is the first time in history of the United States that outsiders have challenged the traditional citadel of American finance. If they succeed, the financial center (and the principal center of decision) of the United States will no longer be in Manhattan but in Dallas.

The first test of strength between the Texans and Wall Street came in 1960. The Brothers Murchison were then accused of taking advantage of their position in the administrative council of the Investors' Diversified Services (I.D.S.) for obtaining loans on favorable conditions.

Although the charge was withdrawn later, the Murchisons swore to avenge themselves and to take control of this most powerful investment company in the world: in fact, the capital of the I.D.S. reaches 4.2 billion dollars. But even the Murchisons were not in a position to buy directly the majority of the I.D.S. shares. They then launched a devious attack against the Alleghany Corporation, a holding company which controls 47% of the shares of the I.D.S.

18 Million Dollars in Losses

Quietly they bought all the shares of the Alleghany they could find. One fine day, the New Yorkers found themselves before an accomplished fact: the number of votes at the disposal of the Murchisons in the Alleghany was nearly equal to that of Allan P. Kirby, a Manhattan financier who controlled the company until then.

Kirby and Murchisons from then on threw themselves into a bitter fight, each searching to draw small shareholders into their camp. Armed with IBM calculating machines, which enabled them to determine their positions day to day, the Murchisons gained the upper hand and ousted Kirby. Immediately they tried to take over the complete control of the I.D.S.; crowned with success, their attempt won for them a 5 billion dollar empire, twice the fortune of Hunt.

But Wall Street, frightened by this unparalleled victory of Texas united against the newcomers. Attorneys for Kirby obtained a judgment declaring that the transfer of the I.D.S. under control of the Murchisons was illegal. Faced with defeat, the latter sold their shares in the Alleghany, suffering a loss of 18 million dollars.

Truman - A Communist

Seventy-one-year-old Kirby was reinstated at the head of the company. He gambled the best part of his fortune in this duel "out of vanity." The Texans who did not foresee such a vigorous resistance, have just lost a battle; but they resolved not to lose the war against Wall Street.

There are three kinds of enemies for the Murchisons, the Hunts, and other Texas billionaires, whom they swore to crush: Wall Street financiers; Washington politicians; and communists, who they suspect, have infiltrated themselves everywhere. Like Hunt, the Murchisons widely financed McCarthy. They prevented the re-election of the two principal critics of McCarthy in the Senate: William Benton of Connecticut and Millard Tydings of Maryland, although the latter is a very conservative man who vigorously opposed the New Deal.

Texans' hostility to Washington and Wall Street is often surprising. The "New York Times" of October 16, 1956, for example, was astonished that the "Governor of Texas, a rich and conservative man, speaks about Wall Street in the same terms as the 'Daily Worker,'" an extreme-left daily. It is also astonishing that Texan billionaires, despite enormous privileges enjoyed by their State and their industry, continue to complain about their "oppressive taxes" and the interference of Washington bureaucrats in the Texas affairs.

In fact, Texas has such a small social welfare budget that its citizens get more federal subsidies than those in any other State. Among 50 American States, Texas is in 44th place in aid to (dependent) children from its own funds, but in 1st place, in subsidies received from Washington. In aid to the aged and infirm, Texas classes itself as the 40th, but is in 2nd place for sums received from Washington. Texas stands in 3rd place in federal aid to education and in 32nd place for its own expenditures for education.

However, Dallas billionaires consider a "communist" any critic of their regime and their fiscal privileges. Among these critics one can find, however, the late Senator Robert Taft and ex-President Truman.

The first serious attempt to make the Texas oilmen pay taxes, comparable to those imposed upon other industries, was made under Roosevelt. The result was that Vice President John Nance Garner, a Texan, teammate of Roosevelt in 1932, became his sworn enemy and opposed his re-election in 1936.

In 1945, when Roosevelt died, a San Antonio billionaire gave a cocktail party to celebrate in the midst of war, the President's death. Since then, the Texans have been effectively protected in Washington by Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House of Representatives, the best champion the oil of Texas has ever had; thanks to him, proposals which tended to modify the status of the oilmen were regularly buried before they were discussed.

The principal adversary of the Texas billionaires is Senator Douglas of Illinois, who wishes to limit the special deduction of 27.5% to small producers of petroleum only. Douglas has shown that an oil company which, in 1954, made four million dollars of clear profit, paid only 404 dollars of taxes, i.e., less than an average couple with two children; that another company did not pay any taxes after having made 5 million dollars net profit. A third one, despite its 12 million dollars of profits obtained 500,000 dollars of tax credit ....

To these critics, the Texans reply that "national security" depends upon maintenance of their profits at the present rate. "Petroleum, gentlemen, is ammunition," declared General Ernest O. Thompson, Commander of the National Guard of Texas. "Why meddle with a system which provided so much petroleum for us that we were able to win two wars?"

Wells of Libya

The implication is clear: two wars; why not a third one? There is no community more hostile than Texas to prospects of a relaxation of Russian-American tensions.

And nowhere are they so convinced that the United States would be able not only to survive a nuclear war, but also to win it - especially if it strikes first - and that the game could be worth the candle.

In part, this opposition to all relaxation may be attributed to Texan egoism: the armament policy, in fact, contributed to its economic expansion, six times as rapid as in the United States as a whole. And, conversely, no other State would suffer more from disarmament.

But the Texans are equally afraid that a relaxation of tensions may result in the withdrawal of American troops from countries where the oilmen of Texas have acquired great interests. H. L. Hunt, for example, bought in Libya 4.5 million hectares, all in one block, the subsoil of which overflows with petroleum; he characterized as "fantastic" the production of wells drilled up to now. And he does not wish to suffer the fate of Richard M. Kleberg, Junior, president of the most celebrated cattle-raising enterprise in Texas, who lost 12,000 hectares in Cuba after the overthrow of Batista.

To all of these people it appears really scandalous that the United States permitted Castro to establish himself in power. They see in him a danger for oil investments in all Latin America, a mortal danger to themselves.

But neither private interests, nor fears, however, would be sufficient to explain the attitude of a considerable part of Texan billionaires. These men are motivated not by calculation alone. They are also motivated by boredom. Short of new possibilities for conquest and adventure in Texas, they turned their eyes toward other horizons. We have in them a case of the most powerful and wealthiest oligarchy in the world, an oligarchy which, moreover, is composed of men with a passion for gambling and taking risks.

: RAPPORT DE THOMAS BUCHANAN

LUTTE A MORT ENTRE WALL STREET ET LE TEXAS

Nous avons interrompu, la semaine dernière, la publication du rapport de Thomas Buchanan (commencée dans « L'Express » du 20 février) pour lui permettre de communiquer les révélations, qu'il juge convergentes et positives, de ses contacts avec les autorités américaines chargées de l'enquête sur l'assassinat de John F. Kennedy.

Ce qu'il a à dire maintenant ne ressemble plus à l'analyse mathématique des circonstances matérielles de l'assassinat.

Mais si, comme il avait l'avoir démontré, cet assassinat a été le fruit d'un complot dont Lee Oswald et Jack Ruby ont été les instruments, quels intérêts, ou quelles passions, ont pu faire naître ce complot ?

C'est ce que Thomas Buchanan expose maintenant.

LE gang auquel s'intégra Oswald, à son retour de Russie, n'était pas un gang comme les autres. Oswald ne pouvait savoir, à cette époque, dans quel guêpier il mettait les pieds. Il ne connaissait du gang, prêt à le dépanner, à le protéger, à lui procurer un emploi, que des hommes de paille. Ces hommes étaient des gangsters. Mais le groupe pour lequel ils travaillaient n'était pas une association de criminels : ce groupe gouvernait Dallas.

Personne, en effet, n'aurait pu procurer à Oswald un emploi municipal et l'y maintenir sans l'approbation du gouvernement de la ville ; mieux : sans la volonté bien arrêtée des gouvernants de Dallas de se servir d'Oswald par la suite.

Quels sont donc ces gouvernants ? Tous, sauf des criminels. Il est des villes américaines où les gangsters détiennent le pouvoir réel. A Galveston, notamment, où régnait naguère le pirate Jean Laffitte et où la piraterie, adaptée à ce siècle, continue de fleurir. Dallas, toutefois, ne ressemble pas à Galveston : c'est, selon la revue « Fortune », « l'une des villes les plus propres et les mieux administrées des États-Unis ».

Le gang de Ruby ne réussit jamais à mettre la main sur Dallas. Au contraire : c'est la police qui mit la main sur le gang de Ruby et envoya deux de ses complices en prison. Après quoi, Ruby comprit et se tint tranquille.

Plus exactement, il prit soin de ne pas dépasser la limite de ce qui était toléré. A savoir : jouer aux courses, gérer des maisons closes, divertir les respectables citoyens, bref leur fournir ce que les Romains appelaient des « jeux ». Les organisateurs de ces jeux se battent à mort entre eux, mais ils ne se battent pas avec la police (du moins pas normalement) qui est leur associée secrète.

Le citoyen le plus subversif

Les gangsters ne gouvernent donc pas Dallas ; ni la police ; ni le District Attorney ; ni le maire, qui se plaignait qu'on eût menacé de le tuer s'il se rendait aux funérailles de Kennedy, à Washington ; ni les citoyens en leurs clubs. Non. Dallas est gouvernée par un Conseil que « U.S. News and World Report » (hebdomadaire économique aux tendances de droite) du 3 février 1964 décrit en ces termes :

Dans un récent livre, « The Decision Makers », la fille d'un juge de Dallas apporte cependant ces précisions supplémentaires : le Conseil est lui-même coiffé par un groupe de sept membres, le « crème » de la ville. Ces sept hommes, tous détenteurs de fortunes et de pouvoirs immenses, approuvent ou rejettent toutes les décisions importantes concernant cette ville millionnaire. Ils sont trop importants pour traiter directement avec les fonctionnaires : leurs ordres sont transmis par le Conseil.

La décision de donner un emploi municipal à Lee Harvey Oswald — le citoyen le plus « subversif » de Dallas, fiché par toutes les polices — cette décision n'était assurément pas de la compétence de quelque fonctionnaire ou de la « Brigade antirouges ». Les Sept Grands de Dallas auraient certainement fait passer un très mauvais quart d'heure à celui ou à ceux qui, sans les consulter, auraient permis que les livres scolaires de Dallas passent par les mains corruptrices d'un « rouge ». Ils devaient nécessairement être au courant de l'embauchage d'Oswald. Avec quelle arrière-pensée l'ont-ils autorisé ?

Les Sept Grands anonymes

Bien que l'identité des Sept Grands n'ait encore été dévoilée par aucun des auteurs qui ont écrit sur Dallas, il n'est pas très difficile de l'établir. Le groupe des citoyens les plus riches et les plus puissants de la ville doit automatiquement comprendre H.L. Hunt, pétrolier de renommée mondiale, dont la fortune est sans égale au Texas. Son revenu a été évalué à 200.000 dollars par jour ; son capital à 2 milliards de dollars. Le fils de H.L. Hunt, Lamar, dont la fortune personnelle s'élève à 150 millions de dollars, doit également faire partie du groupe des Sept.

Après les Hunt, la plus puissante famille de Dallas est celle des Marchiscon. Les fortunes privées des frères Clinton W. et John D. Marchiscon ont été évaluées, en 1961 à 160 millions de dollars. Ensemble, ils possédaient ou dirigeaient, en outre, une centaine de sociétés d'un capital de un milliard de dollars en total.

Dallas n'est assurément pas la seule ville des États-Unis, ou du monde industriel, à être gouvernée par des hommes d'affaires.

La singularité du Texas, toutefois, c'est que son oligarchie n'est pas composée des hommes d'affaires pondérés, raisonnés, prévoyants que l'on trouve ailleurs : elle est dominée par des aventuriers, par des joueurs.

Il ne s'agit pas, bien sûr, de professionnels du jeu de hasard, quoique Hunt ait commencé sa fabuleuse carrière dans une maison de jeu d'El Dorado (Arkansas) [redacted] ait gagné au poker [redacted] premi[redacted]ats de pétrole [redacted] jeu coquet se livrent les [redacted] illionnaires du Texas (et auque[redacted] ils perdent quelquefois) est une industrie plus sérieuse à première vue : le pétrole. Ses règles sont très différentes de celles de l'acier, du charbon, de la banque ou de l'assurance. L'industrie du pétrole attire, en conséquence, des hommes d'un genre très différent, eux aussi.

PUITS DE PÉTROLE AU TEXAS. (Dauphin.)

« L'argent gagné dans le pétrole est le même client que l'argent gagné au jeu. »

Peu de gens ne douteront de la position dominante que le pétrole occupe dans l'économie américaine. La plupart estimeront sans doute que l'industrie de l'acier, de l'automobile, la chimie sont les branches les plus importantes. Or, les capitaux investis dans le pétrole dépassent ceux des trois industries précitées mises ensemble : plus de 50 milliards de dollars. Et près de la moitié de cette immense richesse est la propriété de Texans.

Des prix exorbitants

Les profits que le Texas tire de son pétrole sont si considérables que cet Etat n'a pas d'impôts sur le revenu. Ses citoyens ne paient que l'impôt fédéral (levé par Washington) en maugréant. Les pétroliers sont, par conséquent, les maîtres incontestés du Texas. En théorie, leur industrie est régie par la Texas Railroad Commission, qui décide de la quantité que chaque producteur a le droit d'extraire chaque mois. La commission détermine d'abord quel tonnage les compagnies propriétaires des pipelines sont disposées à acheter ; puis chaque compagnie pétrolière texane se voit attribuer une quote-part de ce tonnage.

La surproduction est ainsi évitée, de même que la concurrence et la baisse des prix. Il va de soi qu'aucun pétrolier du Texas ne tolérerait une Commission agissant dans l'intérêt du public (qui souhaite des prix aussi bas que possible) plutôt que dans celui des producteurs (qui [redacted] aussi élevés que possible). Les membres de la Commission sont donc choisis avec soin. De temps à autre, quand les décisions des pétroliers menacent l'économie tout entière, des efforts sont faits pour modérer leur appétit.

Tel fut le cas, par exemple, en mai 1958, quand une commission fédérale accusa vingt-deux compagnies de s'être entendues pour imposer des prix exorbitants. Y avait-il pénurie ? Nullement : les disponibilités étaient si grandes que neuf à treize jours d'extraction par mois suffisaient pour satisfaire la demande. Et pourtant, la Humble Oil augmenta ses prix, et 28 autres compagnies l'imitèrent.

L'expert financier du « New York Times », H. Carmical, estime que cette augmentation coûtait un demi-milliard de dollars aux consommateurs. L'indignation publique fut si vive que les compagnies furent traduites en justice pour violation de la loi antitrust. Mais un juge compréhensif décida que « les preuves ne sont pas suffisantes » et il conclut : « Personnellement, j'ai la conviction absolue que les prévenus ne sont pas coupables. » Ils furent acquittés.

Traditionnellement, les « prévenus » argueront en effet que la prospection pétrolière est un jeu si risqué que seul l'espoir de profits plus que normaux peut y inciter. Sur huit forages, un seul se révèle productif dans les régions nouvellement prospectées. De plus, même quand il a eu de la chance, le petit pétrolier indépendant n'est pas assuré que cette chance se renouvellera : son gisement peut s'épuiser avant qu'il en découvre un autre.

Les pétroliers jugent donc justifiés leurs privilèges fiscaux, qui leur permettent de déduire 27,5 % « d'amortissements » de leur revenu brut. En 1926, quand les impôts étaient très faibles aux Etats-Unis, ces avantages fiscaux ne pesaient pas bien lourd. Mais la masse fiscale, depuis, a été multipliée par 35 ; par rapport aux autres industries, le privilège des pétroliers a augmenté dans la même proportion, sans même parler des nombreuses faveurs annexes que les pétroliers ont su obtenir.

Grâce à ce statut spécial, la prospection et l'extraction pétrolières sont devenues pratiquement une affaire sans risques, pour les grandes compagnies du moins.

Seuls restent donc vulnérables les petits entrepreneurs qui se sont endettés pour effectuer une seule et unique opération. Ils ont sept chances sur huit de finir ruinés. Un homme comme Hunt, en revanche, qui mène de pair un très grand nombre d'opérations, ne peut perdre. Il ne peut empêcher que ses millions lui rapportent d'autres millions. Et, fait curieux, Hunt en est navré.

Non qu'il souhaite perdre toute sa fortune. Loin de là. Cependant, lorsqu'on a gagné son premier milliard, la facilité avec laquelle on en acquiert un second prive toute l'aventure de son attrait et de sa fraîcheur. Surtout quand, comme Hunt, on est un « mordu » du jeu. Le pire qui puisse arriver à un joueur, en effet, c'est soit de tout perdre, soit de gagner à coup sûr, au point que le jeu devient monotone.

Les pensées de Juan Achala

Quand Hunt s'aperçu qu'il ne pouvait plus s'empêcher de gagner, il alla chercher le risque ailleurs. Personne n'a joué comme lui dans l'histoire des Etats-Unis. Aux championnats mondiaux de base-ball, en 1956, il mise 300 000 dollars sur l'équipe des Yankees, lors du premier match, et perdit. Son bureau est directement relié par téléphone à la plupart des champs de courses américains. Mais, dans l'ensemble, Hunt est condamné à gagner, même aux courses : il déclara récemment y avoir gagné un million de dollars en un an.

Finalement, Hunt a cherché dans la politique les risques qu'il ne pouvait plus courir en affaires. Il est devenu pour les groupes d'extrême-droite ce que Thyssen fut pour Hitler. C'est Hunt qui engagea les millionnaires du Texas à financer les campagnes du sénateur McCarthy. A la mort de celui-ci, Hunt dépensa une fortune pour entretenir les passions anticommunistes que McCarthy avait allumées. Il acquit une chaîne de radio-télévision et lança une série de publications d'extrême-droite qu'il baptisa « Facts Forum », parallèlement à une autre entreprise du même genre (« Life Line »).

En 1960, Hunt se mit à écrire lui-même. Son roman fut refusé par les éditeurs. Hunt le fit finalement publier par la maison qui imprime les annuaires téléphoniques [redacted] ettre en vente pour un dollar [redacted] son livre vaut [redacted] cent ce prix.

Intitulé « Alpaca », et présenté comme [redacted] amour, le livre de Hunt ... passe dans un petit pays imaginaire dont le héros, Juan Achala, penseur profond, étudie « les meilleurs passés et l'avenir imprévisible ». A l'intention de ses admirateurs et amis, Juan Achala expose le programme qui guérira son pays des méfaits de la démocratie. Il montre combien il est stupide de laisser voter le tout-venant. Il voudrait beaucoup mieux que les citoyens ordinaires délèguent leur droit de vote aux hommes fortunés, et que les 10 % de citoyens les plus riches disposent de sept voix chacun. En acquittant une taxe spéciale, ces 10 % devraient avoir la possibilité d'augmenter encore le poids de leurs suffrages.

La société, selon Achala, devrait être gouvernée à la manière des sociétés anonymes : « Le plus grand actionnaire doit avoir le plus grand nombre de voix. » Les jurys d'assise, évidemment, devraient être abolis et l'imposition des gros revenus limitée à 25 %. Quant à ceux qui exploitent les ressources naturelles du pays, ils devraient jouir de privilèges fiscaux plus étendus.

On constatera que Juan Achala a déjà réalisé une bonne partie de son programme à Dallas même.

(A.F.P.)

Hunt décrit son héros comme un homme à la « carrure athlétique, fier, mais à la courtoisie innée, aux yeux ardents surmontés de sourcils bien dessinés, et dont la magnifique denture blanche et régulière, soulignant un prompt sourire, exerçait un attrait magnétique même sur les inconnus ».

Hunt fut gâté par la vie : peu après la sortie de son premier roman, il rencontra l'incarnation vivante de Juan Achala en la personne du général Edwin Anderson Walker, membre de la John Birch Society, un nouveau groupe d'extrême-droite dont Hunt était bailleur de fonds.

La nuit du 10 avril

Walker avait fait distribuer dans l'unité qu'il commandait en Allemagne occidentale des pamphlets fournis par la John Birch Society et qui dénonçaient avec véhémence le Président Kennedy et sa politique étrangère. Un scandale éclata, le général fut blâmé et finalement relevé de son commandement. Rappelé aux Etats-Unis, il démissionna tout en lançant une attaque particulièrement venimeuse contre le Président, qu'il n'a cessé d'injurier depuis en des termes qui auraient motivé son emprisonnement dans la plupart des autres pays.

Walker n'a pas hésité à appeler les citoyens à la violence contre des représentants de John F. Kennedy. Il a été arrêté pour avoir organisé la résistance armée contre les troupes fédérales, en vue d'empêcher les enfants noirs de se rendre aux écoles publiques, dans le Mississippi.

Il est donc hautement significatif que cet ennemi le plus acharné de John F. Kennedy, domicilié au Turtle Creek Boulevard à Dallas — quartier préféré des Sept Grands — ait été en rapport direct avec Lee Oswald. Le F.B.I., en effet, a fait savoir que, dans la nuit du 10 avril 1963, ce fut Oswald qui tira un coup de fusil à travers la fenêtre du bureau où travaillait Walker, chef militaire de la John Birch Society. Et que ce fut là le premier usage qu'Oswald fit de son fusil Carcano, qui lui avait été livré quelques semaines auparavant.

Dans le carnet d'adresses

Le F.B.I. ne s'est sûrement pas trompé. On se demande seulement pourquoi il a tant tardé à faire cette révélation. Cette première mission d'Oswald contient, en effet, de [redacted] indices intéressants. La même [redacted] employant le même fu[redacted] il, déjà [redacted] de son viseur optique, a tiré à faible distance sur un homme assis et bien éclairé, en appuyant son fusil (assure le F.B.I.) sur une [redacted] fenêtre. Il a tiré — et manqué. Et malgré la grande célérité dont il fit prétendument preuve par la suite, Oswald, ce soir-là, fut incapable de recharger son fusil assez vite pour tirer un second coup. Le même homme qui a toujours nié avoir tiré sur Kennedy, rentra ce soir-là pour tout raconter à sa femme (avec laquelle il n'était pas très intime) et se vanter de son exploit.

Mieux : le même homme est censé avoir haï tout à la fois le Président et son pire ennemi. Ou peut-être n'a-t-il pas vraiment tenté de tuer Walker ? La question est légitime : si l'attentat d'Oswald contre Walker avait été une entreprise sérieuse, l'on ne comprendrait pas qu'il n'ait pas été arrêté et interrogé. Même en Europe il arrive qu'un homme s'expose à un « attentat bidon » pour augmenter ainsi sa popularité.

Ce disant, je n'avance pas une hypothèse gratuite : les rapports entre Oswald et Walker sont prouvés. Après l'assassinat de Kennedy, en effet, la police trouva un carnet d'adresses au domicile d'Oswald. Il contenait le numéro de téléphone privé d'un agent du F.B.I., et le numéro de sa voiture. Mais il contenait aussi, selon le « Dallas Morning Post », le nom et le numéro de téléphone du général Walker.

Or il est évident qu'un homme qui cherche à en assassiner un autre n'a pas besoin d'inscrire le nom de sa victime dans son carnet. Et que lorsqu'on conserve le numéro de téléphone de quelqu'un, c'est pour lui téléphoner, non pas une fois, mais également à l'avenir (2).

Nous disposons maintenant de tous les éléments nécessaires pour identifier le gang dont Oswald devint membre.

Tous les pétroliers du Texas sont joueurs. Il faut rappeler ici le mot dédaigneux d'un aristocratique su-

(1) La carrière de Hunt et plus généralement le Texas ont fait l'objet d'un livre brillant, écrit par John Bainbridge, qui vient d'être publié en français sous le titre « Stupéfiant Texas ».

(2) Il serait intéressant de savoir si le numéro de Walker figurait dans l'annuaire. Dans l'affirmative, Oswald devait avoir l'intention de l'utiliser fréquemment. Dans la négative, il resterait à déterminer comment il se l'est procuré.

Tous les pétroliers texans sont possédés par la volonté de puissance. L'argent leur importe avant tout en raison de la puissance qu'il confère. La chose est particulièrement patente chez les Murchison qui, à la différence de Hunt, ont hérité leur fortune de leur père et ont reçu la meilleure éducation. L'un des frères ne s'en fit pas moins construire une chambre à huit lits, « afin que nous puissions parler pétrole tout au long de la nuit ».

Le pétrole n'est toutefois pas la principale préoccupation des Murchison. Ils représentent la nouvelle génération texane qui cherche à annexer d'autres domaines à son empire.

Ils se sont lancés dans l'entreprise la plus ambitieuse qu'aucun Texan ait jamais tentée : dominer les Etats-Unis en prenant le contrôle de Wall Street. C'est la première fois dans l'histoire des Etats-Unis que des outsiders lancent un défi au siège traditionnel de la finance américaine. S'ils réussissent, le centre financier tel le principal centre de décision des Etats-Unis ne sera plus à Manhattan, mais à Dallas.

(U.S.I.S.)

LE SÉNATEUR DOUGLAS.

(U.P.I.)

LE GÉNÉRAL WALKER.

Un attrait magnétique même sur les inconnus.

La première épreuve de force entre les Texans et Wall Street éclata en 1960. Les frères Murchison furent alors accusés de profiter de leur position au conseil d'administration de l'Investors Diversified Services (I.D.S.) pour obtenir des prêts à des conditions de faveur.

Bien que l'accusation fût retirée par la suite, les Murchison jurèrent de se venger et de prendre le contrôle de cette plus puissante société de portefeuille du monde : l'actif de l'I.D.S., en effet, s'élève à 4,2 milliards de dollars. Mais même les Murchison n'étaient pas en mesure d'acheter directement la majorité des parts de l'I.D.S. Ils lancèrent donc une attaque tournante contre l'Alleghany Corporation, holding qui contrôle 47 % des actions de l'I.D.S.

18 millions de dollars de pertes

En douceur, ils achetèrent tous les titres de l'Alleghany qu'ils purent trouver. Un beau jour, les New-Yorkais se trouvèrent devant le fait accompli : le nombre de voix dont les Murchison disposaient au sein de l'Alleghany était presque égal à celui d'Allan P. Kirby, financier de Manhattan qui avait contrôlé la société jusque-là.

Kirby et les Murchison se livrèrent dès lors une lutte acharnée, chacun cherchant à attirer les petits porteurs dans son camp. Armés de calculatrices I.B.M. qui leur permettaient de déterminer leur position jour après jour, les Murchison gagnèrent haut la main et évincèrent Kirby. Aussitôt, ils tentèrent de prendre le contrôle intégral de l'I.D.S. Couronnée de succès, leur tentative leur aurait gagné un empire de 5 milliards de dollars, plus de deux fois la fortune de Hunt.

Mais Wall Street, effrayé devant [illegible] victoire inouïe du Texas, s'unit contre les nouveaux venus. Les avocats de Kirby obtinrent un jugement déclarant que le transfert de l'I.D.S. sous le contrôle des Murchison serait illégal. Mis en échec, ceux-ci vendirent leurs parts dans l'Alleghany, essuyant 18 millions de dollars de pertes.

Truman communiste

Kirby, à soixante et onze ans, fut réinstallé à la tête de la société. Il avait joué le plus clair de sa fortune dans cette partie, « par amour-propre ». Les Texans, qui n'avaient pas prévu une résistance aussi vive, venaient de perdre une bataille ; mais ils étaient décidés à ne pas perdre la guerre contre Wall Street.

Pour les Murchison, les Hunt et les autres milliardaires du Texas, il y a trois ennemis, en effet, qu'ils ont juré d'abattre : les financiers de Wall Street, les hommes politiques de Washington et les communistes qu'ils soupçonnent de s'être infiltrés partout. Tout comme Hunt, les Murchison ont largement financé McCarthy. Ils ont empêché la réélection de deux des principaux critiques de McCarthy au Sénat, William Benton, du Connecticut, et Millard Tydings, du Maryland, homme pourtant très conservateur et qui s'était rigoureusement opposé au New Deal.

L'hostilité des Texans à Washington et Wall Street surprend souvent. Le « New York Times » du 16 octobre 1956, par exemple, s'étonnait que « le gouverneur du Texas, homme riche et conservateur, parle de Wall Street dans les mêmes termes que le « Daily Worker », quotidien d'extrême gauche. Il est tout aussi étonnant que les milliardaires texans, en dépit des énormes privilèges dont leur Etat et leur industrie jouissent, continuent de se plaindre de leurs « impôts oppressifs » et de l'ingérence des bureaucrates de Washington dans les affaires texanes.

Le Texas, en effet, a un budget social si réduit que ses citoyens touchent plus de subsides fédéraux que ceux d'aucun autre Etat. Sur les 50 Etats américains, le Texas vient en 44e position pour l'aide à l'enfance sur fonds propres, mais en première position pour les subventions reçues de Washington. Pour l'aide aux vieux et aux infirmes, le Texas se classe 40e, mais figure en seconde position pour les sommes reçues de Washington. Le Texas figure en troisième position pour l'aide fédérale à l'enseignement et en 32e position pour ses propres dépenses d'éducation.

Pourtant, les milliardaires de Dallas considèrent comme « communiste » quiconque critique leur régime et leurs privilèges fiscaux. Parmi ces critiques, on peut cependant trouver feu le sénateur Robert Taft et l'ex-président Truman.

Le premier effort sérieux pour faire supporter aux pétroliers texans des impôts comparables à ceux qui frappent les autres industries fut entrepris sous Roosevelt. Il eut pour résultat que le vice-président John Nance Garner, un Texan, conquérir de Roosevelt en 1932, devint son ennemi juré et s'opposa à sa réélection en 1936.

(A.P.)

JOHN MURCHISON.
Une question d'amour-propre.

En 1945, quand Roosevelt mourut, un milliardaire de San Antonio donna un cocktail pour célébrer, en pleine guerre, la mort du président. Depuis, les Texans ont été efficacement protégés, à Washington, par Sam Rayburn, président de la Chambre des Représentants, le meilleur défenseur que le pétrole du Texas ait jamais eu : grâce à lui, les propositions tendant à modifier le statut des pétroliers sont régulièrement enterrées avant d'avoir été discutées.

Le principal adversaire, en revanche, des milliardaires texans est le sénateur Douglas, de l'Illinois, qui souhaite limiter aux seuls petits producteurs de pétrole la déduction spéciale de 27,5 %. Douglas a montré qu'une compagnie pétrolière qui, en 1954, avait fait quatre millions de dollars de bénéfices nets, n'a payé que 404 dollars d'impôts, soit moins qu'un couple moyen avec deux enfants ; qu'une autre compagnie ne paya pas d'impôts du tout après avoir fait 5 millions de bénéfices nets. Une troisième, malgré ses 12 millions de bénéfices, obtint 500.000 dollars de crédit d'impôt...

A ces critiques, les Texans répondent que « la sécurité nationale » dépend du maintien de leurs profits au taux actuel. « Le pétrole, Messieurs, c'est des munitions, a déclaré le général Ernest O. Thompson, commandant de la Garde Nationale du Texas. Pourquoi toucher à un système qui nous a fourni tant de pétrole que nous avons pu gagner deux guerres ? »

Les puits de Libye

L'implication est nette : deux guerres ; et pourquoi pas une troisième ? Aucune communauté n'a été plus hostile que le Texas aux perspectives d'une détente russo-américaine. Et nulle part l'on n'est aussi convaincu que les Etats-Unis pourraient non seulement survivre à une guerre nucléaire, mais aussi la gagner — surtout s'ils frappaient les premiers — et que le jeu pourrait valoir la chandelle.

En partie, cette opposition à toute détente peut être attribuée à l'égoïsme texan : la course aux armements a, en effet, valu à cet Etat une expansion économique six fois plus rapide que dans l'ensemble des Etats-Unis. Et inversement, aucun autre Etat ne souffrirait davantage du désarmement.

Mais les Texans craignent également qu'une détente n'aboutisse au retrait des troupes américaines de pays où les pétroliers du Texas ont acquis de gros intérêts. H.L. Hunt, par exemple, a acheté en Libye 4,5 millions d'hectares d'un seul tenant, dont le sous-sol regorge de pétrole ; il a qualifié de « fantastique » la production des puits forés jusqu'ici. Et il n'a pas envie de subir le sort de Richard M. Kleberg Junior, président de la plus célèbre entreprise d'élevage bovin du Texas, qui a perdu 12 000 hectares à Cuba après le renversement de Batista.

Pour l'ensemble de ces hommes, il est proprement scandaleux que les Etats-Unis aient permis à Castro de s'installer au pouvoir. Ils voient en lui un danger pour les investissements pétroliers dans toute l'Amérique latine, un danger mortel pour eux-mêmes.

Ni les intérêts particuliers, ni les craintes, toutefois, ne suffisent à expliquer l'attitude d'une partie importante des milliardaires texans. Ces hommes ne sont pas mus seulement par le calcul. Ils sont mus aussi par l'ennui. A court de nouvelles possibilités de conquête et d'aventure au Texas, ils ont porté leurs regards vers d'autres horizons. Nous avons affaire, en eux, à l'oligarchie la plus puissante et la plus riche du monde, à une oligarchie qui plus est, composée d'hommes qui ont la passion du jeu et du risque.

RACIAL SITUATION IN ARKANSAS

There have been no changes in the categories listed in Little Rock memorandum dated June 14, 1963, except as noted herein.

I. COMMUNITIES IN WHICH COURT ORDERS ARE OUTSTANDING FOR ELIMINATION OF SEGREGATION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A. Little Rock, Arkansas

A news story appeared in the Arkansas Democrat, a Little Rock daily newspaper, on May 22, 1964, bearing the caption "Integration of All Grades Completed by School Board." This article states that the Little Rock School Board had announced that in the fall of 1964 the last four grades of the public schools would be integrated. Heretofore all grades from five through twelve had been integrated. Other news stories concerning the board's action pointed out that a total of 198 Negroes had been assigned to Little Rock's public schools for the fall of 1964 as compared with a total of 121 during the school year of 1963-64.

According to a news story in the Arkansas Gazette, another Little Rock daily newspaper, on June 10, 1964, approximately 45 Negro public school students had objected to being assigned to all Negro schools. A school official was quoted as saying that hearings would be held on all requests for re-assignments.

Various news stories in Little Rock newspapers between May 15 and May 20, 1964, concerned former General

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

EDWIN A. WALKER, who commanded troops at Little Rock during the integration of Central High School. WALKER addressed a "segregationist rally" at the Municipal Auditorium in Little Rock on May 18, 1964. One of the quotes attributed to him was "Enforcement of segregation in Little Rock, Oxford, and elsewhere is merely the 'implementation of the plans, policies and purposes' of the United Nations." Earlier, WALKER had been denied the privilege of holding a press conference on the grounds of Central High School. WALKER's appearance at Little Rock was sponsored by the Capital Citizens Council, whose President, AMLS GUTHRIDGE, was critical of race mixing at Central High School.

IV. GENERAL RACIAL CONDITIONS

According to various news sources in recent weeks, a number of Arkansas school districts have announced voluntary desegregation of public schools. Those noted in the news were Havana, Danville, Ola, Dardanelle, Russellville, North Little Rock, Texarkana, and Hot Springs.

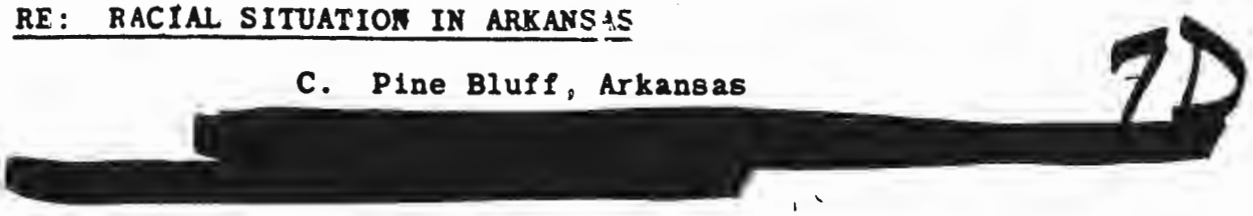
A. Little Rock, Arkansas

According to Little Rock Chief of Police R. E. BRIANS, a group of 19 Negroes was denied admittance to a Little Rock public swimming pool on June 10, 1964. A news story appeared in the Arkansas Gazette on June 11, 1964, stating that Little Rock city officials had decided to either close or sell to private persons Little Rock's two public swimming pools. The two pools are located at War Memorial Park, for whites, and at Gillam Park, for Negroes.

B. Fayetteville, Arkansas

A news story appeared in the Arkansas Gazette on May 17, 1964, captioned "Jobs for Negro Top Problem, King Aide Says." The story reported that Reverend WYATT TEE WALKER, of Georgia, a civil rights leader and executive secretary to Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., addressed a meeting at the University of Arkansas sponsored by the Student Bar Association. WYATT's address urged additional employment for Negroes and civil rights.

C. Pine Bluff, Arkansas



A group of Negroes was denied admission to a public swimming pool located in Oakland Park on June 2, 1964. He said it was his understanding that both the pool in Oakland Park and the public pool in Townsend Park (for Negroes) would be closed indefinitely by city officials.

A news story appeared in the Arkansas Gazette on May 30, 1964, bearing the caption, "Pine Bluff Minister Moved After Lowering Racial Bars." The story stated that one of the pastors reassigned by the Little Rock Conference of the Methodist Church this week was Reverend EDWARD W. HARRIS, Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Pine Bluff, who became a controversial figure earlier this year by inviting Negroes to join his church.

D. Fort Smith, Arkansas

A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past furnished the following information on May 21, 1964:

Service was refused to some Negroes at Fort Smith by two or three eating establishments. Thereafter certain Negro leaders stated that plans would be made to demonstrate to protest the denials of service. The source said the Fort Smith Chamber of Commerce is encouraging the eating establishments to serve all races.

RE: RESTORATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS

Reference is made to communication dated June 2, 1964, regarding captioned matter.

The "Miami News", a local Miami, Florida newspaper, on June 5, 1964, reported the following regarding a meeting at the Northside Shopping Center, on June 4, 1964:

Ex-Major ARCH E. ROBERTS, a former aide of General EDWIN A. WALKER, retired, said the United Nations plans a "global military dictatorship". ROBERTS stated "dictatorship is the U.N.'s idea of a one-world government to be imposed by peaceful means if possible or by force and violence if necessary". According to ROBERTS the goal is even spelled out in the U.N. charter.

The talk by ROBERTS was entitled "Why Your Soldier Son Serves Under the Command of a Soviet Communist". ROBERTS told the audience the U.N. objective is "the destruction of our Christian republic".

This article reported that ROBERTS is now in the Reserves and was retired from active duty after delivering a similar speech at the Daughters of the American Revolution national convention two years ago.

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, and in addition, has furnished information which could not be verified or corroborated, advised as follows on June 6, 1964:

The source stated over 150 people attended a meeting at the Northside Shopping Center on June 4, 1964, where ex-Major ARCH ROBERTS spoke for over an hour. Most of his speech related to the United Nations, according to the source.

The source advised that some of the individuals known to him were observed at this meeting, including:

In the U. S. All I can say, in conclusion, is God help America! The American people apparently no longer have the desire or will to resist international Red, murder slavery!"

Since April, 1950, [redacted] TAFT has been publishing the NSRP Weekly Newsletter", of which he is editor, as well as "The Florida Patriot", self-described as a monthly publication of the NSRP, same being made up of the weekly issues of the "Weekly Newsletter". FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE

The April 6, 1960, edition of "The New York Times" newspaper contained a full-page advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening In Cuba," placed by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This advertisement announced the formation of the FPCC in New York City and declared the FPCC intended to promulgate "the truth about revolutionary Cuba" to neutralize the distorted American press.

"The New York Times" edition of January 11, 1961, reported that at a hearing conducted before the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on January 10, 1961, Dr. CHARLES A. SANTOS-BUCH identified himself and ROBERT TABER as organizers of the FPCC. He also testified he and TABER obtained funds from the Cuban Government which were applied toward the cost of the aforementioned advertisement.

On May 16, 1963, a source advised that during the first two years of the FPCC's existence there was a struggle between Communist Party (CP) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) elements to exert their power within the FPCC and thereby influence FPCC policy. This source added that during the past year there had been a successful effort by FPCC leadership to minimize the role of these and other organizations in the FPCC so that their influence as of May, 1963, was negligible.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On May 20, 1963, a second source advised that VINCENT "TED" LEE, FPCC National Office Director, was then formulating FPCC policy and had indicated that he had no intention of permitting FPCC policy to be determined by any other organization. This source stated that LEE believed that the FPCC should advocate resumption of diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States and should support the right of Cubans to manage their revolution without interference from other nations. LEE did not advocate supporting the Cuban revolution per se.

The November 23, 1963, edition of "The New York Times" reported that Senator THOMAS J. DODD of Connecticut had called FPCC "the chief public relations instrument of the Castro network in the United States." It is to be noted that Senator DODD was a member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee which twice conducted hearings on the FPCC.

The December 27, 1963, edition of "The New York World-Telegram and Sun" newspaper stated that the pro-Castro FPCC was seeking to go out of business and that its prime activity during its lifetime had been sponsorship of pro-Castro street rallies and mass picket lines, and the direction of an active propaganda mill highlighting illegal travel-to-Cuba campaigns. Its comparatively brief span of life was attributed to mounting anti-Castro American public opinion, the 1962 Congressional hearings which disclosed FPCC financing by Castro's United Nations Delegation, and ultimately, the bad publicity which the FPCC received from disclosure of activities on its behalf by suspected presidential assassin LEE H. OSWALD.

On February 6, 1964, the previously mentioned second source advised that V. T. LEE had recently remarked that the FPCC was dead and that there were no plans to organize another similar organization.

On April 13, 1964, a third source advised that there had not been any FPCC activity in many months and that the FPCC had been dissolved.

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE - TAMPA BAY CHAPTER;
FAIR PLAY STUDY GROUP

The Sunday "Tampa Tribune" newspaper for May 15, 1960, carried an advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening in Cuba?," which purported to show the United States press had given a false picture of conditions in Cuba with regard to communism, confiscation of property, and chaotic living conditions. The advertisement was signed "The Fair Play for Cuba Committee, 60 East 42nd Street, New York 17, New York," (FPCC).

On June 24, 1960, Mr. LOUIS FRITZE, Tampa Art and Music Company, 205 East Tyler Street, Tampa, Florida, advised he placed the aforementioned advertisement in the "Tampa Tribune" using funds contributed by pro-Cuban groups in Tampa. FRITZE said there was no FPCC in Tampa on that date.

On January 9, 1961, a source advised that on January 5, 1961, sixteen men and women met and organized the Tampa Bay Chapter of the FPCC. This source subsequently advised the Tampa Bay Chapter of FPCC was affiliated with the national organization known as the Fair Play for Cuba Committee of the Institute for the Improvement of Inter-American Relations, Incorporated, 799 Broadway, New York City, having contributed funds and submitted financial reports to the national organization. The same source reported June 2, 1961, that a charter from the national FPCC was presented to the Tampa Bay Chapter at a meeting in Tampa, June 2, 1961.

This source advised thereafter the Tampa Bay Chapter continued to hold meetings and to act in pursuance of the same aims as the national FPCC until April 12, 1964, when the membership voted to stop using the FPCC name because of the national FPCC organization's having been dissolved. Tampa members decided they would continue to meet as a study group on Latin-American affairs, and at their meeting May 17, 1964, this group chose to name itself the Fair Play Study Group.

STUDENT COMMITTEE FOR TRAVEL TO CUBA

"The Columbia Owl", a weekly student newspaper of Columbia University, New York City, December 12, 1962, issue, page one, contained an article entitled "Students to Visit Cuba During Holidays". This article stated in part that the Ad Hoc Student Committee for Travel to Cuba was formed October 14, 1962, by a group of students from New York City universities, the University of Wisconsin, Oberlin College, and the University of North Carolina, who stated that as students they would like a chance to see and evaluate the situation in Cuba for themselves and had received an offer of transportation and two weeks stay in Cuba from the Federation of University Students in Havana, as guests of the Federation. The Committee accepted the offer and applied to the United States State Department for passport validation, which was refused. However, over fifty students planned to defy the State Department ban and travel to Cuba.

A source advised on December 6, 1962, that during December, 1962, it was learned that the Ad Hoc Student Committee for Travel to Cuba had recently been formed by the Progressive Labor Group.

A second source advised on September 13, 1963, that a group of 59 individuals,who had assembled in New York City, departed New York City by air on June 25, 1963, traveling to Paris, France; Prague, Czechoslovakia; and then to Havana, Cuba. The group remained in Cuba until August 24, 1963, at which time they departed by air for New York City via Madrid, Spain. The group arrived in New York City on August 29, 1963.

The same source advised that the leaders of the group were members of Progressive Labor and the trip was planned and organized by Progressive Labor members.

"The Columbia Owl", March 11, 1964, issue, page one, carried an article captioned "Another Visit to Cuba, Students Will Defy Student Travel Ban this Summer". This article sets forth in part that three members of the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba spoke at an assembly sponsored by the Progressive Labor Club of Columbia University. At this assembly, VICKI ORTIZ, Student Committee for Travel to Cuba campus representative, stated that the Federation of University Students in Havana had extended another invitation for 500 students to visit Cuba in 1964. Miss ORTIZ stated that the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba was, therefore, planning another trip to Cuba in July, 1964.

A third source advised on February 6, 1964, that he had received information that the name of the Ad Hoc Student Committee for Travel to Cuba was changed to the Permanent Student Committee for Travel to Cuba in February, 1963. After the group arrived back in the United States from Cuba in the latter part of August, 1963, the name of the organization was changed to the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba.

A fourth source advised on October 9, 1963, that the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba was utilizing Post Office Box 2978, New York 1, New York, as its mailing address.

PROGRESSIVE LABOR PARTY,
PROGRESSIVE LABOR MOVEMENT,
"PROGRESSIVE LABOR"

A source advised on July 2, 1962, that Progressive Labor groups held a conference in New York City on July 1, 1962, where MILTON ROSEN acted as chairman. He read a statement at this conference setting forth their intention to form a new Marxist-Leninist party in the United States. ROSEN stated that a more formal organization was necessary, one which would provide a frame-work for all who wanted to join in a united effort to build an American vanguard. The forces of this new organization are to consolidate all existing forces around Progressive Labor and organize additional forces; expand and improve political activities; win additional forces to an outlook of Marxism-Leninism and increase the open advocacy of socialism; develop a ignificant Marxist-Leninist program for the new party; and organize a collective organization of leaders and members.

"The Worker," an East Coast Communist newspaper, issue of January 7, 1962, Page Ten, Column Three, reported the expulsion of MILTON ROSEN, former Labor Secretary of the New York State Communist Party, from the Communist Party, United States of America.

A second and third source advised in February, 1963, that this new Marxist-Leninist party had not yet been organized on a formal basis, but that Progressive Labor groups had been formed in several localities in line with the proposals of MILTON ROSEN. The sources advised as of February, 1963, that the leaders of this group were referring to it as the Progressive Labor Movement.

A fourth source advised on March 15, 1964, that the Progressive Labor Movement follows, supports, and is politically orientated toward the Communist Party line of Red China rather than that of the Soviet Union.

A fifth source advised on March 28, 1964, that at a Progressive Labor Movement meeting held in New York City on that date, it was announced that the Progressive Labor Movement would try to hold a national convention in New York City in September, 1964, to organize the Progressive Labor Movement on a more formal basis into a Progressive Labor Party.

The fifth source also advised that the Progressive Labor Movement publishes a monthly magazine called, "Progressive Labor" and also a quarterly theoretical publication called the "Marxist-Leninist Quarterly." The source also advised that starting June 1, 1964, the Progressive Labor Movement would start publishing a weekly newspaper in New York City.

The March, 1964, issue of "Progressive Labor" sets forth that it is published monthly by the Progressive Labor Company, General Post Office Box 808, Brooklyn 1, New York.

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY
(NSRP)

On November 26, 1957, a source advised that the United White Party (UWP) was organized at a convention held in Knoxville, Tennessee, on November 10, 1957. An article in the November 26, 1957, issue of the "Greenville Piedmont," a newspaper of Greenville, South Carolina, reported "the recent formation of a new political party to be known as the United White Party." According to the article, the party was formed at a recently held meeting in Knoxville, Tennessee, at which many klansmen were represented. The UWP was reported as being opposed to all "race mixing organizations and individuals."

The July, 1958, issue of "The Thunderbolt," self-described as the "official Racial Nationalist Organ of the National States Rights Party" (NSRP) reported that rank and file "States Righters" had merged with the UWP under "the banner of the National States Rights Party," with national offices at Post Office Box 261, Jeffersonville, Indiana.

In November, 1958, a source advised that the NSRP is composed of past members of klan-type organizations and notorious anti-Semites.

Issue Number 19, dated June, 1960, "The Thunderbolt," announced the address of the headquarters of the NSRP had been changed from Jeffersonville, Indiana, to Post Office Box 783, Birmingham, Alabama.

On June 17, 1960, a source advised that EDWARD R. FIELDS, the Information Director of the NSRP, is the individual who "runs the NSRP."

"The Thunderbolt" continues to publish articles attacking Negroes and persons of the Jewish faith.

In evaluating the evidence concerning Tippit's murder on page 176 of the report, the Commission completely ignored the identification made by Nicol. This illustrates how heavily the Commission relied upon the findings of our Laboratory experts.

[redacted] stated that the NP intended to form a rifle club on the same basis as other organizations such as the Minutemen throughout the United States. He further stated that when it is organized the rifle club will participate in regular rifle practice and drill-type formations. [redacted] urged those in attendance to join the NP.

[redacted]

A source made available the following information:

On March 1, 1963, from 8:00 p.m. until 12:00 midnight, approximately 80 persons attended a meeting sponsored by the NP.

The meeting was held at Adelphi Hall, 74 5th Avenue, New York City, and arrangements for it were made by LUKE DOMMER, National Co-ordinator of the NP who stated that the purpose of the meeting was to afford newcomers an opportunity to become acquainted with the membership and program of the NP.

DOUGLAS KAYE, Information Director of the NP, acted as master of ceremonies and spoke for a short time on the desire of the NP to become a strong and active "nationalistic" force in the United States.

JOHN S. SULLIVAN, Chairman of the NP, was the first speaker and he reaffirmed the NP's support of former general EDWIN A. WALKER and defined the attempt of the courts to place WALKER in an insane asylum as "another attempt of the KENNEDY Administration to silence true American patriots." SULLIVAN went on to attack the Young Americans for Freedom as being "a poor example of a conservative organization supported by liberal thinking beatniks." SULLIVAN concluded his speech by declaring that true "nationalism" as practiced by the NP would triumph over communism, liberalism and phony conservatism and the "day of minority rule" would soon end.

The second speaker was Mr. GONZALEZ SANTIAGO, a member of the Cuban Nationalist Association (CNA) who spoke in place of Mr. FILIPE RIVERA, Director of the CNA, who was unable to attend the meeting. SANTIAGO stated that if the United States would supply enough weapons to the Cubans who are living in exile, the overthrow of FIDEL CASTRO in Cuba would be imminent without any blood being shed by American soldiers.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

Memorandum

TO : Mr. Belmont

DATE: 12/3/63

FROM : A. Rosen

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT, NOVEMBER 22, 1963 DALLAS, TEXAS

With reference to prior telephone call today indicating a note in the Russian language had been located in a cookbook that Mrs. Ruth Paine had given to the Irving, Texas, Police Department for transmittal through Secret Service to Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald.

In interview with Mrs. Oswald today, Mrs. Oswald admits that some time last Spring, the date she cannot remember, her husband came into their house on Neeley Street in a very excited condition and immediately turned on the radio. She inquired as to what was wrong and Oswald admitted that he had shot at General Walker but did not know whether he had hit and wanted to hear on the radio whether or not he had. Mrs. Oswald stated that she threatened to go to the police if Oswald ever again made any such attempt to shoot anyone.

She said she kept this note so that she could use it to threaten Oswald in the event he thought up some other crazy scheme. He told Mrs. Oswald that General Walker was leading the Fascist organization in Dallas and it was best to remove him. It is noted that General Walker was shot at while he was in his home on April 10, 1963. It is also noted that Oswald and his wife left Dallas, Texas, on April 29 and went to New Orleans, Louisiana.

The rifle slug that was shot at General Walker was located in his home and has been in the possession of the Dallas Police Department since that time. The fact that this rifle slug was located has been discussed previously last April with the Police Department and the Bureau volunteered to make an examination of this slug but no request for such examination was ever made by the Dallas Police Department.

The slug in question has been picked up by Bureau agents inasmuch as there was a possibility based on current developments that Oswald might have shot at General Walker and the bullet slug was transmitted today and is en route on an evening plane to the Bureau Laboratory for examination. In view of these developments the original note in Russian is being retained in Dallas until Dallas can have an opportunity to run out all the ramifications and take any other action that is necessary concerning this note.

22 JAN 6 1964

Memorandum to Mr. Belmont

With further reference to the note written in Russian, Mrs. Oswald advised that this letter in its original form had been shown to her by the Secret Service. She advised that she had found this note in Oswald's room where he kept his belongings at the Neeley Street address and she cannot remember the date that she located this note.

No information is available as to whether Secret Service has notified the Dallas Police Department concerning this admission on the part of Mrs. Oswald that Oswald shot at General Walker. No action is being taken here to ascertain what Secret Service has done. It is recommended that at such time as the slug is received in the Bureau and a detailed examination made, consideration be given to notifying the police in the event the slug is identified as having come from Oswald's rifle.

DETAILS:

Information on VINCENT JOSEPH O'DOHERTY and Brother, EUGENE ALPHONSUS O'DOHERTY

The following investigation was conducted on November 25, 1963, by SA HUGH THOMAS FORSHA at Columbus, Ohio:

VINCENT JOSEPH O'DOHERTY, 1167 South High Street, furnished the following information:

He is employed by the Baker Bread Company, Zanesville, Ohio, as a breadman, working in Columbus, Ohio, and has been so employed since October 7, 1963. He was previously employed from September, 1961, to October 5, 1963, by the Donaldson Baking Company, Columbus, Ohio. He is married to ELIZABETH JEANETTE O'DOHERTY, who resides also at 1167 South High Street, Columbus, Ohio. They have six children.

O'DOHERTY was born in Lifford, Ireland, on May 19, 1918. He resided in Lifford, Ireland, until he was 22 years of age. In 1940 he joined the National Defense Forces in Ireland and served with them until June, 1944. All of that service was in Ireland.

From 1944 to 1949 he was a teacher of Irish Folk Dancing in County Mayo, Ireland. From 1949 to 1951 he was employed as a canvasser and mapper with the Electricity Supply Board in Sligo, Ireland. From 1951 to 1952 he sold insurance for the New Ireland Assurance Company, Sligo, Ireland. In 1952 O'DOHERTY went to England where he worked for McKechnie and Robbins in Birmingham, England. In March, 1953, O'DOHERTY entered the United States and went to River Forest, Illinois, to the home of his brother JOHN who had sponsored him. His brother, JOHN O'DOHERTY, is the area manager for the Franklin Life Insurance Company, River Forest, Illinois.

From 1953 to 1956 he lived in River Forest and Chicago, Illinois, and worked with the Edward Hines Lumber Company, River Forest, Illinois. In 1956 he moved to Evansville, Indiana, where he remained until 1959. While in that city he worked for the Brooks Lumber Company, Chandler, Indiana; the Cooke Feed Company; and as a Fuller Brush Man. In October, 1957, O'DOHERTY married ELIZABETH WALLENMEYER in Evansville, Indiana. He identified his wife's parents as J. C. WALLENMEYER and LOUISE WALLENMEIER. His wife's parents moved from Evansville, Indiana, to Fort Myers Beach, Florida, where J. C. WALLENMEYER purchased the Garls Drug Store, Fort Myers Beach, Florida. In 1959 O'DOHERTY and his wife moved to Fort Myers Beach, Florida, where O'DOHERTY worked as a counter salesman for his father-in-law in Garls Drug Store. In July, 1961, he left this employment due to a family misunderstanding, moved to Columbus, Ohio, with his wife and family, and has remained in Columbus since that date. O'DOHERTY said he had been friendly with a PERYL SIZEMORE, who had worked as a pharmacist at Garls Drug Store. SIZEMORE had preceded O'DOHERTY to Columbus, Ohio, and based on SIZEMORE's reports, O'DOHERTY thought Columbus would be a good place in which to live and obtain employment.

After arriving in Columbus, O'DOHERTY sold Watkins products for a few months, and then obtained employment at the Donaldson Baking Company. He resided at 1103 South Hampton from about September, 1961, to August, 1963, with his wife and family. In August, 1963, he moved with his family to his present residence.

O'DOHERTY is not a citizen of the United States and has lost his Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) card. He said he had informed INS of the loss of his identification card, had been told to apply for another card, but as yet has not done so.

Eugene A. O'Doherty

O'DOHERTY related the following information concerning his brother, EUGENE ALPHONSUS O'DOHERTY, who was born in February, 1916, in Lifford, Ireland:

Texas

O'DOHERTY was reared with his brother EUGENE in Lifford, Ireland. EUGENE O'DOHERTY joined the British Army in about 1933, and served with the Artillery in Aldershot, England. However, after about six months or a year's service, EUGENE O'DOHERTY deserted the British Army and came back to Lifford, Ireland. EUGENE O'DOHERTY immediately joined the Irish National Defense Forces in Dublin, Ireland, and served throughout World War II. EUGENE O'DOHERTY had about ten years' service with the National Defense Force of Ireland.

Their mother died in 1944, leaving the family without a home. EUGENE O'DOHERTY remained in Galway, Ireland, where he worked on the Turf Board for about one year. EUGENE then went to England and Scotland where he was employed in factory work and as a photographer, from 1945 to 1957. In 1947 VINCENT wrote to EUGENE in Liverpool, England, asking EUGENE to get in touch with their sister, GLADYS CORSER, from Austin, Texas, who was visiting Ireland at that time. GLADYS CORSER had come to the United States, resided on Kenwood Avenue in Austin, Texas, and worked with the Internal Revenue Service in Austin, Texas.

nee O'Doherty

VINCENT claimed little contact with his brother EUGENE since 1944 except occasional intermittent correspondence. He had received letters from EUGENE in 1947, but had lost his address. In 1954 he saw GLADYS CORSER in Chicago, Illinois, and she gave him EUGENE's address in England. He wrote to EUGENE at that time and several times thereafter. He believed EUGENE was in the photography business, residing on Shail Road. VINCENT O'DOHERTY said that he had known within the past two years that EUGENE had moved from Liverpool, England, back to Dublin, Ireland. He said EUGENE had entered the United States in August, 1962, and he believed EUGENE flew from Dublin, Ireland, to Austin, Texas, and that his sister, GLADYS CORSER, had sponsored EUGENE.

From August, 1962, to April, 1963, EUGENE O'DOHERTY was in Austin, Texas, where he had worked for a Mr. PEYTON in photography. EUGENE has told him that he actually took the photographs while PEYTON processed them.

VINCENT said that EUGENE had called him in April, 1963, from Austin, Texas, and mentioned he was taking a trip to the Midwest. VINCENT claimed this was his next contact with EUGENE with the exception of occasional letters which they had exchanged. He was not aware until that call that EUGENE O'DOHERTY was in the United States and in Austin, Texas. EUGENE came to Columbus, Ohio, at the end of April, 1963, or the beginning of May, 1963. At that time VINCENT lived at 1103 South Hampton, Columbus, Ohio, and EUGENE, after arriving in Columbus, lived there with him. Later VINCENT moved to 1167 South High Street and EUGENE accompanied him and his family. After coming to Columbus, EUGENE obtained a job with the Columbus School of Motoring on North Hampton, his superior being a Mr. DICE.

— VINCENT said that EUGENE has not returned to Texas since coming to Columbus, Ohio. However, EUGENE has called their sister, GLADYS CORSER, and she has called EUGENE on a number of occasions. The telephone calls have been of a personal and family nature inasmuch as GLADYS CORSER is lonely and has thought of moving to Columbus, Ohio. However, she informed EUGENE that she has been in Texas a number of years and, therefore, is reluctant to leave that state.

VINCENT said that EUGENE has been called by his former employer, Mr. PEYTON, on a couple of occasions from Houston or Austin, Texas. Apparently PEYTON wanted EUGENE O'DOHERTY to return to Texas to work for him and EUGENE has been considering that. However, EUGENE indicated to him that the photography work with PEYTON is of a seasonal nature and, therefore, he did not want to return to Texas. He added that EUGENE has hopes of launching his own driving school in Columbus, Ohio.

Edwin C

VINCENT said EUGENE had informed him that he had met and talked with General WALKER in WALKER's home in Texas. He said EUGENE may have met General WALKER through PEYTON. EUGENE, sometime between August, 1962, and April, 1963, actually interviewed General WALKER, and as a result of that interview, EUGENE had prepared a written account of his interview for publication. EUGENE had presented his article to General WALKER for permission to publish it, and had received General WALKER's permission.

After arriving in Columbus, Ohio, EUGENE had contacted the "Columbus Dispatch" regarding the possibility of publishing his free lance interview with General WALKER. However, the "Columbus Dispatch" wanted the right to edit the article which EUGENE would not consent to and, therefore, the deal fell through.

VINCENT O'DOHERTY said that both he and EUGENE are anti-communist and feel that the internal threat of communism is more dangerous than the threat of war with Russia. They both feel the American people are not awakened to the threat of communism.

VINCENT said EUGENE is a very opinionated person, but, to his knowledge, does not belong to any group; that EUGENE seems to admire General WALKER and General WALKER's policies. However, he indicated that EUGENE has not identified himself as a member of the John Birch Society. On the basis of conversations with EUGENE, VINCENT believes that his brother's former boss, PEYTON, was connected or friendly with the John Birch Society; that EUGENE possibly has met members of that society and has discussed the philosophy of that society. To VINCENT's knowledge, EUGENE O'DOHERTY has not associated with any members of the John Birch Society while in Columbus, Ohio.

VINCENT said that EUGENE has been outspoken regarding President KENNEDY's policy on aid to communist countries, and they both felt that the statement by President KENNEDY in Berlin that Ireland was free was a poor statement to make. He said they neither saw "eye to eye" with President KENNEDY's policies, but neither of them has ever made any threat against President KENNEDY. He said both himself and EUGENE felt very badly about the assassination of President KENNEDY, and EUGENE did not give any indication of any acquaintance with either LEE HARVEY OSWALD or JACK RUBY. Prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY, EUGENE had indicated in conversations with him that he felt President KENNEDY would get a poor reception in Texas, and EUGENE felt that Texans did not care for President KENNEDY. In addition, EUGENE had expressed the belief that President KENNEDY's trip to Texas would be a failure, but EUGENE did not make any mention or reference to any violence in connection with that trip. VINCENT said he is sure that EUGENE did not envision the assassination of President KENNEDY.

VINCENT is quite sure that his brother EUGENE was not implicated in any way with the assassination of President KENNEDY and, to his knowledge, none of EUGENE O'DOHERTY's associates was implicated in any way.

VINCENT said that to his knowledge EUGENE has not received any other telephone calls from Texas, and has not made any to Texas. However, he said that EUGENE had been drinking on the evening of November 24, 1963, and it is possible that he could have made or received a telephone call. They were together at Tom and Mary's Bar on South High Street from shortly after 11:00 p.m., until about midnight on Sunday, November 24, 1963, and EUGENE had not made or received a telephone call during that period.

EUGENE has made rather radical statements at times and when he did not like a person he would come out rather strongly against that person. VINCENT said, as an example, that perhaps at sometime EUGENE had said that we should get rid of President KENNEDY or other leaders if he did not agree with them; that generally EUGENE talks a great deal and seems to enjoy arguing, but he certainly is not as radical as his talking would indicate. He recalled that EUGENE has made the statement that President KENNEDY was no good and felt that President KENNEDY was too soft on communism. He added that when EUGENE came to Columbus they had discussions regarding integration and EUGENE had expressed himself strongly against integration.

VINCENT has no knowledge whatever concerning the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, and to his knowledge, his brother EUGENE has no knowledge or association with that group.

VINCENT stated that he has been the closest associate of his brother, EUGENE O'DOHERTY; that he has met friends of EUGENE and described them as casual acquaintances. He has met these friends of his brother in bars in Columbus and was unable to recall the identity of any of them.

Unknown Person in Mexico City Who Resembled LEE HARVEY OSWALD

The following investigation was conducted by SAS THOMAS P. SCOLLARD and ROBERT C. DAVIS at Cincinnati, Ohio:

On December 5, 1963, JESSE GREGORY, 1520 F. Dudley, Parktown, Cincinnati, Ohio, advised SAS DAVIS and SCOLLARD that he believed he saw an individual in Mexico City who bore a striking resemblance to subject. He furnished the following information:

GREGORY is a retired Civil Service Commission employee, having worked in Washington, D. C., until 1953, when he became disabled by a heart condition. He planned a two-month vacation in Mexico, beginning August 30, 1963. He travelled by plane from Cincinnati, Ohio, to Chicago, Illinois, and from there to Mexico City, Mexico, arriving on August 30, 1963. He had reservations at the Hotel Canada, but decided against staying there when he saw this hotel because it appeared to be a low class establishment. He then obtained a room at a "huespedes," boarding house, located at 26 Lerma, Mexico City, where he stayed one night. He was not satisfied with this room and searched a Mexico City newspaper to locate better accommodations. From the newspaper he obtained a room in another "huespedes" located at 43 Varcocia, which was operated by CARMEN GODOY. He rented a room at this address for one month. He occupied a room on the first floor for a few days, then had his room changed to the second floor. There were 12 or 13 other people staying at this boarding house and he was surprised to find all these other people appeared to be intellectuals. He did not expect to find people of this class staying in an ordinary boarding house. He noted none of the other people staying at 43 Varsobia appeared to be engaged in regular employment because they were around the boarding house practically every day during the daylight hours and seemed to be resting or vacationing. When he first arrived at 43 Varsobia, all of the other persons living at this address were Latin Americans.

On or about September 23, 1963, or September 24, 1963, a young white male American, name unknown, about 20 to 25 years old, obtained a room at 43 Varsobia, occupying a room located over the detached garage of this house. This individual, according to GREGORY, could have been the subject because he bore a striking resemblance to photographs of the subject as seen by GREGORY in newspapers and magazines and on television. GREGORY saw this individual on only one occasion which occurred when they had breakfast alone on the day after the unknown white male American came to the boarding house. GREGORY's first impression of this suspect was that he looked very shabby and was a poor representative of the United States. GREGORY talked with this unknown suspect for about one hour when they had breakfast alone together at the boarding house. During this meal the suspect indicated strong dissatisfaction with the United States Government. He stated to GREGORY that he disliked the United States because of the racial situation. The suspect stated, "Things are pretty rotten in the United States," and "The United States is lousy." GREGORY has the impression this suspect was not particularly anti-Negro himself, but was disturbed over the racial problem in the United States and felt nothing could be done in the United States to alleviate the racial problem under the current system of government.

The unknown white male American indicated he was going to a college in Mexico City located on Delaroforma Street and told GREGORY he did not like college in the United States.

Suspect further indicated to GREGORY that at one time he had lived in Washington, D. C., but came to Mexico from Texas. The suspect spoke fair conversational Spanish. GREGORY attempted to reason with the suspect about the racial problem in the United States, pointing out that there were many bright spots in the racial situation and he felt the people of the United States were doing very well under the current system of government in solving their racial problems. The suspect was not convinced by these arguments and kept repeating that, "The United States is rotten." GREGORY stated before leaving the suspect at the breakfast table on this morning he loaned him a book entitled, "The Coming Explosion in Latin American," which GREGORY felt would help the suspect to become more understanding of the racial problem of the United States.

GREGORY did not see the suspect again, but on September 29, 1963, GREGORY left 43 Varsobia and before leaving went to the room of the suspect to get his book. After knocking on the door and identifying himself, the suspect handed the book out through the door without coming outside the door or showing his face. During the period September 23 or September 24, 1963, to the date September 29, 1963, when GREGORY left this boarding house, it appeared to him that the suspect did not mix with the other boarders and stayed by himself.

GREGORY furnished the following description of the suspect, stating he realized his recollection of small details concerning the suspect was faulty, but that at the time he saw suspect he had no particular reason for committing his description to memory:

Age:	20 to 25
Height:	5' to 5'4"
Weight:	160 pounds

GREGORY estimated this weight, but said suspect looked thin and drawn. GREGORY was unable to estimate weight and height of interviewing Agents with any degree of accuracy.

Eyes:	Dark, not otherwise noticed
Hair:	Dark brown, unkept, needed haircut

Complexion:	Slightly suntanned, but not vigorous healthy appearance
Face:	No special recollection
Mouth:	Tense, not pleasant appearing
Chin:	No special recollection
Teeth:	No special recollection
Nose:	No special recollection
Adams Apple:	Not prominent, but noticeable
Scars and Marks:	None observed
Appearance:	Not clean shaven; shabby looking; introverted
Speech:	Not noticeably regional, may have been Middlewest to South and Southwest, spoke softly, used word "rotten" often
Clothing:	Wearing long-sleeved pullover sweater, dark brown or very dark blue; white shirt, very dirty and worn, no tie; trousers - no specific recollection, but were dark and baggy; shoes - not noticed; luggage - carried one dark colored airline type handbag

One of the Latin Americans staying at 43 Versobia during this period was known to GREGORY by the name of RUBEN D. MARANTES MEZA, who said he was employed by the Mexican Government as a hydroelectrical transformer specialist and was probably an electrical engineer. It was generally known at the boarding house that GREGORY was leaving the end of the month to visit for another month in Guadalajara, Mexico. MEZA offered to and did write a letter for GREGORY to obtain a place to stay in Guadalajara. MEZA sent this letter to DONNA DELORES RUBIA, 682 Juarez, Guadalajara, Mexico. GREGORY left Mexico City on September 29, 1963, and went directly to the 682 Juarez address where he obtained a room. GREGORY observed that this house was frequented by a group of 10 to 15 young Mexicans. During conversation, one of the young Mexicans told GREGORY that two rooms on the second floor of this address were being used to circulate communist literature. GREGORY never went to the second floor and never saw any evidence this address was being used to circulate communist literature. However, this report disturbed him so he went to see SAMUEL B. SOUTHWELL, Public Affairs Officer, U. S. Information Service, at Guadalajara. GREGORY discussed this matter with SOUTHWELL who informed him it was known that about a year or two ago the residence at 682 Juarez was the location of a Russian Cultural Center, but SOUTHWELL said he had no knowledge communists were currently using the residence at this address for any purpose.

GREGORY speculated, with no reason to know for sure, that MEZA knew the address at 682 Juarez was being used by communists and sent GREGORY there to involve him with the communists. GREGORY further speculated that other persons residing at 43 Varsobia may have been communists because they all appeared to be intellectuals with no visible means of support. GREGORY's speculation strengthens his suspicion that the unknown white male American rooming at 43 Varsobia may have been LEE HARVEY OSWALD visiting Mexico City to contact communists.

GREGORY left Guadalajara on about November 17, 1963, and returned home without further incident. He furnished the following names of other individuals who resided at 43 Varsobia during the period August 30, 1963, and September 29, 1963, and who may have seen or talked to the unknown white male American suspect:

Ammunition Sold By Elmer Joyce
Gun Shop, Covington, Kentucky

The following investigation was conducted by SA BENNY J. CANNY on December 6, 1963, at Cincinnati, Ohio:

— SA CANNY contacted the following individuals:

CHARLES GROSSMAN, Owner, Grossman Gun Shop, 1195 Catherine Drive, Cincinnati, Ohio;

FRANK S. HODGES, SR., and FRANK S. HODGES, JR., Co-owners, Pioneer Gun Shop, 5147 Montgomery Road, Norwood, Ohio;

GEORGE C. BURRIER, Burrier Gun Shop, 5026 Montgomery Road, Norwood, Ohio;

MARTIN HOLLANDER, 3947 North Clerose Circle, Cincinnati, Ohio.

CHARLES GROSSMAN advised that he purchased only 100 rounds of this ammunition which he uses for test firing. The Pioneer Gun Shop, according to the HODGES, has not bought any of this ammunition. None of the listed persons recalled subject OSWALD prior to the newspaper and television publicity on the assassination of President KENNEDY, and none does any mail-order ammunition business, selling mostly to local individuals they know.

The following investigation was conducted by SA THOMAS B. ESTEP on December 6, 1963:

HOMER E. JOHNSTON, Owner-operator of a shooters supply shop, 11582 Lebanon Road, Sharonville, Cincinnati, Ohio, advised that he has been in business for 20 years at this address. On March 2, 1962, he purchased a box of this ammunition from Elmer Joyce Gun Shop, Covington, Kentucky, consisting of 1,000 rounds in 50 boxes of 20 rounds each. He still has 18 boxes of this ammunition left. He has no sales slip on the sales, but no sales were made to subject OSWALD, of which he is positive. This ammunition does not sell fast, but is excellent ammunition and is sold generally to persons who have bought old guns. He could furnish no information on subject.

CHARLES HENSLEY, employed at B&W Metals Company, Hamilton, Ohio, advised that he is owner-operator of the Mason Gun Shop, 1054 Butler-Warren Road, Mason, Ohio, where he lives. He has none of this ammunition and never had any of it. He stated that guns are a hobby with him and that he never heard of subject prior to the assassination publicity.

The following investigation was conducted by SA BILLY C. KIRTS on December 6, 1963, at Cincinnati, Ohio:

STEPHEN KUSMACK, Route 1, Manchester, U. S. Route 52, advised that he operates the Trade Winds Trading Post at this address. He had 100 rounds of this ammunition, 60 rounds of which he has sold to local persons he knows, the other 40 rounds still being in his possession. He could furnish no information on subject.

The following investigation was conducted by SA JOHN F. McCLUSKEY on December 6, 1963, at Dayton, Ohio:

RUSSELL E. THORNTON, Owner of Thornton's Gun Exchange, 1543 West Third Street, advised that he has no record of any purchase of this ammunition from George Zucker or Century Arms Company, but that on June 15, 1962, he purchased 1,000 rounds of this ammunition from Elmer Joyce, 336 Scott Street, Covington, Kentucky, of which he has left four boxes containing 20 rounds each. He has no records on cash sales and most all of his customers are local and known to him. He could not recall ever having sold any ammunition to subject OSWALD, and could furnish no information on subject. He has sold no merchandise by mail in the past year or more with the exception of a rifle which he had shipped to a customer in Michigan.

"Dear Sir,

"Some reports say that Oswald and Jack Ruby never knew each other but I believe they did. For a second or two the T.V. camera revealed that Oswald did know Jack Ruby.
It was so clear I said to myself 'He sees someone he knows'_ When the officials first started to bring Oswald out 'In camera view' Oswald took about four steps and then turn his head to the left in the direction of the on coming Jack Ruby. 'Not yet in view of camera' Oswald's face showed a look of surprise, it was at this time that I said to myself 'He sees someone he knows.'
We are all alike in this respect if we see someone we know when we are not expecting to see them our face will show surprise.
I don't know how many T.V. cameras were there but I do know that one of the T.V. tapes will show what I saw. Jack Ruby was a hoodlum and a hoodlum is only concerned about himself.

SUBJECT: LEE HARVEY OSWALD
INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA

The Director inquired concerning an article which appeared in the "Evening Star" on 12-7-63 containing information concerning Mrs. Ruth Paine and the subject's attempt at assassination of General Edwin A. Walker. The Director also noted that 2 articles appearing in the New York "Journal American" 12-8-63 should be thoroughly reviewed.

The "Evening Star" article 12-7-63 points out that Mrs. Paine had stated publicly that sometime after 10-16-63 she had advised the FBI that subject was working in the building from which the shots that killed the President were fired. She stated that she furnished this information during the second visit to her home by FBI agents. She also reportedly stated that agents had interviewed subject's wife on these 2 visits, one sometime after 10-4-63 and one sometime after 10-16-63.

The facts are as follows:

On 10-25-63 the New Orleans office ascertained that subject had left a forwarding address of 2515 West Fifth Street, Irving, Texas, when he left New Orleans 9-26-63. New Orleans requested Dallas to check this address. Dallas made inquiries in the neighborhood on 10-29-63 and determined that this was the residence of Mrs. Ruth Paine and that she had a Russian woman living with her. Preliminary checks concerning Mrs. Paine were made and she was then interviewed by agents on 11-1-63. She confirmed that Mrs. Oswald was living with her but said subject was living in Dallas and working at the Texas School Book Depository; that he visited his wife on weekends. During the interview Mrs. Oswald entered the room and upon learning the identity of the agents was quite concerned. She was told through Mrs. Paine (since Mrs. Oswald only speaks Russian) that she should not be concerned but she was not interviewed.

On 11-5-63 agents again interviewed Mrs. Paine who advised that she had been unable to ascertain subject's Dallas address and he had admitted to her of being a "Trotskyite communist." Mrs. Oswald was not interviewed during this visit and she told Secret Service agents on 11-24-63 that she had seen an agent talking to Mrs. Paine just as he was leaving. This was the second and last interview of Mrs. Paine before the assassination.

With regard to the General Walker incident, the article in the "Evening Star" refers to a scribbled notebook entry with General Walker's name and phone number. This probably refers to the note in Russian which was found on 12-2-63 in a book being sent to Mrs. Oswald by Mrs. Paine. This note when translated indicated that subject was preparing to take some drastic action and expected to be killed or at least arrested. This note was turned over to the Dallas office by Secret Service on 12-3-63. It had been found in one of 2 books which were given to Secret Service on December 2nd by the Irving Police Department. These books had been given to the Irving Police Department by Mrs. Paine on 11-30-63 so that they could be given to Mrs. Oswald who frequently used them.

Mrs. Oswald was later interviewed and advised that she had originally found this note in the Spring of 1963 on a night when her husband came home and said that he had shot at General Walker. It is noted that Walker was shot at on 4-10-63 and that the bullet which was recovered according to the Laboratory may have come from subject's gun although a positive identification cannot be made.

We have reviewed the articles in the "Journal American" dated 12-8-63. These articles contain no additional pertinent information which has not previously come to our attention. The reference in one to a man arrested in Madrid as a self-confessed plotter of Kennedy's death named as Pasquale R. Gongora probably refers to Pascual Enrique Ruedolo Gongora, a Cuban national, deported from the U.S. on 11-23-63 for involvement in criminal activities. The head of the Information Section of the Spanish Directorate General of Security advised the Legal Attache on 12-9-63 that he was improperly given a visa to enter Spain and that he has no connection with the assassination. Our files contain no information on him.

SUBJECT: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION REGARDING THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

The report of the President's Commission has been reviewed by the Administrative Division, the Domestic Intelligence Division, the General Investigative Division, the Identification Division, and the Laboratory.

COMMISSION'S FINDINGS:

The Commission's report sets forth the official facts of the assassination of President Kennedy as we knew and reported them in substance to the Commission on 12-9-63. Namely, Oswald was the assassin, he acted alone, his actions the product of a disturbed mind, showing an urge to find a place in history, a capacity for violence, a commitment to communism and a resentment of authority. Of events immediately following the assassination it found no evidence of any association with or conspiracy between Ruby and Oswald or among any outside factors, foreign or domestic.

In criticism it finds the Secret Service vastly inadequate to its assigned task in November, 1963. It castigates the Dallas Police Department for its handling of the person of Oswald subsequent to his arrest and for its dealings with news media. It recognizes the failure of the Secret Service to define the criteria they needed to properly protect the President and to make proper requests of Government agencies.

Concerning the FBI, the report states the FBI could have provided more to the Secret Service than prompt referral of specific threats to Presidential safety, as was our policy prior to the assassination. While not detailed on this point, it reports that the Bureau "took an unduly restrictive view of its role in protective intelligence work prior to the assassination."

MR. BELMONT - MR. TOLSON
RE: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION

In recommendation of procedures to improve protection of the President, it proposes the formation of a committee at cabinet level to oversee the problems of protecting the President; the possible relocation of the duties of the Secret Service to another agency, or in the alternative the appointment of a responsible position in the Treasury Department to supervise the Secret Service and to keep the Secretary of the Treasury informed as to its performance; that the facilities of Secret Service be completely overhauled, including the establishment of criteria of information it needs to properly protect the President; that there be perfected a closer association and liaison between the Secret Service and all Federal agencies; and, finally, that the President's physician accompany him on his travels; that Congress make the assassination of the President and Vice President a federal crime; that State Department refine procedures for dissemination of information concerning defectors to Soviet-bloc countries, and that representatives of the bar, law enforcement and news media work more closely to establish ethical standards concerning collection and presentation to the public of information so there will be no interference with pending criminal investigations or rights of individuals to a fair trial. Here the Commission is not clear but the implications point to the Dallas Police Department, killing of Oswald, conduct of news media representatives, Mark Lane, et cetera.

The report states that both the Secret Service and the FBI have professed to the Commission that the liaison between them was close and fully sufficient. The Commission does not believe that the liaison between the FBI and the Secret Service prior to the assassination was as effective as it should have been. With regard to this comment, it is noted that prior to the assassination of President Kennedy the FBI disseminated to the Secret Service all information which came into its possession which it believed would be of value to the Secret Service in carrying out its responsibilities. It is noted that at no time did Secret Service express discontent nor did it furnish a written criteria regarding its needs.

Since the assassination of the President there was a complete re-evaluation of our dissemination policy with regard to information that might be of interest to Secret Service. New criteria were established and following the establishment of the new criteria we have been following the new procedures which were adopted. These criteria are the subject of a separate memorandum that was prepared on 9-29-64.

MR. BELMONT - MR. TOLSON
RE: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION

In addition, we have determined that an Interagency Committee and program are being established by the Treasury Department to develop more effective criteria for dissemination of data to Secret Service. The Committee will include representatives of the President's Office of Science and Technology, Department of Defense, Central Intelligence Agency, FBI, and Secret Service. This Interagency Committee has not reached the stage of development to extend invitations to the FBI and others, but is expected to do so soon. It is noted that since the adoption of the Bureau's new criteria for dissemination, Secret Service has made available in writing to the Bureau the criteria upon which they desire to receive information. It is noted that the Bureau's criteria is broader in scope than the written criteria furnished by Secret Service.

The report of the Commission gives the Bureau credit for the amount of investigative effort since the assassination and mentions that 80 additional FBI personnel were sent to Dallas to assist in the investigation, that we had conducted more than 25,000 interviews and as of 9-11-64 submitted more than 2300 reports comprising some 25,400 pages.

In referring to the identification of 20 latent fingerprints and 8 latent palmprints, the Commission discussed the identities other than Oswald that were identified with the latent prints. The Commission in their wording stated "most of the prints were found to have been placed on the cartons by an FBI clerk and a Dallas police officer." The true facts are that it was determined that a clerk in the Dallas Office was identified with five latent fingerprints and one latent palmprint and the remaining latent fingerprints and four of the palmprints were determined to be those of a Dallas police officer. In connection with the clerk in the Dallas Office, he was responsible for the wrapping of the cartons for transmittal to the Bureau.

In discussing the shooting of Dallas police officer J. D. Tippit, the Commission states that certain witnesses to this shooting were interviewed by the FBI "two months after the shooting." It is noted the shooting of the Dallas police officer by Oswald was completely a local matter within the jurisdiction of the Dallas Police Department and the Bureau did not attempt to conduct any investigation concerning this shooting. The Bureau did offer its another instance of our "unduly restrictive policy"

Laboratory facilities to the Dallas Police Department in this matter. No interviews were conducted relative to the Tippit shooting until requests were received from the President's Commission to do so.

Concerning the various interrogations of Lee Harvey Oswald, the Commission comments on the small size of the interview room in the Dallas Police Department and states that up to 25 different persons participated in these interviews. There is no clear cut statement as to the number of individuals that participated in these interviews at any given time. In this regard it is noted that 1 Agent participated in an interview on 11-22-63 and 1 Agent participated in two interviews on 11-23-63.

Comment is also made that Oswald was not represented with counsel. The entire interviewing of Oswald was under the jurisdiction of the Dallas Police Department, not the FBI, and the Bureau had no control over the conditions under which the interviews were taking place.

The report states an FBI Agent is quoted as stating the conditions at the Dallas Police Department were like Grand Central Station or the Yankee Stadium. The Agent in the footnote is identified as Special Agent James P. Hosty. In this regard Agent Hosty's testimony does reflect that he made such a comment when testifying before the President's Commission.

The report states that the Director sent a message to Dallas Chief of Police Curry on 11-22-63, urging the Chief to afford Oswald utmost security. The report states Chief Curry did not recall receiving this message. SAC Shanklin assures that an oral message was delivered by Special Agent Manning C. Clements immediately after receiving instructions from the Bureau to so advise Chief Curry. (See SA Clements Dallas report 11/30/63, page 29, paragraph 5).

The report in discussing Chief Curry's periodic press releases on the developments in the assassination during the initial stages quotes the Director as being extremely concerned over these press releases and quotes from the Director's testimony in this regard.

In referring to interviews of Ruth Paine by Special Agent Hosty, the report states she was questioned concerning Oswald's whereabouts and promised to advise the FBI where he was residing and also to furnish the FBI any pertinent information concerning him. A comment is made that Ruth Paine was not asked to furnish Oswald's telephone number in Dallas and that she did not volunteer this information although she had such information in her possession.

The Commission has relied very heavily upon the technical findings of the FBI Laboratory to support their conclusions as to the identity of the assassin and our Laboratory findings are not presented in an unfavorable light. In some instances, reportedly in the interests of impartiality, because of deep involvement of the FBI in the investigation of the case, the Commission had other experts examine evidence upon which we had submitted reports. Upon being challenged by the Bureau at the time on the basis of a lack of confidence, the Commission denied any such lack of confidence. There were no important or significant differences between our findings and those of the other experts. This was particularly true of all crucial examinations such as the identification of the assassination bullets as having been fired in Oswald's rifle and the identification of Oswald's handwriting on documents establishing his ownership of the assassination rifle.

As a matter of interest, in a few instances, there was a difference of degree noted in certain of the findings. These instances are discussed in detail below.

On pages 577 and 578 the report sets forth that FBI Laboratory experts identified all writing on a vaccination certificate found among Oswald's belongings as being Oswald's handwriting except the signature "A.J.Hideel" which was too distorted to identify or nonidentify. Alwyn Cole, Treasury Department document expert identified all writing including "A.J.Hideel" signature as being Oswald's. On the other hand, Cole was unable to identify or nonidentify a rubber stamp kit which belonged to Oswald with rubber stamp impressions on this vaccination certificate. The FBI Laboratory expert was able to identify certain of the stamped words as having been made by Oswald's stamp kit. These minor variances are not contradictory and are overshadowed by the conclusive agreement of both experts that Oswald prepared most of the writing appearing on the certificate.

On page 136 of the report, relative to the bullet that had been fired into the home of Major General Edwin A. Walker on April 10, 1963, the Commission relates that Joseph D. Nicol conducted an independent examination of the bullet and concluded "that there is a fair probability" that the bullet was fired from the rifle used in the assassination.

that he was influenced by circumstances surrounding the case in arriving at his decision.

In evaluating the evidence concerning Tippit's murder on page 176 of the report, the Commission completely ignored the identification made by Nicol. This illustrates how heavily the Commission relied upon the findings of our Laboratory experts.

170 other U. S. Marshals are going to be transported by planes to the airport at Oxford and from there they will be moved by helicopter to the camp site 10 miles north of Oxford.

Departmental attorneys have contacted Colonel [illegible] Ray, head of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, and he is going to meet the U. S. Marshals on the campus at 4:30, and it is believed he will permit them to proceed without resistance.

With regard to former Major General Edwin [illegible] is registered at the Mansel Hotel in Oxford under the name John [illegible] and is occupying Room 17. He said WALKER had in his news releases stated the patriots should carry their "skillet, tent, camping gear and flag". He said WALKER knows [redacted] owns a rifle and magnum revolver but he does not know about the three .22 caliber pistols. He reiterated that he has had no discussion with WALKER concerning the taking of firearms to Mississippi and that he was doing so only as an individual. He said he had no particular intention with regard to the use of these firearms and was only taking them because they were his possessions and [redacted] He said one other individual planned to accompany him on his trip to Mississippi. He declined to identify the other person [redacted] He said that other person had mentioned he was going to take a 30.06 rifle. He said they spent those few hours shortly before [redacted] packing and getting ready to go. RACIAL MATTERS

With reference to Dallas teletype of September 29, 1962, advising that former Major General Edwin A. Walker was organizing a group of armed men to proceed to Oxford, Mississippi, on word from Walker to resist Federal troops, ASAC Clark, Dallas, was instructed to obtain all possible information regarding Walker's plans from informants as well as established reliable sources. It was particularly emphasized to Clark that efforts should be made through the above sources to determine whether Walker had actually departed from Mississippi, and if not whether he intended to do so. Clark advised such checks would be made immediately and the Bureau would be kept fully advised of all information obtained.

Dallas teletype of September 29, 1962, advised that a Dallas informant had received information that Walker was presently en route to Mississippi and that all Walker's followers were to depart from Mississippi immediately.

12:10 AM, September 30, 1962 - ASAC Clark telephonically advised that information had been received from a Dallas informant to the effect that Walker had instructed all his followers to assemble on the Court House steps in Jackson, Mississippi, at 10:00 AM, Sunday, September 30, 1962. After the assembly the followers will be instructed to assemble again at 8:00 AM, Monday, October 1, 1962, on the Court House steps in Oxford, Mississippi.

Reportedly 200 followers of Walker from Dallas are to leave for Mississippi immediately in individual automobiles and there is to be no convoy.

On September 28, 1962 [redacted] KRLD and KRLD TV - CBS News, Dallas, Texas made available two sound films of interviews of former U. S. Army General EDWIN A. WALKER for interviews held on September 27, 1962 and September 28, 1962. In the interview on September 27, 1962 BARKER asked WALKER if he had called for a citizens army to lead in support of Mississippi Governor ROSS BARNETT. WALKER declined use of words citizens army but said he has called for a movement of citizens in support of Governor BARNETT. WALKER stated it is the time to be heard ten thousand strong from every state for the cause of freedom. WALKER said if necessary bring tents and skillets. WALKER stated that the use of Federal troops is unconstitutional and that we seem operating under unconstitutional Supreme court edict. WALKER advocated a counter movement. BARKER asked WALKER if he meant an armed counter movement. WALKER replied that that would be a decision the President would have to make. WALKER stated he led forces on the wrong side in the Little Rock incident and his now happy to be on the other side and the right side. The other film contained an interview on September 28, 1962 between BARKER and former General WALKER. WALKER stated he plans to watch the action from Washington, D.C. in enforcement of integration through forcing JAMES HOWARD MEREDITH into the University of Mississippi which is unconstitutional. In reply to a question as to whether he would use physical force to oppose integration of the University of Mississippi, WALKER stated he advocated that people stand beside Governor BARNETT of Mississippi and indicate what we want or do not want. WALKER stated he plans to go to Mississippi if and when Federal troops are used there. WALKER claimed to know that ten thousand people are now on the way to Mississippi from various states. In answer to a question as to whether or not he had been in communication with Governor BARNETT, WALKER declined to answer but stated he has communicated with the Mississippi State Capitol.

ENCLOSURE

WALKER claims that he is flooded with calls and enthusiasm about his efforts to stand behind Governor BARNETT. WALKER said his action at Little Rock, Arkansas was against his principles and his own troops in Little Rock if given choice would have opposed action there. In answer to a question as to a meeting in Dallas on the night of September 28, 1962, WALKER stated somebody was having a "tea party" that night. Details concerning such meeting not stated in answer to question asked WALKER. WALKER stated that if he went to Mississippi he would probably go to Jackson, Mississippi and Oxford, Mississippi. When asked if people en route to Mississippi are organized WALKER stated it appears to be a "grass roots movement" and does not feel such movement towards Mississippi stems from anything he has said and that Governor BARNETT already has "a grass roots movement" in Mississippi. WALKER said if he went to Mississippi it would be to join the movement to stand beside Governor BARNETT to oppose the Federal action being taken against that state. WALKER suggested that everyone including Washington, D.C. take another look at the Constitution and said there should be no effort to stop movement of people who want to stand beside BARNETT. WALKER claimed a communist named BRADEN, first name not given, was traveling in Mississippi recently getting people organized there. WALKER did not state exact identity of BRADEN. WALKER stated the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has the right to say what it wants to and other citizens should have the same right. WALKER stated he advocated no violence and hopes there will be none but feels everyone has a right to show opposition to the Federal Government's action with regard to Governor BARNETT. WALKER stated the important thing is unity of the United States which is not being accomplished through the action being taken.

On September 29, 1962 Dallas confidential informant T-1, who has furnished reliabile information in the past, advised that it has been determined from the office of former U.S. Army General EDWIN A. WALKER that WALKER claims to have a pledge of one hundred armed men from the Los Angeles, California area possibly "minutemen" or similar type group. T-1 stated WALKER was reported to be gathering men who will go to Oxford, Mississippi on word from WALKER to resist Federal troops. T-1 further stated that the various "anti-communist" groups in Dallas are badly split and many are not backing WALKER at this time but that many are backing WALKER.

On September 29, 1962 Dallas confidential informant T-2, contact with whom has been insufficient to determine reliability, advised that [redacted] in contact with former General WALKER today and WALKER advised that he is organizing a group to go to Oxford, Mississippi at his command to resist any Federal troops in that city. WALKER invited [redacted] to attend a meeting the evening of September 29, 1962 to be held in Dallas to organize for this movement. 7D

On September 29, 1962 T-2 advised [redacted] was told by former General WALKER that "Colonel" FRANK A. ABBEY of Baytown, Texas is en route to Dallas, Texas from the Houston area and will be in contact with WALKER late on September 29, 1962 or early September 30, 1962. T-2 identified ABBEY as the organizer and leader of the liberation forces of the Western Hemisphere, an organization of American citizens formed in the spring of 1961 for the purpose of attacking Cuba and freeing the Cuban Republic of communist control. T-2 stated that ABBEY was attempting to organize a guerrilla force for this purpose, however, most activities ceased in the late summer of 1961. 7D

On September 29, 1962 [redacted] advised that at 6:45 p.m. on September 29, 1962 he received a phone call from a woman identifying herself as General WALKER's secretary and advising [redacted] that [redacted] with WALKER had been cancelled as WALKER was presently en route Mississippi. WALKER's alleged secretary further instructed that per WALKER's instructions all of his followers were to depart for Mississippi immediately. On September 29, 1962 [redacted] advised that at 9:45 p.m. on September 29, 1962 he was instructed [redacted] 7D

[redacted] that General WALKER had instructed all of his followers to report at 10:00 a.m., Sunday, September 30, 1962 at the courthouse steps in Jackson, Mississippi. They were also to report at 8:00 a.m., Monday, October 1, 1962 at the courthouse steps in Oxford, Mississippi. [redacted] claimed over two hundred individuals from Dallas were proceeding in individual automobiles not in convoy in order to prevent detection. From conversation [redacted] General WALKER was at that time already in Mississippi. WALKER's mode of transportation, according to T-2, must have been by airplane, either private or commercial.

he stated that states rights were being violated and that he was for General WALKER and was en route to Mississippi.

DESEGREGATION OF UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI

Former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER arrived in Jackson, Mississippi, September 29, 1962, from Dallas.

WALKER held press conference at Jackson and told newsmen he had been "in touch with the capitol but I have not talked with Barnett personally." WALKER said he was here "to stand with Governor Barnett shoulder to shoulder" and when asked if he advocated violence by Mississippi to back up its stand to keep JAMES HOWARD MEREDITH out of the University of Mississippi, he did not answer.

In a formal statement that was read to newsmen, WALKER called for "a national protest against the conspiracy from within" and called upon the people to "rally to the cause of freedom in righteous indignation, violent vocal protest and bitter silence under the flag of Mississippi at the use of federal troops."

WALKER was further quoted as saying, "This today is a disgrace to the nation in dire peril - a disgrace beyond the capacity of the crucifixion by the anti-Christ conspirators of the Supreme Court in their denial of prayer and their betrayal of a nation."

The source, who furnished the above information, did not know where WALKER planned staying in Jackson, Mississippi but advised that WALKER left Jackson sometime during the morning of September 30, 1962 for Oxford, Mississippi.

SUBJECT: EDWIN A. WALKER
Desegregation of
University of Mississippi

The following are excerpts from the report of SA [redacted] dated 10/1/62, at Memphis, Tennessee, showing the results of surveillances of General Walker in and around the campus of the University of Mississippi, on 9/30 and 10/1/62. These excerpts reflect the extent of his activities, as observed by our agents. 7C

SA [redacted] at about 9 p.m. on 9/30/62, observed, around a monument on the campus of the university, a crowd of about 100 to 150 persons, being addressed by Walker, who made a statement to the effect that no one ordered violence on the University of Mississippi campus, and that included the Governor and himself. His remark was answered by a male in the crowd, who said that violence had occurred. Walker then commented to the effect that the reason US Marshals were on the campus was due to the work of one man. At this point he paused briefly and his next word was 'Birdsong' (head of the State Police). The reaction from the crowd to this comment was mixed with boos and cheers. 7C

SA [redacted] at about 9 p.m., on the campus, noted Walker addressing about 150 persons. Walker's comments were to the effect that the marshals' presence on the campus was due to a "sell out reportedly effected by "Birdsong," who Walker stated permitted US Marshals to enter the campus. Walker said this was an indirect route to Cuba"; that the fight would not end here, as people from all over the US were en route to Oxford. He encouraged the group not to give up hope, as victory in this issue would ultimately be theirs. He said there was an Episcopal minister who would like to speak, and Walker said that after listening to him speak he was sorry he, Walker, was a member of the Episcopal faith. 7C

SA [redacted] at 12:10 a.m., 10/1, observed Walker talking to a number of white men and boys on the campus. Walker watched the activities but was not observed to participate in any of the resistance to the US Marshals. 7C

SA [redacted] at about 12:10 a.m., 10/1, observed Walker talking to a number of men on the campus. Walker said he was going on radio and possibly TV, blasting the Kennedy administration. He also remarked that "All this could best be used in Cuba instead of at Ole Miss." Walker watched the activities, but did not participate in any actions against the marshals. An unidentified student participant asked Walker what the best defense was against smoke and teargas bombs, to which Walker replied "Throw sand on them."

SAs [redacted] and [redacted] observed the following: Shortly after 1:15 a.m., 10/1, Walker talked to a number of people at a service station across from the entrance to the University campus. At 2:10 a.m., about 15 men, who appeared to be students, gathered around Walker in his automobile and Walker shook hands with them. 7C

At 9:35 a.m., 10/1, SA [redacted] observed Walker proceed to a drugstore in the town square of Oxford, at which time Walker placed a telephone call and read a statement from 10:01 am to 10:[illegible] am. In his statement he commented that the US Marshals had shot teargas into a group of students and that many of the students could not sleep in their dormitories due to the after-effects of the gas; that several people had been arrested and after being handcuffed were beaton; that no doubt the violence and bloodshed on the campus was in the hands of the Federal government; that he did not believe "they understand in Washington" that most of the students come from homes favoring segregation. This phone call was reportedly made to Radio Station WREC, Memphis. 7C

The Department was furnished a copy of the report from which the above excerpts are taken.

RACIAL MATTERS

There was some disorder in the city of Oxford yesterday but it was brought under control by the troops who reportedly used gas and, in some instances, fired shots over the heads of [illegible] persons. Approximately one half of the students [illegible] attended class and the other half have departed from the campus.

All traffic entering or leaving the city is being stopped and searched by the Army.

Meredith was registered at the university yesterday morning and attended classes without incident.

We have obtained the bullets which were recovered from the bodies of the two individuals who were killed at the campus Sunday. Bullets are also being recovered which were shot into buildings on the campus. These are being forwarded to the Laboratory with approximately 35 weapons which the Army confiscated when they cleared the campus.

U. S. Marshals went to the Executive Offices of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor in Jackson, Mississippi, yesterday to serve the contempt of court citations on the Governor and Lieutenant Governor. The door to the Lieutenant Governor's office was open and the Marshal left papers on his desk. No one was in the Governor's office and the Governor was not served.

The U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit at New Orleans heard arguments on a motion filed on behalf of the State of Mississippi to dissolve the temporary restraining order previously entered against the Governor and other state officials in this matter. It was argued that the Court is without jurisdiction, the injunction was issued without proper notice, the Governor and state officials were not acting as individuals and therefore only the State of Mississippi is a proper party to the suit, only Supreme Court can demand appearance of state officials outside the state capitol, no valid service was made against state officials, and the Government has no standing as a friend of the Court. The Government rebutted the arguments and attorneys for the State of Mississippi were given until October 5, 1962, to file a brief. The Government was given until October 9, 1962, to answer. A hearing on the preliminary injunction scheduled for October 5, 1962.

Governor Barnett made a television address at 1:40 p.m., Central Standard Time, October 1, 1962, in which he stated:

> "Our fellow Mississippians. Even though our state has been invaded by Federal forces, we must have peace and harmony throughout our state. As Chief Executive of this great state, I now prayerfully urge each citizen to remain at home at his community. We must not have violence. Law and order must prevail. To those who have come to the Oxford area from other states, I have said many times before and I say again, please go home. I say this with great deference. To the people of Mississippi I say with all the sincerity that I possess, stay in your community and be calm. Restore law and order and let us all pray that no one else will be injured on our soil. Thank you."

Governor Barnett in a speech on a National Broadcasting Company newscast originating at Jackson at 5:50 p.m., Central Standard Time, stated that the responsibility for the violence in Mississippi rests with the Federal Government. He requested the President to stop further violence by removing Meredith from school. In a similar speech on a Columbia Broadcasting System broadcast at 9:30 p.m., Central Standard Time, Governor Barnett denied statements attributed to the Attorney General that he had removed highway patrolmen from the campus Sunday night. He blamed the violence on reckless, trigger-happy marshals who were inexperienced and nervous. He claimed that the President is directly responsible for the breach of peace and violence.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has announced that a nonidentified Negro girl has applied for admission to the University of Mississippi.

Information has been received that [redacted] was trying to get in touch with [redacted] to find out what the Klan is going to do about the situation in Oxford, Mississippi. [redacted] said that he favors to go to Oxford and added that if the Klan does not make a stand now it is dead. This is being closely followed through sources and informants in order that we will be on top of any Klan activity that develops. 7C

Information has been received that four men stopped at a service station in Greensboro, North Carolina, October 1, 1962, and said they were en route to Oxford, Mississippi. They said they were from Alexandria, Virginia, and mentioned that they were with a White Citizen's Council. The informant who furnished this information believed that the men belonged to the American Nazi Party. This is being checked out to see if the American Nazi Party has sent any of its members to Oxford.

to go to Oxford, Mississippi, to assist former General Walker. The U. S. Attorney has authorized prosecution [redacted] The U. S. Attorney at Dallas also advised he is consulting with the Department of Justice in considering the possibility of raiding the office of former General Walker to seize evidence in connection with the sedition charges pending against him. 7C

The Department advised that the U. S. Attorney at Dallas had been in touch with them concerning [redacted] and requested investigation to determine whether there has been a violation of Title 18, Section 372 (conspiracy to impede or injure an officer of the United States), Section 2383 (rebellion or insurrection), Section 2384 (seditious conspiracy), or Section 1501 (assault on process server). The Dallas Office has been instructed to comply with the Department's request. 7C

The press has reported that former General Walker has been interviewed by Department Attorneys and the FBI. Assistant SAC Halter of Memphis advised last night that Walker has not been interviewed by FBI Agents.

One hundred thirty individuals, who had been arrested by the Army since violence erupted on the campus Sunday, have been interviewed by Agents and processed by Departmental Attorneys. Complaints were filed last night against 13 of these individuals charging assaulting Federal officers. They were taken before the United States Commissioner and it was planned by the Department that those who could not make the bond set by the Commissioner would be taken to a Federal Correctional Institution possibly in Texarkana, Texas.

The remainder of the 130 individuals who were not named in the complaints filed are to be released by the Department after they have been admonished by Departmental Attorneys possibly on October 2, 1962. Those who do not live in Oxford will be instructed by Departmental Attorneys to leave town.

More students were on the campus yesterday and the situation remained generally quiet on the campus and in the town of Oxford.

An effigy was hung from a window near Baxter Hall where Meredith resides. It bore a sign "Go back to Africa where you belong."

Bales of hay were stacked in front of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity house and a sign stated "You might take the campus but you will play hell with the Dekes."

Signs have been put up on the highway in Pontotoc, Mississippi, one of which reads "Headquarters for Negroes and Feds 29.89 miles." Another sign states "Berlin blockade, Communist controlled zone 30 miles."

The Army is still checking all cars entering the town or the campus.

Mississippi State Attorney General Patterson reportedly arrived in Oxford yesterday in the Governor's plane and was met by Messrs. Katzenbach and Guthman of the Department who were later reported to be en route to Washington, D. C.

We were informed that six additional Departmental Attorneys arrived in Oxford yesterday to conduct interviews, apparently with school officials and news representatives concerning details of the riot last Sunday.

Three Mississippi State Senators reportedly landed at the Oxford airport and were met by Departmental officials.

Governor Ross Barnett read a statement over station WLBT-TV, Jackson, Mississippi, at 8:00 p.m., Central Standard Time, last night. He described the university, the town of Oxford, and the Oxford airport as an armed camp completely under the domination of Federal armed forces. He said he has been informed that citizens have been detained, pushed around at the point of bayonets, searched without proper search warrants and that they are captives of the Federal Government. Barnett also said it is costing the Government thousands of dollars a day to keep one morally and mentally unqualified person in the university and that Mississippi will oppose this illegal invasion by every means available.

Governor Barnett further said that he had been deluged with letters and telegrams from all parts of the nation telling Mississippi to stand firm and that this will be done. He claimed that throughout this entire critical period he has called upon the people of Mississippi to be calm, peaceful and to control physical and mental faculties. He has asked them to avoid violence, to maintain law and order, and to leave things up to state and local authorities.

The Laboratory has determined that the bullets recovered from the two individuals who were killed are .38 caliber and the characteristics of the bullets are similar to those fired from Smith and Wesson revolvers. Some of the confiscated weapons are en route to the Laboratory and the remainder are being forwarded as rapidly as problems of identification of the weapons can be resolved. It is noted that the Army made no record at the time the weapons were confiscated and efforts are being made to determine the source of each weapon.

Attorneys for former Major General Edwin A. Walker presented a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to the Clerk of the U. S. District Court at Springfield, Missouri, yesterday. The petition was not filed as the Clerk explained that such petitions are normally filed in U. S. District Court at Kansas City. The attorneys conferred with U. S. District Judge John W. Oliver who is presently holding court at Springfield. Judge Oliver stated that he wished to confer with Chief Judge Floyd R. Gibson of Kansas City before proceeding.

The petition mentioned above alleges that Walker is being illegally detained at the medical center at Springfield, Missouri, and names Warden Russell O. Settle as respondent. Walker's attorneys reportedly are attempting to arrange with attorneys at Oxford, Mississippi, for a petition to be filed in U. S. District Court, Oxford, requesting that the commitment order be set aside. This petition would allege that Walker was illegally transported to the medical center after being arraigned in the Northern District of Mississippi and that the commitment order was issued without a hearing before the judge.

1 At approximately 1:30 AM, September 30, 1962 SA's [redacted] located a white 1962 Chevrolet [redacted] parked and unattended in the parking area adjacent to University Avenue, Oxford, Mississippi at the railroad tracks. This parking area is not located on the campus of the University of Mississippi but is located to the left of University Avenue immediately before crossing the bridge entering the University from the center of town.

At approximately 1:10 AM, October 1, 1962, EDWIN A. WALKER and another individual (identity unknown) were observed walking across the railroad tracks en route to the above-described parking lot.

At 1:15 AM, October 1, 1962, WALKER and his companion entered the above-described automobile and WALKER sat on the passenger seat of the automobile. The vehicle left the parking lot shortly thereafter and was surveilled by SA's [redacted] and [redacted]

WALKER's automobile proceeded on University Avenue through the center of Oxford, Mississippi and proceeded out State Highway 6 toward Batesville, Mississippi. After passing under a railroad bridge located on Highway 6, the car which was occupied by WALKER came to a stop on the shoulder of the road and this stop occurred at approximately 1:35 AM.

WALKER's automobile remained at this location for approximately ten minutes and then the vehicle proceeded west on Highway 6 for a very short distance and again pulled off the road onto the parking area of a service station which bore the name "Highway 6 Gulf Service Station."

The above-described service station is located directly across Highway 6 from the last entrance to the University of Mississippi campus when traveling in a westerly direction away from the city of Oxford.

WALKER and his companion disembarked from the vehicle and he, WALKER, began to engage a number of people in conversation at that location. The group WALKER was talking to increased in number to approximately twenty persons.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

After conversing with these individuals for about five minutes, WALKER crossed the highway and joined a group of Mississippi Safety Patrol officers. He remained with this group about fifteen minutes and then recrossed the highway to the vicinity of his automobile.

At 2:00 AM, October 1, 1962, approximately fifteen white males, most of whom appeared to be of college age, gathered around WALKER and his automobile. WALKER was observed shaking hands with a number of the above individuals.

At 2:17 AM, October 1, 1962, a 1958 Chevrolet Station wagon, blue and white over blue bottom, was observed entering the Highway 6 Gulf Service Station and it parked on the east side of the driveway to this service station. This vehicle came from the direction of the city of Oxford on Mississippi Highway 6. Immediately upon its arrival, four passengers disembarked from said vehicle and entered the driveway in a westerly direction and passed by the gasoline pumps and the building.

The driver of the 1958 Station Wagon is described as a white male, approximately 20 - 24 years of age, 6 ft. 2 in. to 6 ft. 3 in. tall, weighing approximately 190 pounds, was dressed in khaki colored long sleeved shirt and trousers. He was wearing high top boots and the cuffs of his trousers appeared to be tucked into the top of the boots. He was wearing a 10 gallon hat, rolled up on the sides.

The other passengers of the station wagon are described as follows:

NO. 2 -- White male, approximately 45 years of age, 6 ft. 2 inches, 200 lbs., receding hairline, hair brown. Wearing eye glasses. Dressed in dark colored business suit.

NO. 3 -- White male, 18 - 20 years, approximately 5 ft. 10 inches, weighing approximately 140 pounds. Wearing dark colored business suit.

NO. 4 -- White male, 18 - 20 years, approximately 5 ft. 10 inches, weighing approximately 140 lbs. Wearing dark sport trousers with a dark jacket having a wide collar.

At 2:25 AM, October ., 1962, White Male #3, above, was observed carrying a wooden case of empty soft drink bottles. The case appeared to be the size normally holding 24 bottles. He placed the above case of bottles into the rear of this station wagon.

The same white male proceeded to the gasoline pump, removed the hose from the pump, and appeared to fill gasoline into a square metal container of approximately 5-gallon capacity. The container was placed in the rear of the Station Wagon by [illegible].

At this [illegible], approximately eight Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol vehicles entered the driveway area of the service station and momentarily obscured the Station Wagon from view. Because of this obstruction, the Station Wagon was able to leave the area unobserved.

[illegible] the white male who carried WALKER to the service station moved to an area between the office of the service station and a building immediately adjacent to it. WALKER was observed on foot at the gate to the campus which is directly across Highway 6 from the service station. He was talking to a group of officers of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol and appeared to be the only civilian in the group.

SA [redacted] and [redacted] proceeded on foot toward WALKER and lost sight of WALKER due to several spotlights and flashlights which were aimed at Bureau Agents by the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrolmen. The officers of the Patrol told [redacted] and [redacted] to go back to the other side of the Highway. Both Agents proceeded back across the Highway as they felt WALKER would return to his automobile. 7C

At 2:50 AM, October 1, 1962, a group of what appeared to be officers of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol were observed walking slowly up the driveway leading to the University campus. The area was very dimly lighted and due to heavy cover of low hanging tree limbs it could not be definitely established whether or not WALKER proceeded onto the campus at that time. It was believed that he had gone onto the campus as he was no longer observed in the area.

His vehicle remained under close observation by SAs [redacted] until approximately 7:00 AM, October 1, 1962. At that time, SAs [redacted] and [redacted] 7C were relieved at the location of WALKER's automobile and proceeded to the Virgil Mitch to begin a surveillance of Room 37.

At approximately 8:50 AM, October 1, 1962, WALKER was observed standing in the roadway in front of Room #37.

[redacted] The Station 7C

Wagon appeared and WALKER removed it to Room #37.

At 9:16 AM, October 1, 1962, the Ford Station Wagon returned, followed by WALKER's 1962 Chevrolet. Baggage was loaded into the Chevrolet and additional luggage was placed in the Station Wagon.

At 9:23 AM, October 1, 1962, the Ford Station Wagon, [redacted] of the motel and WALKER was a passenger in the Chevrolet.

SA's [redacted] and [redacted] followed the two vehicles east on Mississippi Highway 6 into the city of Oxford. The Chevrolet was observed in the square and because of a [redacted] at Oxford, WALKER disembarked from the Chevrolet. 7C

SA [redacted] was on the campus of the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Mississippi, at approximately 9 p.m. on September 30, 1962, and heard cheers emanating from the vicinity of the monument located at the east end of a park in front of the Lyceum Building. SA [redacted] observed a crowd of approximately 100 to 150 persons congregated around the monument and were being addressed by EDWIN A. WALKER. WALKER made a statement to the effect that no one ordered violence on the University of Mississippi campus and that included the Governor and himself. His remark was answered by a male in the crowd who said that violence had occurred. WALKER then commented to the effect that the reason U. S. Marshals were on the campus was due to the work of one man. At this point, he paused briefly and his next word was "BARNETT." The reaction from the crowd to this comment was mixed, with boos and cheers.

At this point, tear gas fumes forced SA [redacted] to move to a position in which he could no longer observe or hear WALKER.

At about 9 p.m. on September 30, 1962, SA [redacted] was in the vicinity of the Confederate Monument located on the far end of the campus park opposite the Lyceum Building on the campus of the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Mississippi. At this time a group of approximately 150 persons was being addressed by an individual who SA [redacted] recognized as EDWIN WALKER, Retired General of the U. S. Army. General WALKER was attired in civilian clothing and his comments were to the effect that the Marshals' presence on the campus was due to a "sell out." This "sell out" was reported to have been effected by "BIRDSONG", who General WALKER stated permitted U. S. Marshals to enter the University of Mississippi campus.

General WALKER further stated that this was an "indirect route to Cuba. He went on to say that the fight would not end here, as people from all over the United States were en route to Oxford. He encouraged the group not to give up hope, as victory in this issue would ultimately be theirs.

At this point General WALKER mentioned to the group that there was an Episcopal minister who would like to speak and General WALKER said that after listening to him speak he was very sorry he, WALKER, was a member of the Episcopal faith. It could not be determined what the content of the minister's speech would have been as SA [redacted] then moved to leave the area due to tear gas fumes.

EDWIN A. WALKER was observed at 9:45 a.m. on October 1, 1962, passing through a line of military personnel into the Lyceum Square of Oxford, Mississippi. WALKER stopped several times to pose for what appeared to be amateur photographers. He proceeded to a drug store in the Square and entered the rear door. He then prepared a speech and a person who appeared to be an employee of the drug store placed a telephone call for WALKER. WALKER identified himself in the telephone conversation and announced that he had a statement to read. His statement began at 10:01 a.m. and was concluded at 10:09 a.m. In his statement he commented that the U. S. Marshals had shot tear gas into a group of students and that many of the students could not sleep in their dormitories due to the tear gas effects of the gas. He commented that several people had been arrested and after being handcuffed were then beaten. He said in effect that no doubt the violence and bloodshed was in the hands of the Federal Government. He said he did not believe "they understand in Washington" that most of the students come from homes favoring segregation.

WALKER's call was reportedly made to Radio Station WREC, Memphis, Tennessee, and it was requested that his statement be given to all networks. WALKER proceeded to the vicinity of Grundy's Restaurant, after making this statement, and entered his 1962 Chevrolet automobile. He left the area at 10:35 a.m. At this time the surveillance of WALKER was continued by other FBI Agents.

It was then observed that [illegible] Chevrolet sedan, with WALKER inside, proceeded west about 1½ blocks and then turned south to University Street. WALKER's sedan then proceeded east to South Lamar Street, and then turned south and proceeded south to a highway construction area on Route #7, where WALKER's Chevrolet sedan and a 1960 white Ford two door station wagon bearing Louisiana license plate, which was completely covered with mud so that the numbers on the plate could not be determined, were both stopped by U. S. Army troops. There was no mud on the Ford station wagon other than on the rear license plate.

The white Ford Fairlane two door sedan with its two unidentified white male occupants was stopped by U. S. Army troops and the driver of this vehicle pulled over to the side of the road at a construction detour on Route #7 in the south part of Oxford, Mississippi. SAs [redacted] and [redacted] proceeded to follow General WALKER's Chevrolet sedan until it also was stopped by U. S. Army troops at a point just south of where the white Ford Fairlane was halted. General WALKER's car pulled up to the side of the road and SAs [redacted] parked the FBI car [illegible] General WALKER's automobile on the other side of Route #7.

General WALKER got out of his car along with one of the unidentified white male occupants thereof. The only three SAs [redacted] and SA [redacted] could hear General WALKER say to some of the U. S. troops was that he had two guns in his car and he would like to know if he could proceed. General WALKER and other occupants of his car waited approximately one-half hour for permission to move on. At this time, it was observed by SAs [redacted] and [redacted], after a radio communication by the Military Police and the arrival of a military jeep, that WALKER and an unidentified occupant of WALKER's Chevrolet sedan got into the military jeep which had appeared at the scene and were driven north on Route #7 toward downtown Oxford, followed by another military jeep, and WALKER's sedan.

Agents followed the two jeeps and WALKER's Chevrolet sedan via FBI automobile onto the campus of the University of Mississippi, and temporarily lost sight of the jeeps due to the military traffic on the campus.

Upon approaching the Lyceum Building on the campus of the University of Mississippi, WALKER's Chevrolet sedan was observed by SAs [redacted] and [redacted] parked in front of the Lyceum Building and WALKER had apparently gone into the Lyceum Building.

DESEGREGATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI

On October 9, 1962, [redacted] Dallas television station KRLD - TV, made available a film interview of EDWIN A. WALKER held at the Southwest Aeromotive, Love Field, Dallas, Texas, on Sunday evening, October 7, 1962. This interview was as follows:

"WALKER: I am very happy to be back in Texas. The air is clear and bright and it is wonderful to have such a great welcome here. I would almost go back for another day or two to come back to see this. My trip was intended as a short trip to Mississippi. It got quite extended.

"REPORTER: Why did you go to Mississippi in the first place?

"WALKER: I expected to see the football game on Saturday night.

"CLYDE WATTS, ATTORNEY: When you ask the question, please stand up and identify yourself and your news.

"REPORTER: General, can you describe in your own words if what you saw in Mississippi was approved or not approved; the way that the whole issue was carried out.

"DR. ROBERT MORRIS, ATTORNEY: General, I advise you not to answer that question.

"REPORTER: Can you tell us anything about Mississippi?

"WALKER: We certainly can tell you a lot about Mississippi. It is a wonderful state and you all know the issued. It was a very important issue to many states and millions of people.

"REPORTER: Did you confer at all personally with Governor BARNETT while you were in Mississippi?

"WALKER: No, I have not seen Governor BARNETT personally.

"REPORTER: Do you consider the Mississippi incident a crushing defeat to the proponents of segregation?

"MORRIS: General, I advise you not to answer that question.

"WATTS: Gentlemen, let us make an explanation. Let's keep this factual. Mr. MORRIS and I have reconsidered this question. These are factual things I think everyone is interested in and TED will be tickled to death to answer, except matters of general politics. Let's don't run into a political discussion. We came here to discuss your questions. I think the public and you are entitled to know within extended limits that may not interfere with the law suit but within reasonable limits, what TED saw and what he did.

"REPORTER: Can you tell us what you did after you finished your speech at the Memorial?

"WATTS: Let's back up, there was another question. Let's keep it in proper sequence. Let's answer his question first. Let's start at the front.

"WALKER: That is a simple question. I watched what was going on.

"REPORTER: Do you remember the question, General?

"WALKER: No I don't. I think the question was too extensive and it would take a long time. If you would be more specific I would appreciate it.

"REPORTER: We can just shorten it down. Just what did you visualize from the time you arrived in Mississippi, the orderly fashion by Mississippians or marshals, and the atmosphere as you sensed it when you arrived there.

"WALKER: There was an atmosphere throughout the State of general protest, peaceful protest but definitely a determined protest against the procedures and the intentions of the Federal Government in Mississippi. People were very sincere; they were very anxious; they were very worried. Everybody hoped and certainly intended that there would be no violence and did not expect any.

"REPORTER: Can you tell me what the difference was between martial law and the state that was in Oxford?

"WALKER: No, I can't.

"WATTS: That is not only a political question but a legal question and that as a lawyer I would have to reach in books to answer. So, lets keep this factual. He ended up with arriving and what he saw. Someone asked the question about what happened on the monument.

"REPORTER: What happened after the monument?

"WATTS: Now we have got him up to the monument, now let's keep him there. Tell them what happened at the monument.

"WALKER: I'll take any question anybody asks. The most interesting thing that happened on the monument was about 150 students that were looking at it - very enthusiatic and determined. Very much opposed to the student MERIDITH entering the University. I talked with them from three to five minutes and told them nobody had come to Mississippi for any violence and nobody intended any.

"REPORTER: General, can you tell us what the circumstances were surrounding the removing of you from the square on Monday at bayonet point?

"WALKER: That is entirely an untruthful representation, a picture used for an untruth. I was not relieved from the square. The picture happened to catch the people behind me, as pictures do. We had many incidents of this in Little Rock. Of course, when the truth is revealed it will be very interesting and it will be a revelation to some of the stories they have printed.

"REPORTER: Then you were not removed at bayonet point?

"WALKER: I should say not. I was two miles away in my own automobile, riding along peacefully. Interesting isn't it.

"REPORTER: How did the question of sanity enter into the case?

"WALKER: That is what we are trying to determine. I am very sorry to put 140,000 voters into the position that my sanity is being questioned."

Federal Bureau of Investigation,

Gentlemen:

I am a patriotic American citizen who vows to pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States and to the republic for which it stands so long as I live. The disgraceful and ominous Facistic riot which has occurred at the University of Mississippi and in the town of Oxford is a matter of grave concern to me and t[illegible] mongers; but we shall continue to speak out against their ditter[illegible] tactics. But I am so enraged by the injustice of the lies that Barnett and every Mississippi politician and public official ha[illegible] told about the handling of the bloody Sunday riot. I know that the Federal Marshalls are speaking the truth.. My husband and I went into the thick of the melee because we knew that lies and distortions would be hurled by Barnett's forces and his hate-blinded followers. And I want to express my appreciation for the bravery and level-headedness the marshalls showed on the Ole Miss campus that night. I saw these gallant men endure insults and bodily injuries that should have been answered with something more forceful than tear gas. I prayed for troops to come in and clean that cursing, hurling, screaming mob out of the cursed place. I saw them slashing and burning vehicles and mutilating the place.

About midnight I heard one of the slimy little cotton-haired thugs inquire with an oath, "Where is the Alabama delega-tion?"

I think it might be of interest to your department to know that on Saturday night, [redacted] told my husband that [redacted], had called up to his place of business and heatedly demanded that he be put in touch with the mayor of the town. Then he, recognizing the restaurant owner's voice, told him to tell the town that Gen. Walker was on his way up here to recruit 200,000 men to fight the U. S. Government in their attempt to enroll James Meredith at the University.

to the surface in this ungodly riot. And since this thing happened, he has been cursed and threatened. Many of the rioters have bragged t him that the Mississippi Highway Patrol gave them the knives that they used to slash the military vehicles and other automobiles. And one thing more I should like to say, when we came in to Oxford from the west on Highway 6 on Sunday night, the Mississippi Highway Patrol was piled up in their patrol cars outside the town doin nothing but laughing and enjoying the riot on the campus. They were still there when we went home past midnight, never having turned a han And here is something else that you might be interested in knowing to help brand Ross Barnett as the diabolical despot he is and to establis the integrity of the Justice Department. One of the local VIPs [redacted] said that it is a fact that Barnett sent instructions(I presume a telegram by Western Union) to the Miss. Highway Patrol to fight the marshalls to the last man. But Col. Birdsong, who heads the patrol as the commissioner, rescinded the orde [illegible] complaining about having received conflicting orders. If this series of events could be uncovered and made known, the Justice Department would certainly be cleared of any blame; and this whole unAmerican crime could be laid bare before the eyes of the whole world.

Sincerely yours,

P. S. Let me add that students who are loyal to the Barnett forces boast about having guns in their possession that they mean to use at the first possible opportunity. Their slogan now is "Just wait until the troops leave!"

P. S. S. A man just came in and told me that the Sherriff of Lafayette County told him the marshalls started the whole riot when one of them without provocation threw a tear gas bomb into the face of a highway patrolman and blinded him(he said the man is as blind as a bat today). He also said that some of the Federal Marshalls were arrested for drunkness up at Holly Springs yesterday(thirty miles north of Oxford).

Sane People Who Get "Put Away"

Under faulty "reform" laws thousands of normal men and women are being railroaded into mental hospitals every year

By Albert Q. Maisel

In Illinois three years ago, Jane Doe* was rushed to a hospital after an auto crash. Next day her husband applied for her commitment to a state mental institution. One week later a court "hearing" was held. While she still lay bedridden - with no opportunity to be heard, no chance to call witnesses, no counsel to defend her - Mrs. Doe [illegible] years of illegal incarceration, she has been freed by another judge.

In California, Rhoda Roe's husband, a physician, induced her to visit one of his colleagues, a psychiatrist. In his office, after she refused to sign herself into a mental hospital, the psychiatrist forcibly administered an injection. When she came to, she found herself in a psychiatric institution. Though it was established later that she was sane when she was admitted, she was held against her will for two weeks and subjected to shock treatments.

[illegible] after his brother signed an affidavit falsely alleging that he was insane. In jail next day the bewildered prisoner was notified that a hearing would be held within an hour. When his jailers failed to bring him into court, the court clerk signed a commitment order. That evening, after getting no chance to defend himself, hire a lawyer or even notify his wife of his troubles, Peter found himself imprisoned in a mental hospital.

AMERICANS FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE ACCUSED INSANE

P. O. Box 281 Independence, Missouri

These cases of normal people railroaded into mental institutions are not rare exceptions selected to shock you. Recent hearings before the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights have revealed that every year thousands of sane men and women are being wrongfully "put away" by divorce-seeking wives, vindictive husbands, estate-grabbing relatives, busybody neighbors or callous public officials. Ohio's Governor Michael DiSalle told the Committee that a survey of his state's mental hospitals disclosed 4500 inmates who were not insane at all! They were simply elderly men and women who had been "dumped" because their relatives or communities had shirked the responsibility of caring for them.

This swelling epidemic of wrongful commitments has been made possible by a series of so-called reform laws passed in recent years by state legislatures at the urging of psychiatrists, mental-hospital superintendents and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Ostensibly, the purpose of these laws is to make it simpler to bring the mentally ill to treatment. But in fact, these statutes have swept away most of the constitutional safeguards designed to protect the wrongly accused.

The right to a trial by jury, for instance, is guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution and by the constitutions of all the states, to anyone accused of crime. In the past, most states extended this right to those suspected of mental illness. Today only 13 states authorize even the occasional use of a jury in commitment cases. Yet forced confinement in a mental institution involves just as great loss of liberty as any other form of imprisonment.

Further, in state after state m- tal-health laws are such that he individual whose liberty is at ke need not even be notified tha is case is coming up for decision. his strange denial of the right t be heard in one's own defense has en advocated by some psychiatrist on the weird theory that it migl be traumatic for a "patient" to re ve a document couched in legal t s. Even where notice is still com al- sory, the time limit between n ce and hearing is often too sho to permit the accused a chance t ek witnesses and obtain counsel. M ne, New York and Oklahoma, fo ex- ample, permit as little as 24 h rs' notice. And though the right be represented by counsel is guara eed by every state to all those accus l of crime, 14 states make no such ro- vision for those alleged to be m tal- ly ill!

In place of trial by jury, any speedier ways of rushing ac sed people behind institution walls ave been invented. Twenty-five tes, for example, now turn over ny or all commitment cases to re ees or special commissioners or m tal- health boards. A few of these b ards include a judge. Others are m e up of just two physicians. Still hers include a lawyer or a court cl k or a county adjuster. In Maine, m icipal officers serve as sanity co mis- sioners after completing their other civic duties.

What short shrift such commissions may give a wrongfully accused person is illustrated by the Senate subcommittee testimony of Dr. Chester H. Farrell, medical member of the three-man Douglas County board which handles commitment cases in Omaha, Neb.

Meeting on weekday afternoons, this board first examines an average of three to four "informations" alleging mental illness. Then it interviews "informants," who must swear to the accuracy of their statements. When all is in order, it issues warrants to the sheriff, who has the patients picked up and placed in a psychiatric ward at the county hospital (unless they can afford private treatment). The accused gets no notice. In custody he is permitted no phone calls. If he writes letters, they are censored by a nurse. But he can be sure of one visitor: the medical member of the board comes to examine him. When the board reconvenes, the medical member's diagnosis is read to his colleagues—a court clerk and a lawyer—and a decision is taken.

Thus, upon the vote of three men —two of whom may never have even seen the accused—approximately 1000 residents of Douglas County are, each year, adjudged insane and committed to state hospitals. Along with their freedom, they automatically lose their rights to vote, to drive a car, to control their property, to make a contract. All this is done by proceedings in which an average of barely one hour is devoted to each case—paperwork, "hearing" and deliberation combined!

Even more opportunity for unjust commitment is afforded by another procedure—a feature of the "Draft Act," promoted as a "model" mental-health law by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Under this procedure, those alleged to be mentally ill can be deprived of their liberty without a court order, on certification by two physicians. Ten states have already adopted this completely non-judicial process. In most states the examining physicians need not even have had any training in psychiatry!

These tricky "reform" laws can be stretched to rob you or me or any well-behaved, non-violent individual of his freedom. For in all but six states it no longer needs to be shown that the accused is dangerous or that he suffers from a psychotic disease. All that's necessary is a finding that he is "in need of treatment." In Massachusetts, for example, you can be committed if you are deemed "likely" to conduct yourself in a manner which violates the "conventions or morals of the community." You need not actually have done or said anything out of line. The mere "likelihood" that you might is enough to justify your being separated from your family, deprived of your civil rights and forced into indefinite confinement in a mental hospital.

How easily such vague definitions of mental illness lend themselves to abuse was demonstrated recently by the case of the Rev. John Doe. A Negro educator, he violated the conventions of his community by attempting to enroll as a student at the all-white University of Mississippi. He was haled into court for a lunacy hearing and promptly dispatched to a mental hospital. At the hospital psychiatrists declared the professor sane and he was allowed to leave the state.

Many psychiatrists argue that wrongful commitments pose no great problem because anyone so imprisoned is speedily discharged by the hospital authorities. Even if this were so, loss of liberty would be no less outrageous because it proved short. But it isn't so. Most of our mental hospitals are woefully undermanned. Dr. Harry Solomon, past president of the American Psychiatric Association, has said, "In many of our hospitals about the best that can be done is to give a physical examination and make a mental note on each patient once a year, and often there is not enough staff to do this much."

We sentence even convicted criminals to fixed terms with time off for good behavior so that they may look forward, with certainty, to the day of their release. But for the victims who have been railroaded into mental hospitals there is no such certainty. How many serve [illegible] utterly unjust life sentences we shall never know. But the records of those rescued after decades of illegal imprisonment can give at least an inkling.

In Michigan, for example, Harry Klein of the Detroit Legal Aid Bureau took up the case of a woman who had been hastily committed on [illegible] by a psychiatrist who decided that [illegible] suffered from delusions of grandeur because she told him of an invention she had been trying to sell to the auto industry. When Attorney Klein proved that the woman had actually invented a rumble seat top and had the documents to prove it, the court ordered her immediate release—after commitment had cost her 16 years of freedom.

Another woman was unjustly confined on the diagnosis of a psychiatrist who decided that she was insane because "she says it is an outrage that she is being detained as she is running for office and needs to look after her campaign." When assigned to her case, Klein checked back to newspaper reports of the primary election held at the time of his client's arrest. There, if the doctor had but bothered to look, was her name, clearly recorded, as a candidate. The price paid by this victim? Nineteen years.

An even more shocking case is that of an Indiana man convicted of a $15 petty theft in 1897 and later sent by executive order—that is, without a hearing—from prison to a state mental hospital. Three years ago, at the age of 83, he escaped and walked into the local courthouse to plead for his freedom. Thus, at last, his sanity was finally affirmed after more than half a century of wrongful imprisonment.

How can such denials of justice be eliminated? Only by reforming the "reform" laws, to accord to all accused of mental illness as fair a hearing as we routinely guarantee those accused of a crime.

The American Bar Association, such senators as North Carolina's Sam J. Ervin and New York's Ken[illegible] B. K[illegible] and more leading [illegible] working for such real reforms. In Ohio last year one such group succeeded in getting a bill passed eliminating many—but unfortunately not all—of the old law's easy commitment provisions. Forces of Governor DiSalle's orders, 1500 wrongfully held old folk have already been released from mental hospitals; 1500 more are scheduled for release as soon as arrangements for care in their own communities can be completed.

The battle must be fought state by state. To win it, the help of millions of civic-minded citizens will be needed. Only when all men are secure from unjust imprisonment can each of us feel truly free.

THE TRUTH ABOUT GENERAL WALKER

General Edwin A. Walker resigned from the Army after 30 years of service in which he served his country honorably in peace and in combat.

When tried by combat, the troops who served under General Walker always made a good account of themselves. It is felt that this was due to the strong spirit of patriotism and loyalty to their country which General Walker instilled in his troops.

Because he did this so well, General Walker became the object of harassment and smear type propaganda by a cheap and vulgar magazine that many people feel is unfit to be read by the soldiers of a civilized country. The Overseas Weekly together with the assistance of left-wing newspapers and fellow travelers in the United States, made every effort to discredit this loyal American soldier.

Immediately before going to Mississippi last week, General Walker discussed a number of business dealings with responsible individuals who can testify that General Walker was in complete control of his faculties. During his stay in Oxford, Miss. he discussed other business dealings in person and by telephone which were entirely unrelated to the States Rights Issue that brought him to that city. Certainly if General Walker had any symptoms of mental confusion he would have not taken time out to make these other calls and discuss unrelated subjects.

It may be noted that news reporters and radio announcers received special attention from the rioting students. There is a good reason why this was so. Persons on the scene of these riots in Mississippi were in a position to know that most newspaper and radio accounts coming in from other parts of the country were biased or false.

Persons who were at the scene of the rioting know full well that General Walker did not "lead a charge" of students as has been widely reported in the news media.

The truth is that the United States Marshal fired a tear gas shell almost in the face of a student who was among several who had done nothing more violent than make insulting remarks at the U. S. Marshals as they passed by. Almost blinded, it was this student's scream of pain that triggered the student riot.

Later, when they started another charge, General Walker stood up on a low wall calling out to the students to keep the peace and saying "It's no use fighting here. Go back before some of you are killed". The students would not listen to his plea. The general walked away by himself and was leaving the scene when he was arrested.

Walker's bail was set at $100,000.00-- far higher than that of Soblen, the communist spy recently convicted of espionage. Evenso, this amount was quickly made available but the clerk to whom it should be paid had conveniently disappeared. He continued to be unavailable until General Walker (in complete disregard of his constitutional rights) was flown out of the state.

The fact that General Walker is here in this mental hospital is grim evidence of what can happen to a patriot who dares speak out against a vindictive administration that habitually flies into tantrums whenever they are criticized.

If the American people do not demand and secure the release of this patriot, then none of us will ever again be safe from police state tactics. America will soon cease to exist as a nation of free people.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF MISSOURI SOUTHERN DIVISION

EDWIN A. WALLER,

Petitioner,

vs.

H. R. O. SETTLE, Warden of the United States Medical Center, Springfield, Missouri.

Respondent.

FILED

J. C. TRUMAN, CLERK

PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

1. Your petitioner, Edwin A. Waller, respectfully represents that he is illegally deprived of his liberty by Dr. H. O. Settle, warden of the United States Medical Center for Federal Prisoners located in Springfield, Greene County, Missouri.

2. Petitioner states that he is being held by said Respondent by virtue of an order issued by Omar D. Craig, United States Commissioner for the Northern District of Mississippi, Western Division, dated the First day of October, 1948, committing said Petitioner to the custody of the United States Marshall of the Northern District of Mississippi, to be committed in a place of confinement within the Northern District of Mississippi approved by the Attorney General of the United States. A copy of said order is attached to this petition, marked "Petitioner's Exhibit A" and made a part of this petition. Said Petitioner was illegally transported from the Northern District of Mississippi to the Western District of Missouri by virtue of a telegram to John H. Phillips, United States Marshall of Oxford, Mississippi, from James V. Bennett, Director of Federal Prisons, a copy of which is attached hereto and marked "Petitioner's Exhibit B" and made a part of this petition. Petitioner is further held by virtue of an order made by Claude F. Clayton, District Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Mississippi, a copy of which is marked "Petitioner's Exhibit C", attached hereto and made a part of this petition.

3. This petitioner states that said imprisonment is illegal, in this, to-wit: The original order of committment, Petitioner's Exhibit A, directs his imprisonment in a place approved by the Attorney General of the United States within the Northern District of Mississippi and gave no authority whatsoever to the Director of Federal Prisons to transport the Petitioner from the Northern District of Mississippi to the Western District of Missouri, which was done, however, on October 1, 1962, and said Petitioner was placed in the United States Medical Center at Springfield, Missouri, without legal authority of any authorized or legal tribunal.

4. Petitioner states that his detention by the Respondent and the order of Honorable Claude F. Clayton, District Judge for the Northern District of Mississippi, are illegal and void upon the following grounds:

A. Petitioner's constitutional rights have been and are being violated and denied to him in the following particulars:

(1) Petitioner has been and is being denied his right of bail.

(2) Petitioner was denied his right to counsel in the proceeding before Honorable Claude F. Clayton.

(3) Petitioner has been denied a hearing and his day in court upon the vital issue of his restraint and committment to the custody of Respondent.

B. The order of Honorable Claude F. Clayton, dated October 2, 1962, was void for the following reasons:

(1) Petitioner was beyond the jurisdiction of the Court and the Judge at the time of entry of the order, having been illegally and involuntarily transported to the State of Missouri and committed to the custody of Respondent.

(2) Contrary to law and Petitioner's rights, a medical practitioner did not examine the Petitioner for the purpose of testifying before the Court as to a reasonable doubt concerning the ability of Petitioner to understand the nature of the charges and to assist counsel in his own defense. The order was reportedly based upon an incompetent and inadmissible telegraphic statement by a government psychiatrist, Charles E. Smith, of Washington, D. C., who had never seen or interviewed Petitioner.

(3) Upon information and belief Petitioner states that neither the United States Attorney who filed the motion nor the United States Judge who heard the motion had observed or examined the Petitioner.

C. Plaintiff was illegally transported from the Northern District of Mississippi into the custody of Respondent, without any valid court order or due process of law.

D. Petitioner is held in violation of his constitutional rights and without due process of law.

E. Under and pursuant to 18 U.S.C.A. 4244, designed to protect the right of an accused to prepare his defense, Petitioner is effectively being deprived of his right and ability to prepare his defense of the charges against him.

F. Petitioner represents to the Court that he is mentally competent to and does understand the proceedings against him and is able properly to assist in his own defense, except for the impediment of his illegal custody by the Respondent.

WHEREFORE, Petitioner respectfully prays that the Court take cognisance of the manner in which Petitioner is being restrained and denied of his liberty by the Respondent; and that a writ be issued directing the Respondent to show cause why Petitioner should not be immediately released from custody and restored to his full liberty; that Petitioner be given an opportunity to make bail in a reasonable amount under the protection and supervision of this Honorable Court; that Petitioner have such further relief as may appear just and proper.

J. C. TRUMBO, CLERK
BY Alice Powell
DEPUTY CLERK

EDWIN A. WALKER,

Petitioner,

-vs-

DR. R. O. SETTLE, Warden of the United States Medical Center, Springfield, Missouri.

Respondent.

No. 10068-K.C.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

Petitioner has this day filed his petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus praying that this Court "take cognizance of the manner in which Petitioner is being restrained and denied his liberty by the Respondent; and that a writ be issued directing the Respondent to show cause why Petitioner should not be immediately released from custody and restored to his full liberty; that Petitioner be given an opportunity to make bail in a reasonable amount under the protection and supervision of this Honorable Court; that Petitioner have such further relief as may appear just and proper."

Petitioner alleges that he is being held "by virtue of an order issued by Omar D. Craig, United States Commissioner for the Northern District of Mississippi, Western Division, dated the 1st day of October 1962"; that he "was illegally transported from the Northern District of Mississippi to the Western District of Missouri by virtue of a telegram to John H. Phillips, U. S. Marshal, of Oxford, Mississippi, fr James V. Bennett, Director of Prisons"; and that he is

"further held by virtue of an order made by Claude F. Clayton, District Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Mississippi," dated October 2, 1962. Petitioner's allegations concerning alleged violations of his Constitutional rights raise numerous questions that may not necessarily need to be determined simultaneously.

Specifically, Petitioner in Paragraph 4A(1) of his petition, alleges that his Constitutional rights have been violated in that he "has been and is being denied his right of bail."

On the other hand, Petitioner's allegations concerning the validity of the order of the U. S. Commissioner, the telegraphic direction from the Director of Federal Prisons to the Marshal in the Northern District of Mississippi, and the order of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Mississippi raise different and separable questions of law.

For that reason the Court orders that:

1. On or before Tuesday, October 9, 1962, Respondent shall make answer and file a return as to why Petitioner should not be given an opportunity to make bail.

2. Counsel for Respondent and counsel for Petitioner shall file simultaneous suggestions in support of their respective legal positions on or before Tuesday, October 9, 1962. The Court requests counsel for both parties to submit authorities on the questions of:

(a) Whether any defendant is entitled to bail under circumstances which would assume the validity of the orders under which Petitioner is presently confined.

(b) Whether, even if petitioner is entitled to bail, this Court or some other United States Court has jurisdiction to admit Petitioner to bail consistent with Rule 46 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure and Article VIII of the Constitution of the United States

3. Respondent, within ten (10) days of this order shall further file an answer and return certifying the true cause of the detention of Petitioner in accordance with Chapter 153 of the United States Code.

4. Counsel for Petitioner may file with the Court such suggestions in support of Petitioner's petition for writ of habeas corpus at the earliest convenient time.

5. Counsel for Respondent shall file an answer brief within ten (10) days of the filing of the Petitioner's suggestions.

6. [illegible] they may [illegible] file [illegible] days in which to reply to Respondent's answer brief.

7. Counsel are directed to file the originals of all papers in the Western Division of this Court at Kansas City, Missouri, but that, in order that a copy of all papers filed be available in the Southern Division at Springfield, Missouri, copies of all papers so filed in the Southern Division at Springfield, Missouri.

8. The Court will set a date for hearing after all documents above required to be filed are in fact filed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

One of our racial informants made available a letter [redacted] from [redacted] Ku Klux Klan at Biloxi, Mississippi. The letter asked that other Klansmen be advised that [redacted] was re-organizing the Klan in Mississippi to throw out the "chaff and undesirables who fail to respond in time of emergency." The letter indicated that many Klansmen could not seem to realize that the time had arrived for them to be white and to perform as Klansmen.

With respect to former Major General Walker, although it was indicated earlier that his appearance for psychiatric examination might be accompanied by crowds of followers and possible trouble, he appeared at the Southwest Medical School of the University of Texas, Dallas, Texas, at approximately 11:00 p. m., last night without incident. A source of our Dallas Office contacted Walker's secretary last evening and was told by the secretary that no demonstration was planned. She implied that Walker's followers were under instructions from his attorney to make no statements and to hold no demonstrations in connection with his reporting for psychiatric examination.

Although police were covering the hospital in anticipation of possible trouble, there were no spectators and Walker appeared virtually without being noticed by members of the press. He spent approximately twenty minutes conversing with Dr. Stubblefield, the chief psychiatrist, and was then released to remain on 24-hour notice until such time as Dr. Stubblefield is officially notified by the court of the identity of the Government psychiatrist who is to participate in the examination.

Our Dallas Office was advised by the U. S. Attorney's office there that Dr. Wilfred Oberholtzer, who is formerly of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D. C., had been named as the U. S. Government psychiatrist to examine Walker. This has not yet been confirmed.

As you will recall former Major General Edwin A. Walker received a great deal of publicity last week as a result of his appearance on the campus of the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Mississippi, during the rioting. He was subsequently arrested and on October 8, 1962, we received fingerprints from the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners, Springfield, Missouri. Walker has been charged with assault, resisting and impeding officers of the United States, conspiracy to impede and injure United States officers and insurrection and seditious conspiracy. The disposition was indicated as held pending trial.

A search of these fingerprints failed to reveal any prior arrest record. However, we did locate a set of prints in our Old Armed Forces file which recorded the appointment of Edwin Anderson Walker as a Cadet at West Point on July 1, 1927. These fingerprints had been taken on August 30, 1929, at West Point, New York, and were received in the Identification Division September 11, 1929.

[redacted] Radio Station KWKH, advised that EDWIN A. WALKER did not make a speech on Station KWKH on Sunday, September 30, 1962. He stated that WALKER did make a telephone call sometime during the week of September 24, 1962 to their program "Party Line." He explained that Party Line is moderated by JOE FRIBLEY. FRIBLEY sets forth topics of discussion and takes telephone calls from the general public, at which time they offer their comments. Their comments are recorded and are broadcast. He explained that there is a seven second delay in the broadcast of the comments and this allows the moderator time to cut out any obscenity that may be uttered by a person calling in. He said the program is on Monday through Friday, from 7:15 PM to 9:00 PM, with the exception of Tuesday night, when it is on from 7:30 PM to 9:00 PM.

[redacted] advised that any comments made by WALKER would be on a master tape and it would take some time to locate it. He stated that he would attempt to locate the comments of WALKER and would make the tape available on October 8 or 9, 1962.

The following is a transcription of a copy of magnetic tape setting forth a telephone call made by EDWIN A. WALKER to JOE FRIBLEY, moderator, "Party Line," radio station KWKH, Shreveport, Louisiana, on September 26, 1962. This telephone call was broadcast by radio station KWKH.

FRIBLEY (F): Hello, this is JOE FRIBLEY.

WALKER (W): Hello, Mr. Fribley.

F: Yes.

W: My compliments and good wishes to you. This is EDWIN A. WALKER, Dallas Texas.

F: General WALKER, it is very good to hear from you, sir, and a surprise.

W: Glad to know you're back on the show.

F: Thank you.

W: I was interested in your question and I think the most interesting part about it is that when something is exposed by the conservative side

F: May I interrupt you sir and ask you do you have a radio that's tuned up a little bit?

W: Yes, but I'm turning it down. I'm very sorry.

F: Thank you, go ahead.

W: When something is exposed by the conservative side, it's natural that the liberal side comes out to give it respectability. This is done by making it acceptable, by making it part of what we live with and thereby it becomes acceptable and it becomes creditable after we've heard enough about it. It becomes a part of our society, and once something is exposed as there has been so much written on the CFR and the invisible Government, the liberal press, which is a great portion of our present media system, much of it subsidized by tax payers' money through contracts and so forth, naturally it puts out the other side and makes you live with, in this case, the invisible Government and referred to by Mr. REVERE as the establishment. I feel that

F: What part, sir, do you think that he plays in this as an individual and why is he as an individual, why do you think he has become so interested in this subject.

W: I believe he plays the part that you have indicated, that is, just to spread the knowledge of the establishment before the public, not giving any opinions, of course, but and not castigating anybody even though the indications are that the establishment has too much hand in our Government, which would be and is unconstitutional. Of course, we all know that the international conspiracy is greatly financed by this country. Russia is too poor in the rest of the world to carry on the conspiracy around the world on the size and scale that it is being carried on. It takes American money, American interest and American support to finance the international conspiracy. So within the establishment which Mr. REVERE has definitely not mentioned are many of the CFR, in the CFR and in the invisible Government, people who are deeply involved in handling the finances of this country in its relationship and support of the international conspiracy; and I'm talking about Communism, and none other, in its explorations throughout the world now today in Cuba. I would like to add another thing. Today, the 26th of September, I have released an open letter addressed to the President of the United States. I believe this will indicate the situation today and why there is necessity to write about all these things and make 'em part of our society. That in itself would help to cover up the main issues of our time. There are two vital issues and our freedom is at stake. One is Cuba and the other is Mississippi, and I have released to much of the media today. You may be able to look and see if your press has carried it.

W., continued: "Dear Mr. President: It is obvious to millions of concerned and informed Americans that idle talk and rocking-chair action cannot cope with the Russian-Cuban threat. The joint chiefs of staff, our highest military tribunal, have informed your administration that Cuba is a threat to the United States. The action of the State Department are completely incompatible with military judgment and with our policy and traditions upon which all freedom loving countries rely for their protection and security. America is now the laughingstock of the world to both friend and foe. Our military men watch German led die with utter disgust for a policy of centralized, Sovietized paralysis that centers their every move. There is wide spread bewilderment throughout the nation at the audacity of CASTRO Cuba and our obsequious policy of vying for favor in assisting our enemies which is now realistically exposed and short of its enchantment. The Monroe Doctrine is more than an expression of national policy. It is an expression of unity in cause and purpose in the union of states. Harboring and shielding Communist Cuba in our midst is a direct threat to the state of the union. Americans, civilian and military, regulars, reserve and guard to include the state and local police, are closely unified and oriented at community level. They recognize demigogic power and action with centralized (inaudible) state methods as being used by the Federal law enforcement agencies in Mississippi as an internal policy which is corroborating and reciprocating in purpose with the enthronement and the escalation of Moscow's Castro. I will lay off of Berlin if you will lay off of Cuba. It is no doubt an expression of blackmail with which you are familiar from your early summit meeting with a typical Communist maestro. There is wide spread concern for the freedom and custody of your office with possible resulting inhibitions in national policy and security. Public opinion can be right or wrong but none the less dangerous as reflected in the highly volatile, belated and moratory pronouncements of the Fulbright Memorandum. Public concern is not allayed or reduced by the sophisticated utterances of your associates in past. The UN has proved itself too deceptive and too un-American in Cuba, Goa, the Congo and Laos to add one

WALKER: Mr. FRIBLEY, I am sorry to move from your subject, but I think it is all very, very much applicable to the establishment which is a very important and un-Constitutional activity which is going on today, and that the liberal press is trying to give the greatest respectability to as a part of our normal and required operations in Government.

FRIBLEY: We certainly appreciate your calling.

WALKER: Thank you.

FRIBLEY: General EDWIN A. WALKER, good night, sir.

WALKER: Good night.

W., continued: iota of confidence to a situation which you have described as dire peril. I urge you now and in haste in view of the steadily deteriorating situation and the ill will that bodes no good to take such measures that will invoke the Monroe Doctrine and reassure the prevailing lack of confidence at home and abroad. This would establish a modicum of respect for America throughout the world. If an aggressive and economic military blockade is not now made assuredly successful in its essential offensive quality, disposition and determination to free Cuba, a volatile and dangerous public opinion will reflect its angry mood towards losses to Communism throughout the entire world.

WALKER: Without a modicum of respect, such a mood could rebel in revulsive repudiation of its traditional bounds against the untraditional escalation of intrusive and compulsive accomodation. Signed Respectfully,
EDWIN A. WALKER "

I have just read what you have heard is an open letter to the President of the United States, which over a thousand copies have been sent out to press and media services throughout the country. You may want to look to see if those are inclined to supporting re-establishment in its present form with respect to its interference with our Constitutional Governmentare able to print my letter. I certainly hope that they do. I would like to warn your listeners further that it's time to make a move. We have talked and we are always out-talked, as such articles on the establishment indicate. We have listened and we have been pushed around far too much by the anti-Christ Supreme Court. It is time to rise to make a stand beside Governor ROSS BARNETT at Jackson, Mississippi. He is showing the way. Now is the time to be heard ten thousand strong from every state in the union. Rally to the cause of freedom. The battle cry of the Republic, BARNETT yes, CASTRO no!

Ladies and gentlemen, you should be ready to bring your flag, your tent, and your skillet. The time approaches when it is now or never and that time is when the President if he does, by the bad advice that he is continuously getting, make a move in any form to use the military forces of the Federal Government or the State Government in Mississippi against Governor ROSS BARNETT. That is the time to make your move. We have had enough talk, we have listened long enough, and we have been pushed around long enough by the anti-Christian Supreme Court and I can assure you that I have been on the other side in such situations, and the place was Little Rock, and I was on the wrong side. This time I will be in Jackson, Mississippi, on the right side. God bless you all.

SUBJECT: DESEGREGATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI RACIAL MATTERS

The situation in Oxford remained quiet yesterday and last night. Meredith reportedly stated yesterday was his most normal day at the University. He ate at the cafeteria last night without incident and although seven U. S. Marshals were in the cafeteria, none were seated near Meredith. Approximately 75 students are reported to have been outside the cafeteria but they engaged in no boisterous activity and only a few insulting remarks were made.

The Houston Office was making efforts yesterday to interview [redacted] was reportedly with former Major General Edwin A. Walker in Oxford during his activities on the University campus there. Yesterday afternoon, [redacted] in Houston, advised our office there that he represents [redacted] and has advised [redacted] not to discuss his activities in Mississippi with the FBI.

The "Jackson Daily News" yesterday carried an Associated Press (AP) article which set forth remarks by Hinds County Judge Russell More which were extremely critical of the Federal Government. The Judge was quoted as charging that the Federal Government was conducting at bayonet point a ruthless campaign seeking to indoctrinate "our youth" in race mixing socialistic theories and the infallibility of the Federal Government.

Information had previously been received that a student, whose first name was [redacted] appeared to be the leader of a group which attacked free-lance photographer [redacted] from Houston and smashed his camera. Investigation at Oxford indicates that this individual is [redacted], a University of Mississippi student. [redacted] was interviewed 10/11/62 and refused to discuss the matter until he had consulted his attorney.

With respect to the additional guns and other evidence submitted to the Laboratory which was found abandoned in an Oxford garage, examinations have been completed. Although some latent fingerprints of value for comparison

DESEGREGATION OF UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI
RACIAL MATTERS; OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE; ASSAULTING OR KILLING A FEDERAL OFFICER; CONSPIRACY

Reference is made to your memorandum dated October 4, 1962, requesting that Departmental Attorney Burke D. McLean be contacted in Oxford, Mississippi, and that thereafter all possible witnesses to the criminal activities of Walker be interviewed.

Mr. McLean was located and interviewed on October 5, 1962. He stated that he was not aware of any request for the additional investigation as outlined. He explained that at the time Department Attorneys were interviewing a number of newspapermen and University professors and it appeared that they would not be able to handle all the interviews. Mr. McLean advised that since the arrival of additional Departmental Attorneys, all interviews can be handled by them and assistance of FBI Agents is not needed.

In view of Mr. McLean's statements, the investigation requested in your memorandum referenced above will not be conducted unless we are advised to the contrary by the Department.

NOTE: Walker was arrested on 10/1/62 on the basis of a complaint filed by Departmental Attorneys. He was charged with Assaulting a Federal Officer and conspiracy, inciting insurrection, conspiring to prevent execution of laws of U.S., and is to be freed on $50,000 bond with the provision that he submit to psychiatric examination. The memo referred to asked that all witnesses not previously interviewed by Departmental attorneys be interviewed by Bureau Agents and that we conduct the additional investigation as might be indicated by information thus received.

RACIAL MATTERS

James Meredith ate at the campus cafeteria on the night of 10-9-62 without incident. On 10-9-62 Meredith, in a handwritten statement to a reporter, criticized the U. S. Army for removing Negro troops from its ranks in Oxford. He described this as a disgrace to the many Negroes in the military service. He also said it was untrue that he had been selected to integrate the University of Mississippi and that his only goal had been better educational opportunities for himself and his people.

Approximately 1,500 persons attended a meeting of the Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans in that city on the night of 10-9-62. Speakers, which included well-known segregationist Leander Perez, stated it cost United States taxpayers 30 million dollars to put Meredith into the University as well as thousands of troops. Oxford was referred to as an occupied satellite of the United States. Members of the audience were reminded no information had to be furnished to the FBI if they were contacted. Perez at one point stated President Kennedy was congratulated by the Communist Party and by Fidel Castro after Meredith was enrolled.

Another speaker was Mississippi State Senator John McLaurin, who claimed to have been present in Oxford during the trouble there. He said he was outraged to see Negro troops carrying rifles with fixed bayonets and claimed Negroes were used for the sole purpose of inciting a riot by the students. He claimed the U. S. Marshals were armed with .38 caliber pistols and intimated a Marshal had killed newspaperman Paul Guihard since he said a .38 caliber weapon had killed him. It was reported that when efforts were made to collect $2 dues from persons attending large segments of the audience began to leave and the meeting gradually broke up.

[redacted] of Edwin Walker, former Major General, was interviewed by our Dallas Office and stated Walker had an Enfield rifle and a magnum pistol in his possession at his residence on

We will continue to advise the Department orally of all pertinent developments and will continue to furnish confirming memoranda to the Department.

The spokesman for the group commented that the three students had been present on Sunday night, September 30, 1962, when General EDWIN M. WALKER was on a platform below the Rebel flag in front of the Lyceum Building. The three students observed that General WALKER was not doing anything to stop the riot. WALKER spoke to the group stating he could tell them who started the riot but that he would not do so. The crowd then inquired of General WALKER, "Who, who, who?" General WALKER then told the crowd that Colonel [redacted] and another person were the ones.

[redacted] is unable to remember the name of the second individual mentioned by the three students but [redacted] the time recognized the name as that of a Mississippi political figure. According to the three students WALKER then asked the group if they were "going to let them do this to you," apparently referring to the integration of the University of Mississippi. 7D

According to [redacted] the three students who furnished the foregoing information concerning General WALKER gave many indication of being opposed to General WALKER and seemed to be quite willing to talk about the actions of General WALKER. 7D

He further advised that "when we first got there on the line there were three young boys in the front part of the line, right in front of the Lyceum Building. They appeared to me to be the persons who stirred up the whole crowd, in fact they were the leaders until General WALKER got there."

He stated that there were plenty of officers who would be able to identify these men and described them as follows: He said one of them is blond, believed by him to be definitely an Ole Miss student, because later in the day on October 1, 1962, he saw this person with his books going into a class room building. He said that unfortunately he, [redacted] was in a ventrie passing, and before he could get back, the boy had disappeared.

Relative to General WALKER, [redacted] stated that on at least three occasions, WALKER had most of the mob around him over at the Confederate memorial, on the other side of the square, or parkway; that he would talk to them for a while and all of them would give out with a blood curdling Rebel yell and charge the line again.

"e) That upon completion of said examination a report of the results thereof shall be transmitted to this Court and to the parties hereto for such action as to the Court may then appear just and proper;
